WINTER WISH WEEK

SGA is planning Winter Wish Week once again since it was a huge success last year. The goal is to grant even more wishes than last year. In order to secure gifts and plan appropriately, we will be distributing a "wish" form to all students and staff prior to break. Homeroom teachers will be receiving packets of wish slips along with instructions. Anyone wishing to donate may do so. Checks should be made payable to Northern High School for deposit in the student government account. Just like last year, a list will be compiled of requests. That list will also be sent to faculty and staff for those who are interested in donating specific items. "Feedback last year was nothing but positive," said a spokesperson for SGA. "We truly appreciate everyone's generosity. Thanks again."

ROBOTICS RAFFLE

The High School Robotics Team 1629 is selling raffle tickets for the following prizes: Dell laptop computer; iPod Touch 16GB; $100 gas card; iPod Nano 16GB; and iPod Shuffle 2G. Donations/tickets are $1 per ticket, and the drawing will be held on Monday, Dec. 15. See any of the following students to purchase a ticket: Shaun Adams, Aaron Beitzel, Andrew Beitzel, Dylan Beitzel, Dominic Dolan, Kevin Haenftling, Blake Harman, J.P Law, or Rosemary Rosser.

DPG MEMBERS

The winning T-shirt design was design #1, submitted by Ashleigh Clapper. The faculty and staff thank all who submitted designs, and thank all who voted. Coach Opel will still be taking T-shirt orders at the cost of $10 per shirt until all of the shirts are sold out.

WRITERS AND POETS

Students are reminded to turn in a short story or poem for the Young Author Contest. Students should see their English teacher or Mr. Nicklin for details. The work must be turned in by Saturday, Dec. 20.

THE SIGN OF AN EXCEPTIONAL SALES ASSOCIATE.

Hi Beverly,
. . . It was really a pleasure to work with you and Bob, we knew our house was in great hands. We were very apprehensive about listing the house during this market and its always scary selling a house when you live several hours away. As Dan said, we wish we found you sooner. Our last attempt to sell the house several years ago, didn't go so well. You guys were so responsive. You were always available and if you weren't you either got back to us right away, or let us know before hand who to talk to if you were away. That was a great comfort. We were especially pleased when we asked that the main picture on the website be changed. I think it was changed before Dan was off the phone. We were impressed when you came to the house, and made suggestions on how to make it look better to prospective buyers. You made the entire process go so smoothly, I sometimes forget the house has actually been sold. We would definitely recommend you guys.

BENSON SAYS MERRY CHRISTMAS! And then perhaps he will say, "Now, could you get this thing off me?" This awww-inspiring pup is the newest addition to the Eugene and Karla Harman family, who reside near Oakland. Karla took this picture of him and sent it out to friends in e-mail as a Christmas greeting. Then the editor, who received the cute pic, couldn't resist putting it on the front page of today's issue. With Benson, the staff of The Republican newspaper and Sincell Publishing Co. wish all our readers and patrons a very happy Christmas and a wonderful new year!

THE SNOWMAKING GUNS at the Wisp ski resort in McHenry are silent at the moment since temperatures have been above the freezing mark for a few days, but this was the scene there recently, as several feet of manufactured snow now blanket the mountain. A special guest at the Wisp tomorrow will be former member of the U.S. Ski Team and Olympian A.J. Kitt, who will set the pace time for the NASTAR racing program. (See story on sports pages for details.) While there is no significant natural snow in the forecast right now, nighttime temperatures should be low enough this weekend for additional snowmaking. Gov. Announces State Employee Furlough Plan

Governor Martin O'Malley signed an executive order Tuesday establishing a furlough and salary reduction plan for all state employees because of the deepening national recession. The governor says that the plan will save the state over $34 million in FY 2009 and is progressively structured based on each employee's salary.

Governor O'Malley wrote to state employees in an e-mail, "Indeed, the best days in life aren't always the easiest days. I continue to believe that we will come out of this national recession stronger than ever, thanks to the choices we've made together to protect our priorities and quality of life."

Over the past 22 months, the O'Malley-Brown Administration has reduced spending by $2.2 billion, eliminated over 1,500 state positions, and kept budget growth at less than 4 percent annually.

All employees subject to this order shall be required to forego the equivalent of at least two days of pay, and employees making more than $40,000 will also be required to take 16 or 24 furlough hours on or after January 14 and before June 30, 2009. Employees earning salaries of less than $40,000 will not be required to take furlough hours, although they will be included in the two days of pay equivalent salary reduction, which are pre-design-nated for December 26, 2008, and January 2, 2009.

To mitigate the impact of the required two days' salary equivalent reduction on permanent employees, these salary reductions will be spread over the remainder of FY 2009.

These additional furlough hours for employees making more than $40,000 will be in the form of leave without pay, and will be reflected in the actual pay period in which the employees do not work.

Employees in 24/7 health and public safety positions are exempt from these pay reductions. State employees are encouraged to visit the "State Employees" section of www.dbm.-maryland.gov, where the full executive order is posted, along with frequently asked questions.

The offices of The Republican will be closed Thursday, Dec. 25, for the Christmas holiday. Advertising deadline will be Monday by 5 p.m. News deadline will be Tuesday by noon. The offices will reopen Friday, Dec. 26, at 8 a.m.

Dist. 1 Delegation To Participate In Maryland's Salary Furlough

Maryland's District 1 Delegation members announced yesterday their plans to join with state employees and participate in the salary furloughs. Sen. George Edwards (R-District 1), Del. Wendell Beitzel (R-Dist. 1A), Del. Kevin Kelly (D-Dist. 1B), and Del. LeRoy Myers Jr. (R-Dist. 1C) will each return five days worth of their salaries to Maryland.

"We believe that it is important to stand with the state's employees in these trying times," Edwards said.

Governor Martin O'Malley signed an executive order on Tuesday that established a two to five day furlough for state employees, depending on their salaries, because of the deepening national recession.

Maryland's Constitution prohibits reductions in legislator salaries mid-term; therefore, a legislator's participation in the furlough is strictly voluntary, the District 1 Delegation noted.

"Everyday, Maryland's families are fighting to make ends meet," Beitzel said. "This is especially true for our state's workforce. If the governor sees fit to furlough our state's employees, I believe it is only fitting to give a part of my salary back as well."

The furlough will affect approximately 67,000 members of Maryland's workforce. However, the furlough will not affect employees of the university or court systems, or corrections officers. Employees in "24/7" health and public safety positions are also exempt from the pay reductions.

"State employees are required to accept furlough days, which results in a loss of income," Kelly said. "Thus, it is only fair and appropriate that the members of the General Assembly forego five days of pay."

O'Malley has projected that signing such an order would save the state approximately $34 million in fiscal year 2009.

"The state employees are already paying for the largest tax increase in Maryland's history, rising energy bills and increasing food costs," Myers said. "We want Maryland's middle class to know, as legislators, we are standing with them."

All employees subject to the executive order will be required to forego the equivalent of at least two days of pay, and employees making more than $40,000 will also be required to take 16 or 24 furlough hours on or after Jan. 14, 2009, and before June 30, 2009.

Employees earning salaries of less than $40,000 will not be required to take furlough hours, although they will be included in the two days of pay equivalent salary reduction, which are pre-designated for Dec. 26, 2008, and Jan. 2, 2009.

MSP Seeking Leads On Death Of G'ville Man

Maryland State Police are seeking information concerning the death of a Grantsville man Saturday afternoon.

Robert Lee Hutzel, 41, was found dead outside his Chestnut Ridge Road residence. Police stated that it appeared that Hutzel had been wandering behind his house and fell through the barbed-wire fence. MSP were called to the scene at approximately 12:45 p.m.

MSP have confirmed that no foul play is suspected. The body was transported to the state medical examiner's office in Baltimore for an autopsy, and the investigation is ongoing.

Those with any information concerning this incident are asked to contact MSP, McHenry Barrack, at 301-387-1101 or 301-895-1101.

Two Arrested: One On Bench Warrant, One On Possession

A traffic stop conducted early this morning led to the arrest of a man for a bench warrant.

A Garrett County sheriff's deputy conducted the stop on a blue Chevy, and after further investigation it was discovered that the passenger of the vehicle, James Harold Weeks Jr., had a bench warrant out for his arrest. Weeks had allegedly failed to appear for a court hearing on charges of possession of marijuana, possession of CDS not marijuana, and providing a false

GLAF Announces 2009 Season Of Events; Offers Discounted Tickets

The Garrett Lakes Arts Festival (GLAF) has announced its 2009 season of performing arts, which will include jazz groups, tap dancers, and the Pittsburgh Symphony, among others.

Season subscriptions are available at a 20% discount until Dec. 31, according to Skip Case, executive director.

"Season subscription holders get preferential seating at the college auditorium (for the Dave Leonhardt Jazz Group and Shelley Oliver Tap Dancers) and at the Lodge at Wisp (Beatlemania Now and two Pittsburgh Symphony concerts)," Case said.

A season subscription includes one ticket to each ticketed event, and is $96 for adults and $16 for students. Youth 5 years and younger are admitted to events free, but tickets are required. Season subscriptions are available online at www.artsandentertainment.org or by calling the GLAF office at 301-387-3082.

The Pittsburgh Symphony Pops Orchestra is currently slated to perform movie classics, including those of Hollywood composers John Williams and Henry Mancini, on Friday July 17, and a classical program on Saturday, July 18, featuring Gershwin's "Rhapsody in Blue" and the music of Beethoven and Mendelssohn.

In addition to this symphonic offering, GLAF will present Beatlemania Now on June 27, and the Dave Leonhardt Jazz Group with the Shelley Oliver Tap Dancers on April 17. Leonhardt and Oliver will also perform instructional jazz and tap programs for all 4th grade students of Garrett County during daytime hours of April 16 and 17, and "Mondo Shakespeare" will be presented to middle school students in October 2009.

GLAF's long running free Chautauqua series will return in 2009 on July 5 to 7, following the annual free concert by the Garrett Community Concert Band on the 4th of July.

"Garrett Lakes Arts Festival's mission is to enrich the lives of our community by offering high quality arts and arts education programs. True to the mission, GLAF offers its outstanding performances at the lowest possible cost," Case said. "Ticket income represents only about one-fifth of the actual expense of providing the performances."

Individuals or businesses interested in sponsor information are asked to contact Case at 301-387-3082.

Three Taken To Garrett Memorial Following Accident

A two-vehicle accident on Hutton Road Tuesday sent three to Garrett County Memorial Hospital, with one driver cited for the accident.

Lesa Dawn Tasker, 18, Mtn. Lake Park, was traveling west on Hutton Road in a 2001 Chevy Cavalier at approximately 3:30 p.m. The road was covered in slush at the time of the collision, and while maneuvering a curve, Tasker's rear tires reportedly lost traction on the roadway, causing her vehicle to enter the eastbound lane.

Her vehicle was then struck by a 2001 Ford Ranger truck, driven by Ronald Wayne Cogley, 47, who was traveling eastbound with a passenger. Tasker, Cogley, and Cogley's passenger were all taken to Garrett Memorial by Southern Rescue Squad.

CHRISTMAS CAME EARLY for 75 youngsters at the American Legion Post 214 in Grantsville last Saturday. The group enjoyed food, cookies, games, prizes, and photos with Santa. Katie House is pictured as she makes her special requests, while Brandon House anxiously awaits his turn. Many requests are being made this week, as Santa's big ride will happen in just seven days! Try to stay on the good list, at least for one more week.

"BEATLEMANIA NOW" TO BE PART OF GLAF'S '09 SEASON – Beatlemania Now, a tribute group to the legendary foursome, will be coming to Garrett County as part of Garrett Lakes Arts Festival's 2009 season of performing arts. The line-up was announced this month, along with information regarding discounted season subscription offers. See story. Touring for close to a decade, Beatlemania Now has become the premier multi-media Beatles tribute show in America, incorporating five costume changes, featuring over 150 Big Screen images, and performing more than 35 songs in a two-hour extravaganza, Beatlemania Now chronologically traces the Beatles' career from their 1964 U.S. debut on the The Ed Sullivan Show to the finale of "Let It Be" in 1970. The group will be appearing at the Wisp lodge on June 27.

APPLICATIONS AVAILABLE FOR '09 BUILDING SEASON – Garrett County Habitat for Humanity is now accepting applications for its 2009 building season. The agency has built 61 homes in Garrett County and is planning to build as many as three houses next year. Currently, all homes planned for 2009 will be built in Hopeland Village, Habitat's housing development off Broadford Road. To qualify for a Habitat home, applicants must live in substandard housing, have sufficient income to repay the loan on the home, and be willing to commit "sweat equity" in helping to build their own homes. Each adult must commit to working 250 hours during the building season. Applications may be obtained by calling the Habitat office at 301-533-0600 or by coming into the office, located at 360 West Liberty Street, Oakland. Pictured is a home recently constructed by Habitat for Humanity.

Several Hunters Are Arrested By DNR Officers

Several persons were arrested recently by Maryland Natural Resources Police on a variety of violations related to hunting.

Matthew A. Burns, 19, and Steve A. Burns, 41, both of Oakland, were arrested Tuesday, Dec. 9.

The incident started after NRP received information about a possible illegal deer kill on private property in the 3500 block of Gorman Road.

An investigation ensued and NRP charged Matthew Burns with possession of deer during closed season; hunting on private property without written permission; and failure to record harvest on the hunter's big game harvest record. Steve Burns was charged with failure to obtain a hunting license.

A court date of Jan. 21, 2009, has been scheduled for both men in Garrett County District Court.

Henry A. Kifer, 49, of Swanton was arrested on Wednesday, Dec. 9, and charged with hunting while intoxicated and other hunting violations on Mount Zion Road near Swanton.

According to reports, NRP observed Kifer sitting in a vehicle parked along the roadway while checking hunters. During the incident, NRP discovered a loaded .30-06 caliber rifle and alcoholic beverages in the vehicle. Kifer was arrested and transported to the Garrett County Sheriff's Office for processing.

Kifer was charged with hunting under the influence of alcohol or narcotic drug; possession of a loaded weapon in a vehicle; hunting from a vehicle; and failure of hunter to wear safety orange. He was released on his signature and was provided a ride to his residence by NRP.

David E. Mimna, 49, and David E. Mimna Jr., 21, both of Somerset, Pa., were charged on Saturday, Nov. 29, with hunting violations in Savage River State Forest.

NRP was patrolling in the area of St. John's Rock and encountered the two men sitting in a parked pickup truck. During the encounter, NRP discovered two loaded rifles and one white-tailed doe in the truck.

Both men were charged with possession of a loaded weapon in a vehicle and failure to obtain a hunting license. David E. Mimna was also charged with hunting deer with a firearm during closed season.

Michael Richard Secrist, 30, of McHenry was charged on Friday, Nov. 28, with casting rays of artificial light on fields or woodland while having a weapon in possession capable of killing deer. He was in the area of Bumble Bee Road and Glotfelty Lane near McHenry.

NRP charged Secrist after responding to a report from a concerned citizen of possible illegal hunting activity in the area. During the incident officers located and seized as evidence one .25-06 caliber rifle and ammunition.

On Wednesday, Nov. 26, the Maryland Natural Resources Police charged Bradley E. Collins, 33, of Oakland with multiple hunting violations after investigating a report of possible illegal hunting activity and theft of a tree stand in the area of Corona Bayard Road near Gorman.

Through their investigation, NRP located and seized as evidence two deer, one .270 caliber rifle, one tree stand, and other hunting apparel.

Collins was charged with four counts of possession of deer during closed season; four counts of failure to record harvest on the hunter's big game harvest record; two counts of failure to report harvest of deer within 24 hours; one count of removing head or hide or any part of a deer before check-in; and one count of hunting on private property without written permission.

Police charged Michael C. Falkenstein, 44, of Terra Alta, W.Va., on Monday, Nov. 24, with multiple hunting violations in the area of Snaggy Fire Tower Road in Garrett State Forest.

NRP stopped Falkenstein after observing him allegedly operating an all-terrain vehicle (ATV) in a non-designated area. NRP was in the area conducting foot patrols.

During the course of the stop, NRP discovered Falkenstein to be in possession of a loaded 7mm magnum rifle. He was charged with possession of a loaded weapon in a vehicle; hunting deer with a firearm during closed season; and failure to obtain a hunting license.

A court date of Feb. 26, 2009, has been scheduled for Falkenstein in Garrett County District Court.

GARRETT MEMORIAL RECEIVES DONATION – First United Trust & Investments presented a $6,848.94 check to Garrett County Memorial Hospital during a recent GCMH Foundation board meeting. Kathy Greaser, the foundation's director and a certified fundraising executive, stated that all donations are used toward the purchase of equipment that is vital to patient care. This year's projects are IV pumps and scholarships. Pictured, left to right, are First United's Scott Rush and Gene Helbig, Greaser, and Donald Battista, the hospital's president/CEO.

Loving to Live

Getting to know you a must, inner beauty and sensuality so apparent,
Through your eyes reality in trust, briefly to me, your soul surrendered.
Love and happiness,
perhaps a chance,
one that we can afford,
Knowing entwined
our lives enhance, someday through faith everywhere,
Allowing you to vision in focus, how deeply you,
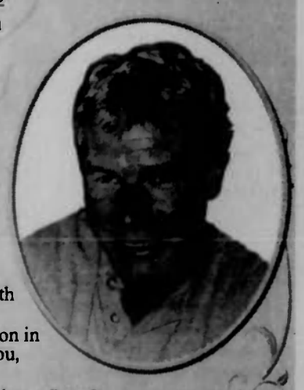
I want and need,
Doing without you I know I can't,
Trusting and giving myself for us, so with a kiss,
plant the seed,
Beginning a reality and closeness to grow.



We all love and miss you—
Your wife, family, and all friends

Lake Ford UM Church To Close After 104 Years

After serving Cranesville, W.Va., and the surrounding community for more than 100 years, the Lake Ford United Methodist Church will close its doors at the end of this month.

In the spring of 1904 the people living in or around Cain (or Kane), now known as Lake Ford, watched as a new church was constructed between the Cranesville Road and Muddy Creek, on the edge of the Pine (now Cranesville) Swamp. The property was deeded to the trustees of the new Methodist congregation by Eugene and Jennie Teets for the sum of $10. The building was completed in September of 1904. The new church was dedicated debt-free of the $1,200 cost for construction. The steeple of the one-room church housed a bell which was rung each Sunday, "pealing an invitation to all throughout the surrounding area," a church spokesperson quoted from historical documents. "The bell has continued throughout the years to send forth that same call to worship every Sunday since then, but will ring for the last time on Sunday, Dec. 28, of this year," the spokesperson said.

Lake Ford United Methodist Church is part of the Cranesville Charge of the West Virginia United Methodist Conference. At one time the building was surrounded by large pine trees with a path leading to a walk bridge across Muddy Creek to a picnic grove. Over the years the course of the creek changed and brought it to within 50 feet of the church structure. A picnic pavilion was built adjacent to the church and has for years housed Sunday school classes, and has been a location for picnics during summer months. It was also the location for an annual event held for many years, which was the open church picnic and hymn sing held every summer and attended by many from Garrett and Preston counties.

Changes were made to the building over the years. A Sunday school room and furnace room were added to the rear of the structure, along with an attached storage shed. Also added in the front was a vestibule or entry way. These additions were made after the congregation decided to modernize and get a furnace to replace the original pot-bellied stove. Three years ago the pavilion was partially enclosed, and at Christmastime provides a "beautiful holiday sight with its lighted tree reflected on the snow and frozen pond in back," the spokesperson said.

The congregation began in February of this year making plans to close the church because of a declining older membership, fewer than 10 active members and a lack of growth in the area. The church has continued to meet all of its financial obligations to the WVUM Conference, as well as support various mission projects, the spokesperson noted.

"The members wanted to be the ones to decide the fate of the property, as we do not want to see it just deteriorate," the spokesperson said.

After meetings with the local district superintendent and final vote of the congregation, it was decided that the building and property will be deeded to the Lake Ford Cemetery Association with the understanding that the building itself will be razed or removed.

The interior furnishings are being donated to the Aldersgate Center in Cranesville, and the original steeple bell will be removed and given to Faith United Methodist Church in Cranesville, Lake Ford's "sister church" in the local conference charge. Faith's tentative plans are to erect the bell outside in an appropriate tower so that it can continue to ring every Sunday to call local worshippers to services. The members of Lake Ford will automatically have their membership transferred to Faith UMC unless they desire to have it moved elsewhere.

A joint Christmas Eve candlelight celebration for the two churches will be held at Lake Ford beginning at 6 p.m. with a fellowship hour and concluding at 7 p.m. with a traditional carol sing. The final service will be Sunday, Dec. 28, at 11:15 a.m. with the celebration of Holy Communion. All members, former members, and friends are invited to attend.

"It is a new year's wish of the members of Lake Ford that all churches will be able to serve their communities for at least as long as we have been blessed to do," the spokesperson said.

CHURCH TO CLOSE AFTER 104 YEARS – After serving Cranesville, W.Va., and the surrounding community for more than 100 years, the Lake Ford United Methodist Church will soon close its doors. See story. A joint Christmas Eve candlelight celebration for the church and Faith United Methodist Church in Cranesville will be held at Lake Ford beginning at 6 p.m. with a fellowship hour and concluding at 7 p.m. with a traditional carol sing. The final service will be Sunday, Dec. 28, at 11:15 a.m. with the celebration of Holy Communion. All members, former members, and friends are invited to attend. statement to a police officer.

The driver of the vehicle, Connie Marie Ogen, was also arrested when it was discovered that she was reportedly in possession of marijuana, possession of CDS not marijuana, and possession of paraphernalia.

Both were taken to the Garrett County Detention Center to await a bond hearing.

Oakland Church Christmas Eve Service Slated

The Oakland Church of the Nazarene will hold a Christmas Eve candlelight service titled "A Candlelight Christmas Eve Family Service of Lessons From the Bible and Traditional Christmas Carols" at 6 p.m.

The public is invited to attend. The church is located at 203 S. 8th St. in Oakland.

Driver Allegedly Found Asleep In Drive-Thru Lane

An Oakland man was arrested by Garrett County sheriff's deputies early this morning after he was reportedly found asleep in the driver's seat of his car.

Deputies reported to the parking lot of McDonald's in response to a traffic complaint that was called into the Garrett County Sheriff's Office at approximately 2 a.m. Upon arrival, deputies discovered a 2007 GMC truck parked in the drive-through lane. Curtis Bailey Layman, 36, was allegedly found passed out at the wheel.

Contact was made with Layman, and he was asked to perform field sobriety tests. The tests were not completed to the satisfaction of the deputies, and Layman was arrested. He was charged with driving under the influence and driving while impaired. He was later released.

Caroline Definitely Qualified...

One of the most misunderstood and therefore misused words when it comes to politics is qualified. People always want to know if someone is qualified to run for office, and/or make statements about how one candidate is more or less qualified than his or her opponent.

A good example of this in the news right now is in reference to Caroline Kennedy, who is being strongly considered by New York's governor to be appointed U.S. senator to fill the seat of Senator Hillary Clinton, who is President-Elect Obama's choice for secretary of state.

The big question right now is: Is Caroline Kennedy qualified to be a U.S. senator? The absolute, clear, correct answer to that question is yes. In order for one to be qualified to serve as a U.S. senator one must be at least 30 years of age and have been a United States citizen for at least nine years. That's it. There is nothing more required for one to be qualified to serve as a U.S. senator. So, one person cannot be "more qualified" or "less qualified" than another. It's like saying that one woman is "more pregnant" than another.

The real questions, of course, are: Is Caroline Kennedy competent? Is she experienced enough? Does she have what it takes to be a good, productive member of the U.S. Senate? Are there others who would be better choiees than she? The answers to these are not nearly as clear-cut, and for many it is a resounding no on all counts.

Let's face it, the real – and praetically only – reason that Ms. Kennedy is even being considered for the job is the fact that she is the daughter of one of our nation's most popular presidents. To her credit, she is an attorney, a wife, a mother, and one who has worked with various foundations and serviee programs. Eaeh of those positions generates experienees that would be helpful in carrying out one's role as a senator. But she has never held elective offiee at a state, county, municipal, or any level, unless maybe it was PTA president. While she would probably not be a disaster as a senator, it is unimaginable that she could be considered by Gov. David Patterson as the best eandidate available for the job, whieh should be his primary criteron.

Joseph Mondello, chair of the New York State GOP Committee, makes a lot of sense when he describes this as "a glamour selection." Continuing, he said, "A seat in the United States Senate isn't something you inherit; it's something you earn through years of dedicated public service. New Yorkers are suffering during tough economie times. Our representatives in Washington must be tough, experienced public servants who work tirelessly to deliver real results. This is simply not the time for anyone who needs on-the-job training to take on such grave responsibilities."

Qualified? Absolutely. The best choiee? No.

To the Editor:

Perhaps you can relate to this story:

John awoke and climbed out of bed. Yawning, he put on slippers and robe and walked downstairs, muttering about the need to rake the leaves and clean out the gutters. Opening the refrigerator, he pulled out a carton of milk and a container of yogurt, opened the cabinet and pulled out a box of cereal. Clicking on the television, he watched the morning news while munching on Cheerios.

After breakfast, he dropped the dirty bowl and spoon into the dishwasher and climbed the stairs to the bathroom. In the hallway, he stopped and turned the thermostat up before climbing into a warm shower. Twenty minutes later, he was rushing to brush his teeth, squeeze into a pair of pants that seem to shrink with each wear, and drive to work. A day filled with meetings, reports, and conference calls ended, and he walked to the neighborhood restaurant for dinner with friends and neighbors.

That evening, he checked his e-mail and received a request to help people suffering from recent natural disasters. He thought about his complaints at dinner about an "awful" day and realized that he actually had so much for which to be thankful.

His pants are tight because he has enough to eat. He is rushing in the morning because he has a job. His lawn needs raking and his gutters need cleaning because he has a home. He is able to turn up the thermostat to keep warm. He has a neighborhood and he has friends. In a few moments he realized that he had, in fact, had a pretty good day – and year for that matter.

But 2008 has been challenging for many families throughout our region. A poor economy has robbed many people of their homes, jobs, and basic necessities. This holiday season, please think of your personal blessings and consider helping those less fortunate right here in your community.

Your gift to United Way is more powerful than you ean imagine, and 99 cents of every dollar goes to work where you live, addressing major needs in our community. Please consider sending a tax-deductible contribution or pledge to County United Way, PO Box 307, Cumberland, MD 21501 (designate the county in which you live). If you have already given, please accept my heartfelt thanks and appreciation for making a difference in the lives of so many.

To the Editor:

I read with interest the article on the commissioners' rejection of the request of county roads superintendent Jay Moyer and state highway Oakland garage foreman Joe Tichinel for permission to apply very limited amounts of salt to Glendale Road and other limited high traffic roadways in Garrett County at relatively minimal cost. I suggest that the commissioners heed the requests of these two very knowledgeable and concerned public servants and perform a better cost-benefit analysis.

If there were ever an instance in which the commissioners are being penny wise and pound foolisn, it is this one. Think about just one accident with a car loaded with tourists (or locals) set to ski at Wisp who, not traveling "65 mph" but just 30 mph, run off the road and hit a tree or hit another car head on. Whose circumstance is more compelling: those folks in the vehicle(s) or those few individuals 20 miles away at Chestnut Ridge who might complain to the county about well or spring contamination?

If there were ever an instance where sovereign immunity would apply, it is to the claims of the well owners. If there were ever an instance where sovereign immunity would not apply, it is in connection with the claims of the motorists.

The county commissioners are on notice and so are we. Salt those roads and save lives or else taxpayers and loved ones will suffer grave consequences.

To the Editor:

I'm amazed at how you – the editor – and others view the prospeets of wind turbines in Garrett County. Seeing them as a plus or a minus is a matter of perspective. It could be that the governor was thinking of them as a vehicle of progress in the movement toward less dependence on foreign oil. Perhaps he meant to convey the message that, in spite of the need for wind turbines as a valuable source of energy, it is nice that they won't look too intrusive to the beauty of the view.

I sense that this type of argument may have always been a part of the history of our beautiful county – the pristine forests, mountains, streams, etc. I suspect there was more than one way to view the coming of the lake that took away homes and farmlands in order to provide electricity for people in Pennsylvania.

What about airports that need the homes and property of a few, for the benefit of others? What about highways that scar the land, bring more noise, air, and water pollution, kill beautiful animals, and take the property of those who happen to be in the way of progress? We already have unsightly mountain ridges to view – scalped land for the purpose of building oversized houses that seem to threaten to fall down the slopes at any moment.

I'm 74, and believe me, it's been a long time since my childhood in Garrett County, when we could gaze upon pristine mountain ridges and enjoy stillness, darkness, and quiet all around. But, times change and we have to be willing to change, too. It's all a matter of perspeetive, I think, and how you choose to view the world. Is the wind turbine part of the donut or part of the hole? They can generate hydrogen fuel too, you know.

Let's view them proudly as we do our bit to help move our country forward with cooperation – not confrontation. This will always be a beautiful county because of the beautiful people here and because of our welcoming nature – even to welcoming change. And, I'm proud of our county commissioners and their deeision to vote from their hearts and their heads. I wish the Congress in Washington were brave enough to do so – to save us from ourselves, when need be.

Sincerely,
Cynthia Sheckells Knight
Grantsville

To the Editor:

I wish to clear up some facts regarding President-Elect Obama's terrorism connections and turning the U.S. into a socialized nation.

To have aeeurate facts regarding William Ayers and terrorism of President-Elect Obama, I have quoted Michael Dobbs from the Washington Post published Feb. 19, 2008.

"Obama spokesman Bill Burton noted in a statement that Ayers was a professor of education at the University of Illinois and a former aide to Mayor Richard M. Daley.

"Senator Obama strongly condemns the violent actions of the Weathermen group, as he does all acts of violence. But he was an 8-year-old child when Ayers and the Weathermen were active, and any attempt to connect Obama with events of almost 40 years ago is ridiculous."

Larry Johnson, a former counter-terrorism official at the CIA and the State Department, predicted that the Republicans would seize on the Ayers case, and other Chicago relationships, to "bludgeon Obama's presidential aspirations into the dust."

The London Sunday Times joined the chorus by reporting that Republicans were "out to crush Barack by painting him as a left-winger with dubious support relationship."

The president of the Woods Fund, Deborah Harrington, said he (Ayers) had been selected for the board because of his solid academic credentials and "passion for social justice."

"This whole connection [to Ayers] is a stretch. Barack was very well known in Chicago, and a highly respected legislator. It would be difficult to find people around here who never volunteered or contributed money to one of his campaigns."

My last comments about Ms. Glotfelty's letter dated Nov 27, 2008: Just for the record, not only have I owned property in Garrett County for over 50 years, but I am a graduate of Aurora High School. So my roots go back to 1951 with over 50 years in the area.

In Ms. Glotfelty's reply: "No ... take advantage of the Social Security system, and by the time I am old enough to receive it, there probably won't be any."

Is she saying, "Yes, I want my Social Security benefits even though it is socialism" or what?

President-Elect Obama will protect the system; unlike the Bush administration that wants to give tax credits so individuals can invest in the open market. How many citizens have enough expertise to play the stock market?

R. Schmidt

To the Editor:

Commissioner Dennis Glotfelty was right when he said that "the people" should decide about Sunday sales of alcohol within Garrett County, and the state legislature was correct when the referendum was set up district-by-district. But the writer of the letter in the December 11 issue of The Republican was way off base in complaining about that. We shouldn't be surprised though – he seems to have made it his life's mission to meddle in the drinking habits of others.

Our entire country was established on the principle of local governance. We didn't like the King of England deciding things that weren't his business, so we set up a system closer to home that would recognize local rule. Thus, the U.S. Congress may only establish laws for all the states – not just pick on one or two for "special treatment." And our state government sets laws for all of the counties of the state, not just Garrett or Montgomery. Thus, it was logical for the referendum to be set district-by-district, as it was done years ago.

To carry the letter writer's logic to its obvious conclusion, there should be no town elections within Garrett County. Voters from Grantsville to Kitzmiller should be able to vote for members of Mtn. Lake Park's mayor and town council, as well as for those of all the other towns.

I've got it! Let's have "all the people" of Maryland decide who should be in office in Garrett County and all its towns. No, wait, an even better idea would be for only one election per year in the entire country in which "all the people" got to cast votes for every elected office in every state. That would certainly be a much better way, and think of all the money we'd save! To heck with local elections and representation.

The only reason the letter writer wants alcohol sales to be decided county-wide is so he can ram his personal feelings down the throats of all the folks who think differently than he does. I wonder how the voters in California, West Virginia, and New York would vote on alcohol sales in Garrett County? Does he really want to find out?

Can't we all just get along?

Man Driving On Revoked License Arrested By GCSO

A man was arrested by Garrett County sheriff's deputies Monday following a traffie stop for a moving violation.

Ralph Oscar Davis III, 40, Garrett County, was operating his 1978 Ford Bronco on east Lake Street at Third Street, Oakland, when he was stopped by a sheriff deputy. Investigation revealed that Davis' driver's license was suspended and revoked in the state of Maryland. It was also discovered that his vehicle had no registration or insurance, and it was displaying registration plates issued to a different vehicle.

He was taken to the Garrett County Detention Center to await a bond hearing. Davis was charged with failure to give a required turn signal, driving on a revoked license, driving on a suspended license, possessing a revoked lieense, operating an unregistered motor vehicle, and driving an uninsured vehiele.

Kindness, Peace, Caring In Abundance At Diakon Center

by Glenn Tolbert

There is an enveloping sense of kindness, peacefulness, and caring as soon as one enters through the front doors of the Mountain Glade adult day services facility operated by Diakon Lutheran Social Ministries and located just off Memorial Drive in Oakland behind Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

One might also hear the tinkling sounds of a piano, accompanied by a chorus of voices drifting down the hallway.

The name Diakon means "one assigned by the church to minister to the needs of others." Diakon Lutheran Social Ministries is a private, non-profit charitable organization of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America. Diakon was founded Jan. 1, 2000, by the affiliation and later merger of Lutheran Services Northeast and Tressler Lutheran Services. But the history of the latter two organizations goes way back into the 1800s, as the Tressler Orphans Home was created to serve children orphaned during the Civil War, and was purchased by the Lutheran Church in 1868.

Diakon adult day services programs provide daytime assistance that allows older persons or those with disabilities to continue to live in their own homes or with family members. Helping them to maintain as much independence as possible, Diakon Adult Day Services offers an alternative to nursing care, at the same time providing a respite for those caring for someone at home.

Beyond daytime care and assistance, the programs offer participants stimulating interaction with others who have similar interests and experiences. The Diakon adult day services centers boast exciting events and activities, including crafts, games, shopping and recreational trips, and educational projects.

Grace A. Bolyard is the program director for the Oakland facility, and the aforementioned sense of peace and tranquility is also present in her office and in her demeanor.

Boyard speaks quietly, but with assurance in her voice which helps bring comfort and contentment to the 24 people under her care during the day.

"People come here wanting to feel as if they're in their second home, and we provide that for them during the day," she said.

Pauline Marple, 83, of Gorman says that Diakon has more than come through with its efforts to provide a home away from home.

"This place has been wonderful to me," she said. "I really do feel at home here. Without it there would be no place for me to go during the day, or I would have to stay by myself."

Despite the hard work of Bolyard and her staff of seven, there is presently an enrollment shortage that is affecting the cash flow of the facility.

Rita Rousseau, executive director of Diakon's outreach facilities, says the corporation's income comes from several sources, including the state of Maryland, private pay, and subsidies from Diakon itself.

Rousseau says the entire system of care facilities provided by the organization is suffering from a downward spiraling census.

"We don't know why this is happening," she said. "We have a strong marketing and referral program through which we meet with those in the medical community. We try to point out that elder day care is much more cost-effective than a nursing home."

Rousseau is hoping that the Mountain Glade center enrollment will increase, but was quick to add that, regardless of the current difficult fiscal situation, "no one is even talking about closing the Oakland facility."

Besides adult day services centers, Diakon offers a wide range of services for children, youths, families, and older adults in Pennsylvania, Maryland, and Delaware. There are some 2,300 Diakon staff members working in 50 service centers and senior living communities in the tri-state area.

Persons who would like to obtain information on the adult day care services provided at the local Diakon facility, as well as various opportunities for financial assistance, are invited to telephone 301-334-0585.

Meanwhile, an investigation into the source of piano music leading a host of voices in song found center volunteer Joyce Tekavec tickling the ivories with some 20 to 30 people sitting in a large circle facing her and giving it their joyous all.

CARE AND KINDNESS are doled out in great quantities at the Mountain Glade adult day services facility in Oakland, operated by Diakon Lutheran Social Ministries and providing a home away from home during the day for nearly two dozen local senior citizens. "I really do feel at home here," said Pauline Marple, 82, of Gorman, who is pictured above with Lisa Weimer, acting director of the center while regular program director Grace Bolyard, pictured below, is on maternity leave. There is a paid staff of seven at the center, as well as some volunteers who visit on a regular basis. One of those volunteers is Joyce Tekavec, who is pictured at right providing some musical entertainment. Photos by Glenn Tolbert.

"A Great Small Town Christmas" Events Continue

The town of Oakland is continuing its "A Great Small Town Christmas" events this weekend.

The activities of Friday, Dec. 19, are as follows: Garrett County Historical Society Museum will have special hours, open from 6 to 8 p.m. Santa will be at the "Santa Shack" from 6 to 9 p.m. to greet children. The "shack" is located in the former Jan Florist building along Alder Street. Horse-drawn sleigh rides will be given from 6 to 9 p.m.

On Saturday, Dec. 20, the following activities are slated: The museum will open from 10 a.m. until p.m., and Santa will be in the Santa Shack from noon until 2 p.m.

The sleigh rides will be given from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. A Christmas Centerpiece Workshop will be conducted at Jan Florist from noon to 1:30 p.m. (fee: $35).

FR. BENEDICT POPE

Father Benedict Pope, O.F.M., Cap., 79, Pittsburgh, Pa., died Tuesday, Dec. 9, 2008, at Vincentian Home, Pittsburgh.

Born Sept. 17, 1929, in Cumberland, Father Ben was a son of the late Claude and Regina (Loraditch) Pope. His baptismal name was Edward Louis. He was also preceded in death by his stepmother, Gladys Miller Pope.

After completing elementary school in Grantsville, Father Benedict attended St. Fidelis Seminary High School and College in Herman, Pa. He was accepted into the Capuchin Franciscan Order on July 13, 1948, and professed his first vows as a friar on July 14, 1949, in Cumberland. He was ordained to the priesthood on June 5, 1954, at the National Shrine of the Immaculate Conception, Washington, D.C. His solemn high first mass was celebrated at St. Anne's Church, Avilton.

Father Ben's first assignment was as professor at St. Joseph Military Academy (Thomas More Prep-Marian High School) in Hays, Kan. While teaching at the Academy, he attained a master's of science degree from Fort Hays State University in 1959. Father was at the academy until 1968, at which time he was assigned to teaching responsibilities in the Capuchin Mission of Papua New Guinea at St. Fidelis College in Madang.

He returned to the United States in 1975 as associate pastor at St. Joseph Church, Hays. He was named pastor of Our Lady of Help Christians Church in Antonino, Kan., in 1977.

Father Ben was appointed chaplain of The Alverne and associate pastor of St. Patrick Church, both in St. Louis, Mo., in 1983. He returned to Hays and Thomas More Prep in 1985, and assisted with the residency program of the school until 1988. He was then named the local director of the Seraphic Mass Association and part-time chaplain at the VA Medical Center in Washington, D.C. He transferred to Pittsburgh, Pa., in 1991, and ministered as a chaplain at the local VA hospital until 1992.

Father Ben has been in declining health since 1992, and he became a resident of Vincentian Home, Allison Park, Pa., in 2003.

Father Ben is survived by five brothers and their families, James and Dodie Pope, Gaithersburg, Eugene Pope, Salisbury, Earl and Rosezita Pope, Mt. Savage, Stephen and Donna Pope, Salisbury, and David Pope, Grantsville.

The public was received at St. Augustine Friary, Pittsburgh, where a wake service was conducted on Thursday, Dec. 11, in the friary chapel.

Family and friends gathered at SS Peter and Paul Church, Cumberland, where a Mass of Christian Burial was celebrated on Saturday, Dec. 13.

Burial followed in the friars plot of the parish cemetery.

Donations in honor of Father Benedict Pope may be made to the Capuchin Development Center, 220 37th Street Pittsburgh, PA 15201.

Corporate VP Changes Career To Help Heal, Rescue Animals

by Renee Shreve

Some people know in kindergarten what their life's mission will be; some stumble onto rewarding careers after a few false starts in their 20s; still others do not discover their dream jobs until they reach retirement. At age 63, Mercedes Pellet has found the work she loves: helping animals.

The former vice president/chief financial officer of a multi-million dollar corporation is now a registered veterinary technician. She serves as HART for Animals' development director and is using her old and new skills to help secure funding for the non-profit group to construct an adoption center in Garrett County.

"Being a veterinary technician is very hard, physical work, not generally performed by people my age," said the petite grandmother of five children. "However, I will be happy to do whatever is necessary for HART to succeed."

Her journey from VP to vet tech is chronicled in the November/December issue of AARP Magazine in an article titled "Work @ 50+ 2008: Find the Work You Love." Mercedes' story can also be found in the AARP book Finding the Work You Love: The Essential Guide to Reinventing Your Life and the association's bilingual magazine, Segunda Juventud (Second Youth).

The animal lover's career move began in 2003 after her beloved Yorkshire terrier Tasi became sick. A sour business transaction in 2000 also made her re-evaluate her personal and business goals.

"Tasi's illness made me realize how little I knew about animals, so I started investigating the possibility of becoming a veterinarian," Mercedes said. "To find out more about what would be required and whether I could do it, I applied for a part-time internship position at a veterinary clinic. I was 57 years old."

After the internship, Mercedes concluded that eight years of intensive vet school study would not be practical. She thought becoming a vet tech would be a more realistic goal.

"While thinking about this, I read an article in The Republican about the Garrett County Animal Shelter," she said. "I realized that I could make a difference to animals and the place we had chosen as our retirement home: Garrett County."

Mercedes and her husband Michael purchased a place at Deep Creek Lake in 1992 and moved there full time in 2004.

"As a native of Colombia, South America, I had fallen in love with Garrett County because it reminded me of the mountains I had known as a child," Mercedes said. She has lived in the United States since 1957.

The Pellets started M2 Limited Enterprises Inc. in 1979 in Montgomery Village. Their specialty was translating technical manuals, web pages, and software for businesses.

"We translated English into 60 languages by using translators all over the world," Mercedes said. "Our clients were national and multinational businesses, such as American Airlines, Xerox, GlaxoSmithKline."

M2 had approximately $5 million in annual sales and 50 employees, all of whom considered Tasi part of the management structure. The Yorkie went to the office with the Pellets every single day since they got him in 1992. His "work" included attending board and staff meetings.

"Tasi died of lymphoma in February 2004, and we were inconsolable," Mercedes said. "We decided to accelerate our retirement and move full time to Garrett County and telecommute to the office."

Shortly before Tasi's death, Mercedes applied to the Veterinary Technician Program at Fairmont (W.Va.) State University's Pierpont Community & Technical College.

She had a bachelor of arts degree from Hood College and could translate Spanish, Portuguese, and English. But in order to be accepted into the FSU tech program, Mercedes first had to take remedial classes in the "hard subjects," as she calls them, at a community college in Montgomery County.

"Since I was a liberal arts graduate, my knowledge of math and sciences could be said to be non-existent," she said.

Mercedes was eventually accepted into the tech program and began taking FSU classes in the summer of 2004. She graduated in 2006.

"It was not an easy journey," she said about obtaining her associate of science degree. "I could not have done it without Michael."

For the first few months, he would drive Mercedes and their two newly adopted mixed breed dogs to Fairmont. Michael and the canines would wait until she got out of class, then the family would return to Deep Creek Lake. Once she got home, Mercedes would step back into her role as CFO and vice president of M2.

She describes those summer classes as "excruciating," for the tech program begins with things that separate the idealists from the realists: cleaning cages, walking dogs, and (yikes!) medicating cats.

"Many students do not

TASI'S GIFTS: LOVE, INSPIRATION, EDUCATION – Mercedes Pellet shares her desk with her beloved Yorkshire terrier Tasi at M2 Limited Enterprises, a translation company founded by Mercedes and her husband Michael in Montgomery County. Tasi accompanied the Pellets to work each day and was considered a part of the management team by company employees. At right, Tasi, Mercedes, and Michael enjoy the winter scenery on a frozen Deep Creek Lake. Following Tasi's death in 2004, Mercedes decided to pursue her dream of becoming a veterinary technician so that she could help animals. The Pellets later established a scholarship called Tasi's Gift for vet tech students. See story. Mercedes is pictured at the beginning of the article learning the fine art of bathing a cat. "Fur Ball Gala Tickets Selling Rapidly," Says Event Organizer

Nina Tate-Elliott, chair of HART's Fur Ball Committee, announced yesterday that tickets for the gala are selling at a fast rate. She advised that anyone wishing to attend the Fur Ball purchase the tickets as soon as possible, because there is a real possibility that they will be sold out.

"This is going to be the first of many, many Fur Balls," Tate-Elliott said. "All of us on the committee are thrilled at the enthusiasm we have generated. We have assembled a team that will provide our guests with an unforgettable evening: great music, great food, a cash bar, the casino – all in a beautifully decorated winterland."

She added that each guest will receive a complimentary beautiful Christmas ornament as a memento of the event.

Additional sponsors have volunteered to back the event, and Tate-Elliott expressed her thanks to the following businesses for their support: Studio 24E, Eagle Rock Construction, Comcast, Fireside Deli, Sunnyside Wools, Husky Power, MarketWorks LLC, First United Bank & Trust, DC's Bar & Restaurant, Pineview Veterinary Hospital, Railey Mountain Lake Vacations, Railey Realty, Suburban Propane, Nola's Salon, Spring Creek Outfitters, Massage at the Lake, the Sewickley Spa, Schoolhouse Earth, and the Pittsburgh Penguins, as well as various private donors.

Tickets for the Fur Ball can be purchased at the HART web site at hartforanimals.org/furball/index.php. Proceeds from the event will benefit the proposed HART Animal Adoption Center.

HART for Animals, Inc. is a 501(c)(3) organization, established in Oakland in 2003 to rescue homeless animals in Garrett County. Additional information is available on the organization's web site.

Ask Sheila

Decorating Dilemma?
Sheila offers helpful advice.

Dear Sheila

I feel I must comment on the "Santa Claus Shack" that you and your girls did.

I hate to see empty buildings with the dark fronts, especially at the holidays.

I cannot believe you made that come alive for all the kids and as a parent of 3 kids, 2, 5 and 7, it was a lot easier standing inside a building that reminded me of when I would go visit my grandy and she had all the oldie decorations!

It is nice to see the lights in the evenings too. With having to downsize so much right now it is nice to see something special.

Mary O.

Dear Mary:

Thanks for the lovely note. While I would love to take all the credit I have to admit it was a joint effort. Etves Terry Helbig, Helbig Insurance, Linda Severe, Jitlian and Joanne, Decorators Nook, Sandy Flannigan, Railey's Realty Jimmy Flanigan, NuWay Interiors, The town of Oakland employees, and 2 very special elves, my granddaughters, Taylor Orr and Brandi Lathberry! And of course Bitt Meager for the free use of the building and electric!

*So as you can see, it really was a team effort! If you see any of these people, tell them thanks also and MERRY CHRISTMAS TO ALL AND REMEMBER THE REASON FOR THE SEASON!

Adorable Adoptables

WAITING PATIENTLY FOR VISITORS – Several pets are available for adoption at the Garrett County Animal Shelter this week, including a male Dalmatian mix; two laid-back indoor female (spayed) felines, who were given up by their owner; last week's featured male husky-chow mix, who needs a family to interact with; and a very personable black/white male tuxedo, who is looking for a Christmas tree to sleep under. "Last week's black Lab mix was adopted, but since the shelter was overflowing with dogs many were taken to rescues downstate by HART," said a Humane Society spokesperson. "Please have your cats and dogs spayed or neutered, as up until last week, kittens and puppies were being brought to the shelter. If they had not been taken there, they would have possibly been left outside to freeze to death. There is more hay available at the shelter to those who need it to insulate their dog houses." For more information, persons may call the shelter at 301-334-3553. The facility is located along Oakland Sang Run Road.

stay after six weeks," Mercedes said. "There were 33 of us at the beginning, and 12 of us at the end when we graduated."

She also describes the almost daily commute from Deep Creek to Fairmont as "brutal." So after that first summer, she got a room within walking distance of the college. Michael dropped her off on Mondays and picked her back up on Thursdays.

But Mercedes was still CFO/VP of M2 and could not devote all of her time to studying. After attending classes all day, she would head back to her room and "go to work," via telecommunication. The Pellets sold M2 in May 2006.

Though the commute got much easier, the course work did not. "The classes were really hard," Mercedes said. "Pharmacology and anatomy, for instance, were painful!"

But the subject that almost made her give up was chemistry.

"I could not get my mind around moles and molecules!" she said. "Everybody thought it was funny when I said, 'All I understand of what the chemistry professor tells me is good morning. After that, it sounds like broom, broom, broom!' It wasn't funny."

Mercedes passed chemistry, she said, only because Michael found her a 17-year-old tutor, who (bless his soul) loved the subject. Her final grade was a "C."

In addition to the difficult classes, ageism was also a problem. Her fellow students would not talk to her, at first.

"My classmates were 18 to 30 years old," Mercedes said. "I was old enough to be their grandmother, and I was foreign-born, to boot. In fact, I was older than the professors."

But Mercedes persevered, and soon age was not an issue for anyone. Unlike other majors, the vet tech students are together all the time for theoretical and practical classes, she explained. That togetherness, coupled with common goals and interests, bonded the students.

"After a while, I was no longer the senior citizen who spoke with an accent, but just another student," she said. "I became friends with the other students and learned a lot from them! I became less critical of 'the young' because I realized that they were pretty good kids, many of whom had really tough situations to deal with and all of whom loved animals."

After Mercedes graduated, she and Michael established an endowment for the best vet tech student in every FSU graduating class.

"We call it 'Tasi's Gift' and it consists of a $500 check, no strings attached, to the graduating student who maintains a GPA of B or above, has a financial need, and has demonstrated a dedication to the well-being of animals."

Part of Mercedes' motivation for establishing Tasi's Gift, she said, was the realization that the students in her class were "killing themselves" to study and practice, only to end up making "mediocre" salaries.

But Mercedes is making even less money than her fellow vet techs. Since obtaining her AS degree and passing the veterinary technician state board exam, she has been working full time for HART.

"[It's the] same hours as when we owned the business," she said. "The only difference is that I do not get a salary."

Michael also volunteers for HART, lending his business expertise. He is currently the group's president.

HART is a 501(c)(3) organization, established in Oakland in 2003 to rescue homeless animals in Garrett County.

Working with the Garrett County Animal Shelter and volunteer drivers, HART places animals with bigger rescue groups, where they have a greater chance of being adopted.

Last year, the shelter took in 1,317 animals, of which 558 were transported by HART and 557 were euthanized. As of Dec. 16, the group has saved the lives of 616 pets so far this year, according to Mercedes.

Those statistics are the driving force behind HART's effort to build its own $1 million adoption center. The county will provide a site near McHenry, and HART will provide the money, through fundraisers and grants, for construction.

"We have raised $50,000, with commitments that almost double that," Mercedes said. "But we will not wait until we raise the full amount, but hope to break ground this summer."

With a little luck, she

DREAMING OF A MERRY CHRISTMAS FOR ALL ANIMALS? The Garrett County Humane Society is again accepting donations from persons who want to give a gift that will not be put away forgotten in a closet or returned to a store. "You may give a monetary gift to the Garrett County Humane Society in memory of a beloved pet or person who loved pets," said Lisa Baker, society president. "You may give any amount; just enclose a note with your check that lists the following information: your name (who the gift is from), the name and address of whom the gift card is to be sent to, and the amount being donated." This information will be written on a special Christmas card and mailed to the recipient stating that a donation has been given in his or her name. Checks should be made payable to "The Garrett County Humane Society" and then mailed to GCHS Treasurer, 1124 Mary Drive, Oakland, MD 21550. Baker noted that donations to not have to given in memory of people or pets. Donations are used to benefit homeless or neglected animals or fund the society's spay/neuter voucher program. Some money is also used to assist HART for Animals Inc. for transporting animals to rescue facilities or to provide veterinarian services for animals at the county shelter. For more information, persons may call 301-334-2738.

The Arts

"A NIGHT OF STORYTELLING AROUND THE WORLD" was recently held at Perkins Restaurant, McHenry, with Dr. Gail Herman and Katie Ross as hosts of the event. Sponsored by local organizations and storytelling groups in states and countries worldwide, Tellabration™ is held annually and supported by the National Storytelling Network with the intention of celebrating the art of storytelling. Above are several storytellers and several audience members. From left, beginning with the front row, are Jeanne Walton, Keyser, W.Va.; Katie Ross, Rawlings; and Betty Rouse, Swanton. Back row: Judy Sconyers and Linda Griffith, both from Garrett College, Kyra and Jenna Griffith, Otto Ross, Brittany Carr, Mrs. Carr, and Herman. See story for details.

Story Tellabration™ Recently Held At Perkins Restaurant

"A Night of Storytelling Around the World" was recently held at Perkins Restaurant, McHenry. Sponsored by local organizations and storytelling groups in states and countries world wide, Tellabration™ is held annually and supported by the National Storytelling Network with the intention of celebrating the art of storytelling.

Tellabrations are held the weekend before Thanksgiving each year, and are conducted in many different places – around campfires, in living rooms, on school stages, in college libraries, concert halls, churches, restaurants, and more.

"A Tellabration is meant to preserve and perpetuate the communal spirit and the art of storytelling across the United States," noted Dr. Gail Herman, producer, Swanton. Katie Ross, Ridgley, W.Va., also hosted the event along with Herman.

"We chose Perkins Restaurant this year because of its fireplace and friendly staff," said Herman. She and Ross are both members of the W.Va. Storytelling Guild.

The evening began with accordion music by Otto Ross, a folk/Christian musician and adjunct professor of math at Allegany College of Maryland. Herman followed with a new story titled, "The Gargantuan Ghost of Sang Run," which involved details from an old local event. She encouraged audience participation and organized a sound effects crew before beginning her story. Herman recently had a separate story published in the 2008 anthology Holiday Stories All Year Round: Audience Participation Stories and More.

Jeanne Walton was next, with a fractured rendition of the fairytale "Rapunzel." Walton is a retired teacher of special education in Keyser, as well as a professional storyteller. She won the 2005 Tall Tale Festival during Autumn Glory. She has also been involved in Tellabration for over 10 years.

Katie Ross told her rendition of the 1897 murder trial of Edward Shue, who was accused of murdering his wife, Zona Hester Shue. The story is titled "The Greenbrier Ghost." Ross teaches Spanish at Allegany College and is a fan of telling world folktales, personal stories, and stories about women from the Bible. She won second place in the nationwide contest from the Creative Arts Institute.

"There are always those spontaneous stories that arise from the inspiration and associations that come from listening to stories from the heart, folktales, and stories from 'way back when,'" stated Herman.

The next event will be titled "Treats for Tales" and is slated for Friday, Jan. 30, at 6 p.m. at the Queen City Creamery, Cumberland. The public is invited to listen to stories and enjoy a meal of soups and sandwiches, with ice cream to follow.

For more information, persons may contact Katie Ross at 304-738-2338 or Herman at 301-387-9199.

DINNER THEATER SET AT MEADOW MTN. – The children's comedy You Can't Cancel Christmas! will be presented at Meadow Mountain Mennonite Church on Sunday, Dec. 21, beginning at 6 p.m. The evening will aiso inciude a turkey dinner and other musical entertainment. The piay depicts a family as they prepare for Christmas. "The mother is so caught up in getting ready for Grandma's visit that she forgets to help the youth group with its Christmas pageant," a spokesperson said. "When she realizes that her son was peeking at his presents, she cancels Christmas, and the children are left to prepare the pageant on their own." Everyone is invited to attend. There is no cost for the event, but reservations are required. They can be made by calling 301-387-2763. An offering will be taken to help offset the cost of the dinner. The church is located aiong U.S. Route 495 near Swanton. Cast members are pictured above. In the front row, from left, are Patrick Lee, Karen Beiler, and Rebecca Lee. In the back row are Mikoias Ruggiero, Brenda Ruggiero, Dominic Ruggiero, Laura Frederick, Dallas Beiler, Jenna Ruggiero, and Kristina Beiler.

CHRISTMAS CANTATA SCHEDULED – The Chancel Choir of St. Paul's United Methodist Church, Oakland, will perform Night of Miracles, John Peterson's Christmas cantata, this Sunday, Dec. 21, at 7 p.m. The church is located at 318 East Oak Street. A traditional candle lighting ceremony will be included in this service, and a nursery will be provided. For more information, persons may call the church at 301-334-2391. From left in the first row are Denise Kerr, Wilietta Mateer, Laurie Grant, and Dorene Rogers. In the second row are Ann Leighton, Pat Sheiton, Lynda Durst, Heien Earles, Syivia Emery, and Joan Lambert. In the third row are John Wiison, Herb Lambert, Marie Watkins, Karen Winkelvoss, Jay Umstot, Tom Sheiton, Pat Kerr, and Herb Leighton. Not pictured are Carol Slagle, Bill Grant, and Truett Rogers.

TOTL Theatre Company Offers Winter Session

Following three successful summer seasons at Garrett College, the TOTL Theatre Company (Theatre on the Lake), a non-profit organization, will continue to extend its programs to the youth of Garrett County, according to Lynn Broderick, executive director.

The winter session of the School of Theatrical Arts of Garrett County will begin on Saturday, Jan. 17. The school is under the direction of Elizabeth Wotring-Nelson and Leah Broderick, both members of the TOTL Theatre Company.

For this session, the school will specialize in Broadway-style dance, vocal performance, auditioning for the theatre, and a special acting class in accents and dialects for the stage.

Next spring the TOTL Theatre Company will be auditioning young actors and actresses for roles in its 2009 summer season at Garrett College. Young performers are needed to play roles in two musicals: Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dream Coat, and Big River: the Story of Huckleberry Finn.

All classes offered at the School of Theatrical Arts this winter will help prepare students for auditions with TOTL, if they wish to audition, as well as for college, community, and high school productions.

Both teachers are trained performers in all areas of musical theatre. Elizabeth Wotring-Nelson holds a B.A. degree in church music from Greenville College and a master of music degree in musical theatre from the Boston Conservatory of Music. Upon graduating, she moved to the Twin Cities area, where she worked as a worship director and founded Children's Performing Arts, a highly successful ministry for children.

Elizabeth has been seen in The Secret Garden and Little Women with the TOTL Theatre Company.

Leah Broderick holds a bachelor of fine arts degree in musical theatre from the Shenandoah Conservatory of Music at Shenandoah University. Her vocal training began early as a member of the Peabody Conservatory Youth Choir in Baltimore. Since college graduation, she has served as choreographer and music director for numerous productions with the Preston County Summer Theatre, the PHS Theatre Department, and for Centennial High School and the Slayton House Camp of the Arts in Howard County.

Broderick wrote the music for Mabel's Story, an original musical that premiered at Preston High School last April. She has been seen in eight of the nine productions mounted by the TOTL Theatre Company.

Both women teach private voice and piano lessons in Oakland, Kingwood, and Fairmont, and are substitute teachers for the Garrett County and Preston County public school systems.

The winter semester classes will be offered from 10 a.m. to 12:15 a.m. on Saturday mornings at St. Matthew's Episcopal Church parish hall in Oakland on the following schedule:

10 a.m. – Elementary/Middle School Musical Theatre Dance.

10 a.m. – High School Vocal Performance.

10:45 a.m. – High School Musical Theatre Dance.

10:45 a.m. – Middle School Vocal Performance.

11:30 a.m. – Audition for the Theatre (grades 6 and up).

12:15 p.m. – High School Acting: Accents and Dialects.

12:15 p.m. – Elementary Vocal Performance.

All classes are $80 per semester and will culminate with a showcase performance.

To register, students may call the TOTL Theatre Company at 304-680-1002 and request a brochure. Students may also pick up a brochure at The Republican newspaper office in Oakland. Most classes will be limited to the first 12 students registered, so a quick response will ensure a place for a student in a specific class. Students may register for as many classes as they wish, but registrations are taken on a first-come, first-served basis.

GIRL SCOUTS SUPPORT CHRISTMAS PROJECT – Girl Scout Troop #55005 recently donated to Operation Christmas Child. The organization sends shoe boxes filled with small gifts to children throughout the world. "This is the third year we've participated in Operation Christmas Child," said troop leader Regina Green. "It is such a blessing to see how excited the girls get when showing what they bought and packing the boxes; They are so caring and thoughtful. I am proud of them." Pictured above, left to right, in the front are Alexis Spiker, Nichole Snyder, Heather Frick, Cheyenne Reckart, Madison Hinebaugh, Cassy Baker, Natasha Helbig, and Samantha Moore. In the back are Ashley Green, Lauren Frick, Jaden Savage, Georgi Powers, Andrea Belanger, Sabrina Hensley, and Tiffany Gank. Garrett County Girl Scouts also supported local veterans by marching in the Veterans Day Parade in Oakland. Pictured below are flag bearers Ashley Green, Rachael Huxford, and Grace Dubansky.

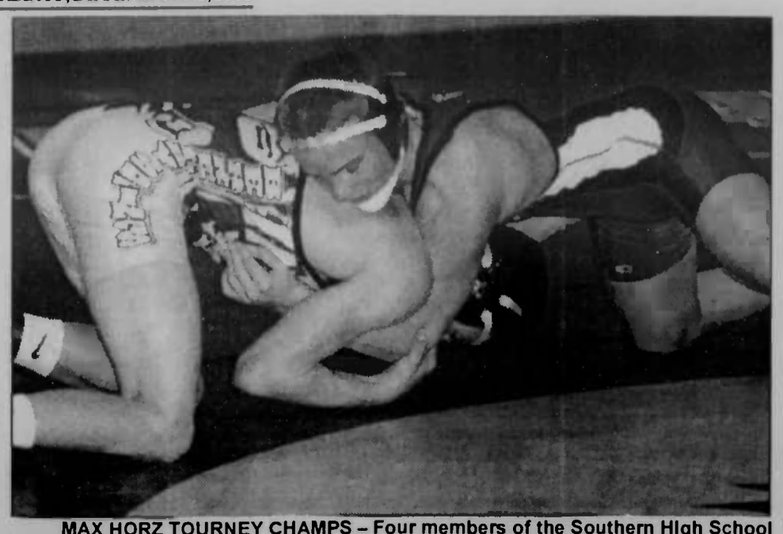
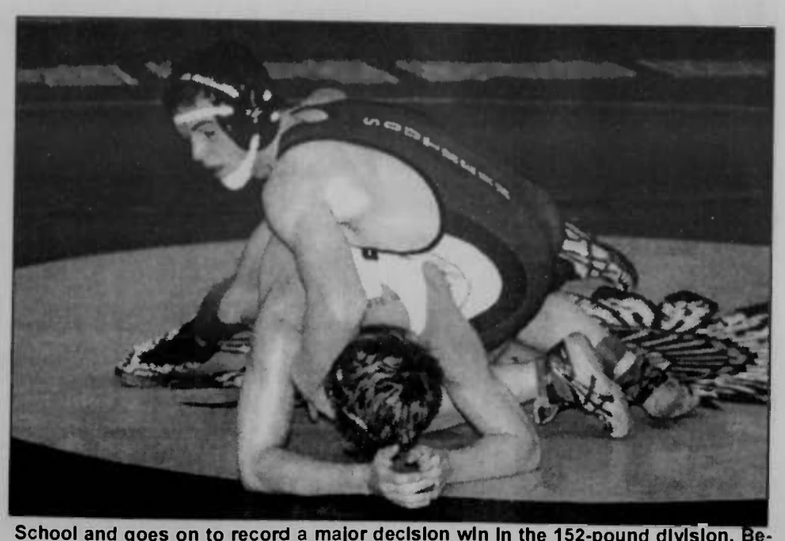
Ram Wrestlers Win Third Straight Max Horz Tourney





MAX HORZ TOURNEY CHAMPS – Four members of the Southern High School wrestling team captured individual championships in the highly competitive annual Max Horz Tournament hosted this past weekend by Berkeley Springs High School. That paved the way for the Rams to also bring home the team title for the third straight year, as they won the 31-team event by nearly 50 points over second-place finisher Sherando, Va. The Northern Huskies placed seventh as a team, and had one individual champion. Pictured above left, Southern's Lex Ozias works his way to a 1-0 decision over Brad Reed of Berkeley Springs to win the 130-pound division title. Above right, Jakob "Bubba" Scheffel controls Tanner Whyte of Cameron High School and goes on to record a major decision win in the 152-pound division. Below left, reigning two-time Maryland state champion George "Brutus" Scheffel appears ready to flip Trevor Walker of Skyline and goes on to gain a 5-3 decision victory in the 140-pound division final. Below right is Southern's Jordan Skipper tying up Billy Forquer of Hedgesville in the 160-pound division championship bout, en route to an 8-6 point victory. Pictured at the bottom is Northern's Dustin Stough, right, who was the champion in the 171-pound division, as he edged Nick Bankos of Sherando, 3-2. Photos courtesy of Delos Carpenter.

For the third consecutive year, the Southern High School wrestling team captured the team championship in the highly competitive Max Horz Tournament at Berkeley Springs High School this past weekend. Not only did Coach Dave Taylor's team win the title from among 31 teams, but did so by nearly 50 points, and by capturing four individual championships and three runner-up spots.

Also competing in the event and placing a respective seventh as a team were the Northern Huskies, coached by Seott Stough, who landed one individual title and two runner-up trophies.

Southern amassed a total of 233 team points, while Sherando, Va., was a distant second with 185.5 points. Host Berkeley Springs finished third with 174 points, followed by Skyline with 148, Dematha with 135.5, Hedgesville with 133.5, Northern with 130, Cameron with 122.5, Loudoun Valley with 109, and Musselman rounding out the top 10 with 91.5 points.

Southern's B team placed 14th with 19 points, while Northern's B team finished 18th with 4 points.

Rams who captured individual championships were Lex Ozias in the 130-pound division, two-time state champion Brutus Scheffel in the 140-pound class, Bubba Scheffel at 152 pounds, and Jordan Skipper in the 160-pound division.

Ozias had a tough final match, as he eked out a 1-0 decision of Berkeley Springs' Brad Reed in the 13-pound final. Brutus Scheffel gained a 5-3 decision over Trevor Walker of Skyline in the 140-pound title bout. Bubba Scheffel had little trouble defeating Tanner Whyte of Cameron in the 152-pound final, as he recorded an 11-1 major decision. Skipper edged Billy Forquer of Hedgesville via an 8-6 decision to claim the 160-pound crown.

Dustin Stough of Northern was the champion in the 171-pound division, as he nipped Nick Bankos of Sherando, 3-2, in the championship round.

Southern grapplers earning runner-up honors were: Nick Brant, who was edged on points, 7-4, in the 135-pound final by Tevin Hall of Cameron; Davey Sweitzer, who was the victim of a technical fall in the 145-pound final, won by Matt Huffstickler of Skyline; and Ryan Fitzwater, who was pinned by Ben Hatef of Dematha in the 215-pound championship bout.

Placing third were Northern's James Donahue and Josh Duckworth, as well as Ryan Bennett of Southern. Donahue recorded a major decision (15-6) over Jose Maravilla of Sherando to win the 103-pound division consolation round, while Duckworth gained a 2-1 decision over Josh Couto of Dematha in the 130-pound consolation. Bennett pinned Shawn Branham of Sherando to capture third place in the 189-pound division.

Fourth places were won by Northern's Kameron Kamp (119), Adam Moranduzzo (140), and Justin Meyers (285), and Southern's Josh Arnold (125).

Northern's Dylan Day (160) placed fifth. Davey Stewart (119) and Kody Lewis (171), both of Southern, and Northern's Andrew Reynolds (125) each placed sixth.

Both the Rams and the Huskies wrestled again last night, Southern hosting Williamsport and Northern at Mountain Ridge. See other stories for results on the SHS match. Results of the NHS-Mountain Ridge match were not received.

Southern is slated to host Meyersdale this Saturday, with that match to begin at 7 p.m. The Huskies will travel to Allegany next Tuesday.

SHS Girls' Indoor Track Team Breaks Three School Records

Three Southern High School girls' indoor track records were broken during the Clear Spring Invitational meet held last Friday at Hagerstown Community College, with the girls' team also finishing in 11th place among 18 teams. The SHS boys did not have a team placement, but claimed individual spots.

The girls' 3200-meter relay team was first to break a record for the Rams. Felicia Beeman, Jennifer Cosner, Lindsey Smith, and Krista Hollingsworth placed 7th in 11 minutes 14 seconds, 10 seconds faster than last year's time.

Hollingsworth placed 7th in the 1600-meter run with a time of 6:03, 10 seconds ahead of the two year school record.

Sam Taylor broke her own record of 9.63 seconds in the 55-meter hurdles with a third-place finish in 9.61.

Seth Lewis led the Southern boys' team with a 9th-place finish in the 3200-meter run with a time of 11 minutes, 31 seconds, and Mike Kozier won his heat in the 500 meter run.

"This was the boys' first year of competing, so they are still learning," said Coach Steve Cosner. "However, I was very pleased with the boys' enthusiasm and performanee for the first time."

The Rams will have a chance to break more records when they compete in the Mountain Express Invitational at Hagerstown Community College on Dec. 27.

Medications for Bell's Palsy Symptoms

Bell's palsy is a condition that may result when the nerve that is responsible for controlling the facial muscles is swollen or compressed in some manner. The condition may occur as a result of a viral infection, which may be due to several viruses, including herpes simplex virus, herpes zoster, Epstein-Barr virus, or cytomegalovirus. Pregnant women, persons infected with a respiratory infection, and persons with diabetes are at increased risk. Sudden paralysis on one side of the face, pain near the ear on the affected side of the face, and headaches are symptoms of Bell's palsy. Other symptoms include difficulty with facial expressions, loss of taste, and change in tear and saliva production. Symptoms typically begin to improve within a few weeks, and complete recovery is likely to occur within 3 to 6 months; however, some persons may not experience a full recovery.

Although many persons may recover fully without treatment, medications are available for alleviation of associated signs and symptoms. Corticosteroids, such as prednisone, work to reduce inflammation and swelling of the facial nerve. Antivirals, such as acyclovir and valacyclovir, may be useful when the condition is caused by a virus. These medications may be used either alone or in combination.

Unbeaten Southern Matmen Cruise To 52-22 Victory Over Williamsport

After losing in three of the four lightest weight divisions, the Southern High School wrestling team responded with nine straight victories to crush visiting Williamsport, 52-22, last night.

The undefeated Rams also won the team title in the 31-team Max Horz Tournament, hosted annually by Berkeley Springs High School, last Friday and Saturday. (See separate story for details.)

Against Williamsport last night, six Rams recorded pinfall victories. They were Davey Stewart in the 112-pound division, Josh Arnold at 130 pounds, Nick Brant at 140 pounds, Brutus Scheffel in the 145-pound division, Bubba Scheffel at 152 pounds, Jordan Skipper at 160 pounds, and Ryan Bennett at 189 pounds.

Southern's Lex Ozias won via a major decision in the 135-pound bout, while Kody Lewis (171) and Ryan Fitzwater (215) also won on points.

The win by Ozias was over Joey Sutch, formerly of St. James School, who placed third in the state last season in private-school competition.

Fitzwater's win was also particularly significant, as it was over Robbie Mies, a fifth place finisher in the state last spring.

Gaining pins for Williamsport were Killian Baker (103), Kemper Baker (119), and heavyweight Matt Cody.

Coach Dave Taylor's squad will compete again this Saturday at home against Meyersdale. That match will get under way at 7 p.m.

Wisp To Host NASTAR Event; Kitt To Set Pace

Wisp Resort in McHenry will host the 2008/2009 Nature Valley NASTAR Pacesetting Trials this Friday, Dec. 19, on Squirrel Cage trail from 9 a.m. to 3 pm. An anticipated 60 pacesetter racers from all over the Mid-Atlantic region are expected to register for the event.

Former U.S. Ski Team star and four-time Olympian A.J. Kitt will set the pace.

Developed by SKI Magazine in 1968, NASTAR (NAtional STAndard Race) is the largest recreational ski and snowboard race program in the world. Since the program's inception, more than 6 million skiers and snowboarders have raced NASTAR.

The NASTAR mission is to "provide a fun, competitive, and easily accessible racing program that, through the development of a handicap system, allows racers of all ages and abilities a means to compare their race results to other competitors across the country, regardless of when and where they race."

It is each pacesetter's job to represent the National Standard to the best of his or her ability. The regional pacesetting trials are used to set each pacesetter's handicaps for the season and to educate NASTAR coordinators and pacesetters about new promotions and program updates.

A.J. Kitt, a native of Boulder, Colo., is a former alpine ski racer. A member of the U.S. Ski Team for over a decade, Kitt retired from international competition following the 1998 season, at age 29. He had six World Cup podiums, which included one downhill victory, and was a bronze medalist in the downhill at the 1993 World Championships.

Wisp Resort will host a 'Meet & Greet" gathering with A.J. Kitt on Friday at 4:30 p.m. in Wispers Bar, located in the Main Lodge of the resort. It will be open to the Deep Creek Winter Sports Team members, Wisp guests, and the general public.

SMILEY SUPPORTS TEAM – The Wisp ski resort has been open since Thanksgiving weekend, but the very first skier on the chairlift for the 2008-09 season was Smiley Kessler, pictured above. (The photo makes obvious the origin of his nickname). Smiley earned that spot by being the highest bidder in a special auction held to benefit the Deep Creek Lake Winter Sports Team. Despite the recent rainy conditions, skiing is on-going at the Wisp, where many tons of manufactured snow blanket the mountain. Photo by Karlo Gesner.

Huskies Rebound With Wins Over Southern And Salisbury

After opening their season with a loss, the Northern High School boys' varsity basketball team came back to record a pair of victories this past week, handing visiting county rival Southern a 51-42 defeat on Friday, and then rolling over Salisbury on Monday, 71-52, also on the Huskies' floor.

The Huskies wasted no time taking the lead against Southern, as Matt Gibson found the mark from three-point range in the first quarter. All four of Gibson's baskets were three-pointers, and he also hit a perfect 10 of 10 at the foul line.

Northern was up 13-7 at the end of the first period, led 18-11 at intermission, and took a 29-21 lead into the final stanza.

The Rams rallied in the fourth quarter and took a brief lead before Northern's Logan Bequette hit a three-pointer and Gibson led the way at the foul line.

Gibson finished with a game-high 22 points, and Bequette also reached double figures with 11.

The Rams were led in scoring by Dan Shockey with 12 points and Chris Sehad with 10.

The win was the first for new head coach of the Huskies, Ron Opel.

"Getting our first win was nice, and even better since it was over Southern," Opel said.

The Southern junior varsity won the first game, 49-30, behind a 13-point effort by Calvin Hilliard. Cody Humberson netted 12 points to pace the NHS jayvees.

Matt Gibson and teammate Thomas Holtschneider each finished with 14 points to lead the Northern varsity to its win over Salisbury on Monday.

Holtschneider also recorded five rebounds, five assists, and five steals.

The Huskies were on top by four points, 17-13, at the end of the first quarter, led 32-27 at halftime, and extended their advantage to 54-40 by the end of the third period. They out-scored the visitors by a 39-25 margin in the second half.

Coach Opel got a balanced scoring effort from his team, as three other players each had nine points: Dylan Miller, Wil Herpel, and Bequette. Herpel also grabbed eight rebounds.

Garrett Rayner had a team-high nine rebounds for the Huskies, while Alex Smith provided seven steals.

The Elks were led offensively by Danny Lung, who recorded a game-high 18 points. Warren Beitzel chipped in with nine.

The Northern jayvee squad was also victorious in the first game, topping the Elk junior varsity, 53-38. Cody Humberson and Austin Doerr led the Huskies with 14 and 11 points, while Alex Beiler netted 14 for Salisbury.

The 2-1 varsity Huskies were scheduled to play Union on Tuesday, but that contest had to be postponed because of inclement weather. They are slated to play at Bishop Walsh this evening and travel to Frankfort next Monday.

'SHS Girls Record Victories Over Tucker, Hampshire, Petersburg

It was a great week on the basketball court for the Southern High School girls' varsity, as the unbeaten Rams defeated an always-talented Tucker County team last Thursday in Oakland, 62-56, edged host Hampshire on Saturday, 41-37, and whipped Petersburg Monday evening, 52-42, on the Vikings' floor.

The results give the Rams and Coach Danny Bosley a 4-0 overall record.

Against Tucker County last Thursday the Rams dominated the Mountain Lions in the first half, held a 19-8 lead at the end of the first quarter and what seemed to be a comfortable 32-13 lead at halftime.

The Rams had a 16-0 scoring run in the first half.

However, the visitors scored the first 19 points of the second half to knot the score at 32-32 before Coach Bosley's squad woke up and responded with a 13-0 run of their own to take a 45-33 lead into the final stanza.

Shayna Sweitzer and Heidi Welch led the Rams in scoring with 19 and 18 points, respectively, while Emillee Bosley recorded 13 points and six assists. Claire Wilkinson provided six rebounds, five assists, and five points.

The top scorer of the game was Tucker's Anna Hebb, who netted 21 points before being called for her fifth foul. Lindsey Nestor also reached double figures with 11.

The Southern junior varsity was topped in the first game, 27-16.

Huskies Crush Golden Tornados, 77-39, Up Perfect Record To 4-0

The Northern High School girls' varsity basketball team, now 4-0, handed a crushing 77-39 blow to the Keyser Golden Tornados last night in Accident, with Kaitlynn Fratz leading the way with five three-pointers, six two-point field goals, and two free throws to total 29 points.

Fratz, along with teammates Kerry Conroy, Megan Wiley, and Morgan Brosnihan, all scored in double-figures.

Conroy had 11 points, had 11 points, and Brosnihan added 10, with Wiley pulling in a team-high seven rebounds. Conroy also finished with four steals and six rebounds.

Northern led at the end of the first quarter 20-5 and was on top 42-[illegible] time. At the end of the third period, the Huskies held a commanding 62-25 lead.

The Southern girls will not play again until they host their second annual Winter Blast Tournament, Dec. 26-27. That event will include Aberdeen, Middletown, and Cameron high schools.

Laker Women Defeated 64-60 By No. Virginia

Despite holding an 11-point lead at halftime, and despite a 29-point, 19-rebound performance by Janay Collins, the Garrett College women's basketball team fell to visiting Northern Virginia on Saturday, 64-60.

It was the third consecutive loss for the Lakers, who dropped to 2-5 overall.

The Lakers seemed to be in control of the contest by intermission, as they held a 31-20 advantage at the break, but they were then out-scored in the second half of action by a 44-29 margin.

Collins, a freshman from Bronx Guild, N.Y., also had five steals for the Lakers, while teammate Brittany Pendleton finished with nine points and four assists. Brittany Boyce chipped in with eight points.

Leading four players in double figures for Northern Virginia was Karla Cortz with 21 points. Albany Royal netted 15, Vanessa Baker scored 12, and Julia Terrell contributed 10.

"After a pretty good first half, we really struggled," said GC coach Thea Garland. "We're hoping that we can regroup over the holiday break and come back stronger."

The Lakers will not play again until January 7 when they will host Prince George's CC.

Oakland League Results Reported

In Oakland Recreational Basketball League action on Sunday, Fox's Pizza crushed Impact Sports, 82-35, Mtn. Fitness Center topped Egle Nursing Home Foundation Rehab, 79-59, and East Preston Tire defeated D&L Coal, 58-49.

Ryan White hit a league-high 35 points for Fox's, and teammate J.J. Bolyard netted 16. Pacing Impact Sports with 12 points was Jeremy Slaubaugh.

Jason Brenneman recorded 26 points for Mtn. Fitness, while Danny Wiles and Jon Ross each finished with 17 points. Leading Egle were Corey Bosley with 16 points and Donnie Nelson with 13.

Top scorer for East Preston Tire was Jason Britner with 23 points, and Steve Felton also reached double figures with 13. Dave Helmick and Zane Harvey led D&L in scoring with 21 and 15 points, respectively.

Games slated for this Sunday will pit East Preston Tire vs. Egle at 6 p.m., D&L tipping off against Impact Sports at 7 p.m., and Mtn. fitness facing Fox's Pizza at 8 p.m.

NORTHERN GIRLS' SOCCER HONORED – The Northern High School girls' soccer team recently held its 2008 awards banquet at Will O' the Wisp, where members of the team were honored for their participation in the sport. The team also recognized the Western Maryland Truck Show, which made a contribution of $1,000 to the team. The money was used to purchase cold weather uniform gear for the team for the playoff games. The Huskies ended their season with a 13-3 record. Pictured above are members of both the varsity and junior varsity teams holding the contribution check, and individual award winners are pictured below.

Lakers Whip Mercer, Rockingham To Win Frederick Quality Inn Classic

After sustaining its first loss of the season on Dec. 13, the Garrett College men's basketball team rebounded into the win column this past week by winning the Frederick Quality Inn Classic, hosted by Frederick Community College.

Coach Dennis Gibson's squad topped Mercer of New Jersey in Saturday's game, 66-56, and then handed Rockingham (N.C.) an 86-72 defeat on Sunday. The pair of victories sends the Lakers into their holiday break with an overall record of 9-1.

In the win over Mercer, the Lakers took the lead early and kept it, holding a 33-24 edge at intermission; however, Mercer got as close as four points in the second half before the Lakers sealed the win.

Terrance Taylor led Garrett in scoring with 15 points, Brian Koonce was right behind with 14, and Rodney Clark and Francis Gunn each added 11 points.

"Mercer is very tough to defend," said Coach Gibson. "They are coached by a couple of guys who played for Princeton, where defense is key. But Terrance and Brian really came through for us."

Clark and Koonce each hit six foul shots in the final minutes of the contest.

"We finally shot free throws well, 25 of 33, and I can't say enough about our bench play," Gibson said. "Brian [Koonce] came in and hit six of seven free throws, and Chris Speicher gave us solid point guard play and leadership."

Clark paced the Lakers against Rockingham on Sunday, finishing with 21 points and hitting six of eight free throws late in the game to preserve the win.

Gibson also identified two of his sophomores whose play was crucial. J.T. Lewis scored 16 points, while Reco Siler added seven points, and both of them played some tenacious defense in the second half that resulted in several turnovers and rushed shots by Rockingham.

Gunn also reached double figures with 14 points.

"J.T. and Reco are so unselfish and such unsung heroes who just want to win," Gibson said, "and they are willing to do all the dirty work. They work hard every day in practice, and it shows in games. Really, most of our players fill their roles very well, which is why we are 9-1 right now."

Leading Rockingham in scoring were Tarrelle Jackson with a game-high 24 points and Jarvis Braboy with 14.

The Lakers held a 42-30 advantage at the half

GC's Terrance Taylor was named to the four-man all-tournament team.

"I hope this team effort carries over into our second semester, but being off for the next 20 days or so really makes things difficult," said Gibson. "But if anyone can overcome that layoff, these guys can."

Not only does the layoff have the potential to make the Lakers a bit rusty, but in their first game of the second semester (Jan. 5) they will have to go on the road and face the reigning Region XX champion, Chesapeake CC.

When Mercedes announced her decision to go back to school after Tasi's death, her grandchildren thought it was a great idea. Her friends were inspired by her ambition. Her mom was less enthusiastic.

"My mother thought I had lost my mind!" Mercedes said jokingly.

Too bad more people don't "lose their minds" in their "old age." The world could use more dreamers like Mercedes.

BUSINESS CONSULTANT CHALLENGES NETWORKING GROUP – The Networking Lunch Bunch recently met at Archie's Barbeque, McHenry, for its December meeting. Small-business consultant Beverley Williams was the guest speaker and presented the group with a challenge. Participants are pictured listening to her proposal. "For anyone interested in participating, mark your calendars now to come meet with the Lunch Bunch at the Casselman Restaurant in Grantsville on Jan. 6 to hear more, ask questions, and meet a potential strategic partner to achieve this challenge with the rest of the group," said a spokesperson. "We will hear how the Lunch Bunch members have met this challenge at our February meeting (date and place to be announced in January)." For more information about the events, persons may e-mail Williams at bevspeaks@earthlink.net, call Mark Greene of Bello's Portraits at 301-533-0330, or join the business networking group at its next event.

PONTIAC SOLSTICE RAFFLE TICKETS STILL AVAILABLE – HART for Animals Inc. will draw the winning ticket for its car raffle on Wednesday, Dec. 31, during the Fur Ball at the Oakland Community Center on New Year's Eve. The car is a 2008 Solstice convertible that retails for $27,000, but can be won with a $10 ticket, or six for $50. Provided at cost by Team One Auto Mall, the car has been on display at various community events throughout the year. When asked if HART has reached its goal for ticket sales, Hart president Mike Pellet replied, "Unfortunately not. We have sold enough to cover the cost of the car, with some left over, but we need to sell more to raise the amount we expected." He added that the car will be at the Fur Ball and that tickets will be available until 30 minutes before the drawing. HART is raffling the car to raise funds to construct an animal adoption center in Garrett County. The raffle, along with various events such as the Fur Ball, are all designed to publicize HART's mission and to raise the needed funds to begin construction of the center. In addition to the Fur Ball, raffle tickets can be purchased at Team One Auto Mall or on the HART web site at hartforanimals.org/news/news_car_raffle.php. Purchases online must be made prior to Dec. 29. HART is a 501(c)(3) organization, established in Oakland in 2003 to rescue homeless animals in Garrett County. For additional information, persons can visit hartforanimals.org.

Bethel United MC To Hold Services For Christmas

The public is welcome to attend all services. The church is located on the corner of Baltimore and H St.

Christmas Eve Candlelight Serv. Set At St. Mark's

St. Mark's Lutheran Church in Oakland will host its traditional Christmas Eve candlelight service, with a prelude of special music beginning at 10:30 p.m. and the service commencing at 11 p.m. The public is invited to attend.

The prelude music will include both traditional and contemporary sacred pieces, and will feature several individuals on various instruments. Sherry Remley will play the Celtic harp, and there will be a brass quartet playing Christmas carols, with musicians Royce Warnick, Joe Ashby, Don Sincell, and Adam Sincell. Tenor Mark Franc will sing "O Holy Night" with his mother, Muriel Franc, accompanying on the organ, and Pastor C. Scott Robinson and Mary McEwen will sing a duet, with the pastor playing guitar.

The piece "Mary, Did You Know?" will be presented by vocalist Meredith Pagenhardt, her father Monty Pagenhardt, keyboardist, and Pastor Robinson. The St. Mark's Handbell Choir, under the direction of Lynn Grimm, will present "Carol of the Bells."

Muriel Franc will also present an organ prelude.

The worship service will include a Christmas message from the pastor and Holy Communion. The choir, under the direction of Susan Peterson, will present special music and will lead the congregation in the singing of Christmas carols throughout the service.

The evening will culminate in the lighting of individual candles held by all in attendance during the singing of "Silent Night."

St. Mark's Lutheran Church is an ELCA congregation. It is located at the corner of Second and Center streets. For more information, persons may call the office at 301-334-2668 or visit the church web site at www.stmarksoakland.-com.

The church will host a youth-led service and pageant on Sunday, Dec. 21, beginning at 10 a.m. All are invited. See separate story.

HERITAGE QUILTERS HOLD CHRISTMAS CELEBRATION – The Heritage Quilters recently held a covered dish Christmas party at the home of member Shelley Booska. Everyone in the group brought a Christmas fat quarter, and the entire collection was won by Carolyn Davis. The collection of 12" star-themed quilt squares was won by Norma Hesen. The group meets at 7 p.m. in the Continuing Education building at Garrett College on the second Tuesday of each month. Those interested are welcome to attend. In the front row, from left, are Nadine Baughman, Thelma Emory, Joan Chaney, and Beverly Beard. Second row: Jeanne Perrone, Hesen, Joan Manahan, and Martha McGettigan. Leaning against the quilt are Bev Williams and Sue O'Neal Back row: Karen Beck, Sharon Dodge, Shelley Booska, Mona Murphy, Sue Logan, and Bonita Jackson.

ARTHRITIS AND HEARING LOSS

The fact that rheumatoid arthritis sufferers often report that they have hearing losses led researchers to see if there was, indeed, a link. Their finding, which contradicts previous research, is that rheumatoid arthritis does not increase the risk of hearing loss. Researchers were quick to point out, however, that their findings do not mean that there is no association between hearing loss and rheumatoid arthritis. In fact, hearing loss can be a symptom of rheumatoid arthritis, but it does not appear to be more of a problem than in the general population. The fact that people with severe rheumatoid arthritis, in particular, seem more likely to think they have hearing problems is probably related to an overall feeling of helplessness.

Many people throughout the world have problems with their hearing. In North America alone, more than 20 million people, of all ages, of both genders, struggle with some degree of hearing loss. And your ability to hear is as unique as your fingerprints–no two people have exactly the same impairment. Optimize your hearing capabilities and call us at AUDIBEL to arrange a hearing test.

P.S. If you have a hearing loss, being fitted with an appropriate hearing instrument may help you take better control of your life

Real Estate Facts by...

HEADS OR TAILS?

They say that no coin is so thin that it doesn't have two sides, and home prices are not so different. Many who invested like mad in real estate the last few years felt the giddiness of buying low and selling high. Investors are feeling the pinch now, but what about the regular folks who buy and sell their homes not for profit, but simply because they want security for themselves and their families?

Sellers want rising home values, but buyers need affordable housing. Unfortunately, these two concepts are often mutually exclusive. Sellers may not feel as positively about the markets right now, but as long as your house is your "home," you shouldn't be feeling as much pressure as someone who bought a property simply to "flip" it for profit.

If your income remains level, and home prices are falling, it actually makes you richer. How so? Because now you can buy more home for the money.

Ultimately, lower home prices will benefit buyers and the economy. Imagine what your children or grandchildren would be facing if home prices had continued their meteoric rise of a few years ago.

It's easy to see that affordable housing is more important than wild appreciation (which must correct itself eventually). Widespread homeownership results in economic growth, so try to understand and not to fear lower home prices. Call a professional real estate agent today for a free consultation. If you are thinking of buying or selling a home but feel "out of touch" with real estate, give me a call today.

Civic Club Honors 60-Year Members

The GFWC Civic Club of Oakland recently honored Ann Bell-Boltz and Nancy Helbig for each having belonged to the Civic Club for 60 years. Club members presented them with plaques and noted their experiences in the club over the past many years.

Bell-Boltz was born in West Virginia and lived for a time in Pittsburgh. She relocated to Garrett County when her first husband, Jay L. Bell, retired. The honoree worked in real estate in the area, and she and Jay founded Jan Florist. She is a soprano and has sung throughout the area in special programs and as a director and member of the chancel choir of St. Paul's United Methodist Church in Oakland.

She supports the Linus Blanket Project and has made more than 200 blankets for the children.

"Ann likes to work behind the scenes without accolades, and is very generous with her time and assistance to special needs," a club member said. "She is a mother, a grandmother, and a great-grandmother. She enjoys sewing, singing, and cooking. She was president of the Civic Club from 1968 to 1970."

Helbig was born in Garrett County but has also lived in Baltimore and Welch, W.Va. She joined the Civic Club in 1947 upon moving back, and remembers selling bulbs and doing layettes at Patience Grant's home.

"We've come a long way," Helbig said. She was a member of and volunteered with the Loar Auxiliary of Garrett County Memorial Hospital. She is a member of the Garrett County Humane Society, and she and her late friend Betsy Gergoff were known to reach out to unfortunate animals throughout the area. She is also a member of the Garrett County Historical Society and St. Mark's Lutheran Church. She is a mother and a grandmother.

"Nancy's warm smile and sensitivity have added to the spirit and work of the Civic Club over the years," the spokesperson said.

"Ladies Of The 1900s" Quilt To Benefit Meals On Wheels

"LADIES QUILT" TO BE DISPLAYED – Genevieve Serio, left, donates the Ladies of the 1900s Quilt to Marguerite Hayhurst, who accepts on behalf of the Meals on Wheels Program. Genevieve made the squares, and the Friendsville Library Quilters and Friends finished the project. The creation is currently on display at the Friendsville library, but will "travel" to various locations around the county beginning next month. See story for details. Photo by Janet Fike.

by Marguerite Hayhurst, GC Community Action

Nimble fingers, quick mind, loving heart – six simple words that describe a very special lady, Genevieve Serio.

Eighty years ago, at the tender age of 6, Genevieve's grandmother taught her how to quilt. Over the past eight decades, Genevieve's put heart and soul into many quilt projects.

Nine years ago, she began her final quilt. The project started as a wall-hanging, the design – a nostalgic look back at "Ladies of the 1900s."

After hand-appliquéing four squares, Genevieve decided to create a total of 12 squares, one lady representing each month of the year. Each lady's square is uniquely designed with distinctive clothing and hairstyles to match the month.

In time, Genevieve's health problems prevented her from completing the quilt. Sadly, she put the project away, occasionally revisiting the "ladies."

Recently she gave the quilt squares to the Friendsville Library Quilters and Friends and asked if they could piece together the squares into a finished queen-size quilt. She requested they raffle off the quilt, with the proceeds from the tickets sales to benefit the Meals on Wheels program.

The Friendsville Library Quilters worked quickly and hand finished the quilt this week.

The Meals on Wheels program, administered by the Area Agency on Aging (AAA) at Garrett County Community Action, cooks an average of 3,000+ hot meals per month to deliver to frail, elderly homebound residents, despite decreases in funding and dramatic increases in the cost of food and gas. The program has struggled for years to maintain sufficient funding to provide this crucial service.

Active for years in senior centers, Genevieve was familiar with the Meals on Wheels budget woes and decided to take action.

"I want to help; it's a very important program," she said.

AAA director Adina Brode said: "This is a prime example of how one person can make a big difference. Genevieve's act of kindness caught on, the quilters helped her to finish the quilt, and 100 percent of the ticket sales will directly benefit the Meals on Wheels program. We are extremely grateful for her donation."

The Friendsville Library Quilters have successfully raised over $5,000 for library programs.

"They personally know people who receive Meals on Wheels; there is a need," Genevieve said about the group, which includes Helen Bowser, Mimi Demaree, Janet Fike, Mary Frazee, Ina Hicks, Louise Lawrence, Marilyn Moors, and friends Louise Bond and Mary Friend.

The "Ladies Quilt" is currently on display at the Ruth Enlow Library in Friendsville, but beginning Jan. 2 the quilt will travel around the county on display in a variety of locations; its first stop: the Mary Browning Senior Center in Oakland, where it will be on display for two weeks and then on to the next destination.

Raffle tickets will be sold around the county, $1 for one ticket or $5 for six tickets. The winning ticket will be drawn and announced April 14, Adina noted.

"Knowing the love of quilts of so many in this area, we anticipate this to be a very successful venture," she said.

For more information, persons may call AAA at 301-334-9431; a list of stops for the traveling Ladies of the 1900s Quilt will be published in future editions of The Republican.

Correction Noted To Park Schedule

The schedule for the Discovery Center, Deep Creek Lake State Park, appears in today's issue on page C-2, but the park office contacted the newspaper after the article was printed to note a closing. The center will be closed on Dec. 26, by order of the governor of Maryland. The two events on the schedule that day will, of course, now not be held. The center will also be closed on Jan. 2, 2009, also by order of the governor.

LOCH LYNN HEIGHTS
Residential Notifications:

•Christmas Party with Santa: Residents are reminded to bring a plate of cookies while enjoying an evening socializing with neighbors tonight, Thursday, Dec. 18, from 6 to 8 p.m. at the Community Center. Santa will arrive by fire truck, and he will give treats to the children and the senior adults, courtesy of the town. Beverages will be provided, and music will be provided by J.C. & the Boys and the Brights.

•The town hall maintenance department will be closed on Thursday, Dec. 25, in observance of the Christmas holiday. The clerk/treasurer's office will be closed from Dec. 24 to 26. If any emergency should arise, residents are asked to call 301-334-8339 and leave a message. Messages will be checked periodically throughout the day.

•The next regularly scheduled town hall meeting of the mayor and town council will be held Tuesday, Jan. 6, at 6 p.m.

"RICK RECKNER"
who was taken from us Dec. 20, 1985

When our family gets together,
There are two we fail to see
And it fills our heart with sadness
Thinking how it used to be.
But just beyond the hill we know
Rick and Mom wait for us in God's eternal light.

The Nearly New: Stocked With Treasures And Community Spirit

by Bonetta Winters

The Nearly New, a thrift shop operated by St. Matthew's Episcopal Church on the corner of Second and Liberty streets in Oakland, offers something for everyone who comes there to shop, from that one-of-a-kind item at a great price to the welcoming smiles of the volunteers who staff the store. It is a place that brings a sense of community to shoppers and volunteers alike.

Mabel Smouse, who in her mid-90s is the Nearly New's oldest volunteer, likes working there because of the people.

"I've always worked around people," she says. "Most are very nice, and I see a lot of folks I don't see at other times."

Mabel has been volunteering at the shop for many years and works every other Thursday afternoon. She is a resident of Oakland and a member of St. Peter's Catholic Church.

Speaking of the renovations made to the shop over the past several months, she says, "The changes are great and it's much easier to find items."

The recent improvements include a separate Kiddy Korner for children's apparel and toys, hanging racks for ladies' jeans and slacks, and expanded hours of operation.

"The shop is rearranged so that shopping is easier, with better quality items," notes volunteer Ken Riley, who spearheaded the renovations.

The Nearly New is seeing many shoppers this season. Christmas decorations, baby equipment, household items, new brand name clothing at half price, winter coats and sweaters, work clothes, fabric, and collectibles are among the treasures one might find.

"I try to shop every Tuesday," says one customer. "I look for unusual housewares to add to my collections."

Doris and Penny, a mother and daughter from Terra Alta, W.Va., shop nearly every Tuesday and Thursday.

"I buy stuff and give it away," says Doris. "I love doing that."

Indeed, stories abound from volunteers about shoppers who often are thinking of others.

Volunteers from the community and the Episcopal congregations staff the Nearly New. "And without them," stresses manager Karen Wooddell, "the shop could not run."

A number of them have volunteered for many years. At a recent volunteer appreciation luncheon, the Rev. Dr. Chip Lee, rector of St. Matthew's, praised the group for its dedication.

"Customers feel that the volunteers at the shop really care about them," he says. "I hear this throughout the community."

In addition to providing folks with a place to shop at reasonable cost, the Nearly New contributes items to various community causes such as the Dove Center, Head Start, the Lighthouse, Community Action, Health Department clients, Our Town Theatre, and fire victims.

Recently, coats and ball caps were donated to the Veterans Affairs facility in Martinsburg, W.Va.

Every Wednesday any items not usable by the shop are donated to the Amish missions for shipment to places such as Central America, Africa, and Romania.

The shop began years ago when the Rev. John Grant and his wife Jean attended a church in Connellsville, Pa., and noticed that it operated a thrift shop called the Nearly New

"That's how I had the idea for one here," says Jean. "I told John's mother, Patience Grant, about it, and she and several others then started the shop."

Among those original volunteers were Mary Browning, Cecelia Cornish, Eleanor Frailey, Margaret Germain, Patience Grant, and Virginia Poling.

By the early 1960s, the shop was operating in the former Bell's Photography Studio. St. Matthew's had bought this building and housed the church office and the Nearly New in it.

"Community interest in the shop steadily grew," Margaret says. "The more it was talked about, the more people came in. And early on the shop began helping people who had been burned out of their homes, supplying them with free clothing."

Virginia says that whole families supported the endeavor. Her daughter, Sandy Tasker, remembers going to the Nearly New with her mother when she was 5 years old; she later served as one of the shop's managers.

In the mid-1970s, the old Bell's Photography Studio sustained heavy damage when the Naylor's store burned, and it was eventually torn down. In its place, St. Matthew's built the current Parish House, which contains the Nearly New, the social hall, and the church offices. It was dedicated on Oct. 1, 1978, with the Rev. Manning Smith as rector of St. Matthew's.

The Nearly New invites the community to enjoy its expanded hours of operation, which are Monday – Friday from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., and Saturdays from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. The shop is open occasionally on Wednesday evenings from 5 to 8 p.m.; shoppers are advised to call the shop at 301-334-4699 after 5 p.m. to confirm that it is open.

Clean, usable donations are accepted during normal business hours. The staff requests that bags of items not be left outside the shop at other times.

For a limited period of time, clothing in the Kiddy Korner will be on sale at a two-for-one deal (buy one, get one free).

Liston Named ACM Advisory Group President

Registered nurse Denise R. Liston, vice president of Clinical and Support Services at Garrett County Memorial Hospital, has been named president of the advisory committee for Allegany College of Maryland's nursing program. She will serve as president for at least one year.

The primary role of the committee is to provide a link for communication between the program and community health care agencies.

Committee members include representatives from the area hospitals that serve as off-campus clinical laboratory sites, nursing homes, the Frostburg State University RN/BSN program, the director of nursing education at ACM, and other faculty and community health agency personnel.

In its advisory capacity, the committee reviews, recommends, and/or evaluates matters pertinent to the success of the nursing program such as curriculum content and design, admission policies, faculty recruitment, program effectiveness, and the use of off-campus laboratory sites.

Beginning in January, Garrett County Memorial Hospital will become a clinical laboratory site/Oakland campus extension for the ACM nursing program.

BUILDER EARNS NAT'L RECOGNITION – Bill Thomas of Blue Sky Ventures, an Oakland-based designer/building company, recently received national recognition by the United States Environmental Protection Agency through its EnergyStar home program. A "spec" home built by Thomas and located in the River Run development near Oakland was awarded a "50 star+" rating, the highest available in the program. This rating is a based on the energy-efficient methods used by Thomas that reflect an over 50% savings in energy costs as compared to a conventional house built to current energy codes. The savings in current energy costs over a 30-year loan would exceed $45,000. Thomas said he has made the commitment to build only EnergyStar homes in the future. "Being more comfortable, saving money, and reducing the carbon footprint can all be done in one beautiful and thoughtful move," Thomas said. The builder has been in business for more than 28 years, and has designed and completed several homes in the local area. He has also done extensive remodeling at numerous locations. His company earned an award from the Maryland Historic Trust for its restoration work, and it has appeared on HGTV. Thomas' building achievements have also been reported in The Baltimore Sun twice, and once in Country Living. Thomas is pictured above right as he receives the EPA award from Curtis Magnuson of Paliadio DaVinci of Pittsburgh, Pa.

Notice

Change in Hours of Operation

Garrett County Landfill will be closed on Saturdays

The Garrett County Solid Waste & Recycling Division on Oakland Sang Run Road will be closed on Saturdays to commercial haulers and individuals bringing large loads of commercial trash, beginning in January 2009 thru March 15, 2009. The scales, office and landfill will be closed. This is a cost effective benefit to the County because of the low number of customers that use the landfill and offices on Saturday during this period. Garrett County Solid Waste & Recycling Division will reopen for Saturday business on March 21, 2009, at 9 a.m. until 2:45 p.m. for large loads; until 4 p.m. at the office.

Homeowners may continue to bring their weekly household trash from 8 a.m. until noon. Applications for refuse site stickers will be available from the site attendant, and can then be mailed to the Solid Waste & Recycling Division; filled out and brought back during normal working hours Monday through Friday; or purchased at the Oakland tax office in the Courthouse Monday through Friday.

Children's Specialist Appointed To Youth Legislation Comm.

Krista McKenzie, children's specialist at Ruth Enlow Library in Oakland, was recently appointed to the Legislation Committee of the Young Adult Library Services Association (YALSA), which is a division of the American Library Association (ALA).

The mission of YALSA is to advocate, promote, and strengthen service to young adults as part of the continuum of total library service and to support those who provide service to this population. The Legislation Committee is composed of seven members who are selected from the YALSA membership to serve two-year terms.

"We're very proud that Krista has been appointed to a national committee that is working to improve library service to teens and young adults," said library director Cathy Ashby. "Krista's enthusiasm and dedication to young readers are assets to the Ruth Enlow Library."

McKenzie manages all children and teen programs at the Oakland library and has begun a successful teen book club, as well as a teen creative writing group. A resident of Accident, she holds a bachelor of science degree in English, education, and philosophy from Frostburg State University, as well as an M.B.A. and M.Ed. She completed coursework for her Ph.D. in education from Marquette University, Milwaukee, Wis.

"It is a privilege to be a part of such a wonderful group as YALSA," commented McKenzie, "and even more so, an honor to be appointed to this committee. Teen voices often go missing or are unheard; the YALSA legislation committee advocates for this important, silenced group, giving them a voice. I am proud to be a member helping to bring teen issues to the forefront."

For more information about the teen programs at the Oakland library, persons may contact McKenzie at 301-334-3996, ext. 115, or by e-mail at Krista@relib.net. Those interested may visit the library web site at www.relib.net for a listing of services and programs.

Fridinger Named Volunteer Of The Month At GCMH

The Loar Auxiliary of Garrett County Memorial Hospital has named Laura "Lollie" Fridinger as the Volunteer of the Month for November.

"Lollie is a dedicated volunteer and can usually be found in the gift shop on the holidays, keeping it open for the convenience of employees and visitors," said a GCMH spokesperson.

Fridinger has a long history of volunteering for the Loar Auxiliary and served as its president for many of those years. She is currently a member of the Auxiliary History Committee and the American Red Cross coordinator.

Individuals interested in volunteering in the Loar Auxiliary Gift Shop may call 301-533-4041 for an application.

Zion Lutheran Women Convene

Women of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America (ELCA) at Zion Lutheran Church, Jennings, held their monthly meeting last Wednesday at the church. Leota Baker led the program, titled "Christmas Prayers," which focused on the 12 days of Christmas and God's gift of love.

Judy Stanton presided over the business meeting.

Thank-you notes were received for a donation to the local Warm the Children program, for a donation to Hospice of Frederick County in memory of Marvin Beachy, and for a package of Christmas gifts sent to Our Savior's Lutheran Church in Montana.

A special offering was received from Shirley Yommer, given in memory of her husband Richard. A portion of this gift was designated to remain in the treasury, and a gift was sent to Women of the ELCA in memory of Mr. Yommer to support the ministry "Reaching Out with the Gospel."

The Zion Lutheran Women will not meet during the winter months.

Christmas Eve Service Slated By Shepherd Of Hills

Shepherd of the Hills Lutheran Church will hold its Christmas Eve worship service on Wednesday, Dec. 24, at 5 p.m. in the Sitzmark Room of Will O' the Wisp, with the Rev. Donald R. Thomas officiating.

Special recorder music by Ruth Seib and Marcie McClive of the Marsh Mountain Consort will begin at 4.45 p.m.

Designed as a worship opportunity for the community, the candlelight communion service will include Christmas hymns and special music provided by the aforementioned recorder duo, flutists Ruth Seib and Sammi Bessey, vocalist Deirdre Kildow, and the Praise Ensemble of Shepherd of the Hills.

Will O' the Wisp is located at 20160 Garrett Highway on U.S. Rt. 219, ½ mile north of the traffic light at Glendale Road. The Sitzmark Room is located on the lower level. Handicapped entrance access is by car at the rear of the building; enter at the patio doors.

Weekly services are held at Garrett Eight Cinemas on Sundays at 9:30 a.m. Tourists, newcomers, and those seeking a church home are welcome to attend.

For further information, persons may contact Shepherd of the Hills at 301-387-0400 or the church web site at www.shepherdofthehills-lutheran.org.

Southern High Names Students Of The Month

The following six students from Southern High School were recently recognized as Students of the Month for November: Kerri Skipper, English; Lyz Biser, math; Jake Bramande, social studies; Emily Lipscomb, science; Jessica Steyer, vo-ag./CTE; and Tiffany Beeman, journalism/yearbook.

Skipper, a freshman, is the daughter of Tim Skipper, Oakland, and the late Cheryl Skipper. Skipper has been a distinguished honor roll student throughout her school career. She has received the Success in School Award and was also accepted for the People to People Ambassador program this summer. Skipper is actively involved in her 4-H club and her church. She plans to attend college following graduation and become a large animal veterinarian, specializing in horses.

Biser, a senior, resides in Oakland with her mother Lyz G. Biser. She has been a drill team commander at the school as well as a participant in the Garrett County Student Art Fair. She also frequently does volunteer work in the community. Biser plans to attend the International Beauty School after graduation, and she hopes to obtain a massage license from Garrett College.

Bramande, a sophomore, is the son of Lisa and Francis Bramande, Oakland. He is a member of the soccer, tennis, and robotics teams. He also participated in the mock election this year. Bramande likes to snowboard as well as play on an Arsenal soccer team in the area. He plans to attend Johns Hopkins University to become a doctor.

Lipscomb, a senior, resides in Swanton with her parents Johnny and Tracy Lipscomb. She is a member of the National Honor Society, the varsity volleyball team, the 1800 Club, and Model United Nations. She is also captain of her indoor track team and a member of the outdoor track team. Lipscomb has also been recognized for achieving distinguished honor roll status. She attends St. Paul's United Methodist Church, where she helps with the youth group. She has also volunteered with Landon's Library. Lipscomb hopes to attend West Virginia University after graduation to study pharmacy.

Steyer, a junior, resides in Oakland with her parents Randall and Kay Steyer. She is a member of the Oakland FFA, has been recognized for earning distinguished honor roll status, and was a past Student of the Month winner in both biology and social studies. Steyer is also a member of Ryan's Glade 4-H Club and the Bayard Church of God. She plans to go to college and get a degree in the agricultural field.

Beeman, a sophomore is the daughter of Mickey and Sherry Beeman, Oakland. She participates in yearbook/journalism and volleyball. She is a member of the Crissettes Twirling and Dance Team and received the award for best "hip hop" dancer and top salesperson for fundraisers. She has received 24 trophies in the past five years for her accomplishments. Beeman plans to attend West Virginia University after graduation to become a child advocate lawyer.

"All of these exceptional students exemplify leadership not only in the classroom, but also in the community," commented teacher Maria Zumpano.

Books On Display For Review At GC Board Of Ed. Office

Several textbooks are on display at the Garrett County Board of Education office for members of the community to review and comment on them.

The Digital Electronics Program of Studies (9-12) and recommended textbooks are being considered for approval by the Board of Education. The following books are on display for review: Digital Electronics 5th Edition, Thompson/Delmar Learning, 2007, and Digital Electronics, Lab Manual, Thompson/Delmar, 2007.

Members of the community are invited to comment on these texts, which will be available for review between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. from Monday, Dec. 15, to Monday, Jan. 5.

G'ville Gourmet Food Consultant Earns Promotion

Grantsville resident Misty Kamp, an independent consultant with Tastefully Simple Inc., is now a team manager with the national direct seller of gourmet foods.

"We are proud to recognize Misty for outstanding efforts and success," said Jill Blashack Strahan, Tastefully Simple founder and CEO.

Kamp earned the promotion through sales achievements and by adding new consultants to the team. The promotion entitles her to a variety of benefits such as commissions, bonuses, allowances, and more.

"The benefits of promoting encourage consultants to develop their businesses," said Strahan. "Consultants also are encouraged through an array of fun and meaningful incentives."

A Special Gift

At last, it's Christmas morning! The lights and ornaments sparkle brightly on the Christmas tree. Underneath are packages wrapped in colorful paper, festive with ribbons and bows. The waiting and wondering is finally over, the presents can finally be opened!

There is a special gift, one that's not under the tree and tied with a bow. The gift that is the reason for the season! The reason we give each other presents is to remind us of God's most special gift to us, His Son, Jesus Christ.

As we worship this Christmas, as we exchange presents with one another, let us remember and honor the best present of all. Wrapped in swaddling clothes and laying in a manger, God gave us His Son.

Healthy Christianity

As Christians, it is all too easy to justify the neglect of our bodies as the result of our focus on more important things, such as the salvation of our souls. But, tending to the welfare of our souls does not mean that we should neglect our bodies. In fact, a healthy body is conducive to both morality and religion, and a frail or sick body can actually be an impediment to both. Furthermore, it is very difficult to have a positive attitude when we are sick, and ill health also tends to make us self-centered, since all we can think about is how poorly we feel. And while the history of Christianity is full of examples of ascetics who treated their bodies with disdain, and disregarded their health, it isn't clear that this has much of a biblical basis. On his deathbed, St. Francis of Assisi apologized to his body, which had been ravaged by years of harsh and intentional neglect. He died at the age of forty-five, no doubt in part because of this harsh treatment of his body. Consider what St. Paul tells us about sins against the flesh: "Every other sin which a man commits is outside the body; but the immoral man sins against his own body." (1 Corinthians 6:18) So, we should take care of ourselves and work on making our body healthy and strong, using our health and strength to glorify God and fight the good fight; but, we must remain properly focused and not let our healthy body become a source of pride.

Or do you not know that your body is the temple of the Holy Spirit who is in you, whom you have from God, and you are not your own?

Flaxseed Has Several Medical Uses

Flaxseed comes from the flax plant, which grows in the United States and Canada. The oil from the plant comes from grinding the flaxseed. Flaxseed is a good source of alpha-linolenic acid (ALA), an essential fatty. acid and precursor to omega-3 fatty acids. Lignans in flaxseed may be responsible for its antioxidant activity. Some of the medical uses for flaxseed includes hot flashes, breast pain, arthritis, and high cholesterol treatment. It has also been used to prevent cancer.

The typical dose of liquid formulations of flaxseed oil is 1 tablespoon-ful daily. The dose of capsule forms of flaxseed oil is lOOOmg. Two or three tablespoonfuls of bulk flaxseed may be mixed with ten times the amount of water and used as a laxative. Prescription medications should be taken 1 hour before or 2 hours after flaxseed. As a precaution, flaxseed may increase the risk of bleeding when used with blood thinning medications. Flaxseed should not be used by women who are pregnant, particularly during the last two trimesters, due to the risk of premature birth.

TV Pipeline

'Dexter' is unlikely to carve again on CBS

By Jay Bobbin
© Zap2it

Q: Last season, CBS showed a cleaned-up version of the first season of "Dexter." I was wondering if CBS will air the second season soon. –Jane Dryja, Muskego, Wis.

A: No, says CBS. Those airings of Showtime's original episodes partially were brought on by the writers strike, which left the broadcast network short for fresh material, so it borrowed from its cable cousin.

The resulting ratings weren't of a level that would have made CBS automatically think about going for season two as well, plus there was time and cost involved – if not an exorbitant amount – in editing the show so it would meet broadcast standards. If you don't have Showtime, all is not lost: Michael C. Hall's second season in the title role is available on DVD.

Q: We've been wondering what has happened to James Lipton and his "Inside the Actors Studio" program. –Eve Lenander, Redmond, Wash.

A: Bravo hadn't been scheduling it regularly for a while, and though it still isn't on every Monday, it's been back more consistently in recent weeks. Earlier this month, new episodes were scheduled featuringDaniel Radcliffe, Josh Brolin and Laura Linney as guests. You can hear Lipton as the voice of the director of the title character's television show in the current animated Disney movie "Bolt."

Q: I remember Robert Forster, who now plays Arthur Petrelli on "Heroes," but the memory is vague. Didn't he play the lead character on a popular series in the 1960s or 1970s? –Monelle Holley, Plano, Texas

Michael C. Hall

A: He was the star of a couple of '70s shows that weren't really all that popular, accounting for their short runs. "Banyon" was the saga of a 1930s private detective, and "Nakia" cast him as an American Indian police deputy. Forster was also something of a semiregular on the critically acclaimed anthology "Police Story" in the mid-'70s, since he was in five episodes (though as a different character each time).

Q: What is the name of the movie that stars George Kennedy and Doris Day, in which he owns cattle and she has a sheep ranch? Also, is it out on DVD? –Shawna Paine, Caldwell, Idaho

A: It's the 1967 comedy "The Ballad of Josie," which turned out to be one of the last films Day made before she began a CBS television series, then retired from acting. "Josie" has never been released on disc commercially in America, though it evidently has been in England.

Will Feral Cat Ever Calm Down?

DEAR PAW'S CORNER: I live in a senior community. In my backyard garden earlier this year, a feral cat had a litter of kittens. Some of us ladies decided to trap the kittens and have them spayed or neutered before releasing them back into the wild. We managed to trap two: My neighbor kept one, and I kept the other. My neighbor's kitten has adjusted well, but my kitten, Stripes, is not calm yet. If I talk to her in calm tones, she will stay in the room with my two other cats, but when I move just the slightest bit, she darts out of the room. Is there something I can do to calm her down? — Helene H., Genesco, N.Y.

DEAR HELENE: I, too, for many years had a half-feral cat whose behavior as a young cat was exactly the same as Stripes'. Dodge passed away two years ago, but by the time he reached his senior years, he had become a loving and trusting cat, although never a "lap cat."

You are taking the right approach in speaking calmly and moving slowly. It is a great help that you have two fully tame cats. Stripes is observing their behavior closely, believe me, and she will begin copying their patterns, including how they interact with you.

It took several months to get close enough to Dodge to pet him. I would toss a bit of steamed shrimp his way, then toss the next bit closer. Over time he got close enough for me to scratch his head, and then to pet him gently.

Accept that Stripes might never be a highly sociable cat. But she can learn to trust you, and that's important. Here's wishing the best to you and your pets.

Collecting
by Larry Cox

Q. Several years ago, I began buying older cookbooks when I came across them at garage sales and thrift stores. I now have more than 150 in my collection, including a World War II edition of Joy of Cooking, a 1918 copy of The Boston Cooking-School Cook Book by Fannie Farmer and several White House cookbooks, including ones representing the administrations of Theodore Roosevelt, Woodrow Wilson, Calvin Coolidge and Herbert Hoover. I also have several dozen that were published as advertising premiums. I would like to determine how much my collection is worth, and hope you can help me. — Maurice, Ada, Okla.

A. Cookbooks have become extremely popular with collectors in recent years. A book dealer I consulted recently provided me with several tips that I'll share. He recommends that collectors try and buy books with original dust jackets when possible, buy the best condition that you can find and afford, and focus your collection on a particular subcategory or passion.

For example, regional cookbooks, church-recipe collections or ones that feature only dessert recipes might be fun. He also said that cookbooks should never be stored in the kitchen, and if you buy books from a dealer, find one who is reputable and knowledgeable.

Finding current values has just been made easier with the publication of an excellent price guide, The Antique Trader Collectible Cookbooks Price Guide by Patricia Edwards and Peter Peckham (Krause, $21.99). This guide references nearly 1,000 cookbooks arranged in categories and fully illustrated. The authors also maintain a Web site that I think is helpful, www.oldcookbooks.com.

Strange BUT TRUE

• It's getting harder and harder to remember life before the Internet: Statistics show that computer users make nearly 8 billion online searches every month.

• It was Austrian physician and psychologist Wilhelm Stekel who made the following sage observation: "The mark of the immature man is that he wants to die nobly for a cause, while the mark of a mature man is that he wants to live humbly for one."

• The prehistoric megalodon shark got its name from the Greek words meaning "big tooth" — and rightly so. The megalodon's huge jaws could clamp down on its prey with a force of 12 to 20 tons. To put that in perspective, the great white shark has the strongest bite of any animal alive today, with a comparatively puny 2-ton bite. That 2 tons, though, is still 23 times as strong as the biting force of the human jaw.

• Everyone knows that musical artists have certain requirements that must be met for them to perform onstage. For instance, it's been reported that the seven-time Grammy-award-winning hard-rock band the Red Hot Chili Peppers need to have a meditation room backstage at all their performances.

• If you were an early settler in the United States, you could claim a piece of land simply by putting a fence around it.

• Considering the astonishing feats of upriver swimming accomplished by spawning salmon, it is perhaps unsurprising that the name of the fish comes from the Latin word "salir," which means "to leap."

• Those who study such things claim that the average American home collects approximately nine pounds of dust every year on the floors alone.

• On Dec. 25, 1884, Mr. Layne Hall of Silver Creek, N.Y., is born. At his death on Nov. 20, 1990, he had a valid driver's license. He was 105 years old, making him the oldest legal driver ever.

• On Dec. 28, 1895, the world's first commercial movie screening takes place at the Grand Cafe in Paris. French siblings Louis and Auguste Lumiere screened a series of short scenes from everyday French life, and charged admission.

• On Dec. 23, 1912, Keystone Pictures releases its first "Keystone Kop" movie, "Hoffmeyer's Release." The Keystone Kops films were silent, black-and-white movies starring a crew of bumbling policemen who bumped into and fell over each other in a frenetic sequence of slapstick gags.

• On Dec. 24, 1923, President Calvin Coolidge touches a button and lights up the first national Christmas tree to grace the White House grounds. The tree was also the first to be decorated with electric lights. The tradition has been repeated with every administration since then.

• On Dec. 22, 1956, a baby gorilla named Colo is born at the Columbus Zoo in Ohio, becoming the first-ever gorilla born in captivity. At that time, captive gorillas often never learned parenting skills from their own parents in the wild, so the Columbus Zoo built Colo a nursery, and she was reared by zookeepers. Colo is still alive today.

• On Dec. 26, 1966, the first day of the first Kwanzaa is celebrated in Los Angeles. The seven-day holiday, which has strong African roots, was designed as a celebration of African-American family, community and culture.

• On Dec. 27, 1979, in an attempt to stabilize the turbulent political situation in Afghanistan, the Soviet Union sends 75,000 troops to enforce the installation of Babrak Karmal as the new leader of the nation. The new government and the Soviet presence, however, had little success. The Soviet intervention cost Russia dearly. The seemingly endless civil war in Afghanistan resulted in thousands of Soviet dead and untold monetary costs.

ARC Releases Schedule For Jan. Classes

The Western Potomac Chapter of the American Red Cross has scheduled several health and safety services courses for next month.

An adult, child, and infant cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR) class will be held from 6 until 10 p.m. on Monday, Jan. 4, Tuesday, Jan. 13, and Tuesday, Feb. 3, at the Cumberland chapter house.

This four-hour course includes caring for and recognizing breathing and cardiac emergencies, including choking, in adults, children, and infants.

The cost is $30 for new certification and $25 for recertification, and includes a CPR kit and one-year certification.

A professional rescuer CPR/AED (automated external defibrillator) course will be held Saturday, Jan. 17, from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. at the Cumberland chapter house.

This is an eight-hour class developed for volunteers and career professionals who routinely respond to emergencies. It emphasizes how to recognize and respond to respiratory and cardiac emergencies in adults, children, and infants. Two-rescuer CPR and AED training are included.

This course meets the standard requirements for nursing, allied health professions, and emergency medical services.

The cost is $35 for new certification and $30 for recertification, and includes a text book, pocket mask, and one-year certification.

A lay responder CPR/first aid/AED course will be held from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. on Tuesday, Dec. 30, Saturdays, Jan. 10 and Jan. 24, and Thursday, Jan. 29, at the Cumberland chapter house; and Wednesdays, Jan. 7 and Jan. 21, at the Oakland ARC office.

This eight-hour course combines adult, child, and infant CPR, AED, and first aid into one entire day of training.

The cost is $40 for new certification and $35 for recertification, and includes text, CPR kits, first aid practice kits, and two certification cards.

A first aid class will also be held from 6 until 9 p.m. on Thursday, Jan. 15, at the chapter house in Cumberland.

This three-hour course offers recognition and caring for life-threatening emergencies in adults, such as burns, injuries to muscles, bones, and joints, sudden illnesses, bleeding, and poisonings, as well as heat- and cold-related emergencies.

This course meets OSHA guidelines and is designed to fit the needs of businesses and industries

The cost is $25 for new certification and $20 for recertification, and includes text, a practice first aid kit, and a three-year certification card.

Registration and payment are required in advance for all courses. For more information or to register, persons may contact Lorri Wharton, health services director, at 301-722-1760, ext. 105, or kwharton@allconet.org.

NOISY OFFERINGS ADD UP FOR LOCAL CHILDREN – Shepherd of the Hills Lutheran Church collects a "noisy offering" (loose change dropped into a metal pan) on the third Sunday of each month, and then uses the collection to help local children in need. This month the outreach program provided book bags and school supplies, as requested by a school counselor and member of the Garrett Mentors' board. Recently the funds provided Garrett Mentors with money to cover three months of office rent, matched by another three months by Thrivent Financial for Lutherans. Pictured with some of the school supplies, from left, are church members Lisa Bittinger, Guy Sedlack, Rev. Donald Thomas, pastor, and Marcene Huebner. Ask The Everyday Scientist

GENERAL RELATIVISTIC CHRISTMAS TOYS

by Dr. Thomas P. Sheahen

Q. I read that the Play Station 3 game is being used as a calculator in physics research. Are they serious? Is it possible to do big calculations on a game device?

This is one of the delightful features of a very sophisticated device that people customarily think of as a "toy." With a name like Play Station®, you'd never think of it as a real tool of science. But it shouldn't be surprising, since for decades video games have been leading the advance of PC technology.

As people who have gone shopping know, the Play Station 3 is expensive, but it has some remarkable features you won't find elsewhere. Of greatest importance is that its guts contain parallel processors, so that the computations necessary to make the game run well are done simultaneously. In the "Cell" architecture developed by Sony, Toshiba, and IBM, multiple different computations go on all at the same time.

Suppose you're in a game and your character is moving along in some way, and then a terrible explosion goes off nearby. It would be awkward if your character slows down or suddenly moves in a clumsy way because of a computational delay. With parallel processors, Play Station avoids that problem. One processor computes the physics of motion of the character, while another manages the display of the graphics, another the audio, another takes care of the explosions, and so forth. One master module manages the entire process, sending tasks to other processors.

There is enough computing power to portray people, buildings, and backgrounds in great detail. The result is that things look real and move naturally during the entire game. There is a lot of processing capability built into this gizmo.

And that's what makes it useful for large-scale scientific computations. The architecture is termed an Open Platform, and can run Linux, an operating system comparable to Windows (but different in certain ways). Play Station 3 has been compared with a supercomputer of the 1980s. Moreover, these parallel processors can be linked together, and hence are more suitable for scientific calculations.

An astrophysicist at the University of Massachusetts, Gaurav Khanna, recognized this unique feature and realized he could put such a system to work for his computational research. He had been using a supercomputer at a major facility to study something that supposedly happens when a star is swallowed up by a black hole: It is expected that gravitational waves are given off. Previously, each run of his program cost about $5,000 because of the price of time on a supercomputer. A budget like that made it a very precarious thing – a white-knuckle commitment – to conduct a single run. He was forever knocking on the door of the National Science Foundation for grant money.

Khanna figured he needed eight Play Station 3 units, which would cost him $3,200 off the shelf – less than the cost of a single run. Fortunately, he convinced Sony Corporation to give him eight for free, as a contribution to research. He made a "gravity grid" among the units, so that his eight linked units acted as the equivalent of 200 of the supercomputing nodes. Now he is able to run his program whenever he likes, with these dedicated units.

The physics problem under study is not an easy one. When something (like a star) crosses the "horizon" and enters a black hole, it doesn't come out again. This is the very reason for the name "black hole" – nothing comes out. As the star crosses that boundary, it disrupts the gravitational field in the vicinity, and theory suggests that it will send a wave propagating outward from the boundary. The idea that there might be gravitational waves has been around since Einstein's time, but there are two problems: a) the computations have been too intricate for lesser computers; and b) so far there has never been apparatus sensitive enough to detect them. NASA keeps working toward better instruments, but it may still be a while before theory and observation meet.

So now all your little budding astrophysicists will want to find a Play Station 3 under the Christmas tree – for elegant scientific reasons, of course. Quite a bit fancier than Lincoln Logs or electric trains!

Dr. Sheahen is a physicist who was educated at MIT. He lives at Deep Creek Lake and has taught physics at Garrett College. Persons wishing to submit questions for this column may e-mail them to newsroom@therepublicannews.com.

Mtn. Lake Park To Join MML's Geocache Trail

The town of Mountain Lake Park will participate in the Maryland Municipal League Geocache Trail, Mtn. Lake Park clerk/treasurer Judy Paugh announced yesterday

The initiative will begin on Jan. 1, 2009, and the Maryland Municipal League (MML) will become the first state league in the country to launch a statewide city/town Geocache Trail. Its sponsors/partners are the Maryland Geocaching Society, ESRI, KCI Technologies Inc., Local Government Insurance Trust, Stearns & Wheler LLC, and the Hagerstown-Washington County Convention and Visitors Bureau.

MML is using the trail to promote awareness of and visits to Maryland's cities and towns, with the goal of helping to stimulate economic development.

"This effort taps into the rapidly growing high-tech tourist trade that is not limited to any particular age group," said an MML spokesperson. "Discovering a geocache is very much like going on a treasure hunt using a hand-held GPS (Global Positioning System) to plot map coordinates to locate the treasure, or 'cache.'"

Participants must access the official geocache web site, geocaching.com, go to the MML account, download or manually enter the map coordinates for each cache on the MML trail, and then use the GPS to find the caches.

"It is deceptively easy," said the spokesperson.

A geocache trail is a series of geocaches tied together by a common theme. The MML's theme is "Celebrating Maryland's Cities and Towns." The Maryland trail comprises 78 city/town caches located in the 11 MML districts throughout the state.

"A collectible and highly coveted geo coin will be given to the first 500 geocachers who locate a minimum of 22 city/town caches throughout the state," the spokesperson said.

To be eligible for the coin, geocachers must pick up a "passport" at any participating visitor center, use the stamp in each cache on their passports, and write in the cache code word. After at least two municipal caches in each district are discovered, participants may return to one of the county visitor centers and have their passports validated to receive a collectable coin.

"Among the many interesting things you will find in the town of Mountain Lake Park geocache is a brochure of Victorian homes," the spokesperson said.

Interested persons may download a list of participating cities/towns and county visitor centers with addresses and hours of operation from MML's web site: mdmunicipal.org.

State Park Programs

DEEP CREEK LAKE STATE PARK/ DISCOVERY CENTER

The following activities have been scheduled for this week at Deep Creek Lake State Park. Programs and center hours are subject to change without notice. All programs meet or begin at the Discovery Center unless otherwise noted. Further information can be obtained by calling the Discovery Center at 301-387-7067, or by visiting the web site: www.dnr.state.md.us/publiclands/western/deepcreeklake.

Saturday, Dec. 20

• All Day Feeder Watch All are invited to take part in this day's countywide Christmas bird count. Counters may report sightings at the Discovery Center bird feeder and around the park to the front desk.

• 11:30 a.m. – Reading Naturalist. Guests may join the park staff to hear a story about nature and then make a related craft or explore nature, or both. The book titles and craft/hike rotate. $2 per child. (30 min.)

• 1:30 p.m. – Snakes Alive! Participants will learn what snakes live in the local area, and which ones may be poisonous. There will be live specimens, and guests may touch them. (45 min.)

Sunday, Dec. 21

• Noon, 1 p.m., and 2 p.m. – Hourly Encounters. Join a naturalist at the top of each hour to meet one of the center's animals "up close and personal." Guests may meet at the front desk.

Dec. 26 through Jan. 4, 2009

Friday, Dec. 26

• 11 a.m. – The Naturalist Box. Guests never know what the naturalist might pull out of the box. Possibly bear skulls, animal skins, live animals, or other items about nature. (45 min.)

• 1:30 p.m. – Critter Encounter. Join the Discovery Center staff as the animals are all fed, including the birds at the aviary. (45 min.)

Saturday, Dec. 27

• 11 a.m. – Got Cavities? A dentist isn't needed for these cavities. Hike around the Discovery Center in search of bird and animal cavities, nests, and dens. (30 min.)

• 1:30 p.m. – Reptile Encounter. Guests may meet several resident reptiles of the Discovery Center and learn about their special lives in nature. (45 min.)

Sunday, Dec. 28

• Noon, 1 p.m., and 2 p.m. – Hourly Encounters. Join a naturalist at the top of each hour to meet one of the center's animals "up close and personal." Guests may meet at the front desk.

Monday, Dec. 29

• 11 a.m. – Native Plants. Guests are invited to join the naturalist and sample tea from native plants, and learn the difference between an exotic invasive plant and a native plant. Also become aware of the benefit of natives to other plants, insects, and people. (45 min.)

• 1 p.m. – Crafty Naturalist. Visitors may meet one or more of the animals living at the Discovery Center and then make a related craft. (30 min.)

Tuesday, Dec. 30

• 11 a.m. – Our Feathered Friends. Visitors are invited to join the naturalist inside at the bird feeder window to observe and identify winter birds. Kids may make pinecone bird feeders: one to take home and one to hang in the park trees for the birds.

• 1:30 p.m. – Scales and Tales. Guests may join the naturalist for "an up close and personal look" at the red tailed hawk, snakes, frogs, and salamanders. (Approx. 60 min.)

Wednesday, Dec. 31

• 11:30 a.m. – Reading Naturalist. Guests may join the park staff to hear a story about nature and then make a related craft or explore nature, or both. The book titles and craft/hike rotate. $2 per child. (30 min.)

• 1 p.m. – Amazing Monarchs. Naturalist Caroline Blizzard will recap this season's tagging program and share a PowerPoint on the connections made by the program in Mexico. Photographs from the center's trip to the sanctuary and surrounding area will be on exhibit. Blizzard will review the life cycle and journey of the monarch. (60 min.)

• 2:30 p.m. – Critter Encounter. Join the Discovery Center staff as the animals are all fed, including the birds at the aviary. (45 min.)

Thursday, Jan. 1

• Open All Day with scavenger hunts and impromptu demonstrations.

Wins Top Honors At Equine Events

Ashleigh Friend, a senior at Northern High School and a member of Garrett Hoof Prints 4-H Club, recently achieved top national honors at two equine events. To qualify for participation in each of these national events, young people from across the state of Maryland compete to be named to the state Horse Bowl team.

"Ashleigh earned a spot on the Maryland team in her first year of competition," stated Ann Sherrard, 4-H educator for Garrett County. "That is a very impressive accomplishment in itself, but then to go on to place first and second at the national events is remarkable."

At the All American Quarter Horse Congress in Columbus, Ohio, the Maryland team placed second from among 19 state teams, and Ashleigh placed first overall out of 85 individuals.

Then at the Eastern National 4-H Horse Round-up in Louisville, Ky., the Maryland team again placed second, this time competing among 23 state teams. Ashleigh received the reserve champion trophy by placing second overall in the nation with 98 individuals competing. In addition to participating in the contest, those attending the national events were treated to a series of tours to prominent horse breeding and training facilities in Kentucky.

A group of members and leaders from the Garrett Hoof Prints 4-H Club surprised Ashleigh by making the trip to Louisville to cheer for her during the competition.

Ashleigh is the daughter of Jamie and Latisha Friend of Grantsville.

"We have 4-H horse bowl teams at the junior, intermediate, and senior levels," said Sherrard. "They spend months studying and practicing to learn all they can about horse nutrition, anatomy, veterinary care, and safety."

The primary objective of Horse Bowl competition is to provide an opportunity for youth enrolled in horse projects to demonstrate their knowledge of equine-related matters in a competitive setting. Members have an opportunity to make friends from other areas and travel to various locations for the events.

State 4-H and FFA delegates from across the United States participate in the national horse events. The contestants study from seven resource books, including The Illustrated Dictionary of Equine Terms, Horse Industry Manual, Atlas of Horse Anatomy, Feeding and Care of the Horse, and American Youth Horse Council Leaders' Manual

State Assistance Available for Distressed Homeowners

Homeowners who may have fallen behind in their mortgage payments or who might be facing a difficult interest rate reset may be able to receive relief, counseling, and assistance from the state of Maryland.

According to officials at the Department of Housing and Community Development (DHCD), Maryland now offers a number of state programs to assist distressed homeowners.

Will the new terms of your mortgage make it difficult for you to make monthly payments? Do you want to refinance before you have problems making payments? The "Lifeline" Refinance Mortgage Program provides a refinancing option to Marylanders who may be facing difficulties after financing their homes with adjustable rate or other unfavorable mortgages, or with mortgages that no longer fit their financial situation.

Are you a homeowner facing financial difficulty who needs a short-term gap loan until you get back on your feet? The Bridge to Hope Loan Program may be for you. To be eligible, borrowers must be referred by a CDA-approved housing counseling agency. Borrowers must either be in delinquency or imminent potential of delinquency with no other viable alternatives available. For a fraudulent or predatory loan, the borrower may be referred to a CDA-approved housing counseling agency by the Maryland Department of Labor, Licensing and Regulation, the Maryland Attorney General's Office of Consumer Protection or a similar organization. Initial evaluation of eligibility for this program will be determined by the housing counseling agency.

The state's "Homesaver" Refinance Mortgage Program can assist homeowners who experience hardship under a number of criteria. These include an involuntary reduction of household income of at least 5%, or an increase in expenditures related to the death of the borrower or co-borrower, permanent disability, or serious illness or injury.

The DHCD supports a network of 31 non-profit agencies to provide statewide foreclosure prevention assistance. DHCD grants allow these counseling agencies to increase service levels and retrain staff in response to the housing crisis. These organizations have been critical in assisting individuals facing foreclosures, acting as a resource to negotiate reasonable terms with mortgage servicers, and advising citizens on the best actions to take to save their homes. The DCHD anticipates that 6,000 consumers will receive assistance in the coming year from these nonprofits.

If you have found yourself in need of counseling or assistance from these and other programs designed to help you keep your home, help is available by calling the Dept. of Housing and Community Development toll-free at 1-877-462-7555. Information is also available on the web at www.mdhope.org.

FRIENDSVILLE VOLUNTEERS RECOGNIZED – The Friendsville Volunteer Fire Department and Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad's Friendsville Station held their annual Christmas party at the fire hall last Saturday. Numerous members, spouses, and friends attended. After dinner, members were recognized for their service years. Jim Spear received recognition for his 50 years of "dedicated service." He was awarded a "patriotic salute" lighted statue with the firefighter's prayer. Pictured above, left to right, are Spear, FVFD president Ed Kelley, and FVFD chief Josh Sines. Additionally, six members were given awards for their 30-plus years of service. Below are Terry Spear, Kenneth Harding, Wayne Anderson, Rod Bowser, Gene Sines, and Philip Fisher.

AURORA/EGLON

SANTA IN AURORA

Santa Claus will be visiting Aurora School on Friday, Dec. 19, from 4:45 to 7 p.m., at which time Aurora Elementary will present its Christmas program. The Aurora Historical Society will provide refreshments during the program. Santa will arrive by sleigh, sponsored by the Mtn. Lions Club. The public is invited for both events.

50TH ANNIVERSARY

Keith and Dee Douglas invite friends and family to join them in celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary with an open house at the Aurora United Methodist Church building slated for this Saturday, Dec. 20, from 2 to 4 p.m. The couple request that there be no gifts given, but cards will be appreciated.

UNION SENIORS' CHRISTMAS DINNER

A total of 29 members and two guests of Union District Seniors met for a Christmas turkey dinner last Thursday. Deanna Arnold opened with a reading, "Going Christian for Christmas," and then read the Christmas story while accompanied by Gerry Foy singing "Silent Night." Pastor John Foy closed the devotions with a special Christmas prayer. Those present from the various churches announced the date and time of each Christmas program.

Sheridan Layman recalled Christmas 1945, when he was serving in the U.S. Army in Belgium. Temperatures were –20° with about three feet of snow on the ground. The men were weary from battle, cold, and hungry, but despite all of this, they took time for a Christmas service and sang "Silent Night." This was all told with much emotion, which affected those in attendance.

Cards were signed to be sent to Fern Jamison and Frank Blamble. It was also announced that those who need help with fuel or electricity expenses should call the Senior Center for information on how to get assistance. There will be no more winter shopping trips or bus trips to Terra Alta Senior Center for hot meals.

Literature distributed by nurse Gelina Abitia concerned how to differentiate a cold from the flu, noting the various symptoms. She also had information on how to have a green Christmas.

Delores Stemple will be responsible for devotions at the Jan. 8 meeting. This meeting was chaired by the vice president, Dee Douglas, because of the illness of the president. The group wishes to thank each of those who brought food to be sent to the Terra Alta food pantry.

CHRISTMAS EVE SERVICE

The Aurora Lutheran Church is presenting its Christmas program on Christmas Eve, Dec. 24, at 8 p.m. the choir will perform "Joy to the World." Everyone is invited to celebrate the joy of the season.

CARDS FOR WOUNDED SOLDIERS

This year, while addressing Christmas cards, the public is encouraged to take the time to send one to: A Recovering American Soldier, c/o Walter Reed Army Medical Center, 6900 Georgia Avenue, N.W., Washington DC, 20307-5001. Those sending cards are asked to sign their names and send nice messages.

BROOKSIDE PAGEANT

Brookside Church of the Brethren will hold its Christmas program this Sunday, Dec. 21, at 7 p.m. The program, which features the pageant "The Blue Coveralls Angel." The public is also invited to stay for a "Happy Birthday, Jesus" party following the program.

DEATH

A funeral service was held for Olonzo P. Fike, 92, Pennsylvania, at Maple Spring Church of the Brethren last Friday. He was a son of the late Emra T. and Rebecca Umbel Fike. He was also preceded in death by his wife Ardith Wotring Fike; and one son, John.

He is survived by one daughter, Evangeline, and her family.

PERSONAL

Tim Meeks arrived by plane Friday to spend the holidays with his parents, Pastor Gary and Bonnie Meeks, Eglon.

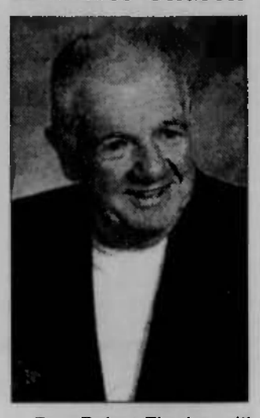
Donnie and Heather Frantz and their sons, Wyatt and Donavan arrived from Elmendorf AFB, Alaska, and will be visiting with Donnie's parents, Don and Neva Frantz, Eglon, and many other area relatives.

Grace Knotts Winter has been readmitted to Monongalia General Hospital for further diagnostic testing.

Frank Blamble, Stemple Ridge, could use some extra encouragement these days, as he is again in treatment.

Joe Spaid is expecting to return to his Eglon home before Christmas.

Rev. Fletcher To Speak At Corinth Holiness Church



Rev. Robert Fletcher will be the guest preacher at Corinth Holiness Pentecostal Church on Sunday, Dec. 28, at 6 p.m.

He pastored at Loch Lynn Church of God for 32½ years and is currently a cluster elder for the Church of God's western Maryland region.

Corinth Pentecostal Holiness is located about 4½ miles east of Terra Alta off Rt. 7 along Russ DeBerry Road in Corinth. Persons from the Oakland area can take Maryland Rt. 39, which becomes West Virginia Rt. 7 about ½ mile outside Hutton, to Corinth. Russ DeBerry Road will be on the left.

More information is available by calling 301-334-2496 or 301-533-0551.

Brookside COB To Give Children's Christmas Play

The Brookside Church of the Brethren will be present a children's Christmas play on Sunday, Dec. 21, at 7 p.m. The title of the play is The Blue Overall Angel, a drama in which a young orphaned girl searches for a Christmas angel, and along the way finds the true meaning of Christmas from a humble church janitor.

The congregation will serve refreshments after the production.

The church is located along Rt. 50 in Aurora, W.Va. For more information, persons may call Pastor Scott Rush at 301-334-1633.

Leah Broderick Is Selected For Rotary Exchange

Leah Broderick, daughter of Lynn and Michael Broderick, Aurora, has been selected as one of five representatives to serve on a foreign travel exchange on behalf of the Rotary International, West Virginia Council #7530, Clarksburg.

Broderick will spend five weeks in Japan sharing her knowledge of West Virginia, focusing primarily on the arts and education. Like other applicants, she went through an extensive interview process, and was notified of her unanimous selection to the team in November.

Broderick is a 2004 graduate of the Shenandoah Conservatory of Music, Shenandoah University. Since graduation, she completed an additional year in music composition at West Virginia University and will be pursuing graduate studies in ethnomusicology and dance in the fall. She has performed for three summers with the TOTL Theatre Company, teaches private voice and piano in Kingwood, and, along with Elizabeth Nelson, founded the School of Theatrical Arts of Garrett County this past fall.

Additionally, Broderick provides musical direction and choreography for the Preston High Theatre Department and was the director of the Preston County Camp of the Arts in 2008.

She also composed the music for Mabel's Story, an original musical that was presented in April as part of the 2007-08 season of the Preston High School Theatre Department.

WARM THE CHILDREN

Providing New Warm Winter Clothing for Needy Children

The Republican newspaper and the GFWC Civic Club of Oakland are finishing up the 11th year of Warm the Children. The program provides new winter clothing and footwear for Garrett County children in need. Because the program is a function of the newspaper and of volunteers, every penny donated goes toward the purchase of these items. The following individuals and/or organizations donated recently. More will be published next week (we only have so much room!).The donation period for 2008 has now ended.

GARRETT MENTORS HOST PARTY FOR STUDY BUDDIES – The Garrett Mentors, a non-profit, school-based, one-on-one mentoring organization for elementary school-age children, hosted a Christmas party on Dec. 11 for the study buddies and their mentors. The event began with Christmas carols led by Pat Shelton, and then the group shared a turkey dinner prepared by Bill Cheesman and Rob Michael. After dinner, the children decorated cookies and made ornaments with the help of volunteers from Frostburg State University. Santa Claus (Chuck Nolan), then surprised the children, talking with them and handing out gifts, such as wooden toys (provided by the Western Maryland Correctional Institution), donations from private individuals, and books from Landon's Library. To conclude the evening, Gail Herman told "Winter Woodland Tales of Sky Valley" and of other Garrett County locations. In the photo above, the guests are pictured as they "sign" a Christmas carol. Below, Herman entertains the crowd. Persons interested in mentoring, or who would like to make a donation, are encouraged to contact Tricia Cheesman, director, at 301-334-1783 or write to Garrett Mentors Inc., 105 S. Second Street, Suite 8, Oakland, MD 21550.

GOP COMMITTEE ATTENDS CONVENTION – Garrett County Republican Central Committee members attended the recent state GOP winter convention at the Double Tree Inn, Annapolis. Committee members attending were Ed Clemons Jr., voter registration chairman; Brandon Butler, committee chairman; and Ruth Umbel, vice chair. Republican National Committee woman Joyce Terhes and committee man Louis Pope encouraged all members to support Michael Steele for RNC chairman. Members of the Garrett County Central Committee support Steele for this position. "Steele is the best choice for the Republican Party and Maryland," Butler said. Maryland GOP chairman Jim Pelura also announced that updates to the state Republican web site were in the works. Left to right are Clemons, Terhes, and Butler.

CLUB PRESENTS LAMP TO RAFFLE WINNER – The Southern Garrett County Republican Women's Club (SGCRWC) has announced the winner of its sixth annual stained glass lamp raffle: Cherish Clemons. New club member Judy Niedenthall drew her name during the club's November meeting. Club secretary Judy Wilt presented the lamp to Cherish, who is an active supporter of the SGCRWC agenda. Cherish i the wife of Ed Clemons, an associate club membe The lamp, valued at $500, was created by Mtn. Lake Park resident Louis DiCarlo, an award-winning designer and stained glass master craftsman. Proceeds from the raffle are used to support the club's Student School Supplies Project. Pictured, left to right, are Wilt, Ed Clemons, and Cherish Clemons.

Theft Of Copper Wire Leads To Pa. Man's Arrest

Judge Edward Malloy sentenced Scott Allen Upton, 36, Normalville, Pa., to six months, with five months, 20 days suspended after being found guilty of theft with a value of less than $500 in recent Garrett County District Court hearings. He was handed one year of supervised probation, and all fines were suspended.

Upton was arrested in October after officers found him sitting in his vehicle along with another occupant outside an abandoned meat-packing plant in Grantsville.

After an investigation, it was determined that Upton was allegedly planning on taking copper wire he had cut from an electric box inside the plant to a place in Pennsylvania to sell for money for fuel.

Upton and the other occupant were detained by officers without incident. He was not prosecuted on charges of general burglary in the second degree, burglary in the fourth degree/ tools, and malicious destruction of property valued at less than $500.

In a related case, Cari Ann Swope, 32, Normalville, Pa., was the occupant in Upton's car, but was not prosecuted on charges of burglary in the fourth degree/general, theft valued at less than $500, burglary with tools in the fourth degree, and malicious destruction of property valued less than $500. The arrest took place in October.

In an unrelated case, Jon Howard Valentine Jr., 33, Accident, was handed a guilty verdict for his charge of telephone misuse by repeat calls, and was sentenced to 90 days with all being suspended, one year of supervised probation, and with all fines suspended. He was charged for his harassing behavior of repeated phone calls and text messages to another victim.

In another district court hearing, Trisha Marie Kamp, 24, Lonaconing, pleaded guilty to a charge of engaging in a course of conduct with intent to harass and was sentenced to 30 days with all being suspended, one year of unsupervised probation, and fines of $100.

Kamp was served a peace order in August after an altercation with two other adult victims, and failed to comply with the restrictions. She was not prosecuted on two charges of failing to comply with a peace order, assault in the second degree, and a seperate charge of engaging in a course of conduct with intent to harass.

Philip Ray Coddington, 42, Oakland, was found guilty on charges of violating a protective order and CDS possession of paraphernalia, with sentencing of 30 days with all being suspended for the violation charge, one year of unsupervised probation for both charges, and fines of $200.

Coddington's violation charge came about in August after an altercation with another victim after making a statement to the victim that was allegedly a threat.

The possession charge was filed in June after officers conducted a traffic stop and found suspected marijuana in a smoking device in the center console of his vehicle. He was not prosecuted on charges of CDS possession of marijuana, three charges of violation of a protective order; telephone misuse by repeated calls; and a charge of engaging in a course of conduct with intent to harass.

Paul Edward Glotfelty, 50, Oakland, was placed on stet for a charge of assault in the second degree with conditions being no violations of the law. He was charged after a domestic dispute in May.

Christopher Alan Glotfelty, 35, Oakland, was handed a stet verdict with conditions being to continue with counseling and no violations of the law. He was charged after a domestic dispute in June.

DUI/DWI CASES

The following driving while under the influence (DUI) and driving while impaired (DWI) case was heard in recent Garrett County District Court proceedings:

Jeffrey Richard Simson, 18, Md., was handed a probation before judgment (PBJ) verdict for his May charge of DWI. He was given 18 months of unsupervised probation and $250 in fines. He was not prosecuted on charges of DUI and DUI per se.

Notes From Bittinger

by Joan Glotfelty Sussman

It's one week before Christmas and it was beginning to look like it. However, the beautiful blanket of sparkling snow was followed by ice and freezing rain. Hopefully we will have a white Christmas in Bittinger this year. As strange as it is to say, even California and Arizona can get Christmas snow.

Normally when Christmas approaches I would be in a frenzy of activity, but the roads have been pretty treacherous and that has kept me from running them. The schools had several early dismissals and late starts this week because of the conditions. According to Sam Stanton the roads were really slick and the snow was falling thick and fast.

I am pretty concerned because my birthday gift for my sister has not arrived yet and her birthday is only a couple days away: the 18th. I also ordered my Christmas gifts for my mother and sibling secret Santa, and none of them have arrived yet. I hope I will see that big, brown UPS truck soon. I do have my gifts here, but they remain unwrapped.

The Bittinger Lutheran Parish Christmas Eve service schedule is as follows: Emmanuel at 6 p.m., St. John's at 8 p.m., and Zion at 10 p.m.

I am so relieved that Emmanuel has the early service this year.

Cherry Glade will have its Christmas Eve program at 7 p.m. A candlelight service will be held at Maple Grove Church of the Brethren at 7 p.m. as well. That is, of course, on Maple Grove Road near Casselman Lumber. That old church was my grandmother's (Linnie Miller/Buckel) church when she was a young girl.

This is short notice, but there will be a spaghetti dinner to benefit Cindy Niner, who is recuperating at home after a triple bypass surgery. The dinner will be served from 4 to 8 p.m. this Friday, Dec. 19, at the Bittinger fire hall. The cost is $6 for adults and $3 for children under 12.

The last two items were contributed by Rose Niner of the Dung Hill Road area. A long time ago she told me that her grandson lost his black pony. There is still no sign of it. It's hard to believe anyone would steal a child's pony, but that is just about the only explanation. When I was a little girl, I would have been heartbroken if someone took my beloved pony Misty.

I am happy to say that my oldest two girls are home from West Virginia University, and Claire is returning as a college graduate. Now it is time for her to look for her first real job.

Strangely, my first job out of the University of Maryland was at a brick factory. The pay was good, but it was not quite what my theater/speech major prepared me for. Not long after that I got my first theater job.

I was lucky to not have any student loans when I graduated college, but Claire will have a six-month period before she has to begin paying hers back.

Caitlin will be returning to Morgantown on the weekends to continue working at her part-time job at the homeless shelter there.

Meredith has also completed her first college semester through the Early College Admissions Program (ECAP) at Garrett College.

My mother Ruth DiPaolo is hanging in there in her battle with cancer. She had her first chemotherapy treatment last Friday, and we are happy to report that she didn't get too sick from it. Although she was feeling a little under the weather, she was able to attend the Hospice luncheon last week.

My annual struggle with the task of sending out Christmas cards has gone nowhere yet. We did take a picture on Thanksgiving, but they aren't developed or put on cards. So of course I have not addressed or mailed any.

It will be a long month waiting for the results of my IRS audit. With all hopes, I will be successful in proving that I am the head of the household and can claim one of my daughters as a dependent.

I woke up at 5 a.m. this morning because I was freezing. I thought we got a horrible cold sweep, but I discovered that the back porch door was open. There is a window in my bedroom that is attached to the back porch, and the cold air was seeping in that way. Evidently the temperature is above freezing because when I woke up again at 9 a.m. it was raining. We'll have to see about that white Christmas.

Love Can Never Die

Two must go and two be left
The lonely road to tread,
There comes a day when all must face
The path that lies ahead.

Knowing that the best is over
With a loved one gone
There seems no point in going on

But time is kind, the passing years
The balm of healing bring,
And like a bird at winter's end
The heart begins to sing.

We come at last to realize
Death breaks the earthly tie,
But love survives when grief has passed for love can never die

We love you and miss you both,
Mom, Dick, sisters, nieces and nephews

GARRETT COUNTY

GA2005G007/1 – The Garrett County Sanitary District, Inc., 2008 Maryland Highway, Suite 2, Mountain Lake Park, MD 21550, has applied for a Water Appropriation and Use Permit to withdraw ground water from one well (Gravelly Run) in the Greenbrier Formation, for a municipal water supply for the McHenry Water Service Area. The Administration is considering an appropriation of an annual average of 96,000 gallons per day (gpd) and 144,000 gpd during the month of maximum use. The well is located on the west side of Gravelly Run Road, 0.5 mile north of the junction of U.S. Route 219 and Gravelly Run Road, McHenry, Garrett County, Maryland.

The proposed production well, installed in a leaky consolidated sedimentary fractured rock aquifer, is 371 feet deep. Impacts to the resource and nearby users were evaluated using data from geological reports and investigations available to the Water Management Administration and two, on-site aquifer-pumping tests. Pumping of the Deep Creek Drive well during periods of maximum use may lower the water table more than 40 feet in the nearest well of another user. In making this evaluation, water withdrawals were modeled with the well pumping continuously for 90 days with no recharge to the aquifer. The County Intends to connect any affected well user to the public water system at their expense, if the permit is issued.

TRUSTEES' SALE OF VALUABLE IMPROVED FEE SIMPLE PROPERTY
NO. 6061 SANG RUN ROAD, OAKLAND, MD 21550
Aka 6061 SANG RUN ROAD, MCHENRY, MD 21541

Under and by virtue of the power and authority contained in a certain Deed of Trust from Anna D. Reed, aka Anna Dariene Reed, to Thomas R. Janes, Trustee(s), dated August 9, 1996, and recorded among the Land Records of Garrett County, in Liber 687, Folio 0260 (Gerard F. Miles, Jr., Mark S. Devan, Thomas P. Dore, Jennifer M. Herring, and Kristen K. Haskins, having been appointed as Substituted Trustees therein by the present holder of the Note secured thereby), default having occurred in the payment of the indebtedness thereby secured, and at the request of the party secured thereby, the undersigned Substituted Trustees will offer for sale at public auction at the main entrance of the Circuit Courthouse for Garrett County in Oakland at 203 South 4th Street, on all that land and premises described more fully in the aforesaid Deed of Trust.

Tuesday, January 6, 2009

The property will be sold in "AS IS" condition, subject to conditions, restrictions and agreements of record, if any. Purchaser assumes liability for any loss incurred to the property between sale and ratification.

The property is improved by a DWELLING.

TERMS OF SALE: $7,000.00 cash, cashier's check, certified check, or in such other form as the Trustees may determine acceptable, in their sole discretion, will be required of the purchaser (other than the above named Note holder) at the time and place of sale, balance of the purchase money in cash upon final ratification of sale by the Circuit Court for Garrett County and to bear interest at 6.87%, per annum from the day of sale to the day of settlement. In the event settlement is delayed for any reason, there will be no abatement of interest. In the event the above named Note holder purchases the property no deposit will be required and the requirement of interest on the balance of the purchase price shall be waived. All charges for conveyancing, recording, stamp taxes, transfer taxes, certificate of title, etc., to be at the cost of the purchaser.

All charges for private water, private sewage, private front-foot benefit charges and all other private utility charges, including legal fees assessed on behalf of private utility companies, to be at the costs of the purchaser, regardless of the date of accrual of said charges. Expenses, water rent, and real estate taxes and all other assessments and public charges, payable on annual basis Including special paving tax, if any, to be adjusted to the date of sale, and assumed thereafter by purchaser. However, the purchaser is responsible for any amount in excess of $250.00 of outstanding public water bills incurred prior to the sale. Any special assessments made by a condominium association or homeowners association are the responsibility of the purchaser. It shall be the purchaser's responsibility to obtain possession of the property in the event it is occupied.

Time is of the essence and terms of sale are to be complied with within ten days after final ratification thereof by the Court, otherwise the deposit will be forfeited and the property will be resold at the risk and cost of the defaulting purchaser. Purchaser agrees to pay $1,000.00 plus costs if the Trustees file a Motion to Resell with the Court. Purchaser waives personal service of said Motion to Resell and expressly agrees to accept service of any paper by regular mail directed to the address given at the time of sale. This sale is subject to Ratification by the Circuit Court for Garrett County. If the sale is not ratified, or if a bankruptcy is filed, reinstatement or payoff funds are received, or an order to cancel sale Is sent by the noteholder prior to the gavel going down, or if for any reason the Substituted Trustees are unable to convey clear, marketable title, the sale shall be void and the purchaser's sole remedy shall be the return of the deposit.

Purchaser agrees to pay $275.00 to the Seller's attorney at settlement for review of the settlement documents. Purchaser agrees to pay $150.00 to seller's attorney to review any motion filed with the Court to substitute a purchaser.

PUBLIC NOTICE

The Board of Garrett County Commissioners will conduct a public hearing on December 23, 2008, at 10:00 a.m. in the County Commissioners' meeting Room, 203 South Fourth Street, Oakland, MD. The purpose of the hearing is to review and take public comment on a proposed new ordinance entitled Garrett County Agricultural Land Preservation District Ordinance.

The proposed Garrett County Agricultural Land Preservation District program is voluntary on the part of landowners. The purpose of the Ordinance is to screen and prequalify landowners eligible for participation in the Maryland Agricultural Land Preservation Easement Program and to encourage landowners to participate in the preservation program by allowing qualifying district owners to participate in the Garrett County Agricultural Tax Credit program adopted on July 6, 2000.

Copies of the draft ordinance are available in the Planning and Land Development Office, 203 South Fourth Street, Oakland MD or on the County's website at www.garrettcounty.org. The draft ordinance may be viewed by clicking on Ag-land District Ordinance under News on the County home page.

Interested citizens are welcome to attend.

MCHENRY WATER SYSTEM DEEP CREEK LAKE SEWER SYSTEM

WHITEFACE FARM PROPERTY / MCHENRY BUSINESS PARK / WORKFORCE HOUSING DEVELOPMENT

Notice is hereby given that the Board of County Commissioners of Garrett County, Maryland, will hold a public hearing on Tuesday, January 6, 2009 at 10:00 a.m. in Room 209 at the Garrett County Courthouse located at 203 South Fourth Street, Oakland, Maryland, to consider two amendments to the Garrett County Water and Sewerage Master Plan. The proposed McHenry Business Park (MBP) is intended to utilize approximately 190 acres of the Whiteface Farm and provide developable parcels of land for occupancy by technology based businesses. A workforce housing development is proposed to utilize approximately 50 acres of the property and contain approximately 250 units consisting of a combination of loase-purchase town homes and/or duplexes and single family homes for sale. A summary of the proposed amendments is as follows:

McHenry Water System

Water service for the MBP and workforce housing development will be provided by the McHenry Water System. The water line extension will consist of approximately 15,800 lineal feet of 10-inch water main and will connect to the present system at Garrett College on Mosser Road. A 250,000 gallon aboveground water storage tank will be located on Garrett County Airport property and will provide fire suppression for the MPB, Airport and proposed workforce housing development, and supplement domestic service for the business park and housing development.

Deep Creek Lake Sewer System

Sewer service for the MBP and workforce housing development will be provided by the Deep Creek Lake Sewer System. The sewage system within the MBP will include a sewage pump station, and a collection system consisting of 8-inch gravity and 3-inch and 8-inch force mains which will discharge into the present sewer system at Garrett College on Mosser Road. The concept for the sewage collection system for the proposed housing development is to connect to the 8-inch force main serving the MBP.

Mapping of the proposed project area and the complete text of the proposed amendment can be obtained from the Garrett County Department of Public Utilities located at 2008 Maryland Highway, Suite 2, Mountain Lake Park, Maryland. Interested persons will be heard at the public hearing on Tuesday, January 6, 2009, in order to determine if the proposed amendments are necessary for the public health, safety and welfare and if the project is feasible financially and from an engineering standpoint.

Communications Award Presented To County Fair

The Garrett County Agriculture Fair recently received the best of show award in communications at the annual Maryland Association of Agricultural Fairs and Shows Inc. convention held recently in Ocean City.

The convention involved groups from all 23 Maryland counties and several from Delaware.

The award has been given yearly since 1999, and goes to the fair, show, or festival that scores the highest total in three separate categories. Only three other fairs have received the award since 1999.

The communications awards involve 20 categories, which are divided into three divisions according to attendance. Recognition is given for each category in each division.

"The purpose of this competition is to improve the advertising and publicity programs of fairs and shows, and to provide recognition, according to a spokesperson.

In addition to receiving the best of show award, Garrett County won the following divisions in the zero to 50,000 attendance category:

Newspaper (black and white), first place; premium book, first place; magazine ad, first place; scrapbook, first place; promotional poster, first place; fair photos, first place; printed promotional multi-page publication, first place; promotional window display, first place; printed promotional brochure, first place; color newspaper ad, second place; advertising merchandise, first place; outdoor advertising, second place; radio ad, first place; web site, second place; media guide, first place; and slide show, second place.

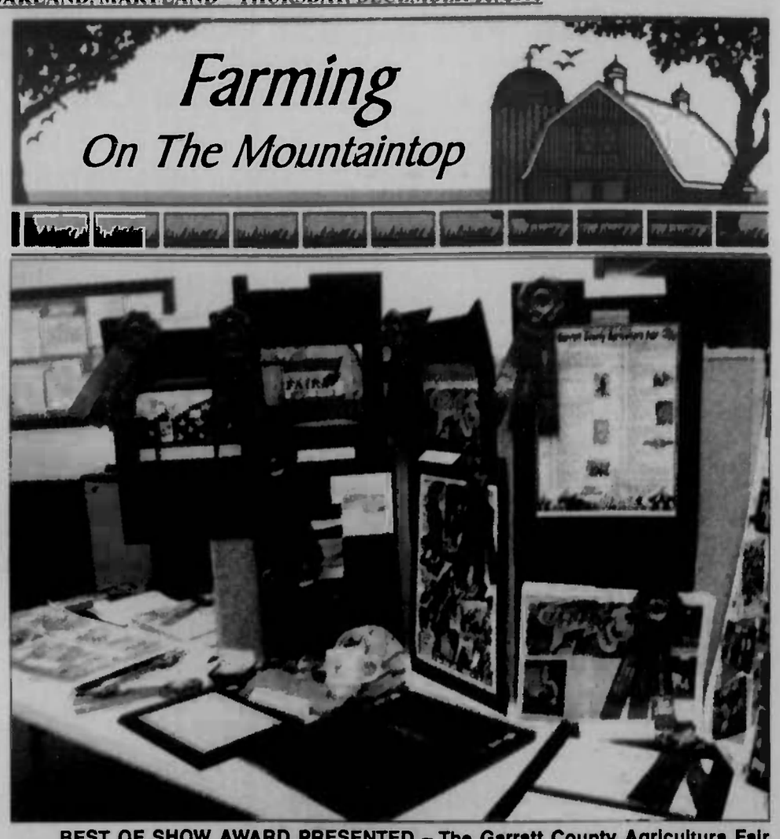
Most of the published articles and advertisements, as well as the special fair section were produced by the Sincell Publishing Co. and appeared in The Republican newspaper. Those involved in the award-winning work included Brenda Ruggiero, Lisa Broadwater, Jody Freeland, Richard Hill, Don Sincell, and Rachel Vecchioni.

Garrett County residents who attended the convention were Jason (board member) and Angie Rush, Josh (board member) and Julie Rush; George (board member) and Gail Keller; Don (board member) and Linda Bittinger, who worked on the presentation of communication items for the convention; and Debbie Friend, board president.

The Maryland Association of Agricultural Fairs and Shows Inc. was founded in 1984, and was incorporated in 1994 as a not-for-profit corporation. Its purpose is to provide a statewide mechanism for sharing information that affects fair management operations and that contributes to the best interests of the fair-going public.

This is accomplished through the convention, newsletters, correspondence, sharing of reference library materials, and other support services as deemed appropriate.

Membership eligibility is extended to any agriculturerelated fair, show, or exhibition in Maryland, with associate membership open to any fair-related support business, industry, or organization.



BEST OF SHOW AWARD PRESENTED – The Garratt County Agricultura Fair recently received a beat of show recognition in the communications award competition at the annual convention of the Maryland Association of Agricultural Fairs and Shows Inc. Pictured above are the entries along with the ribbons that each won. Several of the published items were compiled and printed by Sincell Publishing/The Republican newspaper. Below, front row, from left, are Debbie Friend; Sue Sullivan, chairman of the awards committee; and Dennis Hazzard, association president and president of the Delaware State Fair. In the back row are Jason Rush, Josh Rush, Don Bittinger, and George Keller.

USDA TO CONDUCT REQUEST FOR REFERENDUM ON PORK CHECKOFF PROGRAM

The U.S. Department of Agriculture's (USDA) Agricultural marketing service (AMS) announced that it will conduct a Request for Referendum this month among eligible producers and importers of hogs, pigs, pork, and pork products to determine if they want a referendum on the Pork Promotion, Research, and Consumer Information Order, commonly known as the Pork Checkoff Program. Participation is voluntary, and only individuals who desire a referendum on the Pork Checkoff Program should participate.

USDA will conduct a referendum on the order only if at least 15 percent of the total number of eligible pork producers and importers request a referendum. The total number of producers and importers eligible to participate in the Request for Referendum is approximately 69,446; therefore, at least 10,417 eligible producers and importers must request a referendum. If necessary, the referendum will be conducted within one year after the results of the Request for Referendum are announced. If results of the Request for Referendum indicate that a referendum is not supported, a referendum would not be conducted.

The Request for Referendum is under way and will continue through January 2, 2009. Producers and importers who were engaged in pork production or the importation of hogs, pigs, pork, or pork products between January 1, 2007, and December 31, 2007, and were at least 18 years of age on or before December 31, 2007, are eligible to participate.

For producers, the Request for Referendum will be conducted at the USDA County Farm Service Agency (FSA) offices where their administrative farm records are maintained. For producers not participating in FSA programs, the opportunity to participate will be provided at the county FSA office where the person owns or rents land. Eligible producers may obtain Form LS-54-1· Pork Promotion, Research, and Consumer Information Request for Referendum from those offices either in person, by mail, or by facsimile. Forms may also be obtained online at. http.//www.ams.usda.gov/LSMarketingPrograms.

Local Employee Is Qualified Certified FeedMaster®

Clyde L. Mostoller Sr. recently attended a comprehensive three-day training program designed to qualify him as a certified FeedMaster® specialist at Southern States Oakland Cooperative Inc.

The training program is tied to the Southern States FeedMaster program and is designed to augment the existing knowledge base of employees involved in advising the co-op's customers on issues related to feeding various types of beef and dairy cattle. The program provides new and updated information and qualifies for continuing education units (CEUs) by the American Registry of Professional Animal Scientists (ARPAS), a national organization that certifies animal scientists through examination.

Professors from land grant universities in the Southern States service area, industry nutritionists, and veterinarians were among those conducting technical sessions during the program Mostoller attended.

Founded in 1923, Southern State is a Richmond, Va., based farm supply and service cooperative that now has more than 300,000 farmer-members.

County Offices To Be Closed Fridays, Dec. 26 And Jan. 2

The Board of Garrett County Commissioners has decided to close all county offices on Friday, Dec. 26, and Friday, Jan. 2, to further conserve the cost of building and facility operations. The county landfill and collection sites, however, will remain open.

All department heads will determine staffing for emergency/essential personnel: the 9-1-1 center, Department of Public Utilities operators, Sheriff's Office and Detention Center, Department of General Services, and Roads Department if snow removal operations are in place.

Personnel not required to work will use accrued scheduled time off (vacation, personal, and other leave) for these two days.

The commissioners also wanted to clarify a prior report from the Garrett County Roads Department pertaining to year-to-date expenditures. The department has spent approximately 50 percent of the overall budget at this time, which is consistent for this time in the fiscal year, said county administrator Monty Pagenhardt.

Paving operations end in October and recommence in April. Included in the year- to-date cost is the expense for winter abrasives that have been purchased and stockpiled. This expense will inflate the year-to-date

THE COUNTDOWN IS ON – The weeks of anticipation are culminating in the final frenzy, as Santa Claus embarks on his yearly journey to bring gifts to all who remain on the Good List. As this newspaper is being published (on Wednesday even though our dateline is Thursday... Confusing!), he is apparently jetting (sleighing?) 'round the world, making his first stops somewhere around Russia or New Zealand, according to some talking heads on television. Santa's big ride is not the most important news of the season for Christians, though, as they will gather over the next 24 hours in churches around the world to celebrate the birth of Jesus Christ, considered by many millions to be the son of God, born in a manger in Bethlehem some 2,000+ years ago. Deep Creek Lake Safety Warning Issued By DNR

The Maryland Park Service advises individuals recreating on Deep Creek Lake to be alert for safety hazards on the lake, particularly at night.

"Snowmobilers, ice fishermen, hikers, and cross-country skiers traveling on the lake should exercise caution," urged Mark Spurrier, Deep Creek Lake Recreation Area assistant manager. "Wearing a personal flotation device could prevent a tragedy. If you encounter people, pets or wildlife that have fallen through the ice, call either 911 or the Department of Natural Resources at 1-800-628-9944 for assistance."

Road salt and abrasives plowed from highway bridges may affect the quality of the ice underneath, and unseen snowdrifts can act as ramps and cause sleds and snowmobiles to be-come airborne, leading to a loss of control and accidents.

Deep Creek Lake is a part of the designated ORV trail system permitting use by registered snowmobiles only. Permits are available by mail or at any of the local state park offices during normal business hours. Snowmobiles may operate at night if equipped with working head- and taillights. Access to the lake may be made at Deep Creek Lake State Park or with permission from a private landowner adjacent to the lake.

For further information on ice conditions at Deep Creek Lake, individuals are invited to contact a park ranger by calling 301-387-5563 during the weekdays or the Discovery Center on weekends at 301-387-7067.

DBED Renews Northern Garrett Enterprise Zone

The Maryland Department of Business and Economic Development (DBED) Tuesday announced the renewal of the Northern Garrett Enterprise Zone, located in Grantsville.

Currently, 14 Maryland jurisdictions, including Baltimore City, have enterprise zones, which were created to help revitalize and stabilize communities by attracting new businesses, retaining jobs, and providing incentives for employers to create new jobs.

"The enterprise zone designation has proven to be a powerful tool for Garrett County," said Commissioner Fred Holliday, chair of the Garrett County Board of Commissioners. "The incentives made available by DBED's renewal of the Northern Garrett Enterprise Zone will continue to be a key in the expansion of the businesses already in the zone."

A DBED spokesperson noted that the Northern Garrett Enterprise Zone is part of the county's strategic plan for growth, and essential to the county's ability to continue to attract industrial and manufacturing businesses.

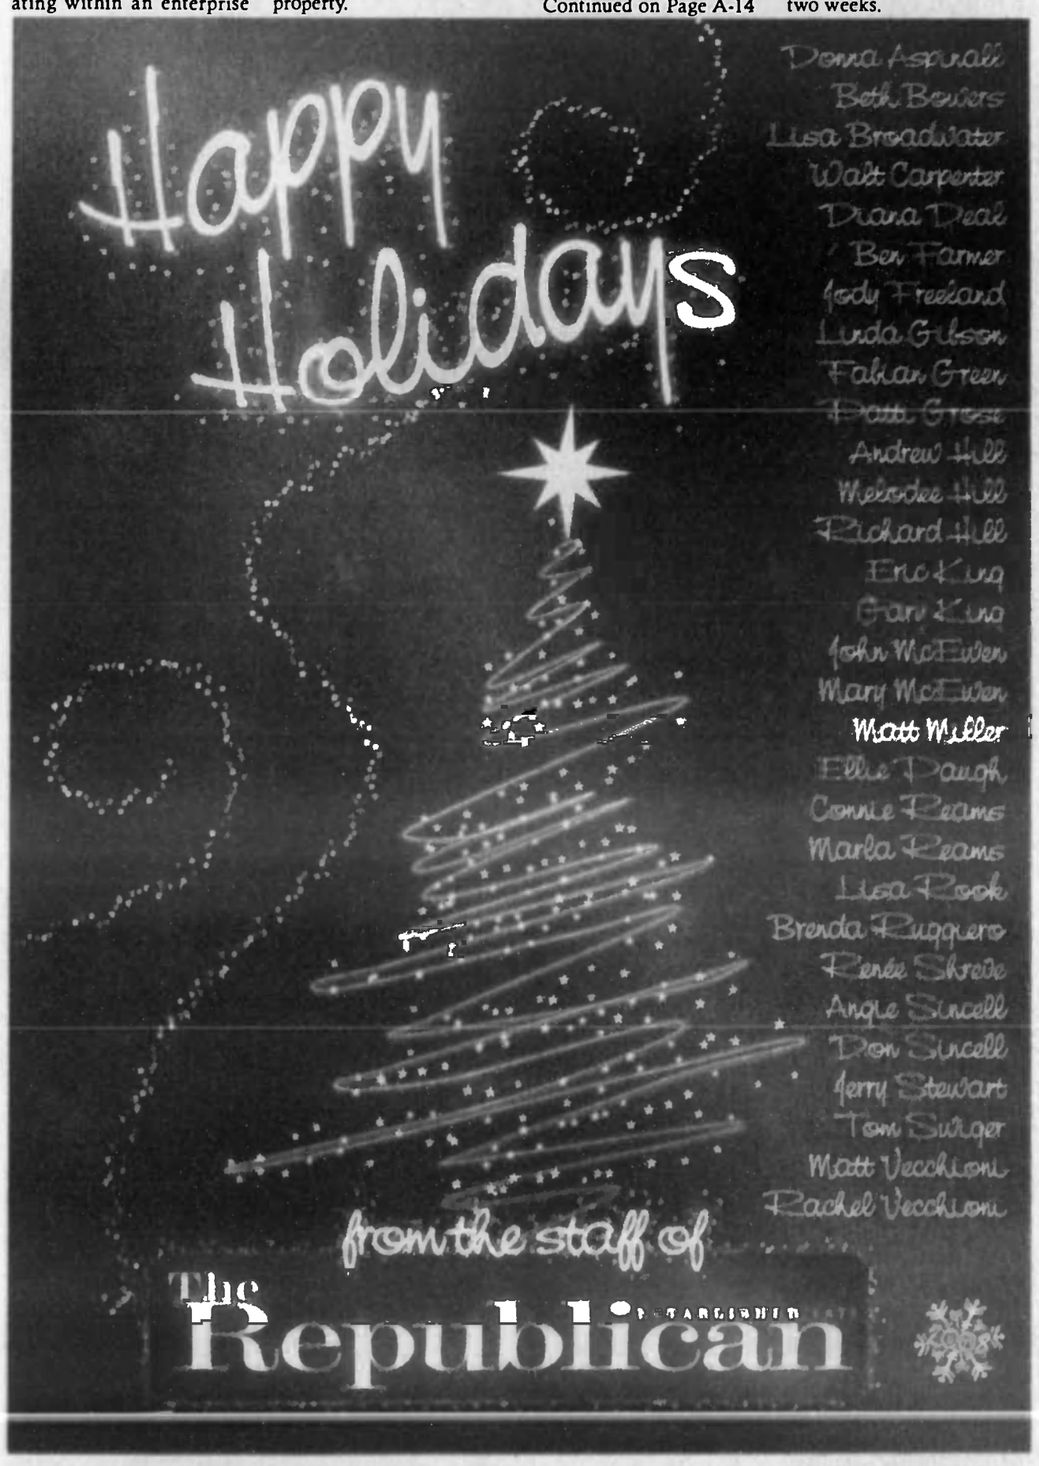
Located adjacent to I-68 in the Northern Garrett Industrial Park, the zone currently consists of 110 acres with "significant" room for expansion, the spokesperson said.

"Although all lots have been sold, there remains room on individual lots for expansion of several businesses currently located in the zone," he said.

The businesses located in the zone are ClosetMaid Corp., Total Biz Fulfillment Inc., Merkle Response Services, Pillar Innovations LLC, Robosson Supply West LLC, and New England Truss & Joist.

"Maryland's Enterprise Zone program is an important tool in our economic development arsenal for continued growth in our established urban and suburban areas," said Gov. Martin O'Malley. "The O'Malley-Brown Administration will continue to make investments in our communities that create jobs and give our local jurisdictions the resources they need to attract and retain companies."

DBED approves the state's enterprise zones while local governments are responsible for their administration. Businesses operating within an enterprise zone may be eligible for a tax credit toward their state income tax filings based upon the number of new jobs created, and a tax credit on their local real property taxes based upon their overall capital investment into a property.



GC Commissioners Hold Hearings On Electrical Code, Ag District Ordinances

The Garrett County commissioners held public hearings this week on two proposed ordinances. One establishes a Garrett County Electrical Code. The other creates a Garrett County Agricultural Land Preservation District Program.

The commissioners held the public comment period open on both proposals for two weeks.

The proposed Garrett County Electrical Code Ordinance would regulate and provide standards for the installation of electrical wiring and apparatus, establish requirements for those individuals or firms who provide electrical service to be licensed by the Maryland State Electrical Board, and would provide for the issuance of electrical permits, fees, and related inspection requirements.

Inspections and Permits chief Jim Torrington, Garrett County Department of Planning and Land Development, noted that the proposed electrical code ordinance is the first to be considered by Garrett County government.

"It will allow for homeowners to do their own electrical work, but will require, of course, permits through our office," Torrington said about the ordinance.

He noted that his department's draft does exempt certain electrical work from permit requirements, and could require inspections of existing buildings where there may be problems with electrical installation.

The Garrett County Electrical Mechanical Association has requested for several years that some type of code be established in the county. Torrington said the association has reviewed the current draft and has suggested several changes.

"Our goal is to try to get as much new construction and remodeling work as we can possibly get under this umbrella," said association president Tony Doerr about the proposed ordinance.

His group suggested that a section allowing electrical permit exemptions for certain types of work, including minor repairs, be deleted from the current draft.

"Our point was, once you have one exception how many exceptions are you going to allow to cover the whole gamut?" Doerr said.

He indicated that the exceptions in the draft were too broadly written and not specific enough, which may cause problems "down the road." Doerr noted, however, that the ordinance was a work in progress and there was need for more discussion on the issue.

Commissioners Fred Holliday and Denny Glotfelty both voiced their opposition to eliminating the Death Of Oakland Resident Under Police Investigation

The death of an Oakland resident this past weekend is under investigation by the Garrett County Sheriff's Office.

Barbara Nazelrod discovered her husband missing from her parked vehicle when she returned to the car after shopping at a local store. The door to her vehicle was standing open. Edward Nazelrod, 72, was described to police as having Alzheimer's disease.

Throughout the night, local law enforcement and fire and rescue personnel conducted searches in the Oakland area. Another search was organized early Sunday morning. Shortly after the search began, E. Nazelrod's body was found in the ditch of a construction site at the intersection of Third Street and Memorial Drive.

The incident remains under investigation by authorities.

GCSO Seeking Info On Two Thefts At Diehl's Ford Sales

The Garrett County Sheriff's Office is investigating two thefts that occurred at Diehl's Ford Sales, Grantsville, sometime on Dec. 16 and 17.

On two separate occasions, aluminum wheels and tires where stolen from new Ford trucks and passenger cars parked on the lot. It has been confirmed that the thefts occurred sometime during the evening hours of the above mentioned dates.

Those with any information regarding this incident are asked to contact the GCSO at 301-334-1911. Callers may remain anonymous, and all information will be kept confidential.

Man Sentenced To One Year For Assault Charge

In recent Garrett County District Court hearings, David Spencer Glotfelty, 24, Oakland, was found guilty by Judge Edward Malloy Jr. for a charge of assault in the second degree, and was sentenced to 1 year with 11 months suspended, and 2 years of supervised probation, with all fines suspended.

Glotfelty was arrested in August for an altercation with an adult victim. It was reported that he broke into the victim's residence while the victim and other minors were asleep. He proceeded to yell at the victim and then allegedly forced the victim to the floor by grabbing the victim's neck. A minor entered into the same room and it was reported that he threw the minor to the floor.

Glotfelty eventually let go of the victim and went out the back door. A warrant went out for his arrest. He was not prosecuted on another charge of assault in the second degree.

In an unrelated case, Jason William Sines, 34, Bruceton Mills, W.Va., was handed a guilty verdict on charges of controlled dangerous substance (CDS), possession of marijuana and driving a vehicle on the highway at a speed exceeding the speed limit. He was sentenced to five days in jail, 18 months of unsupervised probation, and fines of $257.50.

Sines was arrested in June after Garrett County sheriff's officers conducted a traffic stop when he was monitored as going 60 mph in a 45 mph speed zone. He was placed under arrest after officers learned through a dispatched license check that Sines had a suspended driving privilege through West Virginia.

A search of Sines revealed a tin can containing suspected marijuana in a bag; a plastic bag containing assorted pills; and a plastic bag containing a piece of an orange pill of suspected Suboxone. A search of Sines's vehicle revealed rolling papers and a pill box containing suspected marijuana.

He was not prosecuted on charges of CDS possession not marijuana, driving on a suspended out-of-state license, and operating a motor vehicle without a seatbelt.

In another district court hearing, Timothy Michael Sanders, 45, Grantsville, was found guilty of failing to obey a reasonable and lawful order charge, for which he was sentenced to five days with five days of credit for time served, 12 months of unsupervised probation, and fines of $57.50.

Sanders' charges stemmed from an incident in July after Maryland State Police responded to a report of a disorderly subject who had threatened to burn down a victim's residence.

It was reported that Sanders made continuous threats to three victims inside their residence as well as outside, and allegedly pushed one of the victims in the chest, knocking the victim to the ground.

After arrival, officers made attempts to restrain Sanders from approaching the victims and told him to stay in the front yard. Sanders pulled his arm away, almost striking the officer in the face, which led the officer to force Sanders to the ground.

The defendant was placed under arrest for failure to obey a lawful order of a police officer, threat of arson, and second degree assault on the victim. Sanders was not prosecuted on charges of threat of arson and second degree assault.

Brittany Fletcher Prager, 22, Preston, was placed on stet for a charge of second degree conspired escape from a place of confmement with conditions being to complete 20 hours of community service.

She was charged from a June incident when she conspired with other individuals to help two juveniles escape from the Savage Mountain Youth Camp.

Carl Jackson Thomas, 28, Accident, was not prosecuted on multiple charges stemming from an altercation with a minor after the state failed to provide evidence and probable cause.

He was not prosecuted on four charges of child abuse, molesting and exploiting, four charges of sex offense in the 4th degree, four charges of second degree assault, three charges of 3rd degree sex offense, two charges of 2nd degree rape, two charges of perverted practice, and one charge of indecent exposure. Charges were filed in August.

Urania America Martinez, 18, Gaithersburg, was not prosecuted on charges of CDS possession of marijuana, first degree burglary, and theft of $500-plus value.

She was arrested in October after being suspected of an alleged break-in of a residence with two other suspects.

Carole Elizabeth Maxson, 63, Oakland, was not prosecuted on charges of embezzlement and scheming theft of $500-plus.

DUI/DWI CASES

The following driving while under the influence (DUI) and driving while impaired (DWI) cases were heard in recent Garrett County District Court proceedings:

Russell Ervin Crosco Jr., 66, Md., was handed a probation before judgment (PBJ) verdict for his charge of DUI per se and will serve one year of unsupervised probation with fines of $200. He was not prosecuted for charges of DUI and DWI. Charges were brought in June.

Michael Emerson Resh, 19, Md., was given a PBJ for an August DWI charge for which he was sentenced to 18 months of supervised probation with fmes of $100. He was not prosecuted on charges of DUI and DUI per se.

William Paul Wagner, 60, Md., was placed on stet for charges of DWI and DUI, conditions being to do complete an alcohol program. He was charged in June.

Todd James Simmons, 20, W.Va., was given a PBJ for his September charge of DWI by controlled dangerous substance, and he will serve one year of unsupervised probation with fines of $200. He was not prosecuted on a charge of DWI by drugs or alcohol or alcohol and drugs.

John Aric Wilkinson, 20, Md., was placed on stet for charges of DUI and DWI. He was charged in August.

Erica Miracle Lathan, 24, was handed a PBJ for an August DWI charge, with one year unsupervised probation and $200 in fines. She was not prosecuted on a DUI charge.

Jan. Business After Hours Slated For Mtn. Lake Park

The Garrett County Chamber of Commerce and the town of Mtn. Lake Park will hold a Business After Hours event on Wednesday, Jan. 7, from 6 to 8 p.m. at the Mtn. Lake Park town hall. Mtn. Lake Park area businesses who are interested in having a display at January's Business After Hours may contact Lou DiCarlo at 301-334-8222.

"We are excited to bring our new Business After Hours format to Mtn. Lake Park residents and business owners," said Charlie Ross, president/CEO of the chamber. "We welcome any area businesses who would like to participate in our new Business After Hours format. Please come out to network, socialize, and support this terrific event."

The event is slated to be held at 1007 Allegany Drive and will be a social evening of networking with fellow businesses, employees, guests, and the Chamber staff. Mtn. Lake Park area businesses will have displays set up for guests throughout the hall as guests enjoy light refreshments and beverages. Business cards are required to enter to win door prizes.

The cost is $6 per person, and to register to attend, persons should RSVP by Monday, Jan. 5, to Jessica at 301-387-4386, ext. 16, or via e-mail at jessica@garrettchamber.com.

At the December Business After Hours held at the McHenry Visitors Center, the Chamber announced that in an effort to allow smaller chamber member businesses an opportunity for additional participation, the 2009 Business After Hours events will be held at a central location in different communities throughout Garrett County.

The remainder of the 2009 schedule is as follows:

- •McHenry – February
- •Accident – March
- •Deer Park – April
- •McHenry – May
- •Friendsville – June
- •Oakland – July
- •Grantsville – August
- •McHenry – September
- •Loch Lynn Heights – October
- •Kitzmiller – November.

Dates and exact locations will be determined.

For additional information about the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce, persons may visit www.garrettchamber.com or call 301-387-4386.

Vehicle Accident Sends One To Garrett Memorial

One man was sent to Garrett County Memorial Hospital following a motor vehicle accident at the intersection of Center and Third streets.

Garrett County sheriff's deputies responded to the scene at approximately 1:15 a.m. Investigation into the accident found that Richard William Gay, 23, Bayard, W.Va., had driving been southbound on Bradley Lane, when he lost control of his vehicle. After passing through the intersection he struck two parked vehicles along Center Street.

Gay was taken to Garrett Memorial by Southern Rescue Squad to receive treatment for injuries sustained in the accident.

Investigation is still continuing, and charges are pending on the outcome of the investigation.

No Finer Gifts...

There will probably be fewer Christmas gifts exchanged this year throughout the nation, given the current state of our economy, but that's all right. Most of us have way too much stuff anyway, and it is during times such as these that the gifts that are both given and received are appreciated all the more.

There are, of course, never-ending opportunities to give gifts that cost little or nothing in terms of money, and they are actually far more valuable than those that can be unwrapped. One example is becoming a member of or volunteer for one or more of the numerous worthy non-profit service organizations. Another is making a commitment to visit and spend some time with one or more of the lonely people in our communities. Another is to spend a morning shoveling snow (when we get some more) for elderly friends and neighbors (assuming one is healthy enough to do so). Another is smiling at and speaking to strangers on the street. Another is always setting good examples of conduct and behavior for the children in our midst. Another is, upon finding someone's lost valuable, to make every effort to return it to the owner. Another is offering to pick someone up for church or for a necessary appointment or errand. Another is doing our jobs well, with dedication, and with a sense of pride. Another is developing and sharing our talents with others.

Another is — and here is a real biggie — forgiving someone. There are so many broken and damaged relationships in our society, the saddest of which are those among members of the same family. Simply because of pride, stubbornness, and intolerance, loved ones become estranged from each other, sometimes forever. The fact is, each of us has his or her faults and weaknesses. Not one of us is perfect. Each of us says and does stupid things sometimes, even to those we love. But to allow those things to destroy relationships forever is so devastating, painful, and unnecessary.

After all, for those of us who are Christians, isn't this the whole point of Christmas? God knows of all our imperfections, and despite how despicable we can be toward him and toward each other, He loves and forgives us anyway. His coming to live among us, teach us, and then die for us clearly demonstrates the magnitude of that love.

Love and forgiveness — there are no finer gifts available, and yet neither costs a dime.

To the Editor:

I'm wondering why the town of Oakland has not been more forthcoming with information regarding the plan to rid the town of the crow problem by poisoning them. When I questioned one town official, I was told that town officials do not want an outcry from the citizens.

I would think if the town doesn't inform the citizens in detail as to their plan, the procedure, the risks and danger or lack thereof, that there will be a much larger outcry from the citizens! Information is not a dangerous thing.

To the Editor,

On Tuesday, Dec. 16, my husband and I decided to travel (during the storm) to Cumberland from Mountain Lake Park. We went down through Bloomington and turned left at the stoplight in Westernport to go through Lonaconing.

We had traveled through all the small towns and were on the straight away almost to the landfill when for some unknown reason the Ford Expedition we were in started to fishtail across the center line into opposing traffic, then started going in circles. I'm not sure how many 360s we did in the middle of the road, but each one seemed to be faster than the one before!

One reason for this letter is to thank the woman and the man who came up to the vehicle when it finally stopped to see if we were okay. I was so scared and shaken up at that point, I'm not sure exactly what I told her, but I think I said we were all right.

Now to the main reason for this letter: I want to tell everyone how awesome our God is! While we were spinning out of control, a lot of things were going on in my mind, but I knew enough to know He was the only one to help us. So I called out, "God help us!" Immediately the vehicle stopped spinning and we were on the opposite side of the road with the vehicle shut off! What I'm saying is, it was like someone pushed the brake pedal to the floor and the vehicle stopped.

We had just passed a tractor trailer and there was traffic behind us and coming toward us, but while we were spinning in the middle of the roadway the traffic was stopped. We thank God for keeping us out of harm's way, and also for protecting the other drivers who were traveling through that awful storm. I want to thank the couple who cared enough to check on us, but most of all I thank God for responding to my prayer. All you have to do is call upon His name!

Merry Christmas, and God bless!

To the Editor:

The purpose of this letter is to announce that the Garrett County Arts Council is now accepting annual membership contributions for 2009. In a world of many challenges and during times of great need, support is not only much appreciated, but is absolutely essential.

The Garrett County Arts Council fosters community arts development throughout the entire county on behalf of residents, artisans, and visitors alike. We've been doing this for almost 30 years. Community support has helped make it possible.

The current financial crisis is giving us some real challenges. Already this year's funding from the State Arts Council has been reduced, and further cuts are likely. Accordingly, we've cut our budget to the bone and now, more than ever, we need new members.

More and more, we realize that people prefer to live, work, play, send their kids to school, conduct business, and retire in communities with cultural amenities. That's why the Maryland State Arts Council is under the Department of Business and Economic Development. The arts are, in fact, an engine for economic vitality, and support for the arts plays a part in our economic development.

Contributions help us provide financial grants to support the activities of many other local organizations. We operate a community gallery on Alder Street, and present a craft show during Autumn Glory, workshops, demonstrations, and arts enrichment programs in the schools. We help present an annual outdoor art exhibit at Deep Creek State Park, a literary journal, and Chautauqua at Garrett College. We have awarded grants to the communities of Friendsville, Grantsville, Kitzmiller, and Oakland, and organizations as diverse as the Garrett Choral Society, Garrett Community Concert Band, Highland Pipes and Drums, GLAF, GOBA, Highland Festival, Our Town Theatre, Spruce Forest Artisan Village, and TOTL Theatre Company.

I'm passing the hat on behalf of an extremely dedicated and hardworking board of directors, who are all volunteers. You can become a member for as little as $12 per year by calling 301-334-6580 or sending dues directly to the Garrett County Arts Council, 206 East Alder St., Oakland, MD 21550.

Thanks for considering becoming a member.

To the Editor:

Well, if we didn't know before exactly who was responsible for the treacherous conditions on Glendale and other county roads, we sure do now. It's not Jay Moyer, our county roads superintendent. He's the one on the front lines fielding the outrage of area residents year after year. He did his job and brought this to the attention of the Garrett County commissioners as an undeniable safety issue and requested permission to use a prudent amount of salt to protect the public.

No, the responsibility lies solely with the commissioners of our county, who rejected this request with flimsy and unfounded reasoning. Surely the issue of whether shallow springs in the area could be contaminated has been addressed before, with the widespread use of salt in municipalities and states, including our own.

A previous writer suggested that sovereign immunity would apply, if indeed this should ever come to pass. And this alleged effect needs to be weighed seriously against the very real potential for injury and loss of life to our residents, visitors, and school children.

I suggest that the commissioners consult the county attorney before dismissing this obvious solution for philosophical reasons and vague notions of liability down the road. I would be a little more concerned about the liability they're incurring right now and every winter. It is now in the public record, for every person suffering damage, injury, or death on a county road to see, that this safety concern was brought to the attention of the commissioners by their own roads expert, and was shot down. If I were they, I would keep the phone number of the county attorney very handy.

To the Editor:

Thank you to the countless people who helped to support the fundraising efforts of the Dove Center over the past few weeks. The Festival of Trees at the Oakland Armory brought a new and exciting event to our community. The volunteers, donors, and sponsors made it possible to entertain people of all age groups. Santa held court for our youth, while adults were able to take home stunning trees, decorated with unique and exquisite themes.

While the event took many months of coordination, the positive results were well worth the efforts of all involved.

The Designer Clothing Sale thrilled shoppers who have a flair for fashion at a great price. The contributions of fabulous clothing delighted several hundred shoppers who acquired bags full of bargains. A special thank-you goes to Amy and Bob Rudy for donating their storefront.

The Dove Center has served 499 local clients in 2008, but the need for more space is vital. We've outgrown our office space and temporary shelter. Confidential counseling services provided through our outreach programs empower children and spouses of domestic violence. The intervention programs strive to stop the generational effects of anger, pain, and abuse for a family when violence of any kind is present in the home.

Serving as the board chair for the Dove Center has introduced me to many caring, committed, and wonderful people in many capacities. It is an honor and a privilege to live in such a great community.

Thank you to everyone who supports the Dove Center and every other social service that make this county a better place to live.

To the Editor:

Last week's editorial was right on.

To quote a friend of mine, "How is it that Alaska Gov. Sarah Palin was seen by many as unqualified to be vice president and Caroline Kennedy is considered by many of the same people to be the perfect potential senator?"

Oh, that's right, Sarah Palin was elected a city legislator, mayor of a city, and governor of the state of Alaska, and as a result might actually know something about delivery of governmental services to the citizen groups from which she was elected!

And Caroline Kennedy has been elected to what by her citizen peers?

JUST MOMENTS

How exactly did Christmas get here this year? It sneaked in and jumped on all of us with no warning, at least from what I can tell. What did it do? Catch an early flight? There I was, enjoying the fall days of, say, September I think, and then suddenly I was slogging around Wal-Mart trying to find a jingle gift for our office Christmas party, which was to start in a half hour. I don't know what happened to all those weeks in the middle. And I still feel like it should be September-ish, not nearly the end of December. Yeah, everyone says that — how fast time flies. But honestly, I think there is a glitch somewhere. Someone accidently hit some cosmic fast-forward button and here we are, facing 2009, just when we got used to writing '08 on our checks.

No matter how offended we might be at having to stay in step, we have no power over this freight train Time. So we must just hold on and steam ahead, I guess, trying to at least catch a glimpse of the scenery, enjoy a coupla quiet minutes here or there, and find the good things amidst a lot of bumpiness. After all, what else can we do?

Julie Adams is a singer who performs a lot on NPR and has been to Garrett County a number of times. One of her songs with the band Stark Raven is called "Moments," and I keep thinking of that tune as this life goes stampeding by. She says in the lilting song that it's all life is, just moments. And that is true. In the whole scheme of things, in the whole passage of time and logging of events, in all our struggles and achievements and losses, what else do we have but the moments? The moments are what make life livable. They often happen when nothing is planned, when it's just a regular time on a regular day, and there are not expectations. But then they happen, and they stay in our minds forever. They can be funny, poignant, warm, and/or, of course, fuzzy.

Moment: An impromptu talk with my 14-year-old as we made dinner together that ended up being a heart-to-heart, love-confirming discussion about drug-use, responsibility, and family, ending with a hug and "I love you, Mom," from my boy, who is so tall now that our hug has gone from me holding him to him holding me.

Moment: Watching my great-niece Lydia, who is all of 20 months old, suddenly understanding the art of being funny — rolling her eyes and looking to the sky, fed up with the antics of one of her cousins, and slapping her own tiny forehead in exasperation.

Moment: Resting on the couch and having two — count 'em — two cats curl up with me, purring and snuggly, their weight comfy against my leg and on my lap. Our couch is so worn out, it's an eyesore. But I know some folks don't even have a couch. And not everyone has sweet little pets who give comfort just by finding a warm place to sleep.

Moment: Decorating our Christmas tree with all three boys and realizing how they are growing up, partly evident from their more adult humor (I shan't expound on that, but we were all shamelessly busting a gut), but also from their height, their ever widening shoulders, their manner of speaking, and their comments on traditions and stuff we do as a family. I know very well that we will not always be together to trim our tree, but I can imagine the happy moments they may have with their own families someday, inspired by their childhood with us. Makes me tear up a little.

Moment: Seeing three deer standing in our back yard, casually munching apples while glancing around. I know, deer are everywhere. But they are graceful, attractive animals, and I love to see them just living their lives out there, undisturbed, right in my yard, in my little rural town, on this lovely mountaintop.

Moment: Listening to the wind howl outside, but feeling secure in our house, with a cheery fire in the fireplace and plenty of light and warmth. There's something so very comforting about hearing the wind and seeing the fine, sandy snow whip around out there, but being safe inside four sturdy walls.

Moment: Realizing one day recently that I am not very nervous anymore when Rob, my 16-almost-17-year-old son, drives the car while I ride shotgun. Being neurotic, I was dreading the day when the boys started driving. But Rob has been careful and seems to be alert most of the time. What a relief to stop gripping the sides of my seat and working hard to not suck air too loud. He doesn't really cause me to do that anymore. Whew.

Moment: Singing with friends, and making melodies and harmonies that are satisfying. Music is such a gift, such a human art. What a joy it is to explore and experience.

Moment: Sharing a traditional lunch with my husband as we crammed our Christmas shopping almost into one day last week, stopping to eat at Garfield's in Morgantown. Reaching across the table to hold hands for a second, we noted that this is our 23rd Christmas together. That's pretty good, considering how hard a relationship can be sometimes. There is something beautiful about knowing a person for that long, and still finding each other funny, and still reaching out to hold hands once in a while.

Just moments... They are worth living for, aren't they? I hope you have moments this Christmas season that will stay with you in your own journey on this crazy planet, where time seems to make leaps and bounds without our permission. We should all try to save up the good ones, and work to make more of them. Merry Christmas.

Hold Hearings

Glotfelty said the code would be so stringent that it could prevent residents and people working in the county from making simple repairs and doing business. He indicated that he would not approve the ordinance without some exceptions.

General contractor Eric Robison applauded the association's effort to establish an electrical ordinance, but made one request. He asked that when the fee structure is established, contractors be informed ahead of time so that they could include those costs in their project bids. He said in the past, contractors have been "caught off guard" by new fees and have had to absorb the costs.

Tim Klein, who holds a master HVAC license, suggested that homeowners and other lay persons be tested on their electrical knowledge before being issued a permit for their projects. He noted that other counties have this requirement.

Torrington said he has sent letters to all the county's municipalities to see if they want to join the permit program for electrical inspections. Only Accident and Mtn. Lake Park have responded favorably to the idea, he noted.

Holliday suggested that Torrington review the public hearing comments and put together a new draft. Holliday said the commissioners would look at that draft, then pass it along to the GCEMA for its review before making a final decision on the ordinance.

Copies of the current draft are available at the Garrett County Permits and Inspections Office, 2008 Maryland Highway, or at garrettcounty.org under Planning and Land Development – Permits and Inspections.

The purpose of the proposed local ag district ordinance is to screen and prequalify landowners eligible for participation in the Maryland Agricultural Land Preservation Easement Program. The ordinance would also enable district landowners to receive a local property tax credit.

Director John Nelson, Garrett County Department of Planning and Land Development, explained that the Maryland Department of Agriculture stopped processing applications for ag district formations throughout the state on July 1. Landowners are no longer required to be part of an ag district in order to join the easement program.

Nelson said, however, the Maryland Agriculture Land Preservation Foundation encouraged county officials to establish local ag districts and to continue offering tax credits to landowners who may want to join the state easement program.

During its last session, the General Assembly gave Garrett County enabling authority to adopt a local ordinance to form its own ag districts.

Nelson said the language and requirements in the proposed ordinance are very similar to what the state used to require for its districts. An area would have to be at least 50 acres, contain certain soil types, and be exempt from development in order to be considered a county ag district.

No one at the public hearing commented on the proposed ordinance. The document is available on the county's web site at garrettcounty.org.

Rise In Maryland's Crime Rate Blamed On Faltering Economy

by Michelle Zenarosa
Capital News Service

For the first time in seven years, crime rates in Maryland are increasing, and indicators point to the economy as the cause.

It is not a stretch to conclude that lean times can lead to more folks looking for alternative ways to make a quick buck, even if that means resorting to illegal activity, experts said.

"We're pretty safe to predict that if the economy tanks, you're going to experience some increases in crime," said Gary LaFree, crime expert and criminology professor at the University of Maryland. "That certainly happens more often than not. The more strain you put on the household, the more people tend to drink and the more they tend to get into mischief."

Maryland's crime rate historically shows increases during times of economic duress. During the 1980 to 1982 recession, breaking-and-entering crimes were higher than at any time since 1975, averaging more than 70,000 reported incidents, a Capital News Service analysis shows.

And to make matters worse, experts are saying that the recession, which began a year ago, shows evidence that the problems may deepen and continue longer than expected.

"The sort of extreme example is [Victor Hugo's] Les Miserables case, that stealing to feed your family case – I don't think it's usually that bleak, but if you have a choice between . . . working at no job or working a marginal job, crime starts to look like a more realistic alternative," LaFree said.

Crime rose 3 percent in the first six months of this year, according to the Maryland Uniform Crime Report, the result of continuing home foreclosures and increasing unemployment driving property crimes, domestic violence, and conspiracy fraud.

For example, in the first six months of 2008, breaking or entering increased 7 percent and larceny increased 6 percent, according to Maryland's Uniform Crime Report.

In Frederick County, for instance, reported thefts increased from 297 in 2007 to 338 in the first half of 2008, a jump of almost 14 percent, according to the UCR.

"While we know some of it is economy driven, it's really important to have that relationship with the community," said Cpl. Jennifer Bailey, spokeswoman for the Frederick County Police Department. "We're constantly trying to do public service announcements for people to keep their valuables locked up and not in plain view. Don't become an easy target, basically."

Thefts from autos, as well as the theft of scrap metal from autos and buildings, have increased this year in areas as diverse as Frederick County and Baltimore County.

Automobile catalytic converter thefts have more than doubled in Baltimore County, going from 125 in 2007 to 320 as of September 2008, while there's been a 22 percent increase in thefts from motor vehicles in general in the first three quarters of 2008 compared to the same time in 2007, according to data provided by the Baltimore County Police Department.

Catalytic converters are targeted for the small amounts of platinum found in them.

"That's become a very persistent problem everywhere," said Bill Toohey, spokesman for the Baltimore County Police, who does not believe that the numbers correlate with the bad economy.

Howard County Police also have seen significant increases in thefts of items from cars, such as Global Positioning System machines, laptops, and MP3 players.

"These are often crimes committed by people who are looking for valuable things to steal, and if your car doesn't offer those items, then you're less likely to be victimized," said Sherry Llewellyn, spokeswoman for the Howard County Police, advocating that drivers remove tempting items from a car when it is unattended.

Maryland State Police officials said they do not keep records of the number of identity thefts and fraud; however, state criminal defense and consumer lawyers report a surge in scam complaints.

"Unfortunately, with the economy being bad, more thieves are out there trying to find a way to make some money. In general, I can tell it has increased from phone calls to the office, requests for assistance from people who have unfortunately been scammed," said Sonya Smith-Valentine, a consumer attorney based in Greenbelt.

Beltsville criminal defense lawyer Brian Bregman said he has been experiencing a 30 to 40 percent increase in calls regarding credit card and ATM skimming scams in the last year. Bregman blames the increase on the economy.

Homeowners going through foreclosures are also vulnerable to foreclosure rescue scams, said Bregman and Phillip Robinson, executive director for Civil Justice, a nonprofit organization based in Baltimore providing legal services to low- and moderate-income clients.

In the scheme, a con artist tells a homeowner he can save his home from foreclosure. The con takes out a loan on the equity on the house, setting up a lease with the terms so high that the homeowner can't make the payments. By the time the homeowner realizes what has happened, the scam artist has already run away with thousands of dollars in equity.

However, the scam is not as easy to execute as it was eight months ago because Maryland enacted a law last session requiring lenders to investigate whether borrowers have the ability to repay the loan.

"There's going to be far fewer, but that doesn't mean there's not going to be another new scam. We just don't know what it is yet," Robinson said.

Smith-Valentine said the number of fraud scams have swelled because of the difficulty of pinning the fraud on or finding the perpetrator in order to prosecute.

"The increase has jumped more as the economy has started to go down," Smith-Valentine said. "It was on an incline, but the incline just got steeper. The increase seems to be happening faster."

A COLD, BUT SUCCESSFUL DAY – The House of Hope held its 30th annual food drive on Saturday, Dec. 13, in front of Proudfoot's Oakland Pharmacy, and although it was a cold day, reaching a high of only 36 degrees, it was a successful day. "This was one of the best years," said Charles Nolan, HOH food drive chairman. "This was by far the largest amount of food ever donated; the truck was overflowing." HOH collected approximately $3,500 in cash donations as well as an abundance of food. Pictured above are food drive volunteers, front row, left to right, Dan Clark, Elliot DiGiola, Dylan DiGiola, and J.D. Welch. Back row, left to right, are Joel Dixon, Arthur Lake, Sister Johanna, Brenda Reckner, Andrew Clark, Connor Bosley, Nolan, and Terry King from WKHJ. AURORA/EGLON

AURORA CEOS DINNER

The Aurora Community Education Outreach Service members met for their annual Christmas dinner at Donna Jean's Restaurant in Aurora. Santa tree gifts were brought in, and it was determined that the January 13 meeting of the club will be held at 1 p.m. at the home of Wilda Harsh. There were a total of nine members and six guests in attendance for the evening meal. Those attending were Mary Jane and Lorain Hanline, Opal and Ben Myers, Martha Bolyard, Ressie and Bill Conrad, Wilda and Dale Harsh, Dean and Scott Sisler, Pat Stemple, Jeannie Whitehair, and Dee and Keith Douglas.

PERSONAL

Peggy Arnold and her son, Walter Arnold, were able to leave Cortland Acres Nursing Home and return to their home in Parsons on Dec. 19. Both were injured in an August vehicle accident and required care at both the hospital and rehab situations. Peggy is able to walk again with the help of a walker.

Gary Feather, Eglon, underwent outpatient surgery last week at Garrett County Memorial Hospital, while at the same time several others from the area were in for outpatient diagnostic tests, as well as other surgeries.

Mark and LaDeana Teets, Amboy, were visited by their sons, Tom Teets and wife Jennifer, Alexandria, Va., and Lindsey Teets, Savannah, Ga. Mark has not been well and is unable to do his farm work.

The body of Olonzo P Fike, 92, who died Dec. 12, 2008, at Normandie Ridge Nursing Home, York, Pa., was brought to Eglon on Sunday, Dec. 21, for a service with burial at Aurora Cemetery.

He was a son of the late Emra T. and Rebecca (Umbel) Fike and lived much of his life in Preston and Garrett counties. He was also preceded in death by his wife, Ardith Wotring Fike; and three sisters, Bertha Whitacre, Loretta Diehl, and Lottie Kight.

The service was conducted at Maple Spring Church of the Brethren, with the Rev. J. Rogers Fike and Rev. Gary Meeks officiating.

His children were present for the ceremony, twins John Fike and wife Romain, Gettysburg, Pa., and Evangeline Turner, York, Pa. Also in attendance were his grandson, many nieces and nephews, his wife's sisters, Evelyn and Arva, and several other family members.

Pastor Gary and Bonnie Meeks invited their congregation at the Maple Spring Church of the Brethren to an open house at the parsonage last Saturday, Dec. 20.

New Year's Eve Service Scheduled Near Terra Alta

White Oak Church will hold a special New Year's Eve service on Wednesday, Dec. 31, featuring local gospel singers Chester and Isolena Gaither.

The event will begin with a fellowship covered-dish dinner at 5 p.m. Singing and worship will follow.

The church is located four miles from Terra Alta along Cranesville Road. For more information, persons may call 301-616-6646.

Terra Alta VFW To Host New Year's Eve Dance

The Terra Alta VFW, located along Washington Avenue, will host a New Year's Eve Dance from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.

Music will be provided by Bo's Bandits. There will be food available. The cost is $10 per person.

PC Literacy Group To Hold Beginning Quilting Classes

The Preston County Literacy Volunteers and Wesley United Methodist Church are sponsoring a beginning quilting course. Some basic sewing materials will be needed.

Classes are free and will be held Thursdays, Jan. 8, 15, 22, and 29, and Feb. 5 and 12, from 1 until 3 p.m. at the church, located along High Street in Kingwood.

The course is designed for beginners and adult non-high school graduates, but others are welcome to attend.

Students will learn about using a rotary cutter and how to machine quilt in sections to complete a "Log Cabin" quilt.

This project is designed as a way to help Preston County residents learn a potential job skill, team building skills, learn to problem solve and trouble shoot, and gain self-esteem through the art of making quilts and crafts.

The class size is limited to 12 participants. For more information, persons may contact Vicki Graham at 304-329-2626 or vltgraham@netscape.net, or Janet Collins at 304-864-7306 or collins1234@frontiernet.net.

Pre-registration is required. To register, persons may contact Literacy Volunteers at 304-296-3400 or MCLV1@comcast.net.

Computer Literacy Course Slated At Kingwood Library

The Preston County Literacy Volunteers, a United Way agency, will offer a free computer literacy and training course on Mondays. Classes will be held on Jan. 5, 12, 19, and 26, and Feb. 2, from 6 to 8 p.m. at the Kingwood Public Library.

Community volunteer Karen Koehnlein will be the instructor. The course will use the "Beginner Computer" curriculum. The $10 manual fee is underwritten by a grant from the Dollar General Foundation.

Participants will learn how to property turn on and off the computer; how to use and navigate with the mouse; how to create, edit, save, and print a Word document; and gain knowledge in how to use Windows. There will be a pre-test and a post-test.

Class size is limited to eight students. Pre-registration is required. Persons are asked to call 304-296-3400 to register.

Hay And Pasture Conferences Set; One In Salisbury

Hay growers, dairy and livestock producers, and those who work with these producers can get the latest information on forage management and costs of production at a series of three 2009 Hay and Pasture conferences to be held in Delaware, Maryland, and Pennsylvania. Dates and locations are as follows:

•Delmarva Hay and Pasture Conference: January 6 at the Delaware State Fairgrounds in Harrington, Del.;

•Tri-State Hay and Pasture Conference: January 8 at the Salisbury fire hall, Salisbury, Pa.

All three conferences will feature speakers Marvin Hall, professor of forage management at Penn State, and Gordon Groover, Extension economist for farm management at Virginia Tech.

"Both are very popular speakers in the Mid-Atlantic region, bringing not only a common sense approach to hay and pasture management and reducing costs of production, but also new and innovative ideas for improving forage production and economics," said a spokesperson for the conferences.

Among the topics Groover and Hall will cover at all three conferences are "What You Don't Know About the Growth of Forage Plants Will Hurt You" and "What Does That Bale of Hay Really Cost?"

"With the premature loss of many hay and pasture stands in recent years and the increased cost of fertilizer and other inputs, these topics are very timely and should be of great interest," says Dr. Les Vough, forage crops Extension specialist emeritus at the University of Maryland College of Agriculture and Natural Resources.

"Volatile prices and uncertain markets lead farm business managers to ask lots of questions," Vough adds – questions such as: Is nitrogen too expensive to use? Should I just use clover? What's the value of that bale of hay or that paddock of fescue? Should I cross-fence that field? Should I buy a new baler?

According to Groover, the answer to all is, "It depends." Understanding what it depends on will help farmers and livestock produces make informed decisions in response to market place uncertainties.

In addition to the presentations by Hall and Groover, which also will cover "Selecting the Best Forage Variety When Seed Prices Are High" and "To Hay or Not to Hay?" (an economic analysis of the cost of making hay vs. extending the grazing season), conference topics at the Salisbury gathering will include: nutrient management for low-cost hay production, and on-farm nutrient cycling.

The Tri-State conference will also include trade shows. Certified crop advisor and pesticide and nutrient management certification credits will be offered for all conferences.

Details about the Tri-State conference can be found online at http://www.mdforages.umd.edu or through local county Extension and NRCS/Soil Conservation District offices in Pennsylvania, West Virginia, and the northwestern region of Maryland. Registration will be $16 per person by January 2 or $20 at the door. Checks should be made payable to Garrett EAC and sent to Willie Lantz, Garrett County Extension Office, 1916 Maryland Highway, Suite A, Mtn. Lake Park, MD 21550 (telephone: 301-334-6960).

Ag Foundation Holding Annual Calendar Contest

The Maryland Agricultural Education Foundation (MAEF) is conducting its third annual Agriculture in Maryland Calendar Poster Contest. The contest is open to all public, private, and home-schooled students in grades kindergarten through 12.

Eighteen students will receive a $50 cash award, and their art work will be featured in the 16-month 2009-2010 Maryland Agricultural Education Foundation calendar and posted on MAEF's web site.

This contest allows Maryland students to use their artistic talents to share their understanding of the diversity of Maryland agriculture and the impact agriculture has on residents' daily lives.

The entry deadline is May 1, 2009. To obtain an entry form and/or more information, persons may visit the MAEF web site, maefonline.com, or e-mail cwilliams@maefonline.com.

OPEN SEASON FOR FARM REVENUE INSURANCE IN WEST VIRGINIA

Adjusted Gross Revenue Lite (AGR-Lite) insurance for farmers and ranchers is again being offered in all West Virginia counties for 2009, according to the Raleigh Regional Office of the USDA Risk Management Agency. The application deadline is March 16, 2009. Current AGR-Lite policyholders also have until February 2 to make any changes to existing contracts. Unlike traditional crop insurance guarantees based on yields, AGR-Lite provides a guarantee against a significant decline in overall farm income from the average of the most recent five years (2003–2007). As a result of substantial premium subsidies provided by the USDA, AGR-Lite can be a very affordable way to guarantee an income flow from one's farm operation.

AGR-Lite, which covers livestock, has a limitation of $1,000,000 in coverage. AGR-Lite offers certain features not available under the regular AGR program. For example, farmers and ranchers who derive more than 35 percent of their income from animals or animal products may be eligible for coverage under AGR-Lite. In addition, farmers and ranchers will not be required to purchase individual crop insurance policies in addition to AGR-Lite; however, they may obtain such additional protection if they so desire.

Farmers and ranchers are strongly urged to contact a local crop insurance agent, as soon as possible, for more information and premium quotes for the product. For a list of crop insurance agents, farmers and ranchers may contact their local USDA Farm Service Agency office or log on to the following Risk Management Agency web site: http://www3.rma.usda.gov/tools/agents/.

MILK INCOME LOSS CONTRACT PROGRAM SIGN-UP UNDER WAY

USDA's Farm Service Agency announced that enrollment in the Milk Income Loss Contract (MILC) Program began December 22 and will continue through the program's expiration date of September 30, 2012.

The 2008 Farm Bill reauthorizes the MILC Program, which operates similarly to the Counter-Cyclical Payment Program for crops, and makes three key changes in the program operation. Under the 2008 Farm Bill, the MILC payment rate and the per-operation poundage limit are modified, depending on when the milk is produced. In addition, a "feed cost adjuster" is introduced over the life of the 2008 Farm Bill, which adjusts the $16.94 per hundredweight (cwt.) benchmark price upward depending on the cost of feed rations. When available, MILC payments are based on a payment rate percentage that is multiplied by the difference between a now-flexible target ($16.94 per cwt. or higher) and the specific month's Boston Class 1 price of milk.

USDA's Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) issues MILC payments on an operation-by-operation basis up to a maximum of 2.4 million pounds of milk produced and marketed (about 120 cows) from October 1, 2007, through September 30, 2008. The production limit per operation increases to 2.985 million pounds (about 145 cows) for each fiscal year from October 1, 2008, through August 31, 2012. The production limitation reverts back to the original limit of 2.4 million pounds per fiscal year in September 2012.

The 2008 Farm Bill adjusts the trigger price of $16.94 per cwt., depending on the extent to which feed costs increase. The feed cost adjustment takes effect when the monthly National Average Dairy Feed Ration Cost (calculated from the "entire month" prices published by the National Agricultural Statistics Service) is greater than $7.35 per cwt. beginning January 1, 2008, through August 31, 2012. Calculations from January 1, 2008, through August 31, 2012, will be made at 45 percent of the percentage that the National Average Dairy Feed Ration Cost exceeds $7.35 per cwt.

Beginning with Fiscal Year 2009 marketings, which started October 1, 2008, the 2008 Farm Bill made changes to the provisions for payment eligibility to add an adjusted gross income (AGI) limit. If the individual or entity has an annual non-farm AGI for the relevant base period greater than $500,000, the individual or entity is not eligible for MILC payments. The base period will be set pursuant to AGI regulations yet to be issued. That rule will also define what is considered to be non-farm income.

During the enrollment period, participating dairy operations must select the month of the fiscal year to start receiving payments for eligible production. Producers submitting a contract application within 30 days of the beginning of the application period can select any preceding month as a start date. Producers submitting contract applications after January 21, 2009, will not have the option of selecting an earlier month as a payment start month for the dairy operation for a fiscal year; and will be limited to applicable start month selection rules. Those general rules are that the start month must either be the month the contract is submitted or some later month. Changes in the month may be made from year to year so long as the designation is made by the 14th of the month proceeding the new start month. Pound limits run from the start month and all pounds for which payment is received count against the limit for that fiscal year.

Eligible dairy producers are those who commercially produce milk in the United States. To receive program approval, producers must enter into a MILC contract with CCC and provide monthly milk marketing data. All payments in the program are subject to limits in the contract, regulations, and to changes in statutory provisions for payment.

For additional information on the MILC Program or to enroll, interested producers may visit the Preston County FSA office, located in the Corner Mall of the Kingwood Plaza, or telephone the office at 304-329-1923. Office hours are Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. (except federal holidays).

Real Estate Facts by...

BRING IT ON HOME!

Buyers and sellers develop a natural sense of excitement as a transaction's closing date nears. While most aspects should run smoothly, it's wise to be prepared for unexpected delays. Anticipating potential problems before they develop could save untold time and stress.

One pitfall might be the title search. The title is simply legal proof of a property's ownership, but issues such as death, divorce, and liens can cloud the final result. Your REALTOR® can point you to a Real Estate Attorney for help.

Financing can also present snags. If the buyers can't qualify for a loan, the deal falls through. Buyers should begin their mortgage education well in advance of their home search, and sellers should ask a price in line with the home's appraised value. If the appraisal is much lower than the contract price, the lender will likely reject the loan application.

The best situation for buyers (and sellers) is to have a loan pre-approval in hand. It starts with the loan officer performing a review of the buyer's credit, income, and asset v. liability status. A letter of pre-approval should indicate exactly how much home a buyer can afford, and should put sellers more at ease with pre-qualified buyers.

There are myriad aspects to closing the deal, so go over each item thoroughly with your real estate representative and develop your plan of action! If you are thinking of buying or selling a home but feel "out of touch" with real estate, give me a call today.

FSU Calls For Environmental Photo Entries

The Environmental Planning and Land Management Institute at Frostburg State University is calling for photographic entries for its sixth annual Environmental Photography Contest, with submissions being accepted from Monday, Jan. 5, to Friday, April 10, until the deadline at 4 p.m.

The institute is a joint venture between FSU's department of geography and the Maryland Bureau of Mines, Maryland Department of the Environment.

The competition is open to any amateur photographer over 11 years old who lives, works, or attends school in Allegany or Garrett counties.

There are three place winners for the contest each year as well as an award for "the people's choice," which gives the public the opportunity to vote in person or on the Internet for their favorite photography from the 20 finalists.

Images should depict environmental or natural habitat scenes from either county that reflect the "environmental beauty that defines western Maryland." Photographs should be 8 by 10 inches, matted, and can be in black and white or color. Participants may submit no more than three photographs.

Entry forms may be obtained from the FSU department of geography/Bureau of Mines Lab or from the Institute's web site at www.frostburg.edu/dept/geog/einstitute. Entries can be delivered to Gunter Hall, Room 201, or Dunkle Hall, Room 307, on the FSU campus.

For additional information, persons may call Gale Yutzy at 301-687-4369 or MaryLynn Pegg at 301-687-4721.

FSU is committed to making all of its programs, services, and activities accessible to persons with disabilities. To request accommodations through the ADA Compliance Office, persons may call 301-687-4102 or use a voice relay operator at 1-800-735-2258.

PAWS TO PROTECT
by Sharon Sakson
c. 2008, Alyson Books, $24.95, 288 pages
Review by Terri Schlichenmeyer

One of your co-workers is a fool. He's always bragging about his mutt, some cur that's supposedly in high demand for pretty much everything. Listening to this guy, you'd think his dog was a descendant of Einstein or Galileo, or had graduated from Harvard. It's blah blah blah all day long, like that fleabag invented the wheel or something.

Poor deluded fool. You have to feel sorry for him. He thinks his dog is so great, but everybody knows that the Smartest Dog in the World lives in your house.

But can your dog do more than just bark at pizza deliverers and keep the sofa warm? In the new book Paws to Protect by Sharon Sakson, you'll meet dogs that work, fight, sleuth, and protect.

Ever since the first canine slinked toward a campfire and barked a warning, dogs have worked with humans. Author Sharon Sakson says we'd be living in a different world if it hadn't been for dogs. Legend says that Alexander the Great had a greyhound by his side, Attila the Hun used giant hounds in battle, Napoleon was supposedly saved from drowning by a Newfie, and nearly every important American skirmish included dogs on the battlefield.

Sakson tells the story of Stubby, a Staffordshire terrier who followed his master in battle and saved his battalion several times. One meeting with mustard gas almost end-ed Stubby's life, but the dog went on to become the most decorated canine war hero and Georgetown University's first football mascot.

Many of the stories Sakson presents are of brave German shepherds and Belgian Malinois on the battlefield. Years ago, those most loyal soldiers were often betrayed by the military, but lately, government officials are making sure the right thing is done both for the dog and for the soldier who loves him. And before you think "large" when you think of a working or military dog, be sure to read the story of the Yorkie who helped save lives during World War II.

Dogs work to catch criminals, find missing people and objects, and bring home our dead. To protect ourselves, we've learned to use a dog's ever-watchful eyes, his keen hearing, and his extraordinary nose.

We've also learned to take advantage of his huge heart. Have you been whining about a lack of things to read this winter? Then grab this book and chomp into it. You won't be sorry.

Although author Sharon Sakson offers a slightly unbalanced collection of stories (many military dog accounts but surprisingly few other protecting-dog tales), this book is still an irresistible treat for animal lovers, particularly those of the canine variety.

Some of Sakson's true stories are warm and fuzzy. Others will make you howl with outrage and will make you dog your Congressman until laws are changed. Most will make you proud, and at least one of them will bring tears to your eyes.

If you've been scratching around for a good book to read, chase this one down. For dog lovers, Paws to Protect is a tail-wagger, for sure.

The Festival of Trees committee thanks the many dedicated, hard-working volunteers, the generous sponsors, businesses, vendors and individuals for their contributions to the Festival of Trees. These wonderful people donated their time, talent and money to create all the delightfully decorated trees, wreaths, cakes, gingerbread houses, displays, foods, and the wonderful children's activities.

The atmosphere was aglow with all the lights and good cheer of local families, friends and out-of-town visitors who brought their families and friends. We thank you all for making this a truly memorable event that we can look forward to enjoying with your support again next year.

Submitted by Derrica Friend

The Snowy Creek 4-H Club met December 14 for its annual Christmas dinner. Eighteen members, 14 adults, and one guest were present.

Awards were presented and officers were installed for the 2009 club year. Perfect-attendance awards were given to Brianna and Rileigh Lowdermilk, Toby Grove, Austin and Colby Lowdermilk, and Derrica and Kendra Friend.

The date and location of the next meeting will be determined by the club leader, and members will be contacted.

Adorable Adoptables

TWO BLACK LABS ARE AVAILABLE for adoption this week at the Garrett County Animal Shelter. "They could probably fit under your Christmas tree since they are not very tall," said a Humane Society spokesperson. "One is shorthaired, and one is longhaired." She also noted that there are so many cats are available at the shelter that there is not enough room on this page to fit all of their photos. Those available include longhaired, shorthaired, big, small, tabbies, and torties all ages. Additionally, none of last week's featured dogs were reclaimed or adopted. "One new dog was adopted this week, but the shelter is fuller than ever with homeless animals," the spokesperson said. "Note: please consider your outside pets during the frigid weather. The shelter received dozens of calls about animals without adequate shelter or water. Do not let puppies, thin-furred dogs, small dogs, or very old dogs outside in cold weather. If you let your other dogs outside, please provide a warm doghouse, bedding, and fresh water at least twice a day." For more information, persons may call the animal shelter at 301-334-3553. The shelter will be closed from Christmas eve until Monday, Dec. 29.

State Expands Pharmacy Progs. To Meet Demand.

by Karisse Carmack
Capital News Service

Maryland's state schools are working to meet an increasing demand for pharmacists, officials said.

There already is a high demand for more pharmacists, and that's expected to increase in 2020, said Howard Schiff, executive director of the Maryland Pharmacists Association.

Anne Burns, vice president of professional affairs at the American Pharmacists Association, agrees that the profession has seen rising demand in the past 10 years.

Fueling the need for pharmacists are that more pharmacists are called into clinical roles, more patients are receiving treatment outside hospitals, and the numbers of prescriptions being filled is increasing, Burns said.

Enrollment in pharmacy programs has jumped 40 percent in recent years, Schiff said, and several higher learning institutions in the state have begun creating pharmacy degree programs.

The University of Maryland at Baltimore is expanding its Pharmacy Hall, with construction expected to be completed by fall 2010.

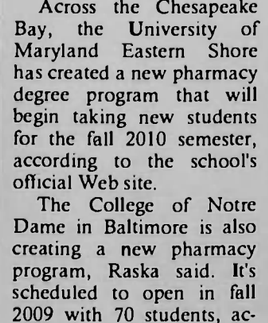
Across the Chesapeake Bay, the University of Maryland Eastern Shore has created a new pharmacy degree program that will begin taking new students for the fall 2010 semester, according to the school's official Web site.

The College of Notre Dame in Baltimore is also creating a new pharmacy program, Raska said. It's scheduled to open in fall 2009 with 70 students, according to its Web site, which also said the school is working toward accreditation.

According to the Bureau of Labor Statistics, the demand for new pharmacists is "expected to increase much faster than the average by 2016," according to the federal Web site. The number of individuals entering the profession is projected to increase by 22 percent between 2006 and 2016, according to the agency.

The increase in the elderly population, which uses more medications, is contributing to this demand, Schiff said.

In terms of salary, median annual wage for pharmacists in May 2006 was $94,520.



The births of two babies were announced this week, both girls.

A daughter, Julie Ann, was born to Jamie and Grace (Glotfelty) Bolyard, Friendsville, on Dec. 8 at Ruby Memorial Hospital in Morgantown, W.Va. The maternal grandparents are Mary and Dave Glotfelty, Friendsville, and the paternal grandparents are Darrell and Debbie Bolyard, Swanton.

A daughter, Evelynn Rose, was born to Allen (Jr.) and Jennifer (Shaffer) Moreland, Oakland, on Dec. 12 at Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

OF LASTING IMPORTANCE
Hearing instrument users often want to know how long their instruments will last. As is the case with many things, preventive maintenance plays a significant role. That is to say that the most common repairs required by hearing instruments involve dirt and debris that block the microphones and receivers. Thus, the best way for wearers to avoid the majority of repairs is to review the maintenance procedures with the hearing specialist at the time of purchase. By learning how to keep their instruments clean and dry, etc., wearers can expect to enjoy many years of use. For the most part, the better consumers take care of these sophisticated pieces of hardware, the better the instruments will take care of them.
In order for you to receive the full benefit of your hearing aid, our relationship with you merely begins with its custom fitting. At AUDIBEL, we will also advise you on how to care for it; we'll inspect it periodically to be sure it is operating properly; and we'll provide repairs, adjustments, and access to batteries and other accessories you may need. In short, we are a full service hearing healthcare center.
P.S. To get the most out of their hearing instruments, users are encouraged to master battery replacement procedures, including anticipating their expiration and having replacements readily on hand.

Rams Continue To Struggle; Drop Games To Keyser, BW

The Southern High School boys' varsity basketball team was edged, 59-53, by visiting Keyser last Friday, and in last night's game against host Bishop Walsh, the Rams fell hard with a 56-29 defeat.

Against Keyser on Friday, Southern trailed by one point, 16-15, at the end of the first period and then allowed a six-point margin by halftime, putting the score at 30-24. The Rams came back in the third quarter, outscoring the Golden Tornados, 9-15, and tying the score 39-39 leading into the fourth.

Dan Shockey scored a team-high 14 points and had nine rebounds for the Rams, and teammates Scott Livengood and Chris Schad each added 10 points.

Three Keyser players finished with double-doubles. Jeremy Green scored a game-high 15 points. Preston Hartman and Maverick Nelson each scored 13 points for the Golden Tornados, with Hartman also achieving a game-high 11 rebounds. Green and Nelson also each had 10 rebounds.

The junior varsity game went in favor of Keyser with a 45-42 first game win over Southern's jayvees. R.C. Pratt was the lead scorer, recording 19 points for the Golden Tornados.

In the varsity game against Bishop Walsh last night, Southern was unable to grab more than six points by the end of the first quarter, and were down 26-15 by the half. The Rams trailed 40-20 at the end of the third period.

Chris Schad led Southern with nine points.

The Spartans were carried by Myles Clifford's 11 points. Teammate Kamran Khataian added 10 points and four assists. Dylan D'Atri had a Bishop Walsh team-high 11 rebounds.

In the first game, the Spartan jayvees edged out the junior varsity Rams, 58-54. Joe Kisselovich was the top scorer for Southern with 28 points. Devin Hawley had 18 for BW.

Southern will host Huntingtown, Scott, and Smithsburg during its Snowball Classic on Monday, Dec. 29, and Tuesday, Dec. 30.

Huskies Fall To 2-3 With Losses To Spartans, Falcons

Matt Gibson scored 16 points for the Northern High School varsity boys' basketball team Thursday night, but it wasn't enough to carry the Huskies past Bishop Walsh as they fell 68-63 in Cumberland. The Huskies were also defeated by Frankfort, 54-50, on Monday in Short Gap.

In Thursday's game against Bishop Walsh, Northern trailed by five points at the end of the first quarter, but were able to tie the score, 31-31, by halftime. The Huskies held a one-point difference going into the fourth, 45-44.

Also scoring in double figures for the Huskies besides Gibson were Garret Rayner and Thomas Holtschnieder, with Rayner collecting 14 points and Holtschnieder scoring 10.

The Spartans were led by Myles Clifford, who led with a game-high 22 points and five rebounds. BW's Kamran Khataian was close behind with 17 and seven assists, and Dylan D'Atri had 15 points and seven rebounds.

The Bishop Walsh jayvees also came away with a 61-49 first game win against Northern's junior varsity.

During Monday's varsity game against Frankfort, Northern's Ed Herpel scored a game-high 30 points, hitting seven of 10 of the Huskies' 3-pointers.

At the end of the first quarter, the Huskies trailed by seven points, 19-12. The Falcons held a 30-21 halftime lead, and were on top 42-27 going into the fourth quarter.

Leading Frankfort was Dusty Meyers with 12 points, and Darian Martz close behind with 11. Travis Meyers had 10 points and also finished with a team-high eight rebounds.

The Falcon junior varsity also won the first game, 51-38, over the Northern jayvees. J.P. Twigg led the Falcons with 13 points. Tyler Wilt and Cody Humbertson had nine each for the Huskies.

Northern (2-2) will travel for the Berlin Christmas Tournament, which is a two-day tournament to be held this Saturday and next Monday, Dec. 29.

Star Christmas Tournament, which is scheduled to be held this Saturday and Monday.

Ram Grapplers Crush Raiders For Fourth Win

With most of their points coming on forfeits, the undefeated Southern High School wrestling team coasted to a 58-15 win over visiting Meyersdale on Saturday.

The only pin victory recorded for the Rams was that of Josh Arnold in the 130-pound division, while Lex Ozias (135), Nicholas Brant (140), and Ryan Bennett (215) were all winners on points.

Rams receiving forfeit wins were Davey Stewart (112), Matt Slone (125), Brutus Scheffel (145), Bubba Scheffel (152), Jordan Skipper (160), Kody Lewis (171), and Dale Marple (189).

Recording pins for the Red Raiders were Stephen McKenzie (103) and James Kerr (285).

The Rams, who are 4-0 in dual meets and won the Max Horz Invitational tourney at Berkeley Springs, will wrestle again next Monday and Tuesday in the Wheeling (W.Va.) Park Dual Tournament, another highly competitive event that will feature 36 teams.

SHOOT-OUT WINNERS MOVE ON TO MID-ATLANTIC CONTEST – Several local soccer players have participated in a series of "shoot-out" contests, and three will now move on to a Mid-Atlantic contest. Pictured are youngsters who won the Oakland Elks Lodge #2481 Soccer Shoot-Out, held in the fall, and advanced to the regional competition in Hagerstown. From there the regional winners competed in Ocean City in the Maryland, Delaware, and the District of Columbia Elks Association Championship. Shown from left are Peyton Missimer, son of Chris and Shelley Missimer, Boys U-8, first place winner in Oakland, Hagerstown, and Ocean City; Kaylee Green, daughter of Phil and Cindy Green, Girls U-8, first place in Oakland and Hagerstown, third place in Ocean City; Nathaniel Longest, son of Tim and Denise Longest, Boys U-14, first place in Oakland, second place in Hagerstown, and first place in Ocean City; Alicia Roth, daughter of Jason and Becky Roth, Girls U-14, first place in Oakland, Hagerstown, and Ocean City; and Courtney Roth, daughter of Jason and Becky Roth, Girls U-10, first place in Oakland and second place in Hagerstown. Missimer, Roth, and Longest will represent the Maryland, Delaware, and District of Columbia Elks Association at the Mid-Atlantic Soccer Contest, to be held in Carlisle, Pa., in March 2009.

Northern Youth Wrestling Squad Begins Season

The Northern Garrett County Youth Wrestling Team opened its season on Saturday by competing in a tournament in Hyndman, Pa.

Kody Osselburn captured first place in the age 11/12, 95-pound division, while Justin Opel was the runner-up in the 11/12, 85-pound division, and Marco Howard was second in the 9/10, 70-pound division.

Northern team members garnering third places were: Josh Thomas, 6/under, 48 pounds; Brady Bittinger, 9/10, 90; Ryan Weimer, 9/10, 110; and Lane Rounds, 11/12, 80.

Garrett County Wrestling Alumni Night Scheduled

All Garrett County high school alumni wrestlers are invited to attend the Northern-Southern wrestling match on Saturday, Jan. 3.

Northern High School started its wrestling program in 1966, according to head coach Scott Stough, so this is the 43rd year for NHS wrestling.

All former NHS and SHS wrestlers will be recognized by the decade in which they wrestled, before the match begins at 6:30. Followmg the match, light refreshments will be served in the cafeteria for new and former wrestlers.

"Garrett County has a strong tradition in producing top-quality wrestlers," said Coach Stough.

The Huskies will also induct Mr. and Mrs. Delos Carpenter into the Husky Wrestling Hall of Fame that evening.

"They have been a great supporters of the wrestling program for over 30 years," said Stough, who said that he hopes to have a large turnout of alumni, fans, parents, and grandparents to honor the Carpenters for all they have done for the sport of wrestling in Garrett County.

Deer Harvest Strong; 2,548 Taken In GC

Maryland deer hunters continucd a successful 2008-09 deer season with an unofficial harvest of 44,802 deer during the recent two-week firearm season. The harvest represents a very slight decline compared to last year's official harvest of 44,913 deer for the same period.

The antlered harvest of 15,695 deer (474 sika deer) was down 2 percent compared to 16,018 antlered deer (443 sika deer) takcn last year. This year's antlerless harvest of 29,107 deer (570 sika deer) was a 1 percent increase over the 28,787 deer (493 sika deer) taken last year.

"It is encouraging to see the strong harvest we experienced early in the season continue through firearm season, particularly for antlerless deer," said Wildlife and Heritage Service Deer Project leader Brian Eyler. "Antlerless deer harvest remains our best tool to ensure successful deer population control."

Hunters in Region A (Garrett and Allegany counties) reported 4,822 deer during the two-week season, a 5 percent increase compared to last year's official harvest of 4,594 deer. The Region A antlered harvest decreased 7 percent from 2,899 deer last year to 2,699 deer this year, while the antlerless harvest increased 25 percent from 1,695 deer last year to 2,123 deer this year.

Garrett County reported a total of 2,548 deer harvested, including 1,374 antlered and 1,174 antlerless. There were 225 deer taken on the junior firearm hunt day.

In neighboring Allegany County, a total of 2,274 deer were harvested.

In Region B, the two-week firearm harvest decreased 1 percent from 40,319 deer last year to 39,980 deer this year. The antlered harvest decreased from 13,162 deer last year to 12,996 this year (-1%), while the antlerless harvest decreased from 27,157 to 26,984 deer this year (-1%).

While the weather cooperated for much of the two-week firearm season, junior firearm hunters were not so lucky. The junior firearm deer hunt on November 15 was plagued with rain across much of the state. Junior hunters bagged an unofficial 1,526 deer, down 31 percent from last year's official total of 2,211 deer. Junior hunters harvested 907 antlered deer and 619 antlerless deer this year, compared to 1,237 antlered deer and 974 antlerless deer last year.

Junior hunters may obtain an official DNR Junior Hunter Certificate for deer that they harvest this year. The certificates are available from participating retail agents. Junior hunters can also have their picture posted on the DNR web site by visiting www.dnr.state.md.us/huntersguide/Junior_Hunters/md_jr_hunter.asp.

Maryland's two-week late muzzleloader season opened Saturday, Dec. 20 and will close Saturday, Jan 3.

Complete bag limits, season dates, and other hunting information can be found online at www.dnr.maryland.gov/huntersguide. The 2008-2009 Maryland Guide to Hunting & Trapping issued with each hunting license contains detailed information about all of Maryland's hunting seasons.

"Contrary to concerns expressed, the county roads department will not reduce or cut back winter operations, and public safety on all county roads will remain a priority," Pagenhardt said.

ARMED SERVICES REVIEW

U.S. Air Force Tech. Sgt. Benjamin E. Reeves has graduated from the Air Force Noncommissioned Officer (NCO) Academy at Tyndall Air Force Base, Panama City, Fla.

The graduate received instruction in advanced military leadership management theories and responsibilities, oral and written communications skills, and physical fitness fundamentals. He performed as a supervisor to learn behavior concepts, problem solving, and counseling techniques relative to the Air Force mission and organization.

The sergeant learned to orient new service members in the principles, practices, and tools necessary to function in the Air Force.

Sgt. Reeves, an integrated avionics systems test superintendent with 17 years of military service, is assigned to the 18th Flight Test Squadron, Hurlburt Field, Fort Walton Beach, Fla. He is the son of Arden and Loretta Reeves, Mountain Lake Park. His wife Amanda is the daughter of Sonny and Carolyn Hart of Sonny Drive, Florala, Ala.

Reeves is a 1991 graduate of Southern Garrett High School.

Garrett County SKIES

By Dr. Bob Doyle
Frostburg State Planetarium

JANUARY SUN – In early January, the sun rises in Oakland about 7:38 a.m. and sets about 5:05 p.m. During January, the sun appears to drift across the star group Sagittarius, and enters Capricornus on January 19, where it stays through mid-February. As January draws to a close, Oakland and surroundings will have sunrises about 7:25 a.m. and sunsets about 5:35 p.m. So the daily ration of sunlight grows more than 40 minutes in January (from 9.5 to 10.2 hours).

JANUARY MOON – In early January the moon is seen in the southwestern dusk as a skinny crescent, appearing above and to the left of the brilliant planet Venus. On the evening of January 4, the evening moon appears half full, resembling a tilted letter "D". This is the best time of the month to see the lunar craters and mountains, for along the moon's straight edge, the sun there is rising, lighting up the crater rims and mountains peaks. The evening moon grows to full on January 10. As the moon reaches its minimum distance from Earth earlier in the day, this full moon will be brighter than most full moons. On this day the full moon will rise before sunset and hang in the sky for nearly 15 hours, setting after sunrise. The moon then slips away into the morning sky, rising about more than an hour later each night. Late in the evening of January 14, the moon will appear near the bright planet Saturn. After mid-January, the moon will be rising after midnight and can be conveniently viewed at dawn or in the early daylight hours. The moon is "new" on January 26, shifting from the morning to the evening side of the sun. On January 28, the moon may again be seen low in the southwestern dusk below the brilliant planet Venus. On the next two nights, the moon will appear near Venus in the early evening.

JANUARY PLANETS – There are two evening planets, brilliant Venus in the southwestern dusk and the planet Saturn low in the late evening eastern sky. Both planets shine steadily, not twinkling as the night stars. At dawn, the planet Saturn can be seen high in the south. At the end of January, the planet Mercury may be seen low in the southeast in the 6:45 a.m. dawn.

JANUARY STARS – The brightest stars on January evenings include the golden star Capella nearly overhead. In the southeast, the star group Orion features the bright pink star Betelgeuse (in one shoulder) and the white-blue star Rigel (in one of the feet). Between these two bright stars is Orion's three-star belt. The belt points up and right to Taurus, the Bull. The belt points down and left to Sirius, the night's brightest star.

PLANETARIUM PROGRAMS –The January public program at the Frostburg State University is "Polar Skies," with free Sunday presentations on January 11, 18, and 25 at 4 and 7 p.m. The planetarium is in Tawes 302, just off the front lobby and facing the Compton Science Center. To get a free planetarium calendar, persons may telephone 301-687-7799 and leave name and mailing address.

Dr. Doyle writes this column for those who would like to identify the brightest stars, planets and sights in their backyards. To ask questions or get a planetarium/science discovery center bookmark, persons may call Dr. Doyle at 301-687-7799 and leave name and mailing address.

Maryland Gains 302 More Nat'l Certified Teachers

Maryland this month welcomed 302 new national board certified teachers, a new state record number.

The National Board for Professional Teaching Standards (NBPTS) has now certified 1,366 Maryland teachers with the profession's top recognition. This year's total was 9th among states, and Maryland's overall total ranks 15th in the nation. Maryland had 227 teachers gain national certification last year, and 161 teachers in 2006.

"National board certificated teachers represent the best that our schools have to offer," said State Superintendent of Schools Nancy S. Grasmick. "These teachers have gone through a rigorous program, proving their commitment to their students, their schools, and their profession."

National Board Certification, a voluntary program established by NBPTS, is achieved through a performance-based assessment that typically takes more than a year to complete. It is designed to measure what accomplished teachers should know and be able to do. The process requires teachers to demonstrate how their activities, both inside and outside the classroom, strengthen student performance and contribute to student achievement.

Maryland has long been supportive of NBPTS and its goals. The state has coordinated a Candidate Support Network since 1997 and has established regional sites across the state to assist candidates as they progress through the assessment process. In addition to incentives offered by local school systems, Maryland matches up to $2,000 per year during the validity of the NBC certificate.

The certification process is open to anyone with a baccalaureate degree and three years of classroom experience. The certificate is valid for 10 years, after which a teacher may seek renewal.

Man Arrested On Charges Of DUI, DWI, And Others

A traffic complaint to the Garrett County Sheriff's Office resulted in the arrest of a Bayard, W.Va., man Saturday.

Deputies responded to the intersection of Callicoat Rd. and U.S. Rt. 50. Contact was made with the driver, Ronald Blaine Swiger, 36, who was allegedly driving under the influence. After not performing sobriety tests to the satisfaction of the deputies, Swiger was arrested.

He was charged with DUI, driving while impaired, driving on a revoked license, and driving an unregistered vehicle. He was taken to the Garrett County Detention Center to await an appearance before a District Court commissioner.

Seminar Planned On "Choosing An Electricity Supplier"

The Garrett County Chamber of Commerce is planning a free seminar for business owners titled "Choosing an Electricity Supplier." Allegheny Power representatives will be available to answer questions.

A minimum number of attendees, however, are needed to move forward with the event. If there is enough public interest, the seminar will be held sometime during the week of Jan. 19 in the early evening.

The goal of the seminar is to provide local businesses with an overview of the Maryland Customer Choice Program, an explanation of Allegheny Power's role in the program, information regarding business options, and how to shop for electricity in Maryland.

As a result of electric deregulation for business accounts three years ago, the market for the supply of power has gotten very competitive, noted Karen Reckner, director of business services at the chamber.

Local businesses are now receiving solicitations from energy providers through telemarketing and the mail. Reckner said trying to sort through the offers and make the best choice can be overwhelming.

"The best advice I can give you is to educate yourself," she said. "Do your research before making a commitment. Work only with qualified licensed suppliers or brokers, initiating the calls to them."

The chamber has sponsored similar presentations in the past and received favorable feedback, according to Reckner. Chamber members benefited by attending and learning about their options in selecting a company to provide their electricity, she said.

Only business accounts will be discussed at the seminar that is currently being planned. While rate caps come off residential accounts in January, the information presented by Allegheny Power will be geared specifically for commercial accounts.

Interested persons do not have to be chamber members to attend. Businesses outside Garrett County are also welcome; however, the information only applies to Maryland accounts.

Businesses can provide their Allegheny Power account numbers and be presented with a detailed analysis for their individual situations. This will help guide them through the details of choosing an electricity supplier or broker to work with in purchasing power, according to Reckner.

"Each business's electric needs are different, and at this meeting you will get the facts necessary for you to make the decision that is right for your business," she said.

To determine if there is enough interest to schedule the seminar, persons are asked to RSVP to Reckner no later than Tuesday, Dec. 30, at 301-387-4386, ext. 12, or at karen@garrett-chamber.com.

Ask Sheila

Decorating Dilemma?
Sheila offers helpful advice.

Dear Sheila:

MY PROBLEM: I have a home up there that I rent out long term. It was my mother's house. I live in the Baltimore area. I need to get some work done on the house interior. I am getting up in years and it is not easy for me to travel up there. Is there some way that you can help me get the house updated? I would like to be able to see samples of the different things we would be doing. I don't want to modernize it, I just want it to be nice so that I keep long term renters.

Sadie

Dear Sadie:

Not a problem: We have no trouble taking care of our out-of-town customers!

We LOVE e-mail And we LOVE UPS! It is very easy to send you samples and swatches of what we think might work As always, we want you to be happy with the end result. We can start with pictures and have great before and afters.

AAA Projects Slight Drop In Holiday Travel

AAA Mid-Atlantic projects a slight decrease in the number of Americans traveling during the Christmas holiday period.

Nearly 63.9 million Americans will travel 50 miles or more from home during this travel period, a decrease of 1.4 million travelers (2.1 percent) compared to last year's numbers. This is the first decline in Christmas holiday travelers since 2002.

AAA Mid-Atlantic projected year-to-year decreases in the number of travelers for all five of the major travel holidays this year (Memorial Day, Fourth of July, Labor Day, Thanksgiving, and Christmas).

"Without question, the economic downturn of 2008 has eroded the discretionary income many Americans would have spent on travel and, for some, altered their travel plans this Christmas holiday, as well as their holiday travel throughout the year," said Ragina C. Averella, a spokesperson for AAA Mid-Atlantic. "How-ever, those traveling this holiday season can take advantage of declining hotel rates and significantly cheaper fuel prices, which are more than a dollar per gallon less than a year ago."

More than 52.4 million Americans (82 percent of all holiday travelers) intend to travel by automobile, a 1.2 percent decrease from a year ago. Motorists across the country, on average, can expect to see gasoline prices about $1.30 per gallon less than last year and 50 cents less than a month ago.

Approximately 8.1 million (13 percent of hohday travelers) expect to travel by airplane, an 8.5 percent decline from last year's holiday. More than 3.3 million Americans plan to travel by train, bus, or other mode of transportation. That is an increase of 0.7 percent from a year ago.

According to AAA's Leisure Travel Index (LTI), which is based on available rates this holiday, Americans can expect lower hotel rates and higher car rental rates throughout the holiday season. However, travelers should expect different trends in airfares, depending upon the week of travel.

For Americans traveling during the week of Christmas, rates for AAA Three Diamond hotels are down an average of 3 percent compared to last year. On average, travelers renting a vehicle during the week of Christmas will pay 2 percent more than a year ago for the same period. Air passengers, however, can expect some relief in airfares this Christmas, with prices 9 percent less than last year.

Those planning to travel the week of New Year's will welcome a significant decline in hotel costs, with rates for AAA Three Diamond hotels 16 percent less than a year ago. Car rental rates are 8 percent higher than last year for the same period. Americans traveling by air will pay an average of 3 percent more for airfares than a year ago.

AAA Mid-Atlantic advises air passengers to check with their airline or travel counselor about additional fees before booking a trip. Most airlines continue to charge fees for checked baggage and other previously complimentary services like beverages and snacks.

Car rental rates vary from location to location, so some cities in AAA's LTI show significant increases when compared to last year, while others show significant decreases. AAA's index for car rentals is based on the average lowest intermediate size car daily rate in 20 U.S. airport locations. The rates do not include sales tax, insurance and oth-er miscellaneous charges.

The Southeast is expected to produce the largest number of automobile travelers this Christmas holiday period, with 14.1 million, followed by the West with 12.9 million; Midwest, 10.2 million; the Great Lakes, 8.2 million; and Northeast, 7 million.

The greatest number of air travelers will also originate in the Southeast, with 2.5 million, followed by the West with 2.3 million; Northeast, 1.6 million; Midwest, 920,000; and the Great Lakes, 810,000.

Research for Christmas holiday travel projections are derived from the Travel Industry Association's (TIA) Holiday Travel Forecast Model. The model was developed based on consumer travel intentions and TIA's quarterly travel forecast data. The travel intentions data are collected through an online survey of nearly 2,300 adults nationwide, supplemented by an additional 5,000 Americans surveyed from the top 10 states of origin in the United States. Historical travel volume and other economic data such as GDP, disposable income, employment, and travel costs (including fuel prices) are also incorporated into the model.

State Park Programs

DEEP CREEK LAKE STATE PARK/ DISCOVERY CENTER

The following activities have been scheduled for this week at Deep Creek Lake State Park. Programs and center hours are subject to change without notice. All programs meet or begin at the Discovery Center unless otherwise noted. Further information can be obtained by calling the Discovery Center at 301-387-7067, or by visiting the web site: www.dnr.state.md.us/publiclands/western/deepcreeklake.

Dec. 27 through Jan. 4, 2009

Friday, Dec. 26

• CLOSED. All state facilities are closed today because of the furlough.

Saturday, Dec. 27

• 11 a.m. – Got Cavities? A dentist isn't needed for these cavities. Hike around the Discovery Center in search of bird and animal cavities, nests, and dens. (30 min.)

• 1:30 p.m. – Reptile Encounter. Guests may meet several resident reptiles of the Discovery Center and learn about their special lives in nature. (45 min.)

Sunday, Dec. 28

• Noon, 1 p.m., and 2 p.m. – Hourly Encounters. Join a naturalist at the top of each hour to meet one of the center's animals "up close and personal." Guests may meet at the front desk.

Monday, Dec. 29

• 11 a.m. – Native Plants. Guests are invited to join the naturalist and sample tea from native plants, and learn the difference between an exotic invasive plant and a native plant. Also become aware of the benefit of natives to other plants, insects, and people. (45 min.)

• 1 p.m. – Crafty Naturalist. Visitors may meet one or more of the animals living at the Discovery Center and then make a related craft. (30 min.)

Tuesday, Dec. 30

• 11 a.m. – Our Feathered Friends. Visitors are invited to join the naturalist inside at the bird feeder window to observe and identify winter birds. Kids may make pinecone bird feeders: one to take home and one to hang in the park trees for the birds.

• 1:30 p.m. – Scales and Tales. Guests may join the naturalist for "an up close and personal look" at the red tailed hawk, snakes, frogs, and salamanders. (Approx. 60 min.)

Wednesday, Dec. 31

• 11:30 a.m. – Reading Naturalist. Guests may join the park staff to hear a story about nature and then make a related craft or explore nature, or both. The book titles and craft/hike rotate. $2 per child. (30 min.)

• 1 p.m. – Amazing Monarchs. Naturalist Caroline Blizzard will recap this season's tagging program and share a PowerPoint on the connections made by the program in Mexico. Photographs from the center's trip to the sanctuary and surrounding area will be on exhibit. Blizzard will review the life cycle and journey of the monarch. (60 min.)

• 2:30 p.m. – Critter Encounter. Join the Discovery Center staff as the animals are all fed, including the birds at the aviary. (45 min.)

Thursday, Jan. 1

• Open All Day with scavenger hunts and impromptu demonstrations. Guests are invited to stop by to sample some "songbird-friendly coffee, which is a fair trade item, organic, and is grown in the shade of South America, thus preserving the canopy for migrating birds.

Friday, Jan. 2

• CLOSED. All state facilities are closed today because of the furlough.

Saturday, Jan. 3

• 11 a.m. – Snowshoeing. The park naturalist will give guests a snowshoeing lesson and walk along the lake shoreline. (Weather permitting, and limited to six participants who must pre-register. $7 per person, and participants may keep the snowshoes for two additional hours.) 1 hour guided.

• 2:30 p.m. – Critter Encounter. Join the Discovery Center staff as the animals are all fed, including the birds at the aviary. (45 min.)

Sunday, Jan. 4

• Noon, 1 p.m., and 2 p.m. – Hourly Encounters. Join a naturalist at the top of each hour to meet one of the center's animals "up close and personal." Guests may meet at the front desk.

Scholarships To Study Abroad Being Offered

The National Security Language Initiative for Youth (NSLI-Y) program is offering 550 full scholarships to U.S. high school students to study abroad and learn languages that most students do not have opportunities to learn, but are rapidly becoming critical to know.

Sponsored by the U.S. Department of State, Bureau of Educational and Cultural Affairs, Youth Programs Division, NSLI-Y is designed to increase American citizens' capacity to engage foreign governments and peoples through the critical languages of Arabic, Chinese, Farsi, Hindi, Korean, Russian, and Turkish.

The program is administered by a team of organizations, including AFS-USA, American Councils for International Education, Concordia Language Villages, and iEARN-USA. Togeth-er, they will award U.S. government funding in the form of full scholarships to 550 U.S. high school and just-graduated students (ages 15–18) to participate in summer (6-8 weeks), one-semester, and full-year language programs in countries where these languages are widely spoken.

"Recent years have demonstrated how important it is that Americans learn languages of countries that will be prominent in the 21st century," noted Lisa Choate, vice president of the American Councils for International Education. "Students in this scholarship program will be well-posi-tioned for careers in a wide range of fields."

Programs immerse participants in language acquisition courses throughout their stay in the host country. Students live with a host family, gaining formal and informal language practice designed to spark a lifetime interest in foreign languages and cultures. Students will attend school and interact with international students in person and through online technologies.

Students wishing to apply for full scholarships must: be U.S. citizens, be 15-18 years of age and enrolled in high school at the time of application, and have at least a 2.5 GPA. Students may participate in the program during high school or during the "gap year" between high school and college. Beginning language students are invited to participate, although all levels of instruction are available. Fluency is not re-quired, but students with oral and written experience in the program languages are especially valued for their experience.

Students returning from their NSLI-Y international experience will be able to apply their knowledge in university and professional opportunities.

For more information about the scholarship and to apply online, persons may visit www.NSLIforyouth-.org.

Treatment for Rare Skin Condition

Stevens-Johnson syndrome (SJS) is a serious but rare condition of the skin and body mucous membranes. SJS is characterized by an extensive painful rash following several days of flu-like symptoms. The rash will then blister and the affected skin will begin to shed. Typically, SJS occurs as an allergic reaction to a medication or is caused by an infection. Nonsteroidal inflammatory drugs (NSAIDs), penicillins, sulfonamides, and anticonvulsants are some types of medications that may lead to SJS in susceptible persons. Influenza, herpes simplex, and herpes zoster cause viral infections that may trigger SJS. Complications may be life-threatening, including meningitis and serious infection. Meningitis is an infection of the fluid surrounding the brain and spinal cord. Infection from bacteria entering the blood can lead to shock and organ failure.

Hospitalization is required for treatment of this condition. Pain medications are typically given to alleviate associated discomfort. Antibiotics may be given to treat infections. Glucocorticoids may be used to reduce inflammation. Severe cases of SJS may require immunoglobulin intravenous (IGIV), which works to stop the progression of the condition.

SWANTON

HOUSE OF HOPE MONTH

January is House of Hope Month at Otterbein United Methodist Church. Parishioners are asked to bring nonperishable items to the church and they will be taken to the House of Hope at the end of the month.

PROGRAM POSTPONED

The Christmas program scheduled for Sunday morning at Otterbein UM Church was postponed until this Sunday, Dec. 28.

PERSONALS

Mike and Ellida Woodbrey and girls, Shepherdstown, W.Va., visited Mary June Harvey over the weekend and attended church at Otterbein UM, where they sang at the morning worship service.

Eileen Custer fell and broke her arm. She is at home recovering after having surgery.

The community learned of the death of former resident Betty Parish Rhodes Teets. Her funeral was held Monday.

BIRTHDAYS

Among residents of the Swanton area observing birthdays this week are Gail Otto, Lynn Beckman, and Ruth Beckman.

Md. Education Board Notes Sr. Waiver Process

The Maryland State Board of Education this past week set forth a limited waiver process for certain seniors who have failed to meet the state's new graduation requirements.

Students who have completed courses, met attendance requirements, taken the High School Assessments (HSA) but failed one or more of them, met other local and state graduation requirements, and have taken advantage of available interventions may be eligible for a waiver from the assessment requirement under the new process.

State Superintendent of Schools Nancy S. Grasmick recommended the waiver for certain students "only under extenuating circumstances." The waiver would be available only to those students who were prevented from fulfilling the HSA requirement because of school system decisions regarding class scheduling, course sequencing, testing, process of interventions, or some other special circumstances.

Under the waiver process, students and their families will be notified in February of the possibility the student may not graduate on time. The student will be notified at that time of the HSA requirements yet to be completed and of the waiver option for that requirement if they qualify. The principal may recommend the waiver, or the family may request it. Local school system superintendents will either grant or deny the waiver, and denials may be appealed to the state superintendent.

Students can sign up in the Guidance Office.

DISCOVER CARD YOUTH PROGRAM AVAILABLE

Juniors who have a cumulative GPA of approximately 82% or higher are eligible to apply for the Discover Card Tribute Award Scholarship. The scholarship is designed for talented young people who take the lead, who overcome obstacles, and who are making life better for those around them. The program honors juniors across the nation by awarding up to ten $30,000 scholarships. Scholarships may be used toward training to be certified in a trade, training in technical schools, or enrolling in courses in a 2- or 4-year college or university. Instructions on how to apply are available online at www.discoverfinancial.com/community The deadline to submit the application is Jan. 31. Students planning to attend a technical school are particularly encouraged to apply; however, the scholarship is open for any student who meets the above criteria. Students need to allow at least three weeks to complete the application.

YEARBOOK STAFF REQUESTING SEASONAL PICTURES

The yearbook staff is asking for students and parents to submit pictures for the "Outdoors" page. Any photographs of Southern students skiing, snowboarding, tubing, sled riding, wakeboarding, swimming, boating, etc., will be accepted. Students/parents may send pictures to Maria Zumpano at mzumpano@sh.ga.k12.md.us or drop them off at the school to Room 1250. Printed pictures will be returned.

2009 YEARBOOKS ON SALE NOW

The 2009 yearbook, titled Inspired, is now on sale. Invoices from Josten's have been mailed to homes within the next couple of weeks. Once invoices are received, orders may be changed or canceled. Students and/or parents can pay Josten's directly or Maria Zumpano at the school. There is a link to Josten's web site on Southern's homepage for those who want to pay online. All yearbook payments must be made by Friday, May 1.

HUSKY Notes

WRESTLING

The Northern Garrett wrestling program invites all Northern and Southern wrestling alumni to attend the wrestling match on Saturday, Jan. 3. All wrestlers will be recognized by decades before the match begins. The Northern wrestling program will also induct Delos and Wanda Carpenter into the NHS Wrestling Hall of Fame. Following the match, all wrestlers, new and old, are invited for refreshments in the cafeteria. Persons are urged to contact as many wrestling buddies as possible and plan to attend.

WEB STREAMING BASKETBALL GAMES

All of the varsity boys' and selected varsity girls' basketball games will be streamed over the web. To access the live feed one must go to the live streaming page of Northern High School at www.nh.ga.k12.md.us. It is located in the athletics section on the boys' basketball page, where instructions and access are explained. The live feed will begin approximately one-half hour before the varsity tip-off.

SCHOLARSHIPS

•Grantsville Lions Club: This scholarship was established to provide financial assistance to graduating seniors of Northern High School who are pursuing post secondary education and/or training. Applicant must be entering a post secondary institution in the fall semester following graduation, be in the top 50% of the graduating class, and must prove a definite financial need. Notes From Bittinger

by Joan Glotfelty Sussman

Well, here it is – the official first day of winter, the Sunday before Christmas. Bittinger has very wintry weather, as normal: a light snow, pretty cold, and a light, frigid wind. But, for once the rest of the country is getting hammered with severe weather as well.

Many places got one foot of snow, and baby, it is cold out there; not just in the upper Midwest, but in the Pacific Northwest and New England as well.

Some cold air crept through the window by my bed at 5 a.m., making it very clear to me that winter is here. The sunshine was nice while it lasted, but on the shortest day of the year there was also the cold-looking sunset coming at 4:30. Dusk fell at 5:30, with full darkness coming close thereafter.

On the bright side, the days will now grow longer. Thank goodness, because one grows tired of pitch blackness at 6 p.m. I can't wait for the return of the wonderful long summer days. For that I will have to wait six months. Until then I want to retire to bed when it gets dark, and then I get up too early (before 6 a.m.) with a lonely feeling that I am the only person in the world awake at that hour. But there are times I see lights on at Rodney and Marci's, and know that Marci is up early too.

It was both good and amazing to watch Meredith breezing through her last final exam at Garrett College – algebra. For me that math exam was the most horrifying experience of my college career.

Claire finished her last finals at WVU and is now a newly minted college graduate. Amazing! Like Claire, Caitlan finished her exams last Sunday, but only after all-night studying both Friday and Saturday.

She is very much enjoying her job at a homeless shelter, but it delayed her holiday homecoming. She continues to work on weekends there through her break.

The Glotfelty twins arrived home from school last Friday. Matthew and Scott Bass arrived home on break Saturday evening, with Robbie and Blakely Glotfelty to follow later this week.

My mother, Ruth DiPaolo, successfully endured a second infusion of chemotherapy this past Friday. She was examined by Dr. Steve Gnegy of Oakland, who reminisced with Mom and my sibs Carol and Barry about appearing with my brother Scott in a community musical (HMS Pinafore) presented in Oakland just before he left for the Peace Corps. A small world, indeed.

Upon returning home, Mom was immediately welcomed back by all of her grandchildren who were in the neighborhood.

My spirits were buoyed this week by a Christmas caroling visit from the Kaufmann family and the delivery of a box of frozen food from the Glade Mennonite Church.

My mom has just received the sad news that her childhood friend Shirley Johnson of Cumberland passed away. Shirley was a dedicated friend to my mom throughout her life. Endearingly, she always remembered to send a birthday card to me as well. She continued the tradition by also remembering to send my girls cards as well, knowing that they always enjoy getting them. We received a Christmas card from her the day that she died.

Although we have made remarkable progress on our Christmas cards, I am very sorry she did not get ours in time. I am sure she had a complete collection of Christmas cards with my mom posed with all her grandchildren taken through the years.

Another very special lady, Viola Orndorff, wife of Hugh Orndorff, recently passed away. She and her husband opened their home to many foster and adopted children, including Johnny, Danny, and Sara Bell. Viola strongly resembled her sister-in-law Alma who cared for my grandmother Emma, and was beloved by my family. Last summer Viola broke her hip and was cared for in her convalescence by her foster daughter Sara Bell.

My aunt Betty Hummel of Olympia, Wash., shared some wonderful childhood memories about Hugh and Alma's parents, who lived on the Elmer Maust farm. Aunt Betty also described the wintry weather they are experiencing. On a visit to her daughter in Portland, Ore., she described passing through an area with many homeless people huddled in a doorway covered in a layer of snow.

It makes me happy to know Caitlan is doing her best to assist some of these unfortunates in gaining shelter.

Even though our weather is not as bad as the Northwest's at the moment (although one must always stay tuned in Bittinger, as that can easily change), I certainly would not want to spend a night outside. Even when times are tough, a roof over one's head should always be appreciated.

An interesting fact about Portland, Ore., is that the libraries are kept open all night to provide shelter and restrooms.

Paraphrasing Jesus, "However you treat the least of those among you is also how you treat me."

Peace on Earth and good will among men. Amen.

Read. Then Recycle.

Precious Time

When 2008 ends, 366 days will have passed. As the New Year begins, it will bring another measure of time...365 days more. We will begin to speak of the old year as "last year" and the new year as "this year".

Last year may have been a happy one or a sad one. Happy moments, shared with others – a birth, wedding, anniversary – are times we look back on with joy. Difficulties – illness, bereavement, betrayal – cause us to remember the pain and sorrow.

This New Year, shape the future by what you have learned from the past - the good along with the bad. Live well and do better; spend your time so that it blesses you and everyone around you.

The time God has allotted us on this earth is most precious. Most of all, remember to praise Him for each and every moment.

Old-Time Religion and The Good News

In most religious traditions, the earliest forms of religion focus heavily on guilt, sacrifice, and punishment. They are fear and retribution based, as if the people needed to fear and appease an angry God. You can see this clearly enough in the early books of the Old Testament, where the early Israelites were concerned with the nuances of how to perform their sacrifices properly in order to please a God who seemed very much like an angry father But then, between 800-500 B.C. there is a radical shift in almost all religions toward a focus on love, compassion, and mercy. We see this in the writings of the Old Testament prophets such as Amos, Hosea and Isaiah, who speak for a God who says, "I desire steadfast love and not sacrifice, the knowledge of God, rather than burnt offerings." (Hosea 6.6) The Bible is largely the story of the unfolding of God's love and His attempt to communicate to His people that He loves them and desires mercy and compassion on their part, rather than bloody sacrifice. Many early Christians were mostly vegetarians because most of the meat had been sacrificed to one God or another, and these early Christians realized that this was not the path of mercy that God wanted them to follow. Why there was this radical shift in almost all religions isn't entirely clear, but the fact remains that the New Religion, the Good News, as it were, turns sharply to focus on love, compassion, and mercy, instead of fear and guilt.

And if you had known what this means, 'I desire mercy, and not sacrifice,' you would not have condemned the guiltless.

Pine Bark Extract Used to Help Jet Lag

Pycnogenol® is the brand name for the dietary supplement pine bark extract. This extract is made from the bark of the French maritime pine tree. It contains several active substances, including proanthocyanidins. Pine bark extract acts as an antioxidant, anti-inflammatory agent, and immune stimulant. It has also been shown to improve memory in the elderly.

One recent study showed that pine bark extract may decrease the physical symptoms of jet lag. Jet lag results from the body's inability to adjust to time zone changes after long distance air travel. Physical symptoms of jet lag include fatigue, headaches, insomnia, and lower extremity swelling. One hundred thirty-three passengers took flights of seven to nine hours in length. Passengers took either placebo capsules or Pycnogenol® 50 mcg 3 times daily for seven days, starting 2 days before the flight. Passengers that took Pycnogenol® had significantly less jet lag symptoms during the first 1 -2 days after their flight. Pine bark extract should not be used by people who have received organ transplants due to its interaction with immunosuppressant drugs.

Strange BUT TRUE

By Samantha Weaver

• Researchers have discovered that humans aren't the only ones to imbibe alcohol on a regular basis. It seems that the tiny pen-tailed tree shrew makes a habit of consuming naturally fermented palm flower nectar, which has an alcohol content of 3.8 percent — comparable to that of most beers.

• It was Pulitzer and Nobel prize-winning novelist, short-story writer and journalist Ernest Hemingway who made the following observation: "An intelligent man is sometimes forced to be drunk to spend time with his fools."

• There are people who spend their time counting the number of times people blink and why, but they still can't explain why an adult in a calm state of mind blinks 15 times per minute, while a newborn baby blinks only twice per minute.

• A couple more tidbits from the files of musical performers' unusual backstage requirements: Pop and R&B singer Christina Aguilera must have Flintstones vitamins, and singer and actress Mariah Carey insists on having drinking straws with a bend rather than the straight variety.

• You might be surprised to learn that residents of New York City get a white Christmas roughly only once every four years.

• Have you ever committed catachresis? I try to avoid it (in this column, at least), but unless you are unusually articulate — or simply don't speak or write much — then it's almost certain that you have. Catachresis is just a fancy term for the misuse of words.

• Those who study such things say that the most popular seafood in the United States is shrimp, followed by canned tuna in second place and salmon in third.

Moments in time

THE HISTORY CHANNEL

• On Jan. 2, 1811, Sen. Timothy Pickering of Massachusetts becomes the first senator to be censured by the Senate. Pickering was accused of violating congressional law by publicly revealing secret foreign-policy documents communicated by the president to the Senate.

• On Dec. 29, 1890, the U.S. Army's 7th Cavalry kills 146 Sioux at Wounded Knee in South Dakota. The Cavalry surrounded the Sioux near Wounded Knee Creek and demanded they surrender their weapons. As that was happening, a fight broke out between an Indian and a U.S. soldier and a shot was fired, although it's unclear from which side. The brutal massacre followed.

• On Dec. 30, 1922, in post-revolutionary Russia, the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics (USSR) is established. Also known as the Soviet Union, it was the first country in the world to be based on Marxist socialism.

• On Jan. 3, 1938, Franklin Delano Roosevelt, an adult victim of polio, founds the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, which he later renamed the March of Dimes Foundation. In response to a fundraising appeal, the public flooded the White House with 2,680,000 dimes and thousands of dollars in donations.

• On Dec. 31, 1947, America's favorite Western couple gets married. Roy Rogers, star of numerous Westerns and television and radio shows, wed his co-star, Dale Evans. Rogers and Evans had performed together for years, but didn't marry until a year after Rogers' wife passed away.

• On Jan. 1, 1962, the Beatles audition for London record company Decca on the same day as Brian Poole and the Tremeloes. Decca signed the Tremeloes, but not the Beatles. The Tremeloes first hit the charts with "Twist and Shout," later also done by the Beatles. The Tremeloes band is still active today.

• On Jan. 4, 1974, President Richard Nixon refuses to hand over tape recordings and documents that had been subpoenaed by the Senate Watergate Committee. Marking the beginning of the end of his presidency, Nixon would resign from office in disgrace eight months later.

Dogs and Joggers

DEAR PAW'S CORNER: My dog, "Sandy," gets very excited when people pass us while we're out walking. She is not mean, but she likes to bark and tries to paw at or jump up as people get close. Sandy gets particularly excited when a jogger passes us. How can I stop her from doing this? — Bill in Boulder, Colo.

DEAR BILL: Getting Sandy adjusted to all the exciting activity on the sidewalk will take some time. Start by honing her basic obedience skills at home, making sure she will respond to your commands. On your daily walks, have her sit and stay at random times. When a jogger approaches, move to the side of the walk, and have Sandy sit and stay. (Of course, keep her on a leash at all times during walks.)

Next, teach her not to react to sudden movements. At home, put Sandy on a leash. Throw a tennis ball across the room or hallway and say "Off!" or "Nyaah!" When Sandy leaps to chase the ball, tug the leash firmly and repeat "Off/Nyaah!" When Sandy responds to your command, praise her.

Repeat this exercise in other locations, indoors or out, with few distractions. Try it with other objects, or a willing friend who can play the "jogger."

Finally, add the command during her daily walks — when a person approaches, use the command if she starts toward them. You may need to sit Sandy down at first and wait for the person to pass, giving the "Off/Nyaah!" command if needed. But gradually begin training her to obey this command from the heel.

Collecting

Q. I have inherited a silver vase with grape leaves and vines on it. It is a Vera Lucino piece, and it belonged to an elderly aunt who doesn't remember much about its origin. I would like to know if it is valuable. — William, Palm Coast, Fla.

A. I was not able to find out much about Vera Lucino, except that most of her pieces are silver plate and do not command very high prices in today's marketplace. I found a fairly elaborate bowl with lid crafted by Vera Lucino offered for $25 on eBay. I suspect your vase might be worth about the same amount. The only way to find out for certain is to contact a certified appraiser. You should, of course, expect to pay for this service.

Q. I have some foreign paper money and coins and would like to find out current values. — Peg, Concord, N.H.

A. You might want to show your collection to a reputable dealer in your area. If that isn't feasible, there are two excellent references I recommend: the 2008 Standard Catalogue of World Coins 1901-2000 edited by Colin R. Bruce (Krause, $55), and the Standard Catalogue of World Paper Money edited by George S. Cuhaj (Krause, $50).

Due to the large volume of mail he receives, Mr. Cox is unable to personally answer all reader questions. Do not send any materials requiring return mail.

'NCIS': One spinoff that may yield its own

By Jay Bobbin
© Zap2it

Mark Harmon

Q: Is "NCIS" a spinoff of "JAG"? –Linda Mabry, Biloxi, Miss.

A: Yes. The lineage might have seemed a bit more direct from the title the show first had, "Navy NCIS," since CBS was concerned viewers might not make the connection just from the initials that stand for Naval Criminal Investigative Service. (Then-executive producer Don Bellisario was against that move, but the network prevailed.)

Mark Harmon made his first appearance as team leader Leroy Jethro Gibbs in a two-part "JAG" story toward the end of the parent show's 2002-03 season. Currently enjoying some of the best ratings it's had since its debut, "NCIS" may emulate its own heritage by yielding a spinoff next year; there's talk of characters being introduced in episodes in the spring, in preparation to launch their own series the following fall.

Q: Can you please tell me when "Kyle XY" is coming back? –Georgia Dess, Greenfield, Wis.

A: Matt Dallas will return to start his third season as the unusual title character in the ABC Family series Jan. 12. Ten new episodes are scheduled to be shown.

Q: Many years ago, I saw a movie that I believe was called "The Oscar." I also think the actor who played the unscrupulous lead character was Stephen Boyd. If I am right about either memory, why has this movie never been aired on Turner Classic Movies or anywhere else? –Jill Rapp, Wayne, N.J.

A: You're right about both, and this is the right week to get the question answered, since Turner Classic Movies is scheduled to show the film late at night this Tuesday, Dec. 30.

TCM also offered the 1966 drama – about a ruthless contender for an Academy Award – a few months ago, as part of an evening when comedian Bill Maher served as the guest programmer who chose that night's films. The movie also is notable for one of the few acting jobs by singer Tony Bennett, who plays Hymie Kelly, much-abused sidekick of the win-at-any-cost Frankie Fane (Boyd).

Q: I am a great fan of Drew Barrymore. Can you tell me who played the teacher opposite her in "Never Been Kissed"? –Betty James, Hilliard, Ohio

A: It was Michael Vartan, who made the 1999 comedy movie before he started his run as Jennifer Garner's espionage cohort in the ABC series "Alias." Last season, he was a regular on ABC's "Big Shots."

State Faces Challenges As It Nears Deadline To Reduce Lead Poisoning

by Elizabeth M. Piazza
Capital News Service

ANNAPOLIS – When the ceiling fell down in her mother's two-story Baltimore home, Towanda Malley never considered the possibility of lead exposure. But on Oct. 13, after a mandatory lead test, her 2-year-old daughter, Paris Shannon, showed elevated levels of lead in her blood.

"I didn't know that lead still existed, that it was still in homes," said Malley, who lives in the house with her three children and her mother, who has lung cancer.

With a statewide goal of eliminating childhood lead poisoning by 2010 nearing, Maryland has made significant progress in decreasing the number of cases among residents in rental property units. But Malley's story is an example of a growing trend of lead poisoning among children who live in owner-occupied housing units, one of the reasons advocates say the state may not meet its 2010 deadline.

"What we have found as we have implemented this law over the past 14 years is that the number of children with elevated blood lead levels has decreased in pre-1950 housing units but has increased in rental units from 1950 to 1978 and also in owner-occupied housing pre-1978," said Alvin Bowles, manager of the lead poisoning prevention program at the Maryland Department of the Environment.

Approximately 58 percent of children who are poisoned live in owner-occupied housing or rental units built between 1950 and 1978, according to Bowles.

In 1994, Maryland enacted the Reduction of Lead Risk in Housing Law, which requires that owners of rental properties that predate 1950 must register their units, distribute materials from the Maryland Department of the Environment to inform tenants of the hazards of lead and meet specific lead risk reduction standards.

The law did not include regulations for owner-occupied housing or rental units built between 1950 and 1978.

Nine years ago, when Malley's mother purchased the Garrison Avenue home, which is more than 30 years old, she was told that it was lead free.

Lead remains one of the most significant environmental hazards for children in Maryland. Children from birth to age 6 are at the greatest risk because of their developing neurological systems.

Lead exposure usually occurs with normal hand-to-mouth activity and comes from lead paint dust from chipped paint or home renovations.

Exposure can result in lower intelligence and has been associated with behavior and attention span problems. It can lead to kidney, liver, brain and nerve damage, and at extreme levels can cause seizures, coma or death.

After the exposure, Malley noticed that Paris's eating habits increased and that she had an increase in violent behavior. Everyone in the home began to suffer from headaches.

Maryland is among the states that have made the greatest progress toward decreasing childhood lead poisoning.

In 2006, approximately 1,000 children out of nearly 100,000 tested in Maryland, showed an elevated blood lead level, according to figures from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention. That number is down from nearly 16,000 children in 1993, according to Ruth Ann Norton, executive director at the Coalition to End Childhood Lead Poisoning, based in Baltimore.

"We are determined to try and get this down," said Norton. According to Norton, from 1993 to 2007, there was a 94 percent decline in numbers of children with elevated blood lead levels throughout Maryland.

Currently, some properties are visually inspected for chipped paint and other tell-tale signs of the presence of lead. But Norton said the state will have difficulty meeting its 2010 goal unless it adopts a lead dust testing standard that would require more than just a visual inspection of many properties.

Even with the increase in cases among owner-occupied units, Maryland remains a national model because of its strong commitment to enforce violations. The Maryland Department of the Environment ensures compliance with mandatory requirements through the Lead Prevention Program.

In 2008, enforcement actions increased to 871 from 708 in 2006, and approximately $650,000 was paid in fines to the Maryland Department of the Environment. The money helps fund the lead poisoning prevention program.

"Finishing the job is very, very important, but it's a little harder," said Madeleine Shea, assistant commissioner for Healthy Homes. Finding the smaller mom and pop rental properties and owner-occupied units has been a challenge, and often homeowners don't have the funding to fix the problems associated with lead exposure.

Healthy Homes has funds available to help those like Towanda Malley and her mother.

"Neither one of us have the money to do [renovations] right now and it's close to Christmas," Malley said. They are currently waiting to find out if they are eligible to receive funding to complete the renovations.

For now, a plastic sheet covers the hole in the ceiling. Malley and her mother are teaching Paris to keep her hands out of her mouth, as well as following the health department's recommendations on keeping the house clean.

On Dec. 8, after another lead test, Malley was told that Paris's lead level was lower. Her appetite is back to normal and the violent behavior has decreased.

She will continue to be tested until her lead level goes below the acceptable standard, or is eliminated altogether.

The health department is working to relocate Malley and her kids.

"I can't keep having her (Paris) in that situation," Malley said. "But finding somewhere to live right away is kind of hard."

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

This is to give notice that on November 25, 2008, a complaint was filed in the Circuit Court for Garrett County by the Plaintiff against the Defendants whose whereabouts are unknown. This is an action in rem for partition, involving property within the jurisdiction of this Court filed under the provision of Section 14-107, Real Property Volume, of the Annotated Code of Maryland, to sell at that certain property containing 3.00 acres, more or less, Election District No. 02, Garrett County, Maryland, bounded SE/S by and located between the land now or formerly owned by the Confluence and Oakland Railroad and the Yough River in Kendall, being the same as conveyed in a deed from The Preston Railroad Company to Charles Ream and George D. Browning, as tenants in common on December 12, 1929, and recorded on December 20, 1929, in Liber No. 100, folio 106, one of the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland. The relief prayed in the petition is substantially that the Court issue a Judgment for the sale of the above described property, along with reimbursement of reasonable attorney's fees and costs incurred by Plaintiff in the prosecution of this action for the common benefit of the parties hereto, and reimbursement of the taxes paid by the Plaintiffs to keep the property from tax sale proceedings.

Whereupon, it is ordered by the Circuit Court for Garrett County this 1st Day of December 2008, that the Petitioner (Plaintiff) cause a copy of this Order to be inserted in a newspaper of general circulation published in Garrett County, once a week in each of three successive weeks, before the 5th day of January 2009, giving notice to the said Defendants of the object and substance of the complaint and warning them their response must be filed no later than February 3, 2009, and that if they fail to file a timely response judgment by default may be entered against them, or the relief sought may be granted.

of Valuable Improved Real Estate
located in Garrett County, Maryland,
Improved by premises located at
290 Marshall Hill Road, Unit 224
McHenry, Maryland 21541

Under and by virtue of a Power Of Sale contained in a certain Deed Of Trust from Paul C. Snyder to Stanley L. Merson and S. Lynne Pulford, Trustees, recorded among the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland, in Liber 1301, at Folio 316, docketed for foreclosure in Civil No. 11-C-0810607, the holder of the indebtedness secured by the Deed Of Trust having appointed Martin L. Goozman and Jeffrey W. Bernstein as Substitute Trustees by instrument duly executed, acknowledged and recorded among the Land Records of the said County, default having occurred under the terms thereof and at the request of the holder of the Note secured thereby, the undersigned Substitute Trustees will offer for sale in "AS IS" condition at public auction in front of the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, Courthouse, 203 S. 4th Street, Oakland, Maryland 21550, on

at 11:00 a.m.

all that property described in the said Deed Of Trust as follows:

All that property situate, lying and being in Election District No. 18, Garrett County, Maryland, shown and designated as Unit No. 224 on the plat of The Wisp Condominium recorded in Plat Book 2, Page 189, among the Plat Records of Garrett County, Maryland.

The property will be sold subject to all conditions, restrictions, easements, covenants, rights-of-way and agreements of record affecting the property, and subject to whatever an accurate survey or inspection of the property would disclose, in "AS IS" condition, without out any express or implied warranty as to suitability, quality, condition or description, including any contained herein.

A deposit of $7,000.00 cash, certified or cashier's check, payable to the undersigned Trustees, shall be required at the time and place of sale. The balance of the purchase price shall bear interest at the rate of 6.875% per annum from the date of sale to the date of settlement. No deposit shall be required of the noteholder where the noteholder bids on the property at sale and payment of the purchase price by the noteholder shall be made by crediting the purchase price against the foreclosure costs and expenses and the indebtedness secured by said Deed Of Trust. In the event that settlement is delayed for any reason, including, but not limited to, exceptions to the sale, bankruptcy filings by interested parties, court administration of the foreclosure sale or unknown title defects, there shall be no abatement of Interest.

Adjustment of all taxes, public charges and special or regular assessments, annual front foot benefit charges and deferred connection fees, if any, shall be made as of the date of sale and thereafter assumed by the purchaser. Title examination, conveyancing, transfer taxes, recordation tax and all other costs of conveyance and settlement shall be paid by the purchaser. Purchaser agrees to pay $295.00 at settlement to Seller's attorney for review of the settlement documents.

The property is sold subject to the right of any persons in possession of all or any part of the premises under recorded or unrecorded leases or rights of occupancy, if any. Purchaser shall be responsible for obtaining possession of the property.

Compliance with the terms of sale shall be made within ten (10) days after final ratification of the sale unless said time is extended by the undersigned Trustees in their sole discretion for good cause shown, time being of the essence; otherwise the deposit shall be forfeited and the property will be resold at the risk and expense of the defaulting purchaser.

The Trustees are not liable, individually or otherwise, for any reason. If title to the property is not or cannot be transferred consistent with the terms hereof for any reason, the Trustee's liability is limited, at its sole discretion, to return any deposit, thereby rescinding the sale, and there is no other right or remedy against the Trustees at law or in equity.

PUBLIC SALE OF VALUABLE IMPROVED REAL ESTATE
85 and 223 OLD CRELLIN ROAD
LOT 3 & PARCEL 331
OAKLAND, MARYLAND 21550

MONDAY, JANUARY 12, 2009
10:00 a.m.

By virtue of a Power of Sale contained in a Deed of Trust from Kevin B. Snyder and Melanie C. Snyder dated July 25, 2007, and recorded among the Garrett County Land Records at Liber 1323, Page 506, (the "Deed of Trust"), default in compliance with the covenants of said Deed of Trust having occurred; the same having become due and payable, and demand for payment having been made, and Roger Schlossberg, Substitute Trustee, having been substituted as Trustee thereunder and having instituted foreclosure proceedings in Case No. 11-C-08-10714 now pending in the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, the said Substitute Trustee will offer at public sale at the East Alder Street entrance to the Garrett County Courthouse, in Oakland, Garrett County, Maryland on Monday, January 12, 2009, at the hour of 10:00 a.m., all that lot or parcel of land, together with the improvements thereon, and also together with and subject to all easements, rights of way, benefits and appurtenances thereunto belonging or appertaining, situate, lying and being in Election District No. 14, and being more particularly described as follows:

All that parcel of land situate in Election District No. 14, Garrett County, Maryland, which is described as follows:

Parcel One

Lot No. 3 containing 15.00 acres, more or less, as shown on the plat recorded in Plat Case DKM 2, file 90, among the Plat Records of Garrett County, Maryland.

Being the same real estate conveyed to Kevin B. Snyder and Melanie C. Snyder by Deed dated May 10, 2001 and recorded among the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland in Liber 839, page 206.

Parcel Two

Lot No. 1 containing 1.61 acres, more or less, as shown on a site plan by Bench Mark Land Surveying for Donald Ahern and recorded in Liber No. 699, folio 29, among the Land Records of Garrett County Maryland.

Being the same real estate conveyed to Kevin B. Snyder and Melanie C. Snyder by Deed dated May 10, 2001 and recorded among the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland in Liber 839, folio 203.

The above-described two (2) parcels of real property (collectively, the "Properties") being part of the same property which was conveyed by the said Kevin B. Snyder and Melanie C. Snyder by that Deed of Trust dated July 25, 2007, to the Trustees for the benefit of Farm Credit of the Virginias, ACA; said Deed of Trust being recorded among the Garrett County Land Records at Liber 1323, page 506.

The Properties are being sold and will be conveyed free and clear of the lien of the above-referenced Deed of Trust and all subordinate liens and encumbrances. The Properties are being sold and will be conveyed "as is, where is", without recourse, together with and subject to all applicable conditions, restrictions, covenants, limitations, rights of way, streets, alleys, reservations, easements, and appurtenances of record and subject also to all environmental conditions affecting the Properties, if any. The undersigned Substitute Trustee makes no warranties or representations, express or implied, with respect to any matters concerning the Properties, including but not limited to, condition of the Properties, matters of survey or title, tenancies or parties in possession, zoning compliance, housing or other governmental or regulatory violations, environmental conditions, etc.

MANNER OF SALE: The undersigned Substitute Trustee will offer the Properties for sale as separate parcels and as a single consolidated tract. The two (2) separate parcels consisting of the above-described "Parcel One" and "Parcel Two" first will be offered for sale and the high bid for each such Parcel will be held in reserve pending the offer for sale of the above-described Properties as a single consolidated tract (the "Combined Properties"). Upon receipt of the high bid for the Combined Properties, the undersigned Substitute Trustee will determine that bid or combination of bids which will yield the greatest return to the Substitute Trustee. Upon that determination, the Substitute Trustee will accept either: (a) the respective separate bids for "Parcel One" and "Parcel Two", or (b) the bid for the Combined Properties.

TERMS OF SALE: A deposit of Ten Thousand Dollars ($10,000.00) (the "Deposit") will be required from each bidder at the time of sale in cash or by certified check or other form of payment acceptable to the undersigned Substitute Trustee in the said Substitute Trustee's sole discretion; the balance to be paid upon ratification of the sale by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland; except that no deposit shall be required of the holder (the "Holder") of the note secured by the Deed of Trust where the Holder bids on the Properties at the sale and payment of the purchase price by the Holder shall be made by crediting the purchase price against the foreclosure costs and expenses and the indebtedness secured by said Deed of Trust. Interest shall accrue on the unpaid balance of the purchase price at the rate of twelve percent (12%) per annum from the date of sale to the date of Court ratification, and at the rate of twenty percent (20%) per annum from the date of Court ratification to the date of settlement. No interest shall accrue on the Deposit. If a successful bidder (a "Purchaser") for any of the Parcels or for the Combined Properties fails to make settlement within fifteen (15) days following the date of Court ratification, time being of the essence thereto, the entire Deposit may, at the option of the undersigned Substitute Trustee, be forfeited and retained as liquidated damages and notice of said forfeiture shall be provided to such Purchaser by the Substitute Trustee. If the Deposit is not forfeited as liquidated damages, but is instead retained by the Substitute Trustee in escrow pending resale of any of the Parcels or of the Combined Properties, any of the Parcels or the Combined Properties may be resold by the Substitute Trustee at the risk and expense of the defaulting Purchaser, and the Deposit of said defaulting Purchaser thereafter shall be applied as required to any subsequently realized loss of the Substitute Trustee by virtue of the default by the said Purchaser and the required resale of the Parcels or the Combined Properties, including any expenses incidental thereto. All taxes, water, and other public charges and assessments shall be pro-rated on and as of the date of said sale and shall be assumed thereafter by the Purchaser. Following the date of sale, all risk of loss to the Properties shall be assumed by the Purchaser. The Purchaser shall pay the cost of all recordation taxes, transfer taxes (including but not limited to that agricultural land transfer tax imposed by Maryland Tax Property Code §13-302; which said tax may be applicable to the sale and transfer of the Property), document preparation and other costs of settlement. The Purchaser shall be entitled to physical possession of the Parcels or the Combined Properties, as applicable, only after settlement; however, the Substitute Trustee assumes no responsibility to place the Purchaser in such possession of the Parcels or the Combined Properties. The undersigned specifically reserves the right to reject any bids submitted. The Substitute Trustee reserves the right at the sale to vary, modify, alter or qualify any of the foregoing terms or conditions of sale.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING AMENDMENT TO THE GARRETT COUNTY WATER AND SEWERAGE MASTER PLAN
WHITEFACE FARM PROPERTY/ MCHENRY BUSINESS PARK/ WORKFORCE HOUSING DEVELOPMENT

Notice is hereby given that the Board of County Commissioners of Garrett County, Maryland, will hold a public hearing on Tuesday, January 6, 2009 at 10:00 a.m. in Room 209 at the Garrett County Courthouse located at 203 South Fourth Street, Oakland, Maryland, to consider two amendments to the Garrett County Water and Sewerage Master Plan. The proposed McHenry Business Park (MBP) is intended to utilize approximately 190 acres of the Whiteface Farm and provide developable parcels of land for occupancy by technology based businesses. A workforce housing development is proposed to utilize approximately 50 acres of the property and contain approximately 250 units consisting of a combination of lease-purchase town homes and/or duplexes and single family homes for sale. A summary of the proposed amendments is as follows:

McHenry Water System

Water service for the MBP and workforce housing development will be provided by the McHenry Water System. The water line extension will consist of approximately 15,800 lineal feet of 10-inch water main and will connect to the present system at Garrett College on Mosser Road. A 250,000 gallon aboveground water storage tank will be located on Garrett County Airport property and will provide fire suppression for the MPB, Airport and proposed workforce housing development, and supplement domestic service for the business park and housing development.

Deep Creek Lake Sewer System

Sewer service for the MBP and workforce housing development will be provided by the Deep Creek Lake Sewer System. The sewage system within the MBP will include a sewage pump station, and a collection system consisting of 8-inch gravity and 3-inch and 8-inch force mains which will discharge into the present sewer system at Garrett College on Mosser Road. The concept for the sewage collection system for the proposed housing development is to connect to the 8-inch force main serving the MBP.

Mapping of the proposed project area and the complete text of the proposed amendment can be obtained from the Garrett County Department of Public Utilities located at 2008 Maryland Highway, Suite 2, Mountain Lake Park, Maryland. Interested persons will be heard at the public hearing on Tuesday, January 6, 2009, in order to determine if the proposed amendments are necessary for the public health, safety and welfare and if the project is feasible financially and from an engineering standpoint.

Haskins, having been appointed as Substituted Trustees therein by the present holder of the Note secured thereby), default having occurred in the payment of the indebtedness thereby secured, and at the request of the party secured thereby, the undersigned Substituted Trustees will offer for sale at public auction at the main entrance of the Circuit Courthouse for Garrett County in Oakland at 203 South 4th Street, on all that land and premises described more fully in the aforesaid Deed of Trust.

The property will be sold in "AS IS" condition, subject to conditions, restrictions and agreements of record, if any. Purchaser assumes liability for any loss incurred to the property between sale and ratification.

The property is improved by a DWELLING.

TERMS OF SALE: $7,000.00 cash, cashier's check, certified check, or in such other form as the Trustees may determine acceptable, in their sole discretion, will be required of the purchaser (other than the above named Note holder) at the time and place of sale, balance of the purchase money in cash upon final ratification of sale by the Circuit Court for Garrett County and to bear interest at 6.87%, per annum from the day of sale to the day of settlement. In the event settlement is delayed for any reason, there will be no abatement of interest. In the event the above named Note holder purchases the property no deposit will be required and the requirement of interest on the balance of the purchase price shall be waived. All charges for conveyancing, recording, stamp taxes, transfer taxes, certificate of title, etc., to be at the cost of the purchaser.

All charges for private water, private sewage, private front-foot benefit charges and all other private utility charges, including legal fees assessed on behalf of private utility companies, to bo at the costs of the purchaser, regardless of the date of accrual of said charges. Expenses, water rent, and real estate taxes and all other assessments and public charges, payable on annual basis including special paving tax, if any, to be adjusted to the date of sale, and assumed thereafter by purchaser. However, the purchaser is responsible for any amount in excess of $250.00 of outstanding public water bills incurred prior to the sale. Any special assessments made by a condominium association or homeowners association are the responsibility of the purchaser. It shall be the purchaser's responsibility to obtain possession of the property in tho event it is occupied.

Time is of the essence and terms of sale are to be complied with within ten days after final ratification thereof by the Court, otherwise the deposit will be forfeited and the property will be resold at the risk and cost of the defaulting purchaser. Purchaser agrees to pay $1,000.00 plus costs if the Trustees filo a Motion to Resell with the Court. Purchaser waives personal service of said Motion to Resell and expressly agrees to accept service of any paper by regular mail directed to the address given at the time of sale. This sale Is subject to Ratification by the Circuit Court for Garrett County. If the sale is not ratified, or if a bankruptcy is filed, reinstatement or payoff funds are received, or an order to cancel sale is sent by the noteholder prior to the gavel going down, or if for any reason the Substituted Trustees are unable to convey clear, marketable title, the sale shall be void and the purchaser's sole remedy shall be the return of the deposit.

Purchaser agrees to pay $275.00 to the Seller's attorney at settlement for review of the settlement documents. Purchaser agrees to pay $150.00 to seller's attorney to review any motion filed with the Court to substitute a purchaser.

Ask The Everyday Scientist

CALCULATING THE STAR OF BETHLEHEM

by Dr. Thomas P. Sheahen

Q. A decade ago, some computer modelers were trying to calculate the time and position of the Star of Bethlehem. Whatever became of that? Were they successful?

It is true that there was an effort made to carry out such a calculation, but it didn't reach any definitive conclusions. It turns out to be an impossibly difficult calculation.

Astronomers have been interested in this kind of thing for thousands of years, and exceptionally bright objects in the sky were taken as omens of profound events by people going way back before the ancient Egyptians. Finding meaning in the stars is called astrology, and was of great importance millennia ago.

Because astrology was so important in Roman times, it is entirely plausible that a group of astrologers would undertake a journey to position themselves at some precise viewing point.

The possibility that the Star of Bethlehem might have been a supernova has been considered. However, a supernova 2,000 years ago ought to have some traces left behind. In the year 1054 A.D., a supernova exploded, and Chinese astronomers took very careful observations of it. That's how we know the year. The remnants of that supernova are now still faintly visible in the sky, known as the "Crab Nebula." There aren't any comparable observations reported by the Greeks, Romans or other civilizations of such an event around the time of Christ. So astronomers have moved on to other notions.

The distinction between fixed stars and wandering stars was well known in the ancient world. The word "planet" basically means "wandering star." As those objects wandered around the sky, occasionally they would appear to be very close to each other. That's called a conjunction, and it makes a brighter object in the sky.

Modern astronomers understand that planetary orbits are huge, and the planets are not really near each other. All the planets revolve around the sun in the same plane, so it is possible to observe them in alignment. When you're standing on one planet (Earth) and looking outward, your line-of-sight toward Mars slices across the solar system at some particular angle. Meanwhile, Jupiter moves along its own orbit far beyond Mars, but there could come a time when the Earth-Mars line-of-sight continues on to the vicinity of Jupiter. As seen from Earth, at some point Jupiter will be directly behind Mars. That's a conjunction of those two planets.

Saturn, meanwhile, has an orbit of its own, and once in a while might appear to be behind Jupiter; or it might appear to be behind Mars. These are all two-planet conjunctions. When one happens, it makes the astronomy column in the newspapers.

Conjunctions of two planets are commonplace, but a three-planet conjunction is rare. To look out from Earth at Mars, and have Jupiter appear right behind Mars, and then Saturn appear behind both of those would be a very unusual event – and the combination would appear as an exceptionally bright object.

That would have been something that really impressed ancient astrologers. So the best guess by modern astronomers is that the Star of Bethlehem was a three-planet conjunction.

Knowing the orbits of the planets, if you look at one tonight, you can use geometry to predict where it will be next week or next year. The ancient astrologers did that too, and could predict conjunctions ahead of time. Their calculations were done by hand, but were accurate enough for their purposes.

In the modern age with supercomputers, we can calculate just about any planetary motion, either forward or backward in time. We know the laws of physics by which each planet moves around the sun. Knowing where Earth is today, we can be pretty accurate in calculating where it must have been 2,000 years ago. Same goes for all the planets. If you know Earth's position 2,000 years ago, you can determine where to look for the various planets.

Unfortunately, "pretty accurate" isn't good enough to calculate what would be in the line-of-sight at some ancient time. Computer models begin with the gravitational force between the sun and each planet, but then add in the very small forces between planets that tug on each other. The biggest planets have their orbits changed by a small amount due to this effect. The pull upon Jupiter by Saturn (and vice-versa) causes each orbit to change just a little. Isaac Newton was aware of the discrepancy in their orbits, but it took LaPlace (a century later) to calculate the actual perturbation of those orbits.

Additional planets like Uranus and Neptune also tug gently on Saturn and Jupiter, and over hundreds of years those very small effects build up and cause finite changes in the orbits. The planets aren't where you calculate them to be. Mathematically, the combined motion of several planets around the sun is known as a "many body problem," and it is intractable – you cannot compute an exact solution.

Moreover, occasionally another object (like an asteroid) crashes into a planet and gives it a tiny jolt. That happened to Jupiter in the 1990s. A collision might only distort a planetary orbit by one part in a trillion, but after 60 billion seconds (2,000 years), the planet's position might have changed by ½%. Jupiter won't be at the exact same position along the line of sight from Earth to Saturn.

Bottom line? A three-planet conjunction over a millennium ago is impossible to compute. No matter how good computers get, there is not going to be any physics calculation that explains the Star of Bethlehem. It's one of those mysteries that will always remain beyond the reach of science.

'Phone Scam From Alleged WEPCO Rep Circulating

The Garrett County Sheriff's Office is warning residents of a phone scam that has been circulating among citizens.

Several citizens have been contacted via cell phone by alleged representatives of WEPCO Federal Credit Union advising that their credit card account has been closed because of third party activity. They have been advised by the suspect that the account number and pin number must be provided in order to reopen the account.

WEPCO has been contacted, and it has been confirmed that there have been no problems with credit card accounts. This is a scam. Citizens are reminded to not provide any personal information to anyone over the phone.

Garrett County Landfill will be closed on Saturdays

The Garrett County Solid Waste & Recycling Division on Oakland Sang Run Road will be closed on Saturdays to commercial haulers and individuals bringing large loads of commercial trash, beginning in January 2009 thru March 15, 2009. The scales, office and landfill will be closed. This is a cost effective benefit to the County because of the low number of customers that use the landfill and offices on Saturday during this period. Garrett County Solid Waste & Recycling Division will reopen for Saturday business on March 21, 2009, at 9 a.m. until 2:45 p.m. for large loads; until 4 p.m. at the office.

Homeowners may continue to bring their weekly household trash from 8 a.m. until noon. Applications for refuse site stickers will be available from the site attendant, and can then be mailed to the Solid Waste & Recycling Division; filled out and brought back during normal working hours Monday through Friday; or purchased at the Oakland tax office in the Courthouse Monday through Friday.

A SYMBOL OF HOPE – What better photo for a New Year's edition than this one captured by Keith Handyside as he was traveling on Peat Moss Road in Bittinger late Sunday morning? Handyside said that one could see both ends of this particular rainbow nearly touching the ground. At that time the temperature was around 60 degrees and there was a light mist falling, conditions radically different from those of this morning, as can be seen in the photo at the bottom of this page. More seasonal temperatures are predicted for the next several days, greatly pleasing winter recreation enthusiasts.

Police To Stage New Year's Eve Sobriety Checks

During a holiday when nearly 7 out of 10 of all U.S. traffic fatalities are alcohol-related (68.9%), law officers will be staging sobriety checkpoints and providing law enforcement saturation throughout the region.

Law enforcement agencies throughout Virginia, Maryland, and the District of Columbia will be stepping up efforts through increased sobriety checkpoints and saturation patrols as part of the Checkpoint Strikeforce campaign.

Sobriety checkpoints can decrease the amount of alcohol-related accidents by 20% and are set up in areas where drunk driving is likely to occur, according to a spokesperson. By intensifying their presence on the roadways this holiday, law enforcement is working to deter people from driving under the influence, and arresting those who make the wrong decision.

"New Year's Eve is a time to celebrate new beginnings. But if you drink and drive, you're inviting tragic endings," said Kurt Erickson, president and CEO of the Washington Regional Alcohol Program (WRAP), which helps to carry out the Checkpoint Strikeforce campaign.

While caution should be taken with a single year's data, there are indications that Checkpoint Strikeforce and other efforts are having an impact, the spokesperson said. Recent data released by WRAP showed that during 2007, the Washington metropolitan region experienced the first decline in drunk driving incidents in two years. Local alcohol and drug-related traffic fatalities decreased by 2½% from 2006 to 2007. Alcohol and drug related crashes decreased by more than 5%, reversing the sharp increase that occurred in 2006.

"There is never a good reason to risk your own life and that of others," Erickson said. "Even without a crash, drunk driving turns

MDE Proposal Would Legalize Use Of Outdoor Wood Boilers Statewide

The Maryland Department of the Environment plans to establish new operating/emissions standards for the sale and use of outdoor wood boilers, local health officer Rodney Glotfelty told the Garrett County commissioners last Tuesday. State and local officials are helping the MDE come up with the statewide regulations.

"This is something I've been working on in my work as a health officer with the liaison committee of MDE," Glotfelty said.

Wood boilers are free-standing wood-burning appliances that heat water, which is then pumped into a home to provide warmth. The stoves can also provide hot water year-round to buildings, spas, and swimming pools.

Glotfelty noted that the stoves are popular, particularly in Appalachia, given the high cost of fuel oil and electricity in recent years. Unfortunately, he added, they are also popular because people can burn green wood, garbage, tires, even dead animals in the stoves, creating air pollution and breathing problems for persons nearby.

Glotfelty said when people burn clean, seasoned wood, good fuel, or hard coal in the stoves, they emit a lot less pollutants.

"Currently, it's illegal to install or operate a system in Maryland," he said about wood boilers. "But it's not illegal to sell them."

Residents, however, continue to use boilers, even though it is illegal. Glotfelty said MDE will only enforce the no-use regulation on a case-by-case basis and then only if there is a complaint.

"So, if you're bothering your neighbors, they can call into the MDE and they can actually come out and shut your unit down, based on a nuisance [complaint]," Glotfelty said.

Two years ago, Del. Wendell Beitzel introduced legislation in the General Assembly that would make it legal to use wood boilers if they met certain requirements. Glotfelty said MDE opposed the bill, and Beitzel withdrew it on the condition that the department revise the current law.

A committee composed of MDE personnel, people who sell wood boilers, and planning, building permit, and health departments was formed to come up with new standards. In addition to Glotfelty, the local committee members are Director John Nelson, Garrett County Department of Planning and Land Development, and Director Steve Sherrard, Environmental Health, Garrett County Health Department.

Photographer Charged With Sex Offenses

Garrett County sheriff's deputies arrested an Oakland man after a five-month investigation of alleged sexual offenses and related crimes. James Clarden Crabtree, 55, was arrested last Friday at his residence in Oakland.

The investigation began in July of this year as a result of allegations made that Crabtree had taken partially nude photographs and reportedly had inappropriate sexual contact with a female minor. These incidents are alleged to have taken place in Crabtree's home and photography studio.

Computers and photography equipment have been seized from the location by sheriff's deputies and submitted to the Maryland State Police Computer Crimes Forensics Unit. As a result of the forensic examination, evidence specific to the investigation as well as suspected child pornography were recovered.

Crabtree has been charged with third and fourth degree sexual offence, second degree assault, sexual solicitation of a minor, exploitation, and possession of child pornography, reportedly among other charges. He was taken to the Garrett County Detention Center to be held on $30,000 bond.

Oakland Man Receives Three Years In Jail

Among recent Garrett County District Court hearings, with Judges Leonard J. Eiswert and Edward Malloy presiding, was that of Jackie Garland Friend Jr., 50, Oakland, who was found guilty on charges of contributing to the condition of a child and fourth degree sex offense.

Judge Eiswert sentenced Friend to three years for the first charge and one year for the second charge, with 37 days of credit time served, and all fines were suspended.

He was arrested in November by Garrett County sheriff's officers on multiple traffic charges and drug charges stemming from a motor vehicle accident. Two passengers in his car were minors, and were reported to have been "felt forced" by Friend to consume alcohol and marijuana. After speaking with one of the minors, it was stated that Friend sexually assaulted the minor on two separate occasions.

Friend was not prosecuted on two charges of furnishing an alcoholic beverage to a minor, two other charges of contributing to the condition of a child, three charges of assault in the second degree, two charges of third degree sex offense, and one other charge of fourth degree sex offense.

In an unrelated case, Timothy Hart Winkler, 25, Oakland, was handed a guilty verdict by Judge Malloy for failure to obey a reasonable and lawful order of a law enforcement officer, and was sentenced to 30 days with all fines being suspended.

In September, the Oakland Police Department (CS-11) responded to a residence for a disorderly person. Winkler was shouting and cursing in the front yard of a residence and created a disturbance within the neighborhood. After multiple attempts by officers asking Winkler to "lower his voice," he was arrested and taken to the detention center for failure to obey orders.

In another district court hearing, Judge Malloy sentenced Billy Jo Pfeffer, 35, Morgantown, to 10 days with 10 days of credit time served after being found guilty on a charge of theft less than $100, and fines were suspended.

Maryland State Police arrested Pfeffer, along with two other adults whose cases are pending, after an

by Mary Sincell MeEwen

As 2008 rapidly comes to a close, a look back to the stories that made this front page over the past year was deemed warranted in the newsroom of The Republican. Much has transpired over the past 12 months, and many items are worthy of a revisit.

WIND TURBINES

The heated controversy over the erecting of wind turbines in the county has dominated the front page news much of the year. In January, the paper reported that Pennsylvania-based U.S. Wind Force had asked Governor Martin O'Malley for leases in Potomac and Savage River state forests to clear an estimated 400 acres and construct up to 100 40-story-tall turbines. The majority of the local population, along with Senator George Edwards and the Western Maryland Delegation, came out strongly against the plan.

The arguments made by local residents and officials included the adverse effects to the environment and wildlife, the altering of the aesthetic views, and the fact that the wind in Maryland is far more consistent and strong in the eastern part of the state, along the coast and the Chesapeake Bay A Maryland wind map created by the United States Department of Energy was published on the front page, showing the strongest winds definitely in those areas, and relatively light activity in the western part of the state.

Public meetings with hundreds in attendance were held with the Maryland Department of Natural Resources, at which residents voiced strong opposition to the use of public lands in this way. The Garrett County Chamber of Commerce, the Garrett County commissioners, Delegate Wendell Beitzel, the Garrett County Democratic Central Committee, the Deep Creek Property Owners Association, and several other entities and businesses came out in strong opposition as well.

In the end, the governor hosted a press conference at the Savage River State Forest in April, and the edict was that no public lands would be leased for wind turbines.

While the act was seen as a definite victory by those who oppose, the wind turbine issue remains, as private property owners may erect them if desired. Those in opposition have implored the Garrett County commissioners to pass zoning laws disallowing the turbines, but so far this has not occurred. In fact, the comprehensive plan for the county was amended by the commissioners when they excised paragraphs that would have

A DONATION FOR DEREK – Backwoods Extreme Motor Sports recently donated a 50cc Suni mini-four-wheeler to the members of the Casselman Valley Sportsman's Club to benefit Derek Broadwater. A shooting match and auction will be held at the club on Saturday, Jan. 10, beginning at 1 p.m., to help raise funds for 15-year-old Derek's medical bills and living expenses as he recovers from a liver transplant at Children's Hospital in Pittsburgh. "We are happy to be giving back to the community, since they have supported us," said Charity Platter of Backwoods Extreme Motor Sports. For more information or to make a donation, persons may call 301-895-5094 or 301-697-8472. Pictured are Timmie Warnick, benefit coordinator (left), and Platter.

HOW MANY SNOWSTORMS has the historic Oakland train station withstood? However many it is, today's blizzard is the latest to assail the old brick building, along with every other structure in Garrett County. The storm seemed to arrive in a hurry, following a night of high winds and temperatures in the lower 40s. Suddenly at about 7 a.m., the temps dropped, the snow came, and the wind picked up, making travel very dicey and forcing furnaces into overdrive. It's an all-out true Garrett County storm, coming at a time when the schools are closed anyway and most have tomorrow off. Not such a bad time for a blizzard to arrive. But all those planning to ring in the New Year might want to do it at home, as the storm will most likely continue into the night. Photo by a very cold and snowy John McEwen.

Racial Disparity Still Plagues Maryland Corrections System

Capital News Service

Going to prison is hard, but Alfreda "Frieda" Robinson used her arrogance to get by.

During her prison time, Robinson used that arrogance to demand access to little things like cranberry juice for women suffering with urinary tract infections.

But 18 years ago, Robinson was a Baltimore educator and high school guidance counselor with two master's degrees in special education. She was working three jobs trying to support her only son, David, whom she had at 15, and who needed treatment for ADHD and other behavioral issues.

The son ended up selling cocaine, and Robinson blames herself for putting them both in prison after she called a friend's mother to try to help him out, and she became implicated in a conspiracy to sell drugs. Robinson was sentenced to jail for 10 years, and her then 21-year-old son to 45 years.

Robinson's story is one example of what happens when Maryland's complex and tough drug laws combine with its mandatory minimum sentencing laws – an overwhelmingly black prison population, serving time for drug offenses.

Over the last decade, the number of blacks in Maryland prisons has stayed static at about 75 percent of the corrections population. Currently, 35 percent of all Maryland prisoners are in jail for drug-related offenses, according to a Capital News Service analysis. In 2003, 90 percent of drug offender inmates were black, and today that number remains at 86 percent, according that analysis.

"We've been spending billions on drug-related issues now for 30 years – the so-called war on drugs – and no one who's honest about it thinks it's been successful, and Maryland is a poster child for this," said Gary LaFree, University of Maryland criminal justice expert. "You'd be amazed to see how many are in prison for drug-related offenses . . . it's phenomenal."

Maryland imposes mandatory minimum sentencing for handgun and drug distribution offenses. Distribution, possession with intent to distribute, or manufacture of drugs is a felony, with penalties of up to five years in prison, with repeat offenders facing a mandatory sentence of two years. For specific drugs like cocaine and heroin, the maximum prison cap is raised to 20 years, with a second offense carrying a mandatory minimum of 10 years.

"The problem is distinguishing between [minor] and the more major players who are distributing for profit," said David Soule, executive director of the Maryland State Sentencing Policy Commission. "That is difficult to distinguish, and it's something that judges take into consideration if they can or have enough information to be able to do that."

The state has made some attempts at reducing the disparity. In 2004, Maryland passed a bill designed to reduce the disparity in prisons through providing treatment and avoiding incarceration for drug offenders, but the gap remains large.

"All people of color are disproportionally affected, but African-Americans are by far the most disproportionally treated by the criminal justice system in Maryland and, of course, across the country," said Amanda Peterutti, researcher at the Justice Policy Institute.

The criminal justice policy group called the Sentencing Project found in a study last year that blacks in the United States were imprisoned at rates more than five times that of whites.

Russell P. Butler, executive director of the Maryland Crime Victims Resource Center and former Maryland state sentencing policy commissioner, said he was unsure why the numbers showed that more blacks were in prison, but that the commission would benefit from creating a model that separates those who are likely to benefit from treatment and those that aren't.

"The numbers are the numbers, and I don't know what anybody can do about that," Butler said. "I'm not confident to say that's a problem and anything other than those are the numbers."

Over the last 25 years, Maryland's prison population has tripled, according to the Maryland Department of Corrections.

High prison rates come at a great financial cost to the state, especially for those who repeatedly return to the corrections system. Last year, the state spent about $1.4 billion in maintaining prisons. The problem requires more solutions than imprisonment, said one judge.

"I see more African-Americans than I see any other race, and it's more complicated than you may suspect," said Maryland District Court Judge Emmanuel Brown, who said about two-thirds of the cases he hears are drug-related. "I'm not of the opinion that we should do one thing as opposed to another. We have to work in concert with health care as well as the criminal justice system to try to arrest this problem."

Many, like Brown, speculate that there are many reasons why the disproportionate black population in prisons continues to trouble the state.

"Historically, it's probably rooted in black history through the institution of slavery and the discrimination that followed," LaFree said. "In some ways it's sort of Sociology 101 – things that strengthen the family, things that strengthen the economy, things that provide effective rehabilitation once people are in the criminal justice system, greater investment in kids in general, pretty much all of those things makes sense in eliminating the disparity."

Many advocate a multi-pronged approach.

"States and counties have to make a commitment to do something about it – that involves training, that involves awareness, making public statements, cultural competency and de-incarceration, which is very difficult for some people to get their arms around," Peterutti said.

In addition, the state doesn't look at what does and doesn't work in specific communities and isn't experimental enough, LaFree said.

"There is certainly a subset of the incarceration population that can be handled through community supervision," Soule said. "We're incarcerating them at a cost that is pretty prohibitive. In-carceration should focus primarily on those who pose the greatest public safe-ty risk."

Robinson knows the truth of that.

Robinson has made it her life's mission to help prisoners in Maryland, and there is still much to do. Three years after her release, Robinson founded the National Women's Prison Project, a 5-year-old, Baltimore-based organization that battles re-cidivism among women prisoners. In 2004, Robinson was named Baltimore City Paper's "Best Activist."

"The #1 priority for me would be to have a realistic viewpoint of the communities we live in – that means recognizing the breakdowns of so many systems," Robinson said. "We've got to humanize people again by actually showing the realness of their situation. We've been too overzealous in imprisoning people."

incident at the Keysers Ridge Truck Stop, where they had reportedly not paid for a meal.

After a check of the defendants' names, it was found that all three were wanted by the FBI. They were placed under arrest for theft and for hindering and obstructing a police officer.

Dawn Marie Allison, 36, Accident, was found guilty by Judge Malloy on a charge of attempting to obtain drugs by fraud, and she was sentenced to six months, with all being suspended, 18 months of unsupervised probation, with all fines suspended.

Charges were made in July after Garrett County sheriff's officers responded to the Oakland CVS Pharmacy for a reported prescription fraud. It was stated that the pharmacy was aware that prescription sheets had been stolen from a local doctor's office. After suspecting Allison of using the stolen sheets, the pharmacy did not fill the prescription for Allison. She was identified by officers from security cameras in the store, and a warrant was sent out for her arrest.

Allison was not charged on charges of forgery of a prescription, issuing a forged prescription, and possessing a forged prescription.

Robert Tyler Clark, 22, Ft. Mitchell, Ky., was handed a probation before judgment (PBJ) for a CDS possession of paraphernalia charge, with sentencing of one day of unsupervised probation, and $150 in fines.

He was arrested in April after GCSO and the Garrett County Narcotics Task Force performed an exterior scan of Clark's dorm room at Garrett College, McHenry. A positive alert for the presence of the odor of illegal drugs was coming from the room.

After officers made contact with Clark, they entered the room. They conducted a search in the room and located a smoking pipe containing burnt marijuana. Clark was not prosecuted on a charge of CDS possession of marijuana by Judge Malloy.

Mark Sanford Duckworth, 51, Swanton, was placed on stet by Judge Malloy for two separate second degree assault charges, with conditions being to abstain from drinking. He was arrested after GCSO responded to reports of domestic disputes in June and again in August.

James Milton Reckart, 54, Oakland, was placed on stet by Judge Eiswert for violating an ex parte protective order that had been placed in June, with conditions being to obey all laws and to have no contact with the victim of the order. He violated the order on the same day the order was placed.

Connie Marie Workman, 23, Oakland, was not prosecuted on a charge of second degree assault. She was arrested in June after an altercation with another adult victim.

Two Arrested By NR Police

The Maryland Natural Resources Police charged Eric C. Garlitz, 22, of Missoula, Mont., and Karl W. Miller, 24, of McHenry on Dec. 16 with casting rays of artificial light on fields or woodland along Rock Lodge Road near McHenry. NRP responded to the area after receiving a report of possible illegal nighttime hunting activity.

NRP initiated a traffic stop after observing the two allegedly shining a light on the fields and woodlands along the roadway. During the course of the stop, NRP located and seized as evidence a small bag of suspected marijuana and a smoking pipe.

Garlitz was arrested and additionally charged with possession of controlled dangerous substance (CDS) marijuana and possession of CDS paraphernalia. He was taken before a Garrett County District Court commissioner and released on his own recognizance.

W.Va. Driver Taken To GCMH After Vehicle Accident

A West Virginia driver was taken to Garrett County Memorial Hospital last Friday following a single-vehicle accident on Gorman Road.

Preliminary investigation by Garrett County sheriff's deputies found Vanessa Brown, 50, Gormania, had been traveling southbound on Gorman Road, when she lost control of her vehicle. Her vehicle struck the guardrail, an embankment, and then became airborne before coming to rest in a nearby creek bed.

Brown was taken to Garrett Memorial by Southern Rescue Squad for treatment of injuries sustained in the accident. Gorman Volunteer Fire Department also responded to the scene.

Details of the accident are still under investigation, and charges are pending the outcome of the investigation.

Antibiotics Prescribed for Group B Strep

Group B streptococcus (strep) is a bacteria that may lead to a serious condition in newborns. Typically, adults are not adversely affected by this bacterial strain. However, certain groups of adults, such as those with certain chronic conditions like diabetes, may be more susceptible to serious illness due to group B strep. Pregnant women should be screened for group B strep during the third tnmester. Infants born to women carrying group B strep may be at risk of eariy-onset or late-onset group B strep disease. Early-onset group B strep disease is characterized by fever and lethargy beginning within the first 12 hours after birth. Late-onset group B strep disease may occur up to several months after birth, and is characterized by fever and difficulty feeding, as well as upper respiratory infection and seizures.

For adults requiring treatment for an infection with group B strep, antibiotics may be prescribed. Penicillin G and cephalexin may be prescribed for pregnant women who experience complications attributable to group B strep. Infants infected with this type of bacteria are typically given intravenous (IV) antibiotics. Infants with more severe forms of the condition may require IV fluids, oxygen, and other medications to treat complications.

Mobile Home Destroyed By Fire This A.M.

A mobile home located at 740 Crellin Mine Road was destroyed by fire this morning (Wednesday).

Volunteers from the Oakland, Terra Alta, Deer Park, and Gorman fire departments were summoned to the residence at 2:41 a.m. Also responding was the county air cascade unit from the Deep Creek VFD, as well as the Southern Rescue Squad.

The trailer was engulfed in flames upon the arrival of the first units. Damages were reportedly estimated to be $25,000.

There were no injuries reported; however, further details of the incident were not received by presstime this morning.

A ROUTINE CHORE in Garrett County is, of course, snow-shoveling, which is being undertaken all over the mountaintop today, or at least will be when the wind dies down. A blizzard is ushering in the new year, after the Christmas holiday was mostly washed in rain. There should be plenty of snow for sled-riding, so all the kids, now at home on vacation, can get off the couch, put down the Wii or XBox controller, and take some thrilling rides down a hillside. Must-Have Items For Winter Power Outages Listed

During the winter months, especially in areas where the weather is typically harsh, persons should be fully prepared to cope with winter power outages. Depending on how much damage is done by a storm, one's power could be out for several hours to several days.

The following is a list from the CampSafe Coalition of 10 "must-have" items to ensure the safety of local residents during those long power outages:

1. Battery-powered lighting. When evening rolls around, battery-powered lights and lamps provide a safe and reliable light source. Flashlights are handy for temporary uses, but battery-powered camping lanterns can be used to light rooms, hallways, and stairs without the fear of an open-flame candle.

2. Bottled water Don't wait until the last minute to buy bottled water. Having several cases of bottled water on hand for drinking and cooking is a smart safeguard. One can never be too cautious when it comes to using clean water.

3. Propane stove. While crackers and chips may hold one over for a short time, a person may need some alternative foods. A propane stove is an excellent way to boil water and prepare hot meals. Portable propane stoves also use 1-lb. propane cylinders and are easy to use.

4. Canned food and high-energy snacks. Keep a stock of canned food and items that are easy to cook on a portable propane stove. Also keep a variety of energy bars and snacks available to eat throughout the day. This ensures hot meals for one's family.

5. Portable propane heater. When it comes to having an emergency heat source, it's best to have a portable heater that is indoor-safe approved. Portable radiant models, like those made by Mr. Heater, features an oxygen depletion sensor (ODS) which automatically shuts the heater off when air circulation is reduced.

The Coleman Company offers a line of catalytic heaters that can be used safely inside. The catalytic material provides a low burning surface that generates heat without rapidly using the surrounding air.

Both types of heaters use disposable 1-lb. propane cylinders. Whether one uses a radiant heater or a catalytic heater, the CampSafe Coalition warns never to sleep overnight in an enclosed space while any fuel-burning appliance is operating because of the risk of carbon monoxide (CO) poisoning.

6. Sleeping bags. They keep body heat inside while keeping the cold air out. Some sleeping bags are designed for colder temperatures than others. Wearing stocking caps is also recommended to prevent losing body heat. Having a sleeping bag combined with a head covering is a sure way to keep warm at night.

7. Cellphone. In cases of emergencies, a cell phone is good to have for contacting Emergency Services, relatives, or calling for information on weather, roads, etc.

8. Weather radio. Having a weather radio helps one plan ahead. They broadcast alerts for emergencies, tornados, thunderstorms, blizzards, etc. Knowing what the weather is expected to do can help one plan how to more wisely use supplies of food and fuel.

9. Gas-powered generator. This is a good investment to have during long power outages. A generator can be used for recharging batteries and keeping the refrigerator cold, just to name a few. However, one might want to run a generator conservatively to save on gasoline.

10. Gasoline & propane supply. Having the necessary amounts of fuel to run a generator, snow blower, propane heater, propane stove, and other small appliances is important to keep in mind. Many small propane appliances can run five to eight hours on one 1-lb. propane cylinder. Generator fuel use varies from one to four gallons of gasoline in about a 15-20 hour span. Never use a portable generator inside.

Portable propane and gasoline-powered products burn and consume oxygen for combustion and give off carbon monoxide, which can lead to carbon monoxide poisoning. This can result in the loss of consciousness and death. Make sure to read all product packaging and manufacturer's operating instructions before using any fuel-burning appliance.

Propane cylinders should not be stored indoors, and it is against most fire regulations to use a 20-pound barbecue cylinder inside. Check the manufacturer's instructions for proper use

New Year's Ramblings...

In the attempt to address the various negative aspects of life, human beings generally relish opportunities to begin anew, to wipe the slate clean and start fresh, to regroup and readjust to make things better in our lives. The new year is a pivotal time for such behavior, a time when we try to commit to making positive, personal changes. We resolve to lose weight, to quit smoking, to be more frugal, to read more, etc. These are all things that, with determination and commitment, are generally doable.

The new year is also a time of renewed hope that things will get better in our nation and in the world, something over which most of us have little or no control. We hope that the state of our economy will improve, that there will be new discoveries in the treatment of life-threatening illnesses, and that warfare in so many regions of the world will cease. Unfortunately, changes in the calendar have virtually no control over situations such as these.

A perfect example is the renewed military actions between the Palestinians and Israelis, with almost continuous warfare in that region going back many centuries. There are nearly 300 references in the Old Testament (Hebrew Bible), written some 2,600 years ago, to Philistia and/or the Philistines. According to the Bible, the Philistines and ancient Israel spent much of their history at war with each other. Today's Palestinians are not the same people as yesterday's Philistines; however, the territorial borders of ancient Philistia are roughly those of today's Gaza Strip.

While religious differences (in this case, Jewish vs. Muslim) are typically blamed as the primary reason for this never-ending conflict in the Middle East, the real cause has far more to do with cultural differences, ethnicity, fear, and just plain old human selfishness. Some avow that the creation of the modern state of Israel transplanted a European democracy into a land where that was culturally, politically, and ethnically alien. Both sides claim that God is on their side, though, because that makes it easier to justify their hostile actions. In so doing, they give religion a bad name.

Greed and the lust for power – not religious differences – are the typical root causes of hostilities among nations, just as they are among groups of people and between individuals. Muslims, Christians, and Jews are all advocates of peace, and these groups do indeed coexist in many parts of the world, including elsewhere in the Middle East.

So President-elect Obama and others have their work cut out for them on this issue as another new year unfolds, but history suggests that there is simply no lasting solution.

(Oh, and while driving to work in the blizzard this morning, a suggested resolution for certain drivers vividly came to mind, and this is one that is absolutely attainable: Turn on your stinking headlights in weather like this, in the rain, and also when it begins to get dark!)

Happy New Year.

Letters to the Editor

Writers of letters to the editor are reminded that letters will not be published if they exceed 400 words, do not include contact information, and/or are deemed to be libelous.

To the Editor:

On behalf of Boy Scout Troop 22 of Oakland, I would like to extend our most sincere appreciation to the people who assisted us with our Christmas tree sales project over the last two years. To Harold Harris of Oak Ridge Farms in Swanton for the tree donation, to Rob McBee of Swanton Store for allowing us to set our trees up at his location, and to all of the people who purchased trees and/or made donations to our troop, thank you so much!

The money from the sales of these trees will help the boys in paying for such things as Scout camp, trips, pursuit of their many merit badges, etc.

Once again, thank you very much. Troop 22 greatly appreciates your help!

To the Editor:

After celebrating Christmas, I wonder how many people across the country really knew the "reason for the season," or was it just another day to be off work, for getting gifts, having a party, and so on? I also wonder why so many merchants make a big issue out of it. The best gift any of us can receive was born in a manger over 2,000 years ago. That gift cannot be bought at places like Wal-Mart.

I also wonder why so many are against the "reason for the season," as well as saying prayers in school, having religious things displayed in government buildings, and so on. The apartment complex where my wife and I reside does not allow tenants to display in public common areas anything pertaining to Jesus Christ. It's not the apartment complex manager's decision, but the ruling of HUD in Washington, D.C. If my wife and I got caught doing this, we would be subject to a huge monetary fine. But, I wonder if they'll take our money. It says "In God We Trust" on the back of it.

Looking Back

protected mountain ridges from such development. And the commissioners have agreed to the use of county land for turbines. Some are scheduled for construction perhaps as early as this spring in the Landon's Dam area beyond Smouse Road in the southern part of the county, although the mayor and town council of Mountain Lake Park are strongly opposed, as the dam is the major water source for their town and they are concerned about possible contamination.

The commissioners see the development as a lucrative endeavor, and also as a step toward more green power and away from the use of fossil fuels. Those opposed maintain that the area is not suitable for wind power, and the towers will adversely affect wildlife and mar the scenic value of the mountaintop, which is considered to be one of the most valuable assets of the county. So the debate continues into 2009.

OAKLAND BYPASS

Another "hot" issue in at least the southern part of Garrett County has been the proposed multi-million dollar Oakland bypass, a project of the State Highway Administration that is supported by the town council of Oakland, but strongly opposed by the Mtn. Lake Park council.

Many residents have voiced loud opposition to the project. Garrett Countians for Smart Growth is an organized citizen group that has been active in opposing the $42 million project, maintaining that it is not necessary, it will cut off byways between the towns of Oakland and Mtn. Lake Park, and that there are other much less costly ways of improving existing roads to alleviate traffic in the downtown area.

Proponents of the bypass, including the mayor and town council of Oakland, claim the bypass is needed to relieve truck congestion in the town. While opponents claim the bypass will keep people from coming into the town, the mayor avers that the city is a destination spot, and the hospital, courthouse, museum, and other establishments will continue to draw people in.

While the project was steaming ahead, with construction to begin as early as '09, the national economy's downward spiral put an end to all plans, at least for now. Maryland Transportation Secretary John D. Porcari announced in September during a press conference in Annapolis that his department had been forced to cut back on transportation projects by $1.1 billion over the next six fiscal years because of national economic conditions. Among those cut was the bypass project.

Some of the right-of-way funding and all of the construction money for that initiative was deferred. State officials did stress that the projects have not been canceled, but are merely put on hold for now, at least for six years. Opponents to the bypass were pleased with the announcement, and have noted that they will remain active in their opposition, with the ultimate goal of having the project removed from the state's plans entirely.

THREE TORNADOS?

The weather in 2008 was, as it almost always is in this particular corner of the world, diverse. The winter of '08 was snowy, but it was also rather windy (despite the fact that the mountaintop is definitely not the windiest place in the state). As many as three tornados (two confirmed) touched down in the county, beginning on Feb. 6. On that day, either a tornado, or at least a powerful "micro-burst," developed, uprooting large trees around the Youghiogheny Mountain Resort area. It then "bounced" north, touching down again near the Garrett County Airport, and then on into Grantsville. The damage was fairly severe to many acres of forestland, although no one was injured.

Then on May 31, the conditions were right again for a funnel cloud, which came to Cranesville, W.Va., ripping down a 200-year-old oak which was pictured on the front page. The tornado damaged property in Cranesville, although if it had touched down just a few yards to the left, most of the houses in that area would have been severely damaged or destroyed.

The third instance came two months later when, on July 30 about 6:20 p.m., a confirmed tornado tore through the Accident, Jennings, and Friendsville areas, damaging several homes. Warnings were received in time for residents to take cover, and again no injuries were reported. Several photographs of the damage wrought by this storm were published in that week's issue, including a dramatic action shot of the funnel cloud taken by Daniel Beitzel, 16, as he watched it approach his home along Accident Bittinger Road.

ACCOMPLISHED YOUTH

The front page of The Republican newspaper often includes photos and/or stories of the youth of the area and their accomplishments. For a small, rural area, the young people seem to fare very well on the national and even international stages. Local LEGO robotics teams have achieved high goals all year long. The NeXT GEN LEGO Team, made up of eight local teenagers, traveled to the FIRST LEGO League World Festival in Atlanta in April, and won a first place in Research Project Quality Award for their alternative energy plan: using a methane digester to turn cow manure into "Cow Power."

Several other local LEGO teams seem to be ahead of the curve in nearly every competition, earning high honors and making the front page several times.

The Crellin Elementary School was given a National Civic Star Award in January from the American Association of School Administrators for its Corps of Discovery Program.

Sara King, daughter of Brad and Shannon King of Oakland, brought home the gold medal and national title in the 2008 United States National Aerobic Gymnastics Championships, held in July at Las Vegas.

Bethany Savage, daughter of Terry and Carol Savage, earned a spot on the Redskins cheerleading squad, and baseball player Tobi Stoner was promoted to play AA professional ball for the New York Mets. J.D. Welch, 14-year-old son of Jerry and Tracy Welch, won first place in the 2008 Can-Am Grand National Cross Country Series, riding his modified Cobra 70 in the Florida race, held in March.

Joanna Guy, Swanton, was crowned Miss Maryland's Outstanding Teen, and then was named the third runner-up for the national Miss America's Outstanding Teen in August. Guy also won the national title of Grand Torchbearer in the 2008 National Storytelling Showcase, held in Pigeon Forge, Tenn., in February. Emily Rosser of Accident earned the Girl Scout Gold Award, the highest honor in Girl Scouting, and twins Jeremy and Joshua Ash became Eagle Scouts this year.

The Southern High School wrestling team finished up its season by placing second in the state of Maryland, this against 66 other 1A and 2A high schools, and sophomore (now junior) George Scheffel won his second state championship title. The girls' and boys' soccer teams at Northern High School had stellar seasons this fall, and the Southern Garrett Marching Band won the Chapter 13 Championships, a multi-state field show competition. Becky Berkebile was selected to be Maryland's National FFA Officer candidate, and went to the national convention this fall.

THE ARTS ARE ALIVE IN GC

The arts are alive and well in Garrett County, as evidenced by the wide variety of offerings all year long. There are too many to note here, but some stand out, such as Jane Avery's powerful production of The Diary of Anne Frank last January at Our Town Theatre, the Pittsburgh Symphony's performance in July, made possible by the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival, and the numerous artists' studio tours hosted by the area's diverse artisan community.

The Theatre on the Lake (TOTL) was back again this year, offering a series of stage performances at Garrett College, and the Garrett Choral Society presented two concerts, one in the spring focused on Americana music, and then a presentation of George Handel's Messiah in December. Our Town Theatre continued its busy schedule of play offerings, presenting a number of shows at its Oakland venue, and the Spruce Forest Artisan Village in Grantsville was in operation once again. Music at Penn Alps offered its weekly series of recitals and chamber concerts, this year branching out to Cumberland for a few shows. The Garrett Community Concert Band presented three concerts, and the Accident Community Band and the Garrett Highlands Pipes and Drums maintained busy performance schedules as well.

Local artist Laura Stutzman, Mtn. Lake Park, gained national attention with her four elegant paintings of the United States flag that were released as first class U.S. postal stamps in June. Matthew Sincell, a Garrett County native and now resident of New York City, was nominated for an Innovative Theatre Award by the New York Innovative Theatre Foundation. He was up for Outstanding Actor in a Featured Role, and with his fellow cast members of Burn, Crave, Hold: The James Wilde Project, was also up for Best Ensemble, which they won.

THE GREAT OUTDOORS

The surroundings of Garrett County provide the perfect place for adventure sporting, and the activities were nearly nonstop all year, especially at the Adventure Sports Center International's whitewater course atop Marsh Mountain in McHenry. Athletes from all around the world, including the United States 2008 Canoe/Kayak Team, traveled to that mountaintop to train this year, thrilling spectators and making good use of the unique training course. In addition to international stars, several local students were given a run or two on the course as a reward for good grades, and several others took advantage of discount tickets for county residents to experience a rafting adventure.

The SavageMan Triathlon was held for the second year in a row in September, again attracting international athletes to the county for a grueling competition of swimming (1.2 miles), biking (55.7 miles), and running (13.1 miles). Nearly 600 people took part in the daylong event, which raises money for the Joanna M. Nicolay Melanoma Foundation.

Deep Creek Lake was a busy place this summer, with perhaps more boats than ever before on the water. The many state parks of Garrett County had lots of visitors, and offered a wide variety of outdoor programming to all. The Wisp Ski Resort had a good season last year, and has started into the '08-09 season with a fairly good beginning.

As this paper is published today, a blizzard is raging, following a much warmer-than-normal Christmas week, during which the temperatures were in the 50s. So the year 2009 shall begin in Garrett County with snow on the ground and temperatures back to the usual 20-30 degree range. Won't seem all that long until spring comes again, then our blue-skied summer, our colorful, brisk fall, and then back to another beginning.

Attorney General Seeing $8.5 Million Claim Against Voting System Company

Attorney General Douglas F. Gansler last Wednesday announced that Maryland has presented Premier Election Solutions (formerly known as Global Election Systems Inc. and Diebold Elections Systems Inc.) with a claim to recover costs the state incurred to correct flaws in the touch screen voting system supplied by the company.

In December 2001, the state contracted with Diebold Election Systems Inc. to provide a touch screen voting system including hardware, software, documentation, and support services. The state's payments to Diebold under the voting system contract have totaled approximately $90 million, according to Gansler.

After the state's initial acceptance of the new system, he said, expert, independent investigations revealed concealed security vulnerabilities in the voting system. In response to those investigations, beginning in fiscal year 2004, the state and Diebold implemented measures to cure the deficiencies that were identified.

"The citizens of Maryland must have a voting system they can trust, and Diebold promised to provide such a system," said Gansler. "Yet the equipment supplied by Diebold had vulnerabilities that needed to be fixed before it could be used in state elections. Under the terms of the contract, the company must reimburse the state for its costs of fixing Diebold's voting system to make it more accurate, reliable, and secure."

Diebold recently presented Maryland with nearly $4 million in bills arising from services it provided for the 2008 elections under the voting system contract. As allowed by the contract and state law, Maryland is withholding payment on those and future bills from Diebold until the dispute is settled, Gansler noted.

According to the attorney general, the deficiencies in the Diebold system, as originally supplied by the company, included but were not limited to the following:

•The voting system was not compliant with the state's Information Security Policy and Standards;

•There was a need for the state to put into place an integrated process to ensure the integrity of the system;

•The system did not provide for election vote totals to be transmitted with cryptographic protocols with 100% verification of the transmitted results;

•The system required a risk assessment of its operation, and every significant modification of the system requires a new risk assessment to be performed;

•The system lacked adequate access controls;

•The system lacked provisions to assure that only certified software was loaded; and,

•The system's audit logs were not properly configured.

To implement corrective measures, the state incurred costs for consulting and technical services, personnel and logistics, and materials and supplies. The state estimates the total cost of these expenditures, to date, at $8.47 million.

CORINNE C. BELL

Corinne Chandler "Chan" Bell, 83, died Thursday, Dec. 25, 2008, at her home on Deep Creek Lake.

Born June 22, 1925, in Hannibal, Mo., she was the daughter of the late O.W. Chandler and Mary Chandler. She was also preceded in death by one son, Jeffrey C. Bell; and one brother, Willis Chandler.

She and her husband, while living in Washington, D.C., maintained a residence at Deep Creek Lake beginning in the mid-1960s. They became full-time residents in 1990. She was active in local bridge circles and was an early GLAF member involved in the planning of major public functions. She was the former president of the Four Hooppole Homeowners Association and the Sandy Beach Homeowners Association.

Mrs. Bell traveled extensively throughout the world, often assisting her husband with the planning of social activities during his work in the broadcast industry and as president of the American Advertising Federation. She was also involved in the management of two farms in Illinois. While her son was involved in the construction business, she designed several homes in the area, including her own.

Mrs. Bell was a graduate of Columbia College and the University of Missouri in Columbia, Mo.

She is survived by her husband of 61 years, Howard H. Bell; two daughters, Mary Elizabeth Bell, Oakland, and Lauri Guardia, Bethesda; two grandchildren Amanda Elizabeth Bell, New York, and Blair Guardia, a student at Skidmore College, Saratoga Springs, N.Y.

Friends were received at David A. Burdock Funeral Home, Oakland.

A service was conducted on Tuesday, Dec. 30, at St. Matthew's Episcopal Church, Oakland, with the Rev. Dr. Chip Lee officiating.

A memorial service is also being planned for a later date.

Contributions in her name may be made to Columbia College, Columbia, Mo.; or to the American Heart Association.

(Paid Obituary)

She was employed as a nursing assistant at the Kidwell Nursing Home, Romney, W.Va.

She is survived by two sons, Leon Cosner, Harrisonburg, Va., and Ronald Cosner, Capon Bridge, W.Va.; one daughter, Helen Frick, Crossville, Tenn.; four sisters, Laura Shreves, Oakland, Glenna Streets, Petersburg, W.Va., Leona Dawson, Cabins, W.Va., and Evelyn Bosley, Winchester; eight grandchildren; eight great-grandchildren; and one great-great-grandson.

Friends were received at Shaffer Funeral Home, Romney, where a service was conducted on Saturday, Dec. 27, with the Rev. Ken Smith officiating.

MILDRED V. MILLER

Mildred Virginia Miller, 95, Grantsville, died Tuesday, Dec. 23, 2008, at Frostburg Village Nursing Home, Frostburg.

Born April 24, 1913, in Beryl, W.Va., she was a daughter of the late Joseph Tibbett and Julia (Mitter) Tibbett Windle. She was also preceded in death by her husband, Ivan E. Miller; four brothers, James Tibbett, Joseph Tibbett, Arthur Tibbett, and Harold "Mike" Windle; and four sisters, Annie Tibbett, Gladys Beeman, Eleanor Shillingburg, and Charlotte Lee Windle.

She was a homemaker and the last surviving member of her immediate family. She also ran Teen Town with her husband at the American Legion.

She is survived by one sister-in-law, Wilma Younkin, Grantsville; and many nieces and nephews.

Friends were received at Newman Funeral Home, Grantsville, where a service was conducted on Sunday, Dec. 28, with the Rev. David E. Fetter officiating.

Interment was held in Grantsville Cemetery.

LINDA WILES

Linda Wiles, 56, Meyersville, died Tuesday, Dec. 9, 2008, at her home after a year-long battle with cancer.

Born Dec. 29, 1951, in Frederick, she was a daughter of Lucille (Bowser) and the late Charles "Hambone" Wiles. She was also preceded in death by one uncle, Harland E. Bowser Sr., six hours earlier on the same day she died.

Linda was a teacher in the Frederick County school system for 35 years.

In addition to her mother, she is survived by one sister, Elizabeth "Libby" Bowers, Meyersville; one brother, Charles "Chuck" Wiles, Meyersville; and several nieces and nephews.

A memorial service was held on Saturday, Dec. 20, at Zion Lutheran Church, Middletown.

MATTHEW E. MARTIN JR.

Matthew Ellis Martin Jr., 91, Oakland, died Saturday, Dec. 27, 2008, at Ruby Memorial Hospital, Morgantown, W.Va.

Born Dec. 23, 1917, in Gilmore, he was a son of the late Matthew Ellis Martin Sr. and Lula C. (Richardson) Martin. He was also preceded in death by his wife of 54 years, Ruth (Beitzel) Martin, one sister, Ida Largent; and two nephews, Wesley Lidie and Mack Hart.

Ellis was a member of the CCCs and the NYA during the 1930s and 1940. He was drafted into military service in May 1941 and was discharged in October 1945. Ellis was a member of the 4th Armored Division, Co. A 704th T.D. Bn. He saw service in occupied France and Germany and earned Purple Heart and Bronze Star medals during the Battle of the Bulge. He had attained the rank of first sergeant during his term of service.

After his discharge from the Army, he was employed by the Asplundh Tree Co. Ellis was then employed by the Maryland Park Service. He was manager of Patapsco State Park and later was manager of Herrington Manor State Park until he resigned in 1955.

Ellis was self-employed in the tool rental business. He worked as a tire builder for Casselman Motor Co. and worked for many years at Glotfelty Enterprises. He was of the Methodist faith.

He is survived by one brother, William J. Martin and wife Gloria, Grantsville; two sisters, Elizabeth P. Martin, Baltimore, and Maxine V. Hart and husband Milton, Westernport; many nieces and nephews; and a special cousin, Ethelene Durst.

Our family is especially beholden to two angels from the Glotfelty family, Becky and Brandy. They took care of Ellis for many years.

Ellis was a charter member of Grantsville Post 214, American Legion for over 60 years.

Friends were received at Newman Funeral Home, Accident/McHenry, where a service was conducted on Wednesday, Dec. 31, with the Rev. Gail Hixon officiating.

Interment was held in Bittinger Cemetery, where military graveside rites were accorded by Grantsville Post 214, American Legion.

Expressions of sympathy may be directed to Grantsville Post 214 Building Fund; or the Dove Center.

ERVIN O. SCHROCK

Ervin Olie Schroek, 89, passed away on Tuesday, Dec. 23, 2008, at Fawcett Memorial Hospital, Port Charlotte, Fla. He fought a brave battle against dementia and Alzheimer's disease for four years.

Born Jan. 2, 1919, in Grantsville, he was a son of the late Lulu (Jenkins) and Ervin Schrock. He was also preceded in death by one brother, Martin; and his first wife, Coletta.

Olie lived most of his life in Akron, Ohio, and will be missed by friends there as well as in Florida, where he and his wife had made their home since he retired in 1980. He worked as a machinist at Goodyear Aerospace for 39 years.

He was a gentle man and loved all things of nature. He had many pet dogs over the years. He graduated from North High School, Akron, from which his present wife, two daughters, and two granddaughters also graduated.

He served in the 8th Air Force during WWII and was stationed in Polebrook, England, where he carried out 25 mission as a radio operator. He once had to ditch their plane in the English Channel. He had many fascinating tales to tell about his two years in the military.

As a veteran, he qualified for care at the Dogulas T. Jacobson State Veterans' Nursing Home, Port Charlotte, where he stayed for the last five months. The family extends thanks for the loving care given to him by the staff at the VA home.

He is survived by his wife of 30 years, Ruth; three daughters, Marnay Schrock, Cathy Cooke, and Carol Ulery, all of Ohio; one son, Jim Pantea, Ohio; one sister, Mary Bradford, Michigan; and numerous nieees, nephews, and cousins.

At his request, his body was cremated. No service will be held at this time.

Burial will take place in Ohio at a later date.

PERSONAL

Joe Spaid returned to his Eglon home on Dec. 23 after a stay at Oakland Nursing and Rehab Center.

Grace Donham Winter, Fairmont, is again at her home after a recent hospital stay. She seems to be making progress in her recovery.

Kaylen Fike Albright, Aurora, was injured Christmas evening in a vehicle accident as she returned home. Her vehicle hit ice on the roadway and overturned. She was taken to Garrett County Memorial Hospital for treatment of her injuries. She has returned to the home of her parents, B.J. and Debbie Fike.

Lindsey Teets spent the holidays with his parents, LaDeana and Mark Teets, Amboy, and will return to his home in Savannah, Ga., this week.

Pastor Gary, Bonnie, and Tim Meeks spent several days in Ohio this week visiting relatives there.

Weekend guests of Linda and Dan Liston, Stemple Ridge, were his children, Bobby and Becky McCoy and two daughters, Christene Ride-nour and Tammy and Jimmy Liston and children, and Danny and Pam Liston and their children.

Jean Starr and her daughter Shirley Thomas, Stemple Ridge, were pre-Christmas weekend visitors in Ohio with Jean's other children who gathered there.

Neva and Don Frantz had all of their children together for the first time in several years. Enjoying a Saturday evening dinner were Donnie and Heather, Wyatt, and Donavin Frantz, Alaska, and soon to go to Guam, Melvin, Melissa, Dakota, Violet, and Harmony, Ft. Meade, and Melissa Skiles and Alex, Aurora.

Visiting with Tom, Linda, and Sara Lewis in Eglon during the holidays were their daughters and their families, Chuck, Emily, and Noah, Martinsburg, and Gary, Julie, Grayson, and Madison Baker, Virginia Beach, Va. The latter also visited with Baker relatives in Preston County.

Aaron and Jennifer Layman, Lackawanna, N.Y., visited with his mother and stepfather, Lois and Don Beekman, Eglon, at Christmas.

Jessie Winters' family gathered on Christmas Eve at her home in Eglon for a family dinner. Hosting another family dinner on Christmas Day was daughter Rhonda and Larry Channel, Hutton, and their sons and families.

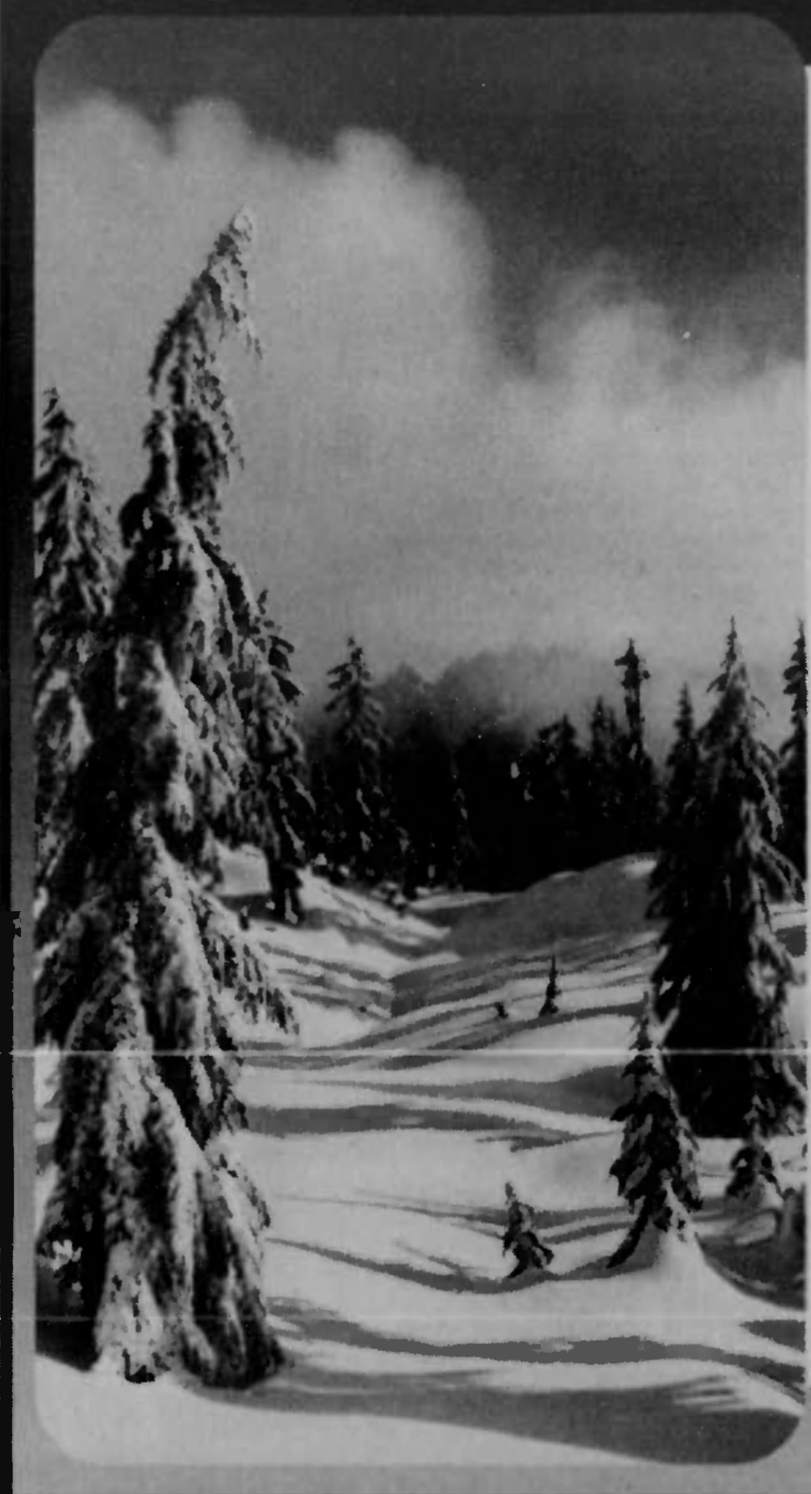
Let Us Bow



The proud evergreen stands in defiance of winter. Unlike many trees, the change in season does not destroy her abundant green cloak. She reigns supreme, surveying God's creation with limbs spread wide, standing tall in stately splendor.

Yet, when the snow covers her branches, she bows to the earth in deference to the Creator. Her boughs bend with the weight of winter...she is even more serene and beautiful.

"Come, let us bow down in worship, let us kneel before the Lord our Maker." (Psalm 95:6) Worship this week!

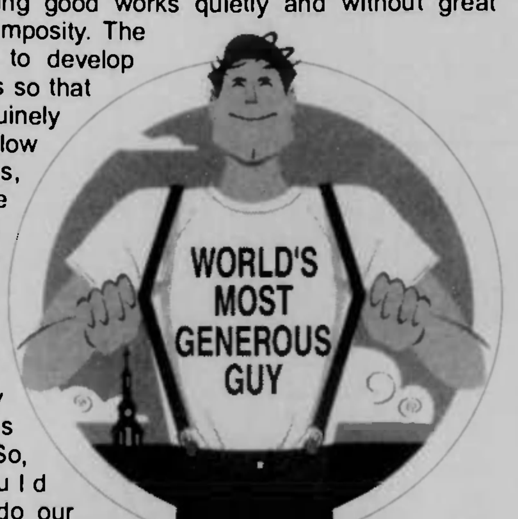
Don't Boast of Our Virtues

It is often tempting to inform others of our virtuous activities. For many of us, it can be difficult to resist telling others when we have made a sizable donation or done a good deed. However, in addition to the fact that most people are put off by such boasting, there is an even better reason to avoid this. That is, we should strive to be detached from our good deeds, because they can be a source of self-serving pride, and it is all too easy to take more credit than we actually deserve for such acts of goodness. We should give the credit to God, and strive to continue doing good works quietly and without great shows of pomposity. The real reason to develop our virtues is so that we can genuinely help our fellow human beings, and in the process, develop a character which automatically and effortlessly pursues goodness. So, we should proceed to do our good deeds quietly, and also remember the admonition of our Lord: "Beware of the scribes, who like to go about in long robes, and love salutations in the market places and the best seats in the synagogues and the places of honor at feasts, who devour widows' houses and for a pretense make long prayers." (Luke 20:46-47)



Beware of practicing your piety before man in order to be seen by them; for then you will have no reward from your Father who is in heaven.

R.S.V. Matthew 6:01

Health Benefit of Cranberries

Cranberry is the fruit from a shrub plant. Cranberries and their juice are widely consumed as food. Traditionally, cranberry had been used to treat skin infections, diabetes, liver disease, and bladder problems. Cranberries contain substances called proanthocyanidins. These substances are thought to be responsibile for cranberry's ability to prevent bladder infections. Proanthocyanidins have been shown to prevent the bacteria E. coli from adhering to the lining of the bladder, thus reducing the incidence of bladder infections.

Studies have shown that cranberry also prevents the bacteria H. pylori from adhering to cells in the stomach. H. pylori infection in the stomach is the most common cause of stomach ulcers. More studies are needed to fully evaluate cranberry's effect on preventing stomach ulcers. Cranberry has also been shown to prevent the attachment of cavity-causing bacteria to the teeth and gums. Finally, cranberry has demonstrated activity against some cancer cells. The usual dose of cranberry for preventing bladder infections is 300-400mg (tablets) twice daily or 8 ounces of cranberry juice 3 times daily.

Notes From Bittinger

by Joan Glotfelty Sussman

Despite the horrible weather – pouring rain and wind – the Christmas Eve service at Emmanuel Lutheran Church was just lovely. The church was all decked out with candles and poinsettias – red, white, and pink – donated in honor of loved ones. The worshipers were greeted by the sweet notes of "What Child Is This?" played by the most angelic-looking teenage boys, Daryl and Elliott Glotfelty. They did a medley of classical Christmas carols during Communion.

To me, the high note of the service was their rendition of my favorite Christmas song, "Oh Holy Night." Lana Robey delivered a heart-touching rendition of "Mary, Did You Know?"

It is always a very special time, with the church filled with soft candle light. All three parishes had record-breaking attendances. But Emmanuel missed two important members. Lottie Brenneman and Ethel Buckel were in hospitals with stroke-like symptoms. Lottie's family hopes she will get out of Sacred Heart Hospital to come home for the New Year.

I assume that Ethel's symptoms hit when she was already at the home of her son Ralph Jr. (Buckel). She is now back home with the Buckel family. You can send a card to Ethel, c/o Ralph Buckel, at: 524 Kent Street, Chestertown, MD 21620

Unfortunately, our former pastor Louise Knotts had another stroke on Christmas Eve.

Apparently the long-range forecast for the winter that Sheila passed on to me is: bad in December, a mild January, and bad in February. But so far it doesn't apply to Garrett County, at least not the December part. I have not remembered a December that had less snow here in Bittinger than this year. Plus we had a rare non-white Christmas.

My Aunt Dorothy Quaintance was able to escape a very wintery start from New York to join our family's holiday celebration. She did spot a small patch of snow in a field behind my house.

I enjoyed a visit from from Cindy Stanton's lovely daughter Lea Pochet, her son Blake, and her niece McKenna the day after Christmas. After they left, the two little ones spent a rousing morning baking cookies with Grandmother Cindy.

Although this week's article is somewhat shorter than usual, it is a small miracle that I can write this much because I am suffering from a very unpleasant intestinal bug that is "going around." It has jumped to the Bittinger area, as we do have quite a few cases around here. I heard that Linda Buckel, Lesa Whittemore, and Blakeley Glotfelty all got sick. And, first my Claire got it, then as soon as she got well, Mere got it, then when she recovered, I got it.

My daughters gave shelter to a poor wanderer – a small gray and white male cat that scratched on the door of their father's house in McHenry. Our older cat Tiger is not sure what to make of this new family member.

The tidings from the Holy Land this Christmas have not been glad tidings. The situation with Israel and Palestine has once again flared up. Another major challenge for our new president, but I believe the reason Obama ran for president was he saw many serious challenges that someone needed to step up and deal with. He believes himself to be a problem solver. Well, he certainly has a full plate before him. I hope for America's sake that everyone will support his effort on our behalf

Happy New Year!

Adorable Adoptables

TWO LONG-HAIRED LAID-BACK FELINES are currently available for adoption at the Garrett County Animal Shelter. One is a large orange male tabby with an interesting face. "He will need some love and attention as he was found as a stray and has mats that will need to be combed out," said a Humane Society spokesperson. "The other cat is a beautiful orange/black tortie that is equally laid-back and has a beautiful face as well." Also looking for homes are two canines. "Both of these hounds are very friendly and anxious to meet you and have a new home for the New Year," said the spokesperson. "They are both females and both are not very big in size or age. One of last week's dogs, the long-haired mix, was adopted, but his buddy, a black Lab/basset mix, is still available. The black/white tuxedo cat was adopted as well, but HART still had to take over a dozen cats from the shelter's overfull cat room and transport them to a rescue downstate. Please view all adoptable animals in the area on petfinder.com. We wish everyone and every pet a happy, healthy New Year full of love and companionship." For more information, persons may call the animal shelter at 301-334-3553. The facility will be closed Jan. 1 and 2.

Fireproof To Be Shown At Pleasant View Baptist Ch.

The Pleasant View Baptist Church will offer a showing of the recently released movie Fireproof on New Year's Eve, beginning at 6:30 p.m. All are invited, although the movie is geared toward married couples.

The movie synopsis is as follows: "A heroic fireman locked in a failing marriage accepts his father's challenge to take part in a 40-day experiment designed to teach both husband and wife the true meaning of commitment in this faith-based marriage drama, which stars Kirk Cameron and Erin Bethea."

For more information, persons may call the church at 301-334-8515.

Md. Fire Marshal Gives Safety Tips For Celebrations

As 2008 draws to a close, thoughts of the new year bring expectations of joyous celebrations and gatherings with family and friends to celebrate the coming of 2009. Traditional parts of New Year's celebration also include making resolutions to keep throughout the upcoming year. Many times these are quickly forgotten, often because they are unrealistic.

State Fire Marshal William E. Barnard is offering a suggestion for a New Year's resolution all Marylanders can make that will be easy to achieve.

"Fire safety is a New Year's resolution everyone can keep and one that will save lives," said Barnard. "Starting the New Year with fire safety in mind is a great way to begin 2009."

To give everyone a head start on making their fire safety resolutions, Barnard offers these tips:

•Avoid consuming alcoholic beverages while cooking. Careless cooking is the leading cause of fire in Maryland; cooking and consuming alcoholic beverages don't mix.

•Place decorative candles on large, non-combustible secure bases. Place candles away from heavily traveled paths to prevent them being toppled by family, guests, or pets. Avoid leaving lit candles unattended. Consider alternatives to candles for decorative lighting.

•When family and friends depart, check the entire home. Wastebaskets, bedding, and upholstered furniture frequently conceal smoldering fires.

•Check the condition of natural holiday greenery and cut Christmas trees. As time passes, these decorative items dry out and are more easily ignited. If needles snap when bent, fall easily from branches, or the tree no longer absorbs water at the base, it is time for removal from the home. Greenery should never be burned in a woodstove or fireplace as tar and creosote released during the burning can cause a fire inside the chimney. These compounds burn very fast and can quickly spread fire throughout the home.

•Test all smoke alarms in the home to ensure they are working properly. Go over a family escape plan so in the event of a fire emergency all will be able to safely escape to a predetermined place outside.

"Providing a fire-safe environment to entertain family and friends is a great way to show everyone how much you care," Barnard said. "The New Year is an exciting time, and a fire-safety New Year's resolution is an easy way to help avert tragedy."

For more information on fire and life safety, persons may telephone 1-800-525-3124 or log on to the following web site: www.firemarshal.state.md.us.

Town Hall

OAKLAND

The town of Oakland will hold its regular monthly meeting on Monday, Jan. 5, beginning at 7 p.m.

Several guests are expected at the meeting, including Garrett County commissioners, who will be present for their annual meeting at 7 p.m.; Elizabeth Huxford, to give a Geocache program update at 7:30 p.m.; David Winters to discuss Youth For Christ at 7:45 p.m.; and Rick Trydahl from the Oakland Golf Club.

The January town council meeting will open with the approval of minutes, followed by the monthly financial report and the utility bill adjustment requests.

Elaine McDonald will lead a discussion on a zoning request change.

The council will also address the need to move forward with permanent financing for a paving loan.

Two letters will be topics of discussion, one regarding the county's code inspection ordinance and one from Karen Myers for the annexation of the property north of Lowe's.

Budget cutbacks will be addressed and discussed, as well as plans for next year's Broadford Analysis.

The meeting will close with the approval of bills and committee reports.

Garrett Choral Society To Begin Practices Sunday

The Garrett Choral Society, under the direction of Julie Turrentine, will begin rehearsals on Sunday, Jan. 4, for a Palm Sunday weekend concert. The group will be performing John Rutter's Requiem, along with other sacred pieces.

The rehearsals are held in the basement of St. Paul's Methodist Church in Oakland on Sundays at 6:30 p.m. In addition to the Palm Sunday concerts, the group will also be looking at music to sing on July 4th with the Garrett Community Concert Band.

New singers are always welcome, Turrentine noted. Singers do not have to audition for the group, but are expected to attend rehearsals regularly and on time.

BEST OF 2008

Reviews by Terri Schlichenmeyer

Lucky you. This holiday, you got a bookstore gift certificate. That means two things: one, that somebody knows you well and knows you love books, and two, you have to get to a bookstore, pronto!

So many books, so little time, right? To make it easy, here are my top 15 picks, the books you can't miss, have to read, shouldn't pass up. Of the over-300 books I read in 2008, these are the cream of the crop:

NON-FICTION

Assisted Loving by Bob Morris. When Morris' mother dies, his father goes on a dating rampage and drags his son along by pushing Morris to find "true love." This book made me laugh and there was a passage that still brings me to tears when I think about it. It's a great read for anyone who has a parent who's experimenting anew with the dating pool or anyone who's looking for love in all the wrong places.

Deconstructing Sammy by Matt Birkbeck. This bio is a fascinating look at singer Sammy Davis Jr., his widow, and the man who took on the project of untangling the mess that was Davis' estate. I enjoyed this book because it's a peek at stardom gone wrong, a story of obsession and responsibility, and a nostalgic trip back in time for anyone who remembers the Rat Pack days.

Outliers by Malcolm Gladwell. What makes success? This book will tell you how to spot it in typical Gladwell style. From Mozart concerto to Beatles concert, you'll see how genius and opportunity meet to make a phenom. This is one of those fascinating, quick-to-read books that will make you think long after you shut the cover.

La Clinica by David P. Sklar. This book surprised me because I wasn't looking to like it as much as I did. Sklar's multi-level book is his look back at time spent volunteering at a Mexican free clinic run by a man with several secrets. The back-and-forth to then and now moves this true story along, and reading it is like exploring a cave: There's something unexpected and wonderful in every little cranny.

Breakfast at Sally's by Richard LeMieux. I was only going to browse this book when I first picked it up, but by page 4 I couldn't leave it alone. When LeMieux, who is successful and wealthy, goes bankrupt and insolvent and loses his home, he hits the streets with his dog to live in a van. Breakfast is one of those books you have to read, particularly in this economy. It will make you thankful for every single thing – and person – in your life.

FICTION

After River by Donna Milner. When a young Canadian girl's mother hires an American draft dodger to work on their farm, it causes turmoil in the entire family that resonates for years. This debut novel is beautifully written; one of those curl-up-on-the-sofa books to savor.

Cake by D. Conversely. This book is not for everyone. It will curl Grandma's hair with the language and violence, but I raced through it in an hour. Cake is a page-turning story about a man who reluctantly gets involved in a drug deal gone bad, even though he's desperately trying to live straight. It's hip, urban, and with an ending that will make you scream. Again, it's not for everybody – there are things in here that aren't "nice" – but I loved, loved, loved this book.

A Mercy by Toni Morrison. Vintage Morrison – only better – this book is about three slave women and the ailing mistress they're trying to save. Layer by layer, Morrison lets the women tell their tale of brutality, fear, and love. A Mercy is a skinny book that starts out a bit odd, but stick with it. You'll want to turn around and read it all over again when you're done.

The Right Mistake by Walter Mosley. This is another one of those "make you think" books. It's about a former convict who wants to turn his community around, and he employs friends, family, and thinkers to help him. Mosley's Socrates Fortlow (the main character) is the consummate philosopher, and this book is perfect for when you want a little more than a novel.

Tan Lines by J.J. Salem. Okay. So you'll never see this book on any best-seller list, but that doesn't make it any less enjoyable. You'll get scandal, snarkiness, and a great murder mystery in a beach-house deadly romp of a novel here, which makes it pure fluff and pure fun, all wrapped up in one.

CHILDREN'S

Bad Kitty Gets a Bath by Nick Bruel. This hilarious book is for more than just kids. Anyone with a cat will get a kick out of both the pre-bath needs and the post-bath shunning. Bonus: It's a quick read for kids and a fun read for grown-ups.

Pete & Pickles by Berkeley Breathed. A pig with a predictable life meets an escaped circus elephant who messes with things in this charming, adorable book with illustrations that adults will love as much as the kids will love the story. Get this book, read it to your resident toddlers, put the kids to bed, and go read it again for yourself.

You're a Bad Man, Mr. Gum by Andy Stanton. Don't buy this book – seriously. Buy Mr. Gum in audio because it's much, much better when read by the author. The audio is only a couple hours long, and I had to stop what I was doing when I was listening to it because I was laughing too hard. This is fun for kids 7-and-up, and fun for you, too.

See How They Run by Susan E. Goodman and Elwood H. Smith. It doesn't have to be an election year for kids to be interested in politics, and this book makes Washington goings-on easy to understand. This is one of those "adults should read it, too" books, but it's really perfect for kids 9-and-up.

Science on the Loose by Helaine Becker. Again, this isn't going to be on any bestseller list, but it's a great book. Kids will learn about their bodies and the world around them through silly cartoons and fun activities. Perfect for kids 8-to-12, it lets them learn something useful without making them feel like they're learning.

And there you are: 15 can't-miss, gotta-buy-it books for you to use with your gift certificate. If you've already read these, ask your bookseller for ideas; he or she has dozens of favorites to talk about.

So what are you waiting for? Get out of here. Go. That gift certificate isn't getting any newer, you know.
Happy reading!

"Kidstuff" Resumes On Saturdays At Our Town Theatre

Our Town Theatre in Oakland will again host creative dramatics classes for children in kindergarten through fifth grade on alternating Saturdays in the winter months.

Taught by Jane Avery and her assistants, the classes will be held from 10:30 to noon on Jan. 3, 17, and 31; Feb. 7 and 21; and March 7 and 21.

The classes will feature movement, stories, stagecraft, acting, improvisation, mime, and music.

The cost for each class is a small donation to the theatre.

Reservations are required for each date and can be made by dialing 301-334-5640, option 2. Persons must reserve a child's space by calling the theatre during the week of the class. No reservations will be accepted after 5 p.m. on the Friday before the class.

If the weather is bad, persons are asked to call the theatre on the day of the class to check for a cancellation. Questions should be directed to Avery at the phone number listed above.

If voting really could change anything, it would be great!

Christmas Tree Recycling Set

A Christmas tree recycling program will be sponsored by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers at Youghiogheny River Lake through Friday, Jan. 16. All trees donated will be used for the fish habitat improvement program at the lake.

"Recycling used trees saves landfill space, helps to protect the environment, and improves fish habitats," a spokesperson said.

Community residents can donate used live-cut trees by bringing them to the Jockey Hollow Launch Area gate (one mile west of where Route 40 crosses the lake), the outflow campground parking area (closest to the outflow shower house), or the Mill Run boat launch. The areas designated for tree drop-off will be marked with signs.

To be suitable for fish habitat projects, trees should be as free of decorations as possible, including all tinsel, ornaments, lights, garland, stands, and plastic bags. Artificial or flocked trees cannot be accepted because they pose a hazard to wildlife.

For more information or to volunteer to assist with the recycling program, persons may e-mail Ronald.M.Slczak@usace.army.mil or call the Youghiogheny River Lake Office at 814-395-3242, Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Fit, Fabulous, and Feeling Fine in 2009

Garrett County Health Department

The start of a New Year for many is another chance at striving to finally become those wonderful, productive, healthy, happy, and organized people we always intended to be. The New Year is a time to reflect on the changes we want or need to make, and to resolve to follow through on making those changes. Unfortunately, many of us make unrealistic resolutions. The problem is that the enthusiasm to make changes, especially with diet and exercise, tends to fade once we realize changes cannot occur overnight. When change does not occur as quickly as we think it should, we get discouraged, feel as though we have failed once again, and resolve to make a better stab at it next year.

To make lasting changes, we need to adjust our attitudes, make changes in our lifestyle, and come up with a plan to help us succeed. For instance, many of us resolve to completely give up certain foods: "No more soda for me!" or "I am giving up sweets as well as coffee!" or we vow to exercise every day of the week when we have not even been exercising once a week! Instead, resolve to develop an eating and exercising plan that you can follow. Assess your eating habits including what and how much you eat as well as your exercise, then make a plan that involves one small change per week: switch from 2% milk to 1% milk; drink one fewer cup of coffee per day and replace it with a cup of water; add one more fruit to your diet; eat at least two vegetables each day this week, exercise for 15 minutes/day at least three days this week.

To help employees at the Garrett County Health Department improve their overall health, the wellness committee is currently sponsoring the "Fit, Fabulous & Feeling Fine in 2009" program. Participants are encouraged to concentrate on three healthy behaviors: 1. Include water in their diet on a daily basis; 2. Eat fruits and vegetables; and 3. Exercise.

The program approach is not about what not to do, but what they need to do in order to be healthy. Some employees may already being doing these things, but just need to be reminded to do them daily and strive to do more. The log form being used for the program is available on the health department web site at www.garretthealth.org. Health department employees who exercise for 15 minutes/day earn 1 point for their team while employees who exercise for 60 minutes/day earn 4 points. It is recommended by the American Council on Exercise that adults get 30 minutes of exercise per day while children should get 60 minutes/day. Our hectic schedules do not always allow us to get what is recommended, but 15 minutes of exercise is certainly better than none at all.

If you are interested in starting an employee wellness program for your employees, call the health department at 301-334-7730 for information on how we can help you get started. If you are just looking to challenge yourself to make healthy changes, visit the health department web site noted above for the Fit, Fabulous & Feeling Fine in 2009 tracking form.

Decorating Dilemma?
Sheila offers helpful advice.

Dear Sheila:

Just a note to let you know how glad I am that you are back in Oakland. It is so much easier to shop with everything in one area. I am always surprised to realize that Oakland has so much to offer!

It is so easy to sit down with you or Jillian and figure out what I want to do next! You are always "ahead of the game."

I am making it a New Year Resolution to finish my projects, and being able to just pop in is such a help!

Victoria Bowen Becomes Bride Of James Preston In September Event

Victoria Ashley Bowen and James Richard Preston III were united in marriage at the Baker Chapel at McDaniel College in Westminster on Saturday, Sept. 20.

The bride was given in marriage by her parents, Wesley and Tamara Bowen of Taneytown. The groom is the son of James Jr. and Liane Preston of Oakland.

The wedding was attended by a small collection of the bride's and groom's closest family and friends. A reception was held at the bride's parents' home in Taneytown.

The bride is a 2002 graduate of Francis Scott Key High School and is currently employed as a front-end supervisor at Michael's. The groom is an alumnus of Southern Garrett High School and graduated in 2004 from Pittsburgh Institute of Aeronautics with an associate's degree in both avionics and mechanics. He is employed as a senior aircraft technician with General Dynamics.

The couple currently reside in Southwick, Mass. They extended their thanks to all who sent cards and gifts.

Southern Falls To Smithsburg, Scott In Annual Snowball Classic

The varsity boys' basketball team of Southern High School fell in the first round of the 32nd annual First United Bank Snowball Classic, 45-32, to Smithsburg on Monday, and was also defeated, 64-33, in the consolation game against Scott last night.

In Monday's opening round game, Southern kept a close pace with Smithsburg, trailing by only three points at the end of the first quarter, 11-8. By halftime, the Rams were behind by four, 21-17, and then allowed for an 11-point margin, 32-21, going into the fourth.

Dan Shockey led Southern with eight points, and Scott Livengood and Chris Schad each had seven.

Smithsburg's Allen Reed scored a game-high 17 points.

In last night's game against Scott, Southern was unable to get more than five points in the first quarter to Scott's 11. The Rams trailed 33-11 by halftime, and were down 42-21 at the start of the fourth quarter.

Shockey was Southern's team-high scorer with nine points.

Scott was led by Carl Shafter's 16 points, and Steve McComas and Marshall Tully each added 11.

Southern's varsity (0-5) will host Fort Hill on Tuesday, Jan. 6.

SHS Girls Take Eighth In Mtn. Express Meet

The Southern High School girls' and boys' indoor track teams competed in the Mountain Express Track Meet in Hagerstown last Saturday. The girls' team placed 8th out of 13 teams, collecting 20 points, and the SHS boys' team did not place.

Senior Krista Hollingsworth finished fifth in the girls' 800-meter run with a school record time of 2:39. The record had been held by Brittany Scheffel, and was set last year at the Regional Championships.

Junior Samantha Taylor finished second in the pole vault, tying her own school record of 7'6". She shares the record with Meghan Flinn, who graduated two years ago. Junior Rachel Flinn vaulted 6'0" to tie for sixth place.

Taylor also tied for third in the 55-meter hurdles with a time of 9.91 seconds.

"Overall I thought we did very well," said Coach Steve Cosner. "Of the 13 teams competing, only four of them were 1A teams, with the rest 2A-4A schools."

The boys' team did not record any points, but Cosner stated that the team had improved performances across the board.

The top finisher for the Rams was junior Tyler Hensley, who placed 19th in the 55-meter dash with a time of 7.62 seconds.

Senior Dan Hughes ran the 800-meter race in a time of 2:24 for a 20th-place finish, and junior Seth Lewis also had a 20th-place finish in the 1600 meter run with a time of 5:23.

Southern's next meet is the Region 1A West Meet on Saturday, Jan. 31, at Hagerstown Community College.

"Between now and then, much of the team plans on running in the Snowflake Chase on Jan. 17, in order to support the Landon's Library Fund," stated Cosner.

Ruffed Grouse Society Meeting Set For Monday

The Ruffed Grouse Society (RGS) will host its second organizational meeting at the Backbone Mountain Sport Shop, 4768 George Washington Highway (U.S. Rt. 50), next Monday, Jan. 5, beginning at 7 p.m.

According to RGS regional director Dave Hansroth, the purpose of the meeting is to name the new chapter, elect a slate of officers, and set the 2009 event schedule.

"We encourage all upland bird hunters and other conservation-minded people to join us," Hansroth said, adding that light refreshments will be served.

For more information and/or directions, persons may contact Rich Skeweris at 301-334-5814, or by e-mail at rskeweris@pennswoods.net, or Hansroth at 412-303-1405 or by e-mail at rgshans@comcast.net.

Established in 1961, the Ruffed Grouse Society is the one international wildlife conservation organization dedicated to promoting conditions suitable for ruffed grouse, American woodcock, and related wildlife to sustain the sport hunting tradition and outdoor heritage. More information on the RGS and its mission, management projects, and membership can be found on the web at: www.ruffedgrousesociety.org.

WAKE UP FROM THE AMERICAN NIGHTMARE

Effective October 1, 2008, a housing bill was passed to help both troubled borrowers and lenders. At-risk borrowers whose loans originated between January 2005 and June 2007 may be eligible to refinance their unaffordable mortgages into low-cost, fixed-rate loans insured by the Federal Housing Administration (FHA).

Whether current or in default, at least 31% of the borrower's monthly income must be tied to paying the mortgage debt. Other requirements come in to play that have to do with the total debt owed and any secondary financing.

Borrowers may get information from an FHA-approved lender or your real estate professional. Each loan will be considered for underwriting after a new appraisal is performed, and income and credit history is again documented and verified.

Be aware that there are many requirements for approval that, once secured, include many additional terms, such as insurance premiums and profit sharing on appreciation. If you sell or refinance within a one-year period, you must pay the FHA 100% of your profits. That percentage drops 10% each additional year, down to 50% after five years.

Keep in mind, however, that savings can still be substantial on these lower interest, fixed-rate loans, which will never readjust like subprime mortgages can every six months. Homeownership can again be the American dream, not a nightmare.

If you are thinking of buying or selling a home but feel "out of touch" with real estate, give me a call today.

Ram Matmen Go 7-1, Place Second In 36-Team Tourney

Against 36 teams from West Virginia, Ohio, Pennsylvania, and Maryland, the Southern High School wrestling squad finished second as a team in the Whecling Park Duals, held at Wheeling Park High School, Wheeling, W.Va., on Monday and Tuesday.

The Rams won seven straight dual meets to reach the finals of the event, and ultimately fell to top-ranked Parkersburg South, 39-24. In the process, three members of Coach Dave Taylor's team won individual championships for their respective weight classes, each going 8-0.

They were Lex Ozias in the 130-pound division, Brutus Scheffel at 140 pounds, and Bubba Scheffel at 152 pounds.

Finishing at 7-1 was Ryan Fitzwater in the 215-pound division, while Josh Arnold (125), Nicholas Brant (135), Jordan Skipper (160), and Ryan Bennett (189) were all 6-2. Davey Stewart (112) and Davcy Sweitzer (145) each finished at 5-3.

The Rams opened with a 53-20 rout of Fairmont Senior, the crushed Buckhannon, 56-21, Ringold, 41-18, Fox Chapel, Pa., 44-26, Carrollton, Ohio, 52-21, Punxsutawney, Pa., 49-24, and Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio, 47-26, before facing South Parkersburg in the champi-onship round.

"This was quite a challenge for us," said Coach Taylor. "The teams we faced were all full teams with strong wrestlers throughout. Our kids rose to the occasion and wrestled very hard, and it paid off. We fell just short of winning it all, but we are very proud of our kids and their effort this weekend."

The Rams, who are undefeated in regular meets, will travel to the Cove this Saturday to take on a solid Northern High squad. That meet will get under way at 7 p.m.

Southern will face East Fairmont in a 6 p.m. match next Wednesday at Preston High School in Kingwood.

YOUNG MAN HARVESTS BUCK AND DOE – Cordale Miller, age 9, harvested his first buck (a four-point) and his first doe during the recent deer season. Miller was hunting with his father on private property, and used his .243 rifle. Cordale, a fourth grader at Accident Elementary School, is the son of Doug and Tracie Miller, Grantsville. He is pictured above with the buck and below with the doe.

SISTERS BAG BUCKS ON JUNIOR HUNT DAY – Kaya Rinker, 11, and Kenya Rinker, 13, each took home a trophy on Junior Hunt Day. The daughters of Kenny and Monica Rinker, Pleasant Valley, were hunting on Twin Hill Farm, owned by their grandfather Ralph Miller. Kenya bagged a 7-point, while her younger sister took home a 4-point, both using a .223 rifle. Kaya is on the left and Kenya, on the right.

Huskies Nipped By Berlin, 49-48, Before Topping Chestnut Ridge

TENDER HEARTS FOR TOTS RAISES $3,000 – The Deer Park Sportsman Club recently announced that this year's Tender Hearts for Tots fundraiser brought in a grand total of $3,000. Originally started by Robin Bittinger, Tender Hearts for Tots donates toys, clothes, food, and money to local families in need. Through contact with local school principals and guidance counselors, the club compiled a list of children who were most in need. Phyllis Williams, club manager, took over the program this year and served 30 children and their families. "She worked endlessly to make Christmas a happy one for the kids," noted a spokesperson. "Just to see the joy on the children's faces makes all the hard work worthwhile," said Williams. "It just warms your heart." Williams and the club received thank-you cards from the children and families. One read: "Just when everything has failed and we were about to give up, you guys came through and showed us that Christmas miracles still do exist." The club also recently donated $500 to Southern High School's girls' basketball program and $500 to Southern Middle School. Pictured is club president Steve Green thanking Williams for a job well done.

Ongoing Ear Infection Frustrates Dog Owner

DEAR PAW'S CORNER: My little dog "Sandy," a 3-year-old Shih Tzu, has had an ongoing ear infection for the past four months. The vet said it was a yeast infection and gave me some drops for it. It cleared quickly, but within two weeks it was back again. This time the vet suggested I change his dog food, along with giving him the drops again, so now he is on a grain-free dog food. It cleared up for a while, but it is back again. Any suggestions on what to do now? — Donna, via e-mail

DEAR DONNA: Keep trying! Continue working with your vet to find a solution to Sandy's recurring ear infections. It may take a combination of treatments to stop them from happening, including a change in diet (such as the prescribed grain-free diet), drops or oral medication.

Signs of an ear infection in a dog typically include head shaking, yellow or brown "gunk" in the ears, a yeast-like smell, redness and swelling. Causes include debris or water in the ears, allergies, or unexplained factors.

Shih Tzus are prone to ear infections because of the shape of their ears, and because of the long hair growing over the ears — fluids don't drain from their ears as easily. Owners must clear the hair from their dogs' ears frequently and must be sure to dry their dogs' ears after swimming or bathing.

Dogs like Sandy who have repeat infections may benefit from having the hair clipped away from around their ears (let the veterinarian do this). Sandy may be given a long-term course of treatment, too — usually oral medication. In severe cases, vets may recommend surgery to reconstruct the ear canal to improve drainage, but this should be considered only when other avenues have been exhausted.

• Here's something to consider the next time your allergies start acting up: It's been reported that the force of the air movement generated by a sneeze can reach more than 100 miles per hour.

• In 19th-century England, one Dr. William Palmer was suspected of going on a killing spree, poisoning his mother-in-law, his wife, his brother, five of his children and at least two people to whom he owed money. He was finally brought to trial for the murder of his friend John Parsons Cook, who had become violently ill and then died after having dinner at Palmer's home. Palmer was convicted and sentenced to be hanged. As he was mounting the gallows, witnesses claim that Palmer looked at the trapdoor and exclaimed, "Are you sure it's safe?"

• If you're ever lost in the wilderness of the eastern central part of North America, it might help to look for Silphium laciniatum, better known as the compass flower or compass plant. This perennial herb resembles the sunflower and can grow from 3 to 12 feet tall. The plant's usefulness is based on the fact that its leaves tend to orient themselves so that they point north and south.

DEEP CREEK LAKE STATE PARK/ DISCOVERY CENTER

The following activities have been scheduled for this week at Deep Creek Lake State Park. Programs and center hours are subject to change without notice. All programs meet or begin at the Discovery Center unless otherwise noted. Further information can be obtained by calling the Discovery Center at 301-387-7067, or by visiting the web site: www.dnr.state.md.us/publiclands/western/deepcreeklake.

Through Jan. 4, 2009

Thursday, Jan. 1

• Open All Day with scavenger hunts and impromptu demonstrations. Guests are invited to stop by to sample some "songbird-friendly coffee," which is a fair trade item, organic, and is grown in the shade of South America, thus preserving the canopy for migrating birds.

Friday, Jan. 2

• CLOSED. All state facilities are closed today because of the furlough.

Saturday, Jan. 3

• 11 a.m. – Snowshoeing. The park naturalist will give guests a snowshoeing lesson and walk along the lake shoreline. (Weather permitting, and limited to six participants who must pre-register. $7 per person, and participants may keep the snowshoes for two additional hours.) 1 hour guided.

• 2:30 p.m. – Critter Encounter. Join the Discovery Center staff as the animals are all fed, including the birds at the aviary. (45 min.)

Sunday, Jan. 4

• Noon, 1 p.m., and 2 p.m. – Hourly Encounters. Join a naturalist at the top of each hour to meet one of the center's animals "up close and personal." Guests may meet at the front desk.

MDE Proposal

Glotfelty said the group has drafted a proposal. The new regulations would allow Maryland residents to install wood boilers on their properties if the units meet certain pollution standards.

Beginning April 1, 2009, wood boilers sold and operated in the state would have to meet a particulate matter standard of .6 pound per million Btu heat input. That standard would be tightened to .32 pound per million beginning April 1, 2010.

Sherrard noted that existing units would be grandfathered in.

The proposed regulations would also require that only clean wood, wood pellets made from clean wood, and other fuels approved by MDE be burned.

Glotfelty said the MDE could still use nuisance complaints to shut down substandard boilers purchased in other states or if unacceptable materials are burned in the units.

Additionally, municipalities have the option of not allowing wood boilers within their limits.

The health officer said the state proposal does not include any sighting or stack height standards. Those would have to be developed by local jurisdictions, but the state may provide some guidelines on the issue.

Glotfelty asked the commissioners how the county would develop those standards. Would it be through an ordinance, a building permits system, an electrical code, or a plumbing code? he asked.

As with wind turbines, Nelson noted, setbacks for wood boilers could not be implanted. It would have to be done through zoning, which the county does not have.

The boilers, however, would require electrical and plumbing permits, he noted.

Sherrard said if the county requires some type of permit for the boilers, the issue could be routed through his office. Health Department personnel could then look at the units and talk to the property owners about setbacks and other issues.

"We have to be very careful," said Commissioner Ernie Gregg. "We certainly don't want to impose difficult and unhealthy conditions on neighbors. But on the other hand, many people in Garrett County depend on [boilers] for heating water and homes."

He said there was a "significant" increase in boiler sales this past year.

"Most dealers had trouble keeping them in stock," he said. "But I can appreciate the imposition they could pose on neighbors if smoke is pouring into their house."

Sherrard presented the commissioners with an MDE fact sheet about outdoor wood boilers. "Smoke from outdoor wood boilers can contain unhealthy levels of air pollutants that trigger or can aggravate respiratory or cardiovascular problems," the MDE states. "Smoke particles (PM) can be so small that they behave much like gases in that they can penetrate into homes even when doors and windows are closed. PM can enter deep into the lungs of people who are exposed to wood smoke. Symptoms from exposure include eye and nose irritation, breathing difficulty, wheezing, coughing, and headaches."

Commissioner Fred Holliday said what formed his opinion about boilers is one that smoldered all year to heat someone's pool.

"In the country, it's not so bad, but in a municipality it is," he said about smoke pouring into a neighboring yard.

Holliday indicated that boilers would be good heat sources if some of the problems associated with them could be eliminated.

Sherrard stressed that the purpose of the proposed statewide legislation is to make sure boilers operate cleanly and efficiently, not to stop their use.

Commissioner Denny Glotfelty said much of problem with the devices was what people put in them.

"Instead of burning the right fuel, they burn junk," he said.

Sherrard said the new regulations would address this issue.

Holliday, who is the new commission board chair, said the county needed to "stay on top of" what the state is doing with the regulations.

"We want to make sure we're covering ourselves, if we see something that they're proposing that we don't think is right on a local level," he said.

COUPLE SHARE THEIR "STUFFED HOLIDAYS" – Patients, visitors, and staff have been enjoying a "Stuffed Holidays" Christmas tree donated to Garrett County Memorial Hospital by Jim and Ruby Margraff. "Stuffed Holidays was appropriately named by its designers – Tom and Karen Myers and Betsy Spiker and Bob Holcomb – as it was lavishly decorated with stuffed toys that will ultimately be distributed to young hospital patients," said a hospital spokesperson. Stuffed Holidays began its themed, seasonal journey at the recent Garrett County Festival of Trees, where it was purchased by the Margraffs and then donated to the hospital. Proceeds from the event benefited the Dove Center.

WARM THE CHILDREN

Providing New Warm Winter Clothing for Needy Children

The Republican newspaper and the GFWC Civic Club of Oakland have completed the 11th year of Warm the Children. Donations made now will be saved for next year. Part may be used in the event of emergencies (fires, floods, etc.) that befall local families throughout the year. Every penny raised is used to purchase new, warm, winter clothing and footwear for local children in need.

Thank you for your generosity!

Bloodmobile To Visit Four Times During January

The American Red Cross bloodmobile will make four regular visits to Garrett County during the month of January.

The first will be this Friday, Jan. 2, when the bloodmobile will be hosted by the Oakland Volunteer Fire De-partment. Hours for that visit at the fire hall along Third Street will be from noon to 6 p.m.

The second visit is scheduled for next Tuesday, Jan. 6, at St. Paul's United Methodist Church, Oakland. Donors are asked to report between noon and 6 p.m.

The Maranatha Assembly of God in Grantsville will host a visit on Monday, Jan. 12, from 12:30 to 6:30 p.m.

The final visit to the county for the month is slated for Monday, Jan. 19, when Zion Lutheran Church in Accident will be the host site. The time for that visit is 1 to 6 p.m.

Donors must be at least 17 years of age (16 in Maryland with parental consent), weigh at least 110 pounds, and be in generally good health. Persons may telephone 1-800-542-5663, ext. 2861, to schedule an appointment; however, walk-ins are always welcome.

Persons desiring more in-formation about the ARC blood services program are invited to contact Leigh Hull, blood services director for the Western Potomac Chapter of the ARC, at 301-722-1760, ext. 101.

Friendsville To Participate In Geocache Trail

Friendsville Town Council member Agnes Lichtner announced that the town will participate in the Maryland Municipal League (MML) Geocache Trail.

Today (Jan. 1) the Maryland Municipal League (MML), with the help of sponsor/partners – the Maryland Geocaching Society, ESRI, KCI Technologies Inc., Local Government Insurance Trust (LGIT), Stearns & Wheler LLC, and the Hagerstown-Washington County Convention and Visitors Bureau– will become the first state municipal league in the country to launch a statewide city/town Geocache Trail.

Council member Lichtner explained that MML is using this innovative approach to promote aware-ness of and visits to Maryland's cities and towns, with the goal of helping to stimulate economic development in Maryland's municipalities. This effort taps into the rapidly growing high-tech tourist trade that is not limited to any particular age group.

"Discovering a geocache is very much like going on a treasure hunt using a hand-held GPS (Global Positioning System) to plot map coordinates to locate the treasure or 'cache,'" said an MML spokesperson. "The geocacher must access the official geocache web site (www.geocaching.com), go to the MML account, download or manually enter the map coordinates for each cache on the Maryland Municipal League Geo Trail, and then use the GPS to find the caches. It is deceptively easy."

A geocache trail is a series of geocaches tied together by a common theme. The theme of the Maryland Municipal League Geocache Trail is "Celebrating Maryland's Cities and Towns." The trail comprises 78 city/town caches located in the 11 MML districts (regions) throughout the state.

A geo coin will be given to the first 500 geocachers who locate a minimum of 22 city/town caches throughout the state. To be eligible for the coin, geocachers must pick up a passport at any participating visitor center, use the stamp in each cache on their passports, and write in the cache code word. After at least two municipal caches in each district are discovered, geocachers may return to one of the county visitor centers and have their passports validated to receive a collectable coin.

Lichtner said that among the things geocachers will find in the Friendsville's geocache are postcards and miscellaneous items for trade.

Interested persons may download a list of participating cities/towns and the participating county visitor centers with addresses and hours of operation from MMLs web site: www.md-municipal.org.

ACCIDENT ELEM. STUDENTS PARTICIPATE IN VETERANS ACTIVITIES – Students at Accident Elementary School recently participated in various activities on Veterans Day. The week began with several classes receiving visits from SSG Aaron Miller, who presented a program on "A Day in the Life of a Soldier in Iraq." A number of items were collected for the veterans at the VA hospital in Martinsburg, W.Va. Students also participated in a coloring and/or essay contest. An assembly was held to culminate the week. Ed Deal, commander of the American Legion in Accident, also spoke to the children about the importance of remembering veterans and the significance of the "Empty Table" found in each military dining area. Pictured are the winners of the coloring/essay contest. In the front row, from left, are Jazzmine Lynch, Lauren Derato, Logan Miller, and Sarah Stowell. Second row: Stephanie Bryner, Karen Beller, Calyb King, Joshua Smith, and Heritage Hamp. Back row: Deal, Allie Saweikis, Annie Fratz, Kylie Frantz, Christian Georg, and Karen DeVore, principal at Accident. Not pictured: Savannah Poli, Jetta Sherbin, and Jill Wood.

Cake Dinner Slated At Swanton Center

There will be a buckwheat/pancake dinner served at the Swanton Community Center on Saturday, Jan. 10. The menu will include "all-you-can-eat" buckwheat cakes, pancakes, sausage, and sausage gravy. Serving will begin at 4 p.m.

The cost of the meal is $6 for adults, $3 for children, and free for those under age 5. All proceeds support the various community projects of the center.

Ask The Everyday Scientist

VITAMIN D

by Dr. Thomas P. Sheahen

Q. What's the story on vitamin D? Recently I read that a vitamin D deficiency can cause all sorts of health problems. What's the best thing to do?

A. Vitamin D is called the "sunshine vitamin" because of its connection to getting enough sunshine. People who live in tropical climates and whose lifestyle includes a good dose of sunshine every day seldom have deficiencies of vitamin D. Northerners are not so lucky.

Years ago, the disease rickets was associated with severe vitamin D deficiency. Then foods were fortified with vitamin D, rickets went away, and many health care professionals lost interest. However, rickets is only the tip of the vitamin D-deficiency iceberg. Nowadays we have a better understanding of the role played by vitamin D.

Here's how one former dean of a medical school describes it:

"We are discovering all kinds of good things about vitamin D – not only is it essential to good strong bones, it also appears to be useful for other things as well. The heart, brain, prostate, breast, and immune cells all have vitamin D receptors – which means that vitamin D plays a role in what happens in those areas at the cellular level. New research indicates that vitamin D can decrease the risk of autoimmune diseases, certain cancers, certain infectious diseases, and others.

"A vitamin D deficiency can result in muscle weakness, osteomalacia, osteoporosis, fractures, and resultant falls and probably many other diseases. It is estimated that one billion people worldwide are vitamin D deficient. The more north you live, the more likely you are to be deficient because of lack of sun exposure.

"The best kind of vitamin D is made by the body after exposure to the sun. So we each need daily sunlight. However, we now know that as we age, the body is less able to manufacture vitamin D, no matter how much sun exposure we get. The vitamin D found in dairy products is Vitamin D_2 and in small amounts compared to what is now recommended. Other sources of vitamin D include oily fish, such as sardines."

In the past, most physicians have not been attuned to the deficiency potentials. But today more people are finally being tested for the deficiency.

The appropriate blood test is known as 25 hydroxylvitamin D serum level and it is an optional addition to a standard blood test. "Deficiency" has long been defined as having a reading of less than 20 nanograms per milliliter (ng/mL), but newer studies indicate that 30 ng/mL is the necessary minimum. On that criterion, about a billion people worldwide are sub-optimal, and elderly people particularly so.

This viewpoint is explained in detail in a review article in the medical literature: "Vitamin D Deficiency", by M. Holick, New England Journal of Medicine, vol. 357, p. 266-281 (July 19, 2007). It also says many other things, including, "More than 50% of postmenopausal women taking medication for osteoporosis had suboptimal levels of 25 hydroxyvitamin D – below 30 ng/mL (75 nmol/L). Children and young adults are also potentially at high risk for vitamin D deficiency."

Treatment for a vitamin D deficiency is easy: Take a supplement of vitamin D_3 (cholecalciferol). Typical pill sizes are 1,000 I.U., and people can take one or two daily until their serum level rises and levels off. It is really difficult to overdose on vitamin D_3 – according to the same NEJM article, the "intoxication" level is > 150 ng/mL (374 nmol/L). Taking 10,000 I.U. weekly will not cause toxicity.

Other forms of vitamin D are not particularly helpful; the vitamin D_2 in dairy products is not metabolized all that well by elderly people.

Currently, vitamin D has become a hot topic in discussions by nutritionists and health care professionals. There is always a risk that the general public will chase after it as a cure-all, which it is not. Even without the dietary supplements, a 20-minute daily walk in sunlight will improve your vitamin D level.

Nevertheless, vitamin D deficiency is so prevalent that it's a good idea to be tested. So – next time you're having a blood test anyway, get your 25 hydroxyvitamin D level checked. If you are deficient, start taking the right stuff!

GOP Women Visit Washington, D.C., Tour White House

Members of the Southern Garrett County Republican Women's Club visited Washington, D.C., in mid-December. The bus trip was arranged by local resident Ruth Umbel, second vice president of the Maryland Federation of Republican Women.

Accompanying the Southern group were members of the Northern Garrett County Republican Women's Club and Allegany County Republican clubs, Allegany County high school students, and other citizens.

The 50 area residents, together with another 500 people, toured the White House, which was decorated for Christmas. Approximately 25 Christmas trees decorated in a red, white, and blue theme were on display.

Ellen Bartlett, wife of Congressman Roscoe Bartlett, met the group at the White House entrance. She walked among the crowd and answered questions.

The GOP women also toured the World War II monument and the Air and Space Museum, and saw the Iwo Jima and Washington monuments, Embassy Row, and many other tourist sites.

The SGCRWC is considering another trip to Washington, D.C., next year.

Women Of Bible To Be Focus Of St. Mark's Forum

The Adult Forum at St. Mark's Lutheran Church in Oakland will resume on Wednesday, Jan. 7, following its regular holiday break. Pastor C. Scott Robinson said the forum will continue its discussion series called "Women of the Bible."

"From Abigail through Zipporah, Miriam through Mary Magdalene we are discussing not only the most famous biblical women, but also some of the more interesting minor female characters," the pastor said. "No study of the Bible's women would be complete without an examination of the cultural and societal attitudes toward them in the biblical era. We consider how these may have influenced the portrayals of the Bible's various female characters."

Among those next in the discussion lineup is the biblical character Esther.

"Esther is the featured book in the Synagogue for the late winter Jewish holiday known as Purim. Purim means 'lots' in Hebrew, and the celebration is described in the book. It is a joyous, festive occasion, typically featuring boisterous behavior, partying, occasional food fights and pulling pranks, all in good fun," Robinson said.

The women of the New Testament will be the featured topics in coming weeks. Forum sessions include PowerPoint presentations prepared by the pastor and open discussions. Handouts include summaries and special points of interest.

The forum is free and open to the public, meeting at 6:15 p.m. each Wednesday in the church fellowship hall. A brief service of contemplative evening prayer follows for those who are interested.

St. Mark's is located at the intersection of Second and Center streets in Oakland, across from the Ruth Enlow Library. For more information, persons may call the church office at 301-334-2668, or visit the web site at stmarksoakland.com.

ACCELERATED READERS RECOGNIZED – Accident Elementary School recently celebrated its Accelerated Readers for the month of November. LENDING AN EAR
When an outer ear (pinna) is lost to injury or cancer surgery, hearing loss may result from the absence of this important sound-collecting portion of the ear. In many cases in which the auricle (as it is also known) is lost, the external auditory canal is usually intact and the remainder of the hearing system functions normally. If so, outfitting patients with prosthetic outer ears not only corrects the aesthetic effect caused by the missing pinna, but it also addresses the hearing loss caused by its absence. A study of the effects of eight different silicone rubber prosthetic ears showed that, on average, the prostheses improved sound pickup by 8.1 decibels when the frequency of the sound was 4.6 kilohertz.
Science and medical technology continue to work toward enhancing the quality of life of the hearing impaired. We'd like to do our part by providing you with comprehensive hearing testing and evaluations, coupled with the most advanced, comfortable, dependable instruments on the market today. At AUDIBEL, we can help with acoustic appraisal of your hearing ability, discussion of the listening devices available, and follow-up care and service of your hearing aid.
P.S. In tests involving restoration of the outer ear to people who have lost their own, prosthetic ears improved speech recognition.

Change in Hours of Operation

Garrett County Landfill will be closed on Saturdays

The Garrett County Solid Waste & Recycling Division on Oakland Sang Run Road will be closed on Saturdays to commercial haulers and individuals bringing large loads of commercial trash, beginning in January 2009 thru March 15, 2009. The scales, office and landfill will be closed. This is a cost effective benefit to the County because of the low number of customers that use the landfill and offices on Saturday during this period. Garrett County Solid Waste & Recycling Division will reopen for Saturday business on March 21, 2009, at 9 a.m. until 2:45 p.m. for large loads; until 4 p.m. at the office.

Homeowners may continue to bring their weekly household trash from 8 a.m. until noon. Applications for refuse site stickers will be available from the site attendant, and can then be mailed to the Solid Waste & Recycling Division; filled out and brought back during normal working hours Monday through Fridoy; or purchased at the Oakland tax office in the Courthouse Monday through Friday.

Farming On The Mountaintop

Tri-State Hay, Pasture Conf. Set In Salisbury

Gordon Groover, extension economist and farm management specialist from the Department of Agricultural and Applied Economics at Virginia Tech, will be the featured speaker at the Tri-State Hay and Pasture Conference on Thursday, Jan. 8, at the Salisbury (Pa.) fire hall.

Topics to be covered are "To hay or not to hay?" and "What does that bale of hay really cost?"

Groover will discuss long-term versus short-term costs of hay, including how much capital should be invested in fence and water systems and how much in machinery and equipment.

He will also discuss how to determine the cost of producing hay.

"In the East, there are no well-established and high volume hay markets, no well-established grades and standards, and no recognized terminal markets for hay," said Willie Lantz, extension educator for the Garrett County Office of Maryland Cooperative Extension. "The farmers are making choices based on their knowledge of their own costs of producing a ton of hay. Thus, the key objective is to illustrate how to determine your costs of producing hay."

Persons should call the Garrett County Extension Office at 301-334-6960 to register for the conference. The registration deadline is Monday, Jan. 5.

CHANGES TO PAYMENT LIMITATION, INCOME QUALIFICATIONS, AND IMPLEMENTS DIRECT ATTRIBUTION PROGRAMS ENACTED

With the publication of an interim final regulation in the Federal Register last week, the USDA announced changes to both Adjusted Gross Income (AGI) qualifications, program payment limitations, and direct attribution for Farm Service Agency (FSA) and Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS) programs, which became effective in accordance with the 2008 Farm Bill.

Public comments on this interim final rule must be submitted to USDA within 30 days of the date of the Dec. 23 publication.

For commodity and disaster programs, the AGI limitation was reduced from $2.5 million AGI from all sources to a three-year average of non-farm AGI of $500,000, such that a person or entity shall not be eligible for such programs if the non-farm AGI exceeds $500,000. Also, under the new regulations, an individual or entity must have a three-year average AGI less than or equal to $750,000 per year from farm income to qualify for direct payments issued under the Direct and Counter-Cyclical Program (DCP).

The definition of income derived from farming, ranching, and forestry operations was expanded to include, among other items, such items as the packing, storing, and transporting of agricultural commodities; production of livestock products; farm-based production of renewable bio-energy; and in some instances, the providing of operational inputs to farmers, ranchers, and foresters.

For conservation programs, the average non-farm AGI limitation is $1 million or less for eligibility. However, an individual or entity who has non-farm income in excess of $1 million remains eligible for conservation programs only if 66.66 percent or more of the total AGI is derived from farming, ranching, or forestry operations. In addition, the AGI limitation for conservation programs may be waived on a case-by-case basis if it is determined that environmentally sensitive land of special significance would be protected.

Program payments are limited by direct attribution to individuals or entities. A legal entity is defined as an entity created under federal or state law that owns land or an agricultural commodity, product, or livestock. Through direct attribution, payment limitation is based on the total payments received by the individual, both directly and indirectly. Qualifying spouses are eligible to be considered separate persons for payment limitation purposes, rather than being automatically combined under one limitation.

States, local governments, political subdivisions, and other agencies were eligible for payments prior to the enactment of the 2008 Farm Bill. The bill and this rule make such jurisdictions ineligible for payments unless such payments are earned on state-owned land and are used to support public schools. Payments under this exception are limited to $500,000 annually; the limitation is waived for a state that has a population of less than 1.5 million.

Individuals and entities must be "actively engaged in farming" with respect to a farming operation in order to be eligible for specified payments and benefits. To be "actively engaged in farming" the individual or entity must make significant contributions to the farming operation of: (1) capital, equipment, land, or a combination; and (2) active personal labor or active personal management, or a combination.

Under rules in effect since 1988, not every member of an entity had to contribute active personal labor or management. The interim final rule requires each partner, stockholder, or member with an ownership interest to make a contribution of active personal labor or active personal management. The contribution must be regular and substantial, and documented as well as separate and distinct from any other member's contribution. The rule limits the ability of passive stockholders to continue to realize benefits from the entity.

Under the interim final rule, the addition of individuals or entities to an existing operation to qualify for additional payments is more restrictive than under the previous regulations. The prior rule in effect since 1988 said the acquisition of new cropland to the farming operation of at least 20 percent qualifies for an increase of an unlimited number of new persons and/or legal entities eligible for payment. The rule changes the 20 percent increase requirement from cropland to base acres and only allows for the addition of one new person to the operation. However, based on the magnitude and complexity of the change in the farming operation, the state FSA office may approve additional persons or legal entities for payment in the farming operation. The change eliminates the loophole that previously allowed an unlimited increase in the number of limitations that could accompany a 20 percent increase in eligible land area that meets the definition of cropland.

REQUEST FOR BIDS

Public notice is hereby given that the Town of Oakland will receive sealed bids at Oakland Town Hall, 15 South Third Street, Oakland, Maryland 21550, until January 9, 2009, for the installation of lighting along the walking/biking path at the Glades Town Park. The project will include but not be limited to the purchase of materials, lights, and the installation, and will include Phase 2, Phase 3, and Phase 4. The Town has obtained grant funding, and thus the scope of the project may be adjusted based upon funding. Plans and specifications may be obtained at Oakland City Hall, during normal business hours, for a fee of $25.

The successful bidder must be able to complete the work within 60 days, weather permitting. The successful bidder must supply proof of insurance, and necessary performance and maintenance bonds.

Sealed bids marked "Walking/Biking Path Lighting for Phase 2, Phase 3 and Phase 4" must be submitted to Oakland City Hall by January 9, 2009, at 10:00 a.m., and at that time and place publicly opened. Questions may be directed to Asa McCain at 301-334-2691.

The Town of Oakland reserves the right to reject any and/or all bids. EOE

SUBSTITUTE TRUSTEES' SALE
367 UNDERWOOD ROAD
OAKLAND, MARYLAND 21550

Under and by virtue of the power of sale contained in a certain Deed of Trust from Quintin L. Guthrie and Tana A. Guthrie, dated October 23, 2006, and recorded in Liber 1260, folio 0609, among the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland, default having occurred under the terms thereof, and at the request of the parties secured thereby, the undersigned Substitute Trustees will offer the sale at public auction at the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Oakland, Maryland, on

MONDAY, JANUARY 12, 2009
AT 2:00 P.M.

All that lot of ground and the improvements thereon SITUATED IN Garrett County, Maryland, and more fully described in the aforesaid Deed of Trust.

The property is believed to be improved by a dwelling and is in fee simple. The property address is 367 Underwood Road, Oakland, Maryland 21550.

The property will be sold in an "as is" condition and subject to conditions, restrictions and agreements of record affecting the same, if any, and with no warranty of any kind.

Terms of Sale: A deposit of $13,500 will be required at the time of sale, such deposit to be in cash, cashier's check, certified check, or in other form acceptable to the Substitute Trustees. Balance of the purchase price is to be paid in cash within ten (10) business days of the final ratification of sale by the Circuit Court for Garrett County. If payment of the balance does not take place within ten business days of ratification, the deposit will be forfeited and property will be resold at the risk and expense of the defaulting purchaser. The defaulting purchaser shall not be entitled to any surplus proceeds or profits resulting from any resale of the property. Interest to be paid on unpaid purchase money at the rate pursuant to the deed of trust note from date of sale to date funds are received in the office of the Substitute Trustees in the event the property is purchased by someone rather than the note holder. In the event settlement is delayed for any reason, there shall be no abatement of interest. Taxes, ground rent, water rent, condominium fees and/or homeowner association dues, all public charges, assessments payable on an annual basis, including sanitary and/or metropolitan district charges, if applicable, to be adjusted for the current year to date of sale and assumed thereafter by the purchaser. Cost of all documentary stamps, transfer taxes and settlement expenses shall be borne by the purchaser. Purchaser shall be responsible for obtaining physical possession of the property. Purchaser assumes the risk of loss or damage to the property from the date of sale forward. If the Substitute Trustees are unable to convey good and marketable title, the purchaser's sole remedy in law or equity shall be limited to the refund of the deposit. Upon refund of the deposit, this sale shall be void and of no effect, and the purchaser shall have no further claims against the Substitute Trustees. Purchaser agrees to pay $250.00 at settlement, to the Seller's attorney, for review of the settlement documents. Purchaser agrees to pay $250.00 to the Seller's Attorney for review of Motion to Substitute Purchaser payable at the time of execution.

NO. 6061 SANG RUN ROAD, OAKLAND, MD 21550
Aka 6061 SANG RUN ROAD, MCHENRY, MD 21541

Under and by virtue of the power and authority contained in a certain Deed of Trust from Anna D. Reed, aka Anna Darlene Reed, to Thomas R. Janes, Trustee(s), dated August 9, 1996, and recorded among the Land Records of Garrett County, in Liber 687, Folio 0260 (Gerard F. Miles, Jr., Mark S. Devan, Thomas P. Dore, Jennifer M. Herring, and Kristen K. Haskins, having been appointed as Substituted Trustees therein by the present holder of the Note secured thereby), default having occurred in the payment of the indebtedness thereby secured, and at the request of the party secured thereby, the undersigned Substituted Trustees will offer for sale at public auction at the main entrance of the Circuit Courthouse for Garrett County in Oakland at 203 South 4th Street, on all that land and premises described more fully in the aforesaid Deed of Trust.

Tuesday, January 6, 2009

The property will be sold in "AS IS" condition, subject to conditions, restrictions and agreements of record, if any. Purchaser assumes liability for any loss incurred to the property between sale and ratification.

The property is improved by a DWELLING.

TERMS OF SALE: $7,000.00 cash, cashier's check, certified check, or in such other form as the Trustees may determine acceptable, in their sole discretion, will be required of the purchaser (other than the above named Note holder) at the time and place of sale, balance of the purchase money in cash upon final ratification of sale by the Circuit Court for Garrett County and to bear interest at 6.87%, per annum from the day of sale to the day of settlement. In the event settlement is delayed for any reason, there will be no abatement of interest. In the event the above named Note holder purchases the property no deposit will be required and the requirement of interest on the balance of the purchase price shall be waived. All charges for conveyancing, recording, stamp taxes, transfer taxes, certificate of title, etc., to be at the cost of the purchaser.

All charges for private water, private sewage, private front-foot benefit charges and all other private utility charges, including legal fees assessed on behalf of private utility companies, to be at the costs of the purchaser, regardless of the date of accrual of said charges. Expenses, water rent, and real estate taxes and all other assessments and public charges, payable on annual basis including special paving tax, if any, to be adjusted to the date of sale, and assumed thereafter by purchaser. However, the purchaser is responsible for any amount in excess of $250.00 of outstanding public water bills incurred prior to the sale. Any special assessments made by a condominium association or homeowners association are the responsibility of the purchaser. It shall be the purchaser's responsibility to obtain possession of the property in the event it is occupied.

Time is of the essence and terms of sale are to be complied with within ten days after final ratification thereof by the Court, otherwise the deposit will be forfeited and the property will be resold at the risk and cost of the defaulting purchaser. Purchaser agrees to pay $1,000.00 plus costs if the Trustees file a Motion to Resell with the Court. Purchaser waives personal service of said Motion to Resell and expressly agrees to accept service of any paper by regular mail directed to the address given at the time of sale. This sale is subject to Ratification by the Circuit Court for Garrett County. If the sale is not ratified, or if a bankruptcy is filed, reinstatement or payoff funds are received, or an order to cancel sale is sent by the noteholder prior to the gavel going down, or if for any reason the Substituted Trustees are unable to convey clear, marketable title, the sale shall be void and the purchaser's sole remedy shall be the return of the deposit.

Purchaser agrees to pay $275.00 to the Seller's attorney at settlement for review of the settlement documents. Purchaser agrees to pay $150.00 to seller's attorney to review any motion filed with the Court to substitute a purchaser.

TRUSTEE'S SALE
Case No. 11-C-0810607
of Valuable Improved Real Estate
located in Garrett County, Maryland,
290 Marshall Hill Road, Unit 224
McHenry, Maryland 21541

Under and by virtue of a Power Of Sale contained in a certain Deed Of Trust from Paul C. Snyder to Stanley L. Merson and S. Lynne Pulford, Trustees, recorded among the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland, in Liber 1301, at Folio 316, docketed for foreclosure in Civil No. 11-C-0810607, the holder of the indebtedness secured by the Deed Of Trust having appointed Martin L. Goozman and Jeffrey W. Bernstein as Substitute Trustees by instrument duly executed, acknowledged and recorded among the Land Records of the said County, default having occurred under the terms thereof and at the request of the holder of the Note secured thereby, the undersigned Substitute Trustees will offer for sale in "AS IS" condition at public auction in front of the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, Courthouse, 203 S. 4th Street, Oakland, Maryland 21550, on Thursday, January 15, 2009

at 11:00 a.m.

all that property described in the said Deed Of Trust as follows:

> All that property situate, lying and being in Election District No. 18, Garrett County, Maryland, shown and designated as Unit No. 224 on the plat of The Wisp Condominium recorded in Plat Book 2, Page 189, among the Plat Records of Garrett County, Maryland.

The property will be sold subject to all conditions, restrictions, easements, covenants, rights-of-way and agreements of record affecting the property, and subject to whatever an accurate survey or inspection of the property would disclose, in "AS IS" condition, without out any express or implied warranty as to suitability, quality, condition or description, including any contained herein.

A deposit of $7,000.00 cash, certified or cashier's check, payable to the undersigned Trustees, shall be required at the time and place of sale. The balance of the purchase price shall bear interest at the rate of 6.875% per annum from the date of sale to the date of settlement. No deposit shall be required of the noteholder where the noteholder bids on the property at sale and payment of the purchase price by the noteholder shall be made by crediting the purchase price against the foreclosure costs and expenses and the indebtedness secured by said Deed Of Trust. In the event that settlement is delayed for any reason, including, but not limited to, exceptions to the sale, bankruptcy filings by interested parties, court administration of the foreclosure sale or unknown title defects, there shall be no abatement of interest.

Adjustment of all taxes, public charges and special or regular assessments, annual front foot benefit charges and deferred connection fees, if any, shall be made as of the date of sale and thereafter assumed by the purchaser. Title examination, conveyancing, transfer taxes, recordation tax and all other costs of conveyance and settlement shall be paid by the purchaser. Purchaser agrees to pay $295.00 at settlement to Seller's attorney for review of the settlement documents.

The property is sold subject to the right of any persons in possession of all or any part of the premises under recorded or unrecorded leases or rights of occupancy, if any. Purchaser shall be responsible for obtaining possession of the property.

Compliance with the terms of sale shall be made within ten (10) days after final ratification of the sale unless said time is extended by the undersigned Trustees in their sole discretion for good cause shown, time being of the essence; otherwise the deposit shall be forfeited and the property will be resold at the risk and expense of the defaulting purchaser.

The Trustees are not liable, individually or otherwise, for any reason. If title to the property is not or cannot be transferred consistent with the terms hereof for any reason, the Trustee's liability is limited, at its sole discretion, to return any deposit, thereby rescinding the sale, and there is no other right or remedy against the Trustees at law or in equity.

PUBLIC SALE OF VALUABLE IMPROVED REAL ESTATE
85 and 223 OLD CRELLIN ROAD
OAKLAND, MARYLAND 21550

10:00 a.m.

By virtue of a Power of Sale contained in a Deed of Trust from Kevin B. Snyder and Melanie C. Snyder dated July 25, 2007, and recorded among the Garrett County Land Records at Liber 1323, Page 506, (the "Deed of Trust"), default in compliance with the covenants of said Deed of Trust having occurred; the same having become due and payable, and demand for payment having been made, and Roger Schlossberg, Substitute Trustee, having been substituted as Trustee thereunder and having instituted foreclosure proceedings in Case No. 11-C-08-10714 now pending in the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, the said Substitute Trustee will offer at public sale at the East Alder Street entrance to the Garrett County Courthouse, in Oakland, Garrett County, Maryland on Monday, January 12, 2009, at the hour of 10:00 a.m., all that lot or parcel of land, together with the improvements thereon, and also together with and subject to all easements, rights of way, benefits and appurtenances thereunto belonging or appertaining, situate, lying and being in Election District No. 14, and being more particularly described as follows:

All that parcel of land situate in Election District No. 14, Garrett County, Maryland, which is described as follows:

Parcel One

Lot No. 3 containing 15.00 acres, more or less, as shown on the plat recorded in Plat Case DKM 2, file 90, among the Plat Records of Garrett County, Maryland.

Being the same real estate conveyed to Kevin B. Snyder and Melanie C. Snyder by Deed dated May 10, 2001 and recorded among the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland in Liber 839, page 206.

Parcel Two

Lot No. 1 containing 1.61 acres, more or less, as shown on a site plan by Bench Mark Land Surveying for Donald Ahern and recorded in Liber No. 699, folio 29, among the Land Records of Garrett County Maryland.

Being the same real estate conveyed to Kevin B. Snyder and Melanie C. Snyder by Deed dated May 10, 2001 and recorded among the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland in Liber 839, folio 203.

The above-described two (2) parcels of real property (collectively, the "Properties") being part of the same property which was conveyed by the said Kevin B. Snyder and Melanie C. Snyder by that Deed of Trust dated July 25, 2007, to the Trustees for the benefit of Farm Credit of the Virginias, ACA; said Deed of Trust being recorded among the Garrett County Land Records at Liber 1323, page 506.

The Properties are being sold and will be conveyed free and clear of the lien of the above-referenced Deed of Trust and all subordinate liens and encumbrances. The Properties are being sold and will be conveyed "as is, where is", without recourse, together with and subject to all applicable conditions, restrictions, covenants, limitations, rights of way, streets, alleys, reservations, easements, and appurtenances of record and subject also to all environmental conditions affecting the Properties, if any. The undersigned Substitute Trustee makes no warranties or representations, express or implied, with respect to any matters concerning the Properties, including but not limited to, condition of the Properties, matters of survey or title, tenancies or parties in possession, zoning compliance, housing or other governmental or regulatory violations, environmental conditions, etc.

MANNER OF SALE: The undersigned Substitute Trustee will offer the Properties for sale as separate parcels and as a single consolidated tract. The two (2) separato parcels consisting of tho above-described "Parcel One" and "Parcel Two" first will be offered for sale and the high bid for each such Parcel will be held in reserve pending the offer for sale of the above-described Properties as a single consolidated tract (tho "Combined Properties"). Upon receipt of tho high bid for tho Combined Properties, the undersigned Substitute Trustee will determine that bid or combination of bids which will yield the greatest return to the Substitute Trustee. Upon that determination, the Substitute Trustee will accept either: (a) the respective separate bids for "Parcel One" and "Parcel Two"; or (b) the bid for the Combined Properties.

TERMS OF SALE: A deposit of Ten Thousand Dollars ($10,000.00) (the "Deposit") will be required from each bidder at the time of sale in cash or by certified check or other form of payment acceptable to the undersigned Substitute Trustee in the said Substitute Trustee's sole discretion; the balance to be paid upon ratification of the sale by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland; except that no deposit shall be required of the holder (the "Holder") of the note secured by the Deed of Trust where the Holder bids on the Properties at the sale and payment of the purchase price by the Holder shall be made by crediting the purchase price against the foreclosure costs and expenses and the indebtedness secured by said Deed of Trust. Interest shall accrue on the unpaid balance of the purchase price at the rate of twelve percent (12%) per annum from the date of sale to the date of Court ratification, and at the rate of twenty percent (20%) per annum from the date of Court ratification to the date of settlement. No interest shall accrue on the Deposit. If a successful bidder (a "Purchaser") for any of the Parcels or for the Combined Properties fails to make settlement within fifteen (15) days following the date of Court ratification, time being of the essence thereto, the entire Deposit may, at the option of the undersigned Substitute Trustee, be forfeited and retained as liquidated damages and notice of said forfeiture shall be provided to such Purchaser by the Substitute Trustee. If the Deposit is not forfeited as liquidated damages, but is Instead retained by the Substitute Trustee in escrow pending resale of any of the Parcels or of the Combined Properties, any of the Parcels or the Combined Properties may be resold by the Substitute Trustee at the risk and expense of the defaulting Purchaser, and the Deposit of said defaulting Purchaser thereafter shall be applied as required to any subsequently realized loss of the Substitute Trustee by virtue of the default by the said Purchaser and the required resale of the Parcels or the Combined Properties, including any expenses incidental thereto. All taxes, water, and other public charges and assessments shall be pro-rated on and as of the date of said sale and shall be assumed thereafter by the Purchaser. Following the date of sale, all risk of loss to the Properties shall be assumed by the Purchaser. The Purchaser shall pay the cost of all recordation taxes, transfer taxes (including but not limited to that agricultural land transfer tax imposed by Maryland Tax Property Code §13-302; which said tax may be applicable to the sale and transfer of the Property), document preparation and other costs of settlement. The Purchaser shall be entitled to physical possession of the Parcels or the Combined Properties, as applicable, only after settlement; however, the Substitute Trustee assumes no responsibility to place the Purchaser in such possession of the Parcels or the Combined Properties. The undersigned specifically reserves the right to reject any bids submitted. The Substitute Trustee reserves the right at the sale to vary, modify, alter or qualify any of the foregoing terms or conditions of sale.

Farr away: Ex-co-star's 'NUMB3RS' up

By Jay Bobbin
Zap2it

Q: While watching newer episodes of "NUMB3RS," we've come to realize that an actress who was a member of the FBI team is no longer on the show. What is the name of the actress, and what is she doing now? –Don and Carole ...rel, Lantana, Texas

A: Though Sabrina Lloyd ("Sports Night") was a founding cast member of the CBS crime drama for the initial 13 episodes, you're likely thinking of Diane Farr, who has been spending a lot of time at home with the twins to whom she gave birth in August. She and marketer husband Seung Yong Chung welcomed two girls they named Sawyer Lucia and Coco Trinity.

Q: Is "Big Brother" coming back to CBS in the future? It's one of my favorite reality-competition programs. –Joel Heck, San Jose, Calif.

A: It'll be back in the summer. In fact, CBS confirmed there would be an 11th edition almost as soon as the 10th one ended in September -- and there have been rumors that the next one might be another "All-Stars" version that brings back houseguests from past seasons. In any event, you can expect Julie Chen to return as the program's host.

Q: I really like "Pushing Daisies" and "Reaper," and I'm hoping they haven't been canceled. Have they? –Sid Garrison, Glen Burnie, Md.

A: At this writing, the word "canceled" hadn't been applied to "Pushing Daisies" officially, but ABC hadn't ordered any more episodes than the ones already produced. If they haven't all played out by the time you read this, they will very shortly.

Diane Farr

The news is better on "Reaper," since The CW always had intended the horror-comedy to return as a midseason entry; its second round is slated to begin airing March 17. Incidentally, the complete first seasons of both shows are available on DVD.

Q: What ever happened to "Rescue Me"? Has it been canceled? The last time Denis Leary was on David Letterman's show, it wasn't even mentioned. –Teddy Martin, Terrell, Texas

A: The FX show about firefighters is on track to return in the spring. The writers strike caused the delay, since the series would have returned last March had not the scripts and filming of them been held up. Michael J. Fox has signed on to play the new beau of Tommy Gavin's (Leary) estranged wife, Janet (Andrea Roth).

PUBLIC NOTICE

The Deep Creek Watershed Board of Zoning Appeals will conduct a public hearing on Thursday, January 15, 2009, starting at 7:00 p.m. in the County Commissioners' meeting room, Second Floor, Courthouse Annex, Oakland. The Board will review the following docketed cases:

1. INTP-18 — An application submitted by Janet Woods-Barnes for an Interpretive Hearing regarding an advertising sign for a home occupation business. The Zoning Administrator has interpreted that the identification sign for the business is not located on the same premises as the permitted use. The property is located at 368 Glendale Road, tax map 58, parcel 617, lot 27 and is zoned Town Residential.
2. VR-653 — An application submitted by Violet R. Railey for a Variance to allow the subdivision of a lot where a residence would come to within 1.5 feet of a side property line, instead of the required 15.0 feet. The property is located at 3397 Lakeshore Drive, tax map 50, parcel 618, lots 6 and 7, and is zoned Lake Residential.

Interested persons are invited to attend.

ORDINANCE NO. 2009-1
(Abandoned Vehicles)

AN ORDINANCE OF THE MAYOR AND TOWN COUNCIL OF FRIENDSVILLE AMENDING WORDING UNDER DEFINITIONS OF ORDINANCE NO. 2005-4, ABANDONED VEHICLES.

Explanation: Capitals indicate matter added to existing law. [Brackets] indicate matter deleted from existing law.

WHEREAS, the Mayor and Town Council of Friendsville is authorized by Article 23A of the Maryland Annotated Code and by the Friendsville Town Charter to enact ordinances to protect the health, safety and welfare of residents of and visitors to the Town of Friendsville; and

WHEREAS, on October 3, 2005, the Mayor and Town Council of Friendsville adopted Ordinance No. 2005-4, Abandoned Vehicles. In this ordinance it defines what is considered an abandoned vehicle.

WHEREAS, Ordinance 2005-4 Abandoned Vehicles has been found not to be specific enough in its definition of vehicles.

WHEREAS, the Friendsville Mayor and Town Council find it prudent to amend the definition of abandoned vehicles in Ordinance 2005-3 to be more specific.

NOW THEREFORE, IT IS HEREBY ORDAINED AND RESOLVED, that the referenced sections of the Friendsville Abandoned Vehicle Ordinance is hereby amended, as set forth below.

WHEREAS under Definitions, Section 1, "Abandoned Vehicles" states:

"Abandoned Vehicle shall mean any MOTOR vehicle, TRAILER, OR SEMI-TRAILER (which) THAT:

1. Is not in operable condition (not capable of being driven or operated) and has not been In operable condition for more than thirty (30) days;
2. [Any vehicle which] Has not been registered with the Maryland Motor Vehicle Administration or the vehicle registration department of any other state of the United States.
3. [And for which] HAS NOT HAD a valid registration certificate [and] OR license tags [have not been issued] for more than thirty (30) days; OR
4. [Any vehicle which] is used to scavenge parts or from which any parts have been taken."

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, this ordinance shall be duly advertised in accordance with the policy for the Adoption of Ordinances by the Mayor and Town Council of Friendsville. A public hearing on this amendment to Ordinance 2005-4, Abandoned Vehicles, shall be held on January 20, 2009, at the Town Hall, located at 313 Chestnut Street, Friendsville, Maryland 21531.

INTRODUCED this 5th day of January 2009.

SECOND READING AND ADOPTION this 20th day of January 2009.

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, this ordinance shall be effective as of the 20th day of January 2009.

ATTEST: MAYOR AND TOWN COUNCIL OF FRIENDSVILLE, MARYLAND
Karen S. Benedict, Clerk/Treasurer
1/1-8(2) Spencer R. Schlosnagle, Mayor

MSP Investigate Hellcopter Crash In Grantsville

Maryland State Police responded to Grantsville for a report of an aircraft down in an open field off Amish Road. The McHenry Barrack received a call from Garrett Central at approximately 6:15 p.m. yesterday evening. Investigation revealed that a helicopter owned by Chesapeake Bay Helicopters, piloted by Kolby Lee Reese, 31, Virginia Beach, Va., went down.

Fireboard personnel and MSP along with Natural Resources Police responded to the scene, recovering the injured pilot, who was transported to Cumberland Memorial Hospital. Federal Aviation Administration was notified.

The condition of the pilot was not released.

THE NEW YEAR'S BABY HAS ARRIVED! After nearly five days of not much action at the Garrett County Memorial Hospital maternity ward, Sten and Jennifer Sanders, Parsons, W.Va., welcomed their first child, a healthy baby boy. Colton Wheeler Sanders arrived at 12:18 a.m. Tuesday morning, Jan. 5, weighing 9 lbs., 5 oz., and measuring 22 inches long. Sten is an E-4 in the U.S. Army and was given leave from his third tour in Afghanistan to be home for the arrival of this new family member.

Health Dept. Slates Flu, Shingles Virus Vaccination Clinics

The Garrett County Health Department has scheduled a series of vaccination clinics during January to protect the population against the H1N1 flu, seasonal flu, and the shingles virus.

The H1N1 flu vaccine is free and is now available to anyone who wants to be vaccinated. The shingles vaccine is also free, and is recommended for healthy persons who are 60 years of age and older. The seasonal flu vaccine is available to everyone at a cost of $25.

A combined walk-in clinic for both H1N1 flu and shingles vaccinations is scheduled for the Oakland office on Saturday, Jan. 23, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. In addition, appointments for shingles vaccinations are also being scheduled. More information about shingles is available at the end of this article.

At the Oakland office, H1N1 flu vaccinations will be available during a walk-in clinic today, Thursday, Jan. 7, until 6 p.m., and also by appointment from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. on Jan. 13, 19, 21, and 27.

At the Grantsville office, H1N1 flu vaccinations will be available at a walk-in clinic this Saturday, Jan. 9, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Additional seasonal flu vaccine has been received and will be available at a walk-in clinic at the Oakland office on Wednesday, Jan. 13, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. The seasonal flu vaccine will also be available at the Grantsville office by appointment only on Friday, Jan. 15, from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Shingles, which is also known as herpes zoster, is caused by the varicella zoster virus, the same virus that causes chickenpox. Only someone who has had a case of chickenpox or has had the chickenpox vaccine can get shingles. Once the virus is in a person's body the virus may reappear years later to cause a case of shingles.

Although shingles can not be spread from person to person, it is possible for someone who has never had GOMANIA BUSINESS DESTROYED – Fire of as yet undetermined origin destroyed Gormania Gas & Go early yesterday, resulting in an estimated loss of $400,000. Nearly 120 firefighters from 13 West Virginia and Garrett County fire departments responded to the blaze, which was discovered at about 3 a.m. The incident forced closure of U.S. Rt. 50, W.Va. Rt. 90, and Maryland Rt. 560 for several hours, as firefighters had to work in difficult winter conditions. There were no injuries reported, and no adjacent structures were damaged. The owner of the property is Randy Rodeheaver. See story for details. Photo by Angie Sincell.

Gormania Gas & Go Destroyed By Blaze Of Unknown Origin Yesterday

The investigation is continuing into the cause of a fire early Wednesday that destroyed Gormania Gas & Go, located just across the state line in Gormania, W.Va. The loss is estimated to be $400,000 by the owner of the business, Randy Rodeheaver, Oakland.

Units and personnel from eight West Virginia and five Garrett County fire departments were involved in responding to the 2:57 a.m. alarm. Bayard VFD assistant chief Kevin DeWitt stated that heavy smoke and flames were present in the four-story structure upon arrival of the first fire units.

"All the windows were blown out and it was fully involved when we got there," said DeWitt, who estimated that nearly 120 volunteer firefighters responded.

He said that it appeared that the fire originated inside the front entrance of the 60x100 foot, four-story building, which had an attic and a basement.

Despite severe weather conditions, no one was reported injured in battling the blaze. The operation forced closure of U.S. Rt. 50, Md. Rt. 560, and W.Va. Rt. 90 for several hours.

"It was snowing and blowing, and the temperature was 14 degrees," DeWitt said. "The roof collapsed, so we had to fight it from outside."

Lost in the blaze along with the building was a variety of food-service equipment, freezers, walk-in coolers, meat slicers, and other items.

Owner Randy Rodeheaver said this morning that he had just taken a large delivery of supplies the first of this week, which he estimated to be valued at $30,000.

"We had at least

GC Planning Commission Releases Revised Drafts Of Land Ordinances

The Garrett County Planning Commission on Monday released revised drafts of three principal land development ordinances implemented by the county. Copies of the drafts are available for review on the county's web site, local libraries, and six public school offices.

The proposed revisions would affect the Subdivision Ordinance and Sensitive Areas Ordinance, which apply countywide. Also included are revisions to the Deep Creek Watershed Zoning Ordinance that apply to the zoned area of the county.

Initial preliminary drafts of the ordinances were released for public review on Sept. 29, 2009, by the Garrett County Department of Planning and Land Development. The Planning Commission then sponsored a public information meeting on the initial draft on Oct. 14, 2009.

The commission has accepted citizen comments submitted at the public meeting and in writing or by e-mail since the public meeting.

Based on the comments received, the commission's Revised Draft Ordinances incorporate major changes to the Sept. 29 drafts regarding subdivision policies in the AR (Agricultural Resource) and RR (Rural Resource) land classifications and zoning districts, according to county officials. The Revised Draft Ordinances:

- Allow subdivisions using either a non-cluster option or a cluster option. This is a change from the Sept. 29 draft that required clustering.
- Remove the provisions requiring creation of a resource parcel when subdivision occurs.
- Allow subdivision with a three-acre minimum lot size, as currently permitted in the AR and RR land classifications.
- Allow subdivision with a one-acre minimum lot size for transfer to children or grandchildren of the lot owner; for subdivision of a parcel less than 20 acres in

AAA Seeking Help With Plowing For Meals On Wheels

The Garrett County Meals on Wheels program, administered by Garrett County Community Action Committee's (GCCAC) Area Agency on Aging (AAA) is in need of assistance from individuals in the community with snow plow equipment. Many of the elderly receiving Meals on Wheels reside in more isolated areas that are not maintained by the Garrett County Roads Department.

"Some have lengthy driveways or farm lanes which during severe winter weather are virtually closed off, making it difficult if not impossible to deliver meals," noted a spokesperson.

Because of these conditions, AAA is seeking the assistance from members of various communities with snow plow equipment. AAA has a list of households in need of plowing immediately. Assistance with this matter may also benefit other services, i.e., ambulances, and fire and rescue departments.

Those interested in assisting should contact the AAA office at 301-334-9431 or toll free at 1-888-877-8403, ext. 137 or 143.

It is also encouraged by AAA that individuals assist the elderly during inclement weather by checking on them, offering to pick up groceries or prescriptions for them, shoveling sidewalks and driveways, bringing them their mail, etc.

Meals on Wheels promotes the GCCAC strategy of creating an environment where vulnerable Garrett

GC Commissioners Hear Year-End Report From Public Safety Director

Director Brad Frantz presented a year-end review to the Garrett County commissions on Tuesday on activities that the Department of Public Safety and Emergency Management was involved in during 2009.

Frantz reported that the county's 911 center re-ceived a total of 22,629 CAD incidents last year. The incidents are emergency calls that are loaded into the Computer-Aided Dispatch system to be sent out to responders.

The director noted that there were 1,385 more calls in 2009, compared to the previous year.

"That's a pretty significant increase for one year," he said.

Frantz said the center received an average of 80 calls per day during 2009. The busiest month was January.

Local volunteer fire departments responded to 1,890 calls last year, compared to 1,863 calls in 2008. Rescue squads handled 3,428 calls, compared to 3,435 the previous year. Frantz said the county's paid EMS staff assisted the volunteer squads on about 33 percent of the calls in 2009.

"This is about the same as the previous year," he said.

The county fire units responded to a wide variety of emergencies last year, including flue fires, hazardous material spills, brush fires, public service calls, vehicle wrecks and fires, and medical emergencies.

The Deep Creek Volunteer Fire Company responded to the most calls, 336, last year. Oakland handled 298; Friendsville, 219; Deer Park, 186, Accident, 168, Grantsville, 153, Bittinger, 146; Eastern, 142; Gorman 121; Kitzmiller, 111; and Bloomington, 10.

Frantz noted that most of Bloomington's calls are handled through Allegany County dispatch, and, therefore, that unit's response numbers were actually much higher than 10.

The director also reported on the Local Emergency Planning Committee's (LEPC) activities in 2009. Members include Frantz, Commissioner Ernie Gregg, Sheriff Gary Berkebile, health officer Rodney Glotfelty, and school superintendent Dr. Wendell Teets.

"It was a very productive year for the LEPC," Frantz said. He added that in only a few years the group has gone from a "stagnant" to "robust" one.

The director said the committee was able to send member Craig Umbel of the Garrett County Health Department to Baltimore for an Environmental Protection Agency conference on hazardous materials. The purpose of Umbel's attendance was to gain information to help local emergency units improve the way they handle hazmat situations.

Umbel has designed the

Bittinger Family Displaced By Monday Blaze

A Bittinger area family was left homeless early Monday when fire gutted their mobile home and addition, located at 649 Foxtown Road. According to a spokesperson for the Bittinger Volunteer Fire Department, the fire originated in the area of a wood-burning stove.

Several local fire departments were summoned to the residence of Jason Beitzel and family at 8:10 a.m. A family member called 911 after discovering the blaze, and all escaped uninjured. Two adults and at least two children resided there.

Responding to the scene along with the Bittinger VFD were units and personnel from the Accident, Grantsville, and Friendsville VFDs, a well as the Northern Rescue Squad and Allegheny Power. There were no injuries reported.

Firefighters remained on the scene for about two hours. The residence was deemed a total loss.

The family is reportedly being assisted by the American Red Cross and relatives.

Oakland Residents Spend Frigid Night Without Power

Electricity service to nearly 1,500 Oakland residents was interrupted Sunday evening, leaving residents without power for as long as 11 hours on a frigid night. The temperature in the town was about 5 degrees, with a wind chill below zero.

According to a spokesperson from Allegheny Power, switching equipment was frozen in the single-digit temperatures. Crews responded immediately to fix the problem, and had to use torches to thaw the ice, and an underground supply line had to be replaced.

The power went out at about 8:30 p.m. to most Oakland homes, and was restored to everyone by 7 a.m. Monday.

The Garrett County Department of Public Safety and Emergency Management did make shelters available for residents, but apparently no one used them.

GC Man Receives 15-Year Sentence For Child Abuse

A 37-year-old northern Garrett County man was sentenced by Judge Jim Sherbin in Circuit Court on Monday to 15 years in the Division of Corrections on a charge of sexual child abuse and to five years in the Division of Corrections on a charge of incest. (The man's name is not being published in attempt to protect the victim's identity.)

The defendant's sentences are to run consecutively. He will also have to register as a sexually violent offender.

The charges were filed in May by the Maryland State Police, who investigated a report of a father abusing a family member for a number of years. Protective service workers from the Department of Social Services also participated in the investigation. Additional charges are pending in Allegany County.

Pleas were entered in the case on Sept. 1, 2009, and a presentence investigation report was ordered.

In an unrelated case, Holly Marie Anderson, 24, Oakland, admitted in Circuit Court to violating her probation. Judge Sherbin then revoked Anderson's probation status and re-imposed six months of her previously suspended sentence to the Garrett County Jail.

Anderson was originally convicted, in August 2008, of theft and sentenced to 18 months in the Garrett County Jail, with that sentence suspended in favor of EASIEST MODE OF TRANSPORTATION? Walking is definitely one of the less complicated ways of getting from one place to another right now, with at least two feet of snow on the ground, on cars, on sidewalks, and everywhere else. Such is the situation in Garrett County, and the forecast doesn't bode well for much relief. The snow has been falling steadily for several days, and the temperature has not reached 20 degrees for just as long. The "classic" Garrett County winter weather has resulted in sporadic school attendance for students, for whom schools were closed Monday, delayed two hours Tuesday, closed Wednesday, and delayed two hours today. With up to another foot of snow predicted to be on the way tonight, the school status is tentative for tomorrow. Another complication of the frigid temperatures occurred Sunday night for about 1,500 Oakland residents, when the power went out for up to 11 hours because of frozen main switches. A further complication is evidenced in today's issue of The Republican, with nearly empty sports pages (everything has been canceled!). Ah, well. Such is winter on the mountaintop. Rugged Garrett Countians can handle it. Photo by John McEwen.

GCMH Accredited By American Association Of Blood Banks

Garrett County Memorial Hospital has been granted a renewal to its accreditation by the American Association of Blood Banks (AABB), according to Joyce Nutter, GCMH laboratory director.

Accreditation follows an intensive on-site assessment by specially trained AABB assessors and establishes that the level of medical, technical, and administrative performance within the facility meets or exceeds the standards set by AABB. By successfully meeting those requirements, GCMH joins approximately 1,700 similar facilities across the United States and abroad that have earned AABB accreditation.

"The AABB's accreditation procedures are voluntary," explains Nutter. "Garrett County Memorial Hospital has sought AABB accreditation because it provides a structured evaluation by peers to help us, as professionals, to gauge our level of efficiency compared to industry accepted standards. AABB delivers staff education to enable us to utilize our organizational resources maximally and thereby achieve the next higher level of proficiency. It enhances our readiness to deal with change and unforeseen challenges to public health."

Since 1958, AABB has been engaged in the accreditation of blood banks and transfusion services. Today its accreditation program assists blood banks, transfusion services, cellular therapy facilities, parentage testing laboratories, immunohematology reference laboratories, and perioperative services in determining whether methods, procedures, personnel knowledge, equipment and the physical plant meet established requirements.

The minimum requirements for accreditation are based primarily on a set of specific standards for the area in which accreditation is being sought. These standards not only reflect the level of professional proficiency for blood banks and transfusion services in the United States, but also provide the basis for practice in similar facilities around the world.

AABB accreditation is the designation of choice for blood banking, transfusion medicine, blood management and cellular therapies because it demonstrates an organization's commitment to advanced learning, continuous improvement and innovation by striving to sustain the highest possible level of patient and donor care. AABB-accredited organizations are recognized by their peers as leaders in their field and as pivotal voices in the dialogue through which consensus-based, voluntary standards are developed and implemented.

AABB is an international non-profit membership organization dedicated to advancing the field of transfusion medicine and related biological therapies. AABB sets standards, accredits facilities, publishes books and publications, and produces programs to improve patient and donor safety.

AABB membership comprises independent blood centers, hospital blood banks, transfusion services, HPC facilities, cord blood banks and perioperative services, and the dedicated professionals who staff them, in 50 states, the District of Columbia, and 80 countries. AABB serves about 1,800 institutions and 8,000 individual members including physicians, scientists, administrators, medical technologists, nurses, researchers, blood donor recruiters, and public relations personnel.

Injured In Single-Vehicle Accident On Icy Roadway

A local woman was taken to Garrett County Memorial Hospital following a single-vehicle accident Monday. Garrett County sheriff's deputies responded to Maryland Highway near Edgewood Drive at 9:30 p.m.

Investigation revealed that Brenda Sgaggero had been operating a 2003 Mercury passenger vehicle, when she lost control on the icy roadway. Sgaggero's vehicle left the roadway and struck a guardrail before traveling over an embankment. Minor injuries were reported at the scene. She was taken to GCMH by Southern Rescue Squad.

Dr. Burkett Returns To Garrett County Medical Community

The Mountain Laurel Medical Center has announced that Dr. Barbara Faires Burkett, family physician, has returned to Garrett County to join the staff at the MLMC. She was previously on staff at Garrett Memorial Hospital and worked at the Friendsville Family Practice in 1996.

Dr. Burkett worked as a physician in Westernport at the Memorial Hospital of Cumberland from 1994 to 1996, and was then in private practice in Silver Spring from 1997 to the present. She was on staff at the Washington Adventist Hospital and maintained a good reputation as a diagnostician.

While practicing in Silver Spring, she maintained her home in Garrett County. Her motto was, "I work in Silver Spring and I live in Garrett County." Burkett adopted two children over the last several years, and this was the deciding factor to return to a more rural lifestyle.

Burkett is board certified in family medicine and brings a diverse background and experience to the medical center. She received her doctor of osteopathic Medicine degree from the Chicago College of Osteopathic Medicine in 1991. She has an extensive background in deaf education, spending 10 years at Gallaudet and the Model Secondary School for the Deaf.

Burkett has said that she looks forward to working at the MLMC, being a full-time resident, and caring for the people in Garrett County.

Mountain Laurel Medical Center is now open in the new office building located at 1027 Memorial Drive, directly behind the Garrett County Health Department. MLMC offers family health care for all ages. Insured and uninsured patients are welcome. MLMC offers a sliding fee scale based on family size and income.

Man Sentenced, Fined For Second Degree Assault

A 22-year-old Finzel man was sentenced this week in Garrett County Circuit Court to six months in jail for a second degree assault charge. Dustin Charles Wiland's sentence was suspended, and he was placed on probation.

Restitution of $225, plus fines and costs totaling $285 were assessed.

Wiland was arrested and charged by Maryland State Police in August after they responded to a domestic assault report from an apartment in Grantsville.

Troopers learned that Wiland had assaulted his girlfriend in her residence and then followed her to a neighbor's residence, where she had gone to seek assistance, the state's attorney noted.

Wiland pleaded guilty to the charge in December, and sentencing was postponed until this week.

In an unrelated case, Michael Lynn Park II, 20, Oakland, was sentenced to 18 months in the Garrett County Jail for a theft charge. Judge Jim Sherbin then suspended 16 months of the sentence, and Park will be on probation after he is released from the jail.

Restitution of $173 and court costs of $185 were ordered to be paid.

Park was arrested and charged by Garrett County sheriff's deputes in March after it was determined he had driven another man to a residence along the Oakland Sang Run Road, where a burglary and theft were committed.

During the investigation Park acknowledged driving to the area and receiving some of the stolen money, the state's attorney said.

Man Sentenced For Burglarizing McHenry Store

A 26-year-old Grantsville area man was sentenced in Garrett County Circuit Court for a charge of second degree burglary. Matthew Kyle Suit received five years in the Division of Corrections, with two years suspended. He will be on probation upon his release, with conditions that include the payment of restitution.

Suit was charged by investigators with the Garrett County Sheriff's Office in September 2009. The owner of a McHenry-area business reported his store had been entered during the night and money had been taken. After interviewing employees, investigators obtained an arrest warrant for Suit, who later confessed to the crime, the state's attorney noted.

Grantsville Woman Receives Stet Ruling For Charges

In recent Garrett County District Court proceedings, Kristian Rose Bittinger, 26, Grantsville, was charged with controlled dangerous substance (CDS) possession not marijuana, theft valued at less than $100, malicious destruction of property valued at less than $500, and conspired theft valued at less than $100 in May 2009, stemming from a theft complaint at Garrett County Memorial Hospital. Bittinger received a stet ruling from Judge Leonard J. Eiswert with conditions to obey all laws.

In a separate court hearing, Erica Nichole Bittinger, 29, McHenry, was charged with second-degree assault by Garrett County sheriff's officers, stemming from an altercation with another adult in September 2009. Her charge was placed on stet with conditions to have no contact with the victim of assault.

In another district court case, Pedro Gutierrez Bravo, 22, Oakland, was not prosecuted on a December 2009 charge of second-degree escape. His charge stemmed from his failure to report to the Garrett County Detention Center to serve a sentence from a previous court order.

Robert Jonathan Sypolt, 24, Mtn. Lake Park, was not prosecuted on charges of second-degree assault and false imprisonment, stemming from a domestic dispute in October 2009.

David Alan Everett Sr., 58, Oakland, and David Alan Everett II, 37, Oakland, were both charged in October 2009 after being involved in a domestic dispute with each other at their place of residence. They both were charged with second-degree assault, but were not prosecuted.

Juvenile Struck By Vehicle After Sled Riding Into Road

Garrett County sheriff's deputies responded to the 1500 block of Park Street, Kitzmiller, for a report of a juvenile struck by a vehicle.

Investigation revealed that Wylie Anderson III was traveling west on Park Street, when the juvenile, who was sled riding, slid out in front of his vehicle. The child was transported by Elk District Rescue for treatments.

The accident is still under investigation. The condition of the victim was not released.

chickenpox to get chickenpox from contact with shingles.

Shingles is a painful skin rash, often associated with blisters, which usually appears on one side of the face or body, and lasts from two to four weeks. Although pain is the main symptom, the person may also experience a fever, headache, chills, and an upset stomach.

In very rare cases, serious complications such as pneumonia, hearing problems, blindness, brain inflammation, or death may occur.

Shingles is more common in people 50 years old or older, and in people with a weakened immune system. The vaccine is recommended for healthy persons who are 60 years of age and older

If a person has had an outbreak of shingles, it is suggested that he/she wait four to six months before receiving the vaccine.

The vaccine is not recommended for anyone with a weakened immune system.

$100,000 worth of equipment and inventory, and the building was probably worth about $300,000," he said, adding that he did have insurance to help cover the loss.

An investigator with the West Virginia Fire Marshal's Office was on the scene again this morning and was going to meet with an adjustor from the insurance company.

One part of the business that was spared were the fuel gasoline, diesel fuel, and kerosene pumps, located under an adjacent canopy.

The initial call for help was handled by Grant County central alarm, which then contacted the Garrett County Office of Emergency Management for assistance. Dispatched to the scene were the Gorman, Bayard, Mount Storm, Maysville, Oakland, Deer Park, Deep Creek, Mount Grove, Aurora, and Elk Garden VFDs. Placed on standby were the Petersburg, Thomas, and Kitzmiller departments. Also responding was Mount Storm Ambulance.

According to DeWitt, the loss of the business is significant to Gormania and its sister Maryland town of Gorman.

"It was the only gas station in this area. The nearest other stations are in Oakland or Mount Storm," he said.

Rodeheaver reiterated that concern about the community, as well as for the nine employees who worked at the business.

"This, of course, is a personal loss to Denise [his wife] and me," said Rodeheaver, "but we are devastated about the loss to the community and to our employees. So many local customers depend on us, and make regular visits to the store. Many of them are elderly folks who get exercise by walking to the store on a regular basis. It's literally an important picce of their day."

Rodeheaver also noted his appreciation for the fact that there were no injuries that resulted from the fire.

"We are so thankful that out of all those firemen working in such terrible conditions, there was not a single injury," he said. "Also, no other homes or businesses were damaged. There weren't even any power outages as a result."

When asked if he intended to rebuild, he said, "We really don't know yet. We hope to be able to because it is such a vital business for the community. It will depend at least partially on what we can work out with the insurance company."

The property is located along U.S. Rt. 50 just abo 100 yards east of the Maryland/West Virginia line.

While on probation, Anderson was charged and convicted in District Court of contributing to a child being in need of supervision.

In other Circuit Court proceedings on Monday, Henry Lee Plummer, 41, Frostburg, admitted to violating his probation. Sherbin then revoked Plummer's probation and reimposed six months of his previously suspended sentence.

Plummer was originally convicted in June 2007 of driving under the influence and possession of marijuana, for which he received a total of 18 months in the Garrett County Jail, with all but 30 days suspended.

The violation heard this week was based on a conviction for driving on a revoked license, for which he was arrested while on probation.

In an unrelated case, Trisha Marie Kamp, 25, Lonaconing, pleaded guilty to driving while impaired. Sherbin then sentenced her to 60 days in the Garrett County Jail, and suspended the sentence in favor of probation. A fine of $300 was also imposed.

In July 2009, Kamp was charged after a Maryland State Police officer stopped her for an equipment violation on the vehicle she was driving. The trooper also observed her drive off the side of the roadway. After further observations of Kamp's condition and administering field sobriety tests, which Kamp failed, she was arrested.

Scotty Dale Alexander, 31, Oakland, also admitted to violating his probation. Sherbin then revoked Alexander's probation and reimposed one year of his suspended sentence

Alexander was originally convicted of possession of hydrocodone in August 2006. He was then sentenced to three years in the Division of Corrections, with two years suspended.

After completing his jail sentence, Alexander was placed on probation. He previously served six weekends for a technical probation violation.

The current violation was based on his failure to complete drug treatment, his failure to report to his probation agent on a number of occasions, and a series of positive drug tests.

area; or by waiver, for subdivision of parcels larger than 20 acres if they are primarily surrounded by subdivided lots.

• Allow cluster subdivision as an option with incentives to choose this option. If selected, maximum density would be one lot per two acres, rather than one lot per three acres as proposed in the Sept. 29 draft and road design standards may be reduced if at least 66 percent open space is preserved.

The Revised Draft of the Deep Creek Watershed Zoning Ordinance also reduces the area of the proposed Scenic Protection Overlay District to include only those areas identified as "Crestline Sub-district" on the initial draft zoning map.

Within the crestline areas, the Revised Draft has eliminated requirements for design, location, and screening of buildings. Requirements for protecting and planting trees are retained for the sides and rear of structures within the crest line areas.

Other revisions to the Sept. 29 draft are included in response to comments from the public:

• In the Subdivision Ordinance, revisions to requirements for traffic impact analyses, road design standards, and subdivision design along scenic highways.

• In the Zoning Ordinance, revisions to allow drilling for natural gas in all zones subject to setbacks. Also, modifications to requirements for architectural design of nonresidential buildings.

• In the Sensitive Areas Ordinance, revisions to requirements for development on steep slopes.

The Revised Draft Ordinances are formatted such that readers will be able to easily compare them with the Sept. 29 drafts, county officials noted. All three Revised Draft Ordinances are available for public review on the county's web site at garrettcounty.org and clicking on "Revisions to Ordinances" under "News."

The revised drafts are also available at the Department of Planning and Land Development office, all branch locations of the Ruth Enlow Library and in the main offices of Crellin, Bloomington, Swan Meadow, Yough Glades, and Route 40 public schools.

The Planning Commission will schedule a public hearing on the Revised Draft Ordinances in the near future.

No Humor Intended...

There was a local news item aired by a Baltimore television station the first of this week after some 1,400 Allegheny Power customers in Oakland were without electricity from Sunday evening into the early hours of Monday. The report noted that the outage took place during frigid temperatures, and it gave the other pertinent info, such as cause, duration, etc.

While the report was not intended to be humorous in any way, we found a portion of it almost hilarious, as it ended with the following line: "Garrett County's emergency management agency said it made shelters available for chilled residents, but nobody used them." (Italics by this writer.)

While it is possible that many of the affected residents had no way of knowing about these shelters, that closing statement says a lot about the hardiness and self-sufficiency of Garrett County residents as a result of our relatively vast experience with extreme winter conditions. There was evidently not a single telephone call for help received by the county emergency management staff. Everyone just hunkered down, put on an extra sweater or blanket, and endured.

Meanwhile, the Pittsburgh television news reporters, for example, go on and on about the "severe weather conditions" in that city, stating in panicked voices things like "... and already there are nearly four inches of snow on the ground, with at least one more inch expected!" (They say that while picking up some snow in their hands and showing all of us viewers what it looks like!)

Obviously, we are far more experienced in dealing with truly harsh conditions here on the Mountaintop, often from about Thanksgiving to Easter, and so we should not make fun or speak disparagingly of our somewhat distant neighbors who live in a totally different environment. Nonetheless, the closing comment of the Baltimore news report struck us quite funny here in our newsroom.

All of that said, it does not hurt to remind ourselves that continued awareness of the dangers involved with such weather conditions is vital, particularly when doing things like driving in them, shoveling snow, and sled riding. It is also extremely important to keep tabs on our neighbors, especially the elderly, who are the most vulnerable to harm in such conditions.

Again today, we brace ourselves for another winter storm over the next few days, and while we may grumble about it, we will likely all be well prepared and emerge unscathed on Sunday when the sun is actually supposed to shine again.

"SORRY ABOUT the DELAY, SIR... YOU JUST CAN'T BE TOO CAREFUL WITH THESE TERRORIST TYPES!..."

To the Editor:

I live in upstate NY. While unpacking my Christmas decorations, I came across a favorite – a handmade, plaster scene with snow, pond, and a little house.

In 1998, I was driving alone from Lexington, Ky. to New York. It was about 11 p.m., I was in a blizzard, and my minivan was sliding all over the place. I got very nervous and realized I had to get off the highway for the night. There were no other cars on the road.

The next exit said Friendsville, so I got off. There was no sign of life. I pulled in at the local motel, but the office door was locked. A sign said that anyone there was to call this number. Out of sheer desperation, I called the number, and a warm, friendly voice instructed me to walk up the outside staircase and look for the Pepsi machine. On the top of the machine was a key for one of the rooms. I was told to make myself at home and that somebody would be in around 8:30 a.m.

I was so relieved I could've cried. Next morning I thanked the staff profusely, paid my bill, and went to the local diner for breakfast. They served the best and biggest cinnamon buns I've ever tasted. And they were only $1.50!

The diner had a gift shop, so I looked for a souvenir to remind me of this great little town. As I was looking at the hand crafts, a gentlemen came up to me and said they were made by his mentally disabled sister in "the home."

Who could refuse such a sales pitch? When I went to the counter to make my purchase, the woman at the register said, "So, did he tell you his mentally disabled sister made that? Don't believe a word he says. I'm his sister!"

I burst out laughing, and have cherished my little plaster scene ever since. I've only been through that way once since, probably in 2000, and I retold my story in the diner. The waitress gave me her phone number and said if I were ever stuck in Friendsville again to give her a call and I could stay at her house.

Not a Christmas goes by that I don't recall that trip as I unpack my plaster scene. Friendsville is truly the friendliest town ever!

Merry Christmas and Happy New Year to all of Friendsville!

Sincerely,
Ellen Ganci
Jefferson, N.Y.

Editor's note: The preceding letter was delivered to Friendsville Town Hall, and forwarded on to us for publication. The diner referred to was at the time Twila's Old Mill Restaurant. (It has since changed ownership.) The man that the writer was speaking with was the owner's husband, Melvin Fike, and it was his sister Eunice who made the Christmas scene. Twila Fike displayed and sold them in her restaurant.

To the Editor:

This letter is to acknowledge the excellent work of the state roads crew which has been diligently cleaning our part of Hutton Road between Crellin and Hutton. These hardworking men have done a wonderful job of keeping the roads clean despite awful snow drifts and accumulations all hours of the day and night since before Christmas.

They have also been incredibly considerate with plowing around our driveway and helping us weary shovelers divert the ever-mounting snow from troublesome areas. Thanks so much.

To the Editor:

The families of Lisa Wade and Corey Broadwater, in conjunction with the George's Creek Soccer Club, owe great thanks to many businesses and individuals for their support this past year. This season of thanksgiving and well-wishing is an opportune time to do just that.

The ninth annual Lisa Wade Memorial 5K Run, and second annual Corey's Course, held in July, was a very successful event. The "Lisa and Corey Race" has become a very popular summer event, due largely to the continued support of our local business sponsors. The proceeds from our event are used to fund awards to students graduating from Mountain Ridge, Northern, Southern, Keyser, and Frankfort high schools.

Our major sponsors are the backbone of our event, providing the financial support to fund our annual awards. Our thanks to: AAAching Back Center, Abracadabra, AES Warrior Run, Albany International, Christopher's Carpets, Cornish Manor, D&B Welding, D&D Motors, D&L Coal, DHS Services, Dr. Ihor Zakaluzny, Dr. Joy Cousins, Duckworth Insurance, Eichhorn-McKenzie Funeral Home, Franklin Coal Yard, G&S Coal, George's Creek Pharmacy, Jeff's Tires, Lions Manor Nursing Home, NewPage, SAL American Legion #155, Shear Image, Staggs Dental, State Farm (Vicki Brenneman), WEPCO Federal Credit Union, WMHS, Westernport Subway, and Williams Chiropractic Clinic.

Trophy, door-prize, and refreshment sponsors provide the fun and excitement that make the post race festivities the highlight of the day. Our thanks to: Allegany Orthodontics, Aaron Laffey, Butch and Evelyn Moomau, Candlewyk Inn, Castiglia's, Chat and Chew, Clancy's Tavern, Curves of Keyser, Domino's Pizza, Duckie's, Fair Price Market, Farrady Post American Legion #24, Fore Sisters, Hair Depot, Hamburger Haven, Lennox East, Lisa's Country Cuts, Lonaconing Republican Club, Longaberger (Kathy Grove), Love's Grocery, Loyal Order of Redmen #131 and Pocahontas Tribe, M&T Bank, Mary Kay (Erica Graham), Mineral County Health Department, Moran Liquors, Mountaineer Cafe, Oriole Club, Painted Apparel, Personal Best Athletics, Pittsburgh Steelers, Pizza Hut, Portwest Restaurant, Potomac Valley Hospital, Queen City Striders, Queen's Point VFW Auxiliary #6775, Railey Realty, Reed's Pharmacy, Santa Fe Grille, State Farm (Vicki Brenneman), the Sweet Spot, towns of Midland and Westernport, Uno's at Deep Creek, Victory Post American Legion #155, and Western Maryland Distributing.

To the Editor:

On a recent drive south on Route 219, I was struck by the sheer beauty as I was passing through the McHenry area. The ski slopes were busy and Deep Creek Lake was shimmering. (It had not frozen yet.) I thought that this really is a way for visitors to be greeted when they come to this area.

When I reached the south end of the Deep Creek Lake bridge, I was hit by the putrid smell of sewage. It was powerful enough to make your eyes water. It cleared out of my vehicle by the time I got to Bill's Marina. Then as I passed the intersection of Route 219 and Glendale Road, there was another area of sewage smell even more powerful.

I understand why this situation exists. In both locations are huge storage tanks for sewage to be held until it can be processed by the plant in peak usage.

However, the containers vent as they are filled. Guess what is happening now that the area is growing and at times very busy.

You got it – the foul smell is present more and more. Why the residents and the businesses, particularly in the Thayerville area, put up with this is beyond me. We are talking about multi-million dollar homes here, plus restaurants in the immediate vicinity. It has to be hard to rent or sell a home with that kind of nauseating smell present. Depending on the wind, you can smell sewage when you are sitting outside seasonally at Uno's and McDonald's particularly.

Route 219 is a major corridor of transportation for visitors. This smell is not a good first impression, and for all I know, it may not be healthy. Technology has changed in the 20-some years the sewer system has been in place at the lake. There has to be some way to either treat the venting gas or inject it back into the sewage for treatment at the plant.

It will take more than this letter to make changes, however. I suppose others will either put up with sewage smells or let their feelings be known.

When Jesus threw the moneychangers out of the temple, he said that zeal for God's house had motivated him. Some Christians are more sensitive to threats from anti-Christs than others, and sound the alarm for their contemporaries. Those with little sensitivity shouldn't scorn them.

To the Editor:

This letter is in response to Curtis Tasker's letter of last week. First let me thank Mr. Tasker for taking the time to respond to my letter. It is a good thing to have a dialogue concerning issues as important as health care.

Forgive my lack of understanding, but I am confused as to what a "good" really is. I have never heard the term in that context, so maybe you could be more clear.

At any rate, the pount of my letter is to pose the question of a moral duty to help people with health care issues. Are we to sit by while up to 44,000 people die each year because of a lack of insurance?

Mr. Tasker stated that he thinks Jesus would sit by and watch these people die because he (Jesus, I suppose) "knows what's on the other side." Then tell me why he bothered to heal anyone at all? Would it just be best to have someone born and kill them right off the bat to avoid any life problems that might come along? Letting these people die sounds an awful lot like "death panels," since you might just decide that if you have no insurance then your time is up. The fact that death will "win" in the end is no reason to fold up the tent until the time comes.

Yes, Mr. Tasker, you are right about the hospital having to treat someone on his/her death bed. That, as well as women about to give birth, are covered under law. However, I would like to think that we wouldn't have to wait until nearly our last breath to get help. If you are very, very sick, but not dying, by law that means no treatment.

If you get a chance, Mr. Tasker, maybe you could look at this month's National Geographic magazine. Toward the front there is a graph of the cost of healthcare across the world, as well as the average life expectancy. This graph will certainly put a hitch in your step. We have by far the most expensive cost per person with a less than average result. You just keep thinking that we have the best because that's what your friends at the health insurance companies hope you do. Remember, they make their profits by denying you coverage. Is that the American way you spoke of?

To the Editor:

We now begin 2010 with a clean slate. We hope it won't be as bad as 2009. We hope that we lose a few pounds, get that new job, pay off that credit card, fix that leaking faucet. We make resolutions that we won't yell at our kids so much or eat that extra piece of fudge, or we'll stop or cut back on the other bad things that we do in our lives. We make resolutions promising to do something better for ourselves and our families and our communities - get off the couch, volunteer, donate our time, donate our resources, help that neighbor, read more. In this fresh New Year there are hopes, there are goals, there are dreams, and there is pleasure in thinking that there are better times ahead.

As Robert Frost says... "Two roads converged and I took the road less traveled and that has made all the difference..." For some, this less traveled road has meaning that some of us could never even attempt to understand. It is a life without literacy. This less-traveled road has a pothole that says "can't pass the driver's license test." This less-traveled road has a closed entrance ramp that says "no GED." This road has a closed gate near the library, no signage on how to get on the Internet. Many are on the side of the road with a flat tire when their child asks them to read a story. There is no tow truck driver in sight to help. Frustration deflates the soul.

Be that tow truck driver. Stop and pick up one of your 12,000 neighbors in Monongalia County who did not finish high school, or one of your 8,000 neighbors in Preston County who didn't graduate. Make a New Year's resolution to become a volunteer. Refer your neighbor, your child, your spouse to the Adult Basic Education programs in the area. They need you. Volunteer to help someone study for a driver's license. Take time to stop and read to children. Help that person in the pew with the hymnal — a highlighter can certainly light the way. You can light the way. Today's that day, the day you deeide to make a difference. Be that tow truck driver.

Happy New Year from Literacy Volunteers!

To the Editor:

The Marcellus shale has been the most recent popular topic of exploitation in West Virginia. The shale is black in color, containing kerogen. Kerogen is not oil, but is derived from coal-forming materials which accumulated in an oxygen-starved environment and subsequently exposed to heat and pressure from overlying sediments and mountain-building processes.

Kerogen has a higher molecular weight than oil. It is "released" from shale by a drilling methodology which uses approximately 1,000,000 gallons of pressurized water per well (a process called hydraulic fracturing, or "hydrofracking"), with the addition of silica (stored in silos and which can potentially release dangerous silica dust to the surrounding area) and chemicals such as surfactants to help release the kerogen.

So far, none of the drilling companies has released the composition of the chemical constituents added to the drilling water. Marcellus shale is highly radioactive, containing uranium, thorium, radium, and radon. It contains the mineral pyrite (iron sulfide), which forms into sulfuric acid and iron hydroxide when exposed to water and air. The resulting acidic drainage dissolves toxic metals in the surrounding rock, thereby releasing them to the environment. Toxic metals typically released by acid drainage (the same as coal mining drainage) can include copper, aluminum, cad-

Choral Society Rehearsals To Begin Sunday

The Garrett Choral Society will begin rehearsals this Sunday, Jan. 10, for its spring concert, which is slated for April 10 and 11. The concert, as well as the rehearsals, will take place at St. Paul's United Methodist Church, Oakland. Julie Turrentine is the director.

Practice will begin promptly at 7 p.m. this Sunday in the fellowship hall of the church. Singers of all ages are welcome to join.

"There are no auditions, but a commitment to rehearsal time and learning the music is required," said Donna Callis, president of the group. She noted that there will be a $10 music fee for each singer, as well as $10 per person for the yearly dues.

The concert will include a variety of sacred music with Easter and springtime themes.

SHOPPER FINDS $50 IN SOAP – Darlene Myers, a Loch Lynn resident, was the lucky shopper who found a $50 bill in her novelty soap purchased at the Garrett County Memorial Hospital gift shop. Each bar of soap contains real money, with the possibilities being $1, $5, $10, $20, and $50. Myers is the only reported $50 winner in the area. She is pictured at left with gift shop volunteer Betty Wolford.

mium, arsenic, lead, mercury, cobalt, chromium, molybdenum, nickel, vanadium, and zinc.

Problems associated with drilling the Marcellus shale in such wells include: 1) the excessive use of water from nearby rivers and streams, impacting our water resources; 2) the release of radioactive materials (and methane gas) into the air; 3) the release of radioactive materials onto the ground surface and into streams from drill cuttings and from recovery of drilling water directed into streams; 4) the release of radioactive materials into groundwater from "backwashing" of the pressurized water introduced into the well and from underground injection of the used drilling water; and 5) the release of toxic metals and excessive acidity (similar to acid mine drainage) into our streams.

Any radioactive methane gas recovered from the well is piped to holding tanks and subsequently transported to major gas lines such as the Tennessee Pipeline in Pennsylvania or the Millennium Pipeline in New York to be sold to the public. Therefore, there are hundreds of miles of numerous pipelines associated with transporting the radioactive methane gas from the wells.

There are numerous web sites that provide information on the Marcellus shale and the potential environmental problems which can occur.

To the Editor:

Commissioners and Maryland legislators, help! Let's begin the New Year with just a small amount of common sense! Because you'll say the law requires the fire department and rescue squad to go flying to every fender bender, we are wasting many thousands of taxpayers dollars, we are wasting manpower, and we are wasting our precious equipment and fuel.

If the law requires all of these taxpayer companies to come out, no matter what, then we simply need to change the law. If you say we can't change the law, then we need someone in there who can.

These people are called out no matter how small the accident! I have seen accidents where the people are standing there, passing info back and forth, and some kind person calls the officials and here they come.

We must begin to use common sense. Our funds are limited. We need to limit wasting our dollars, causing safety hazards, wasting manpower and precious fuel.

Simply ask the questions, "Is anyone hurt? Is there a fire?" There is no excuse to say the law requires all this equipment to respond when it is not needed.

Let's begin the year with a direction for sanity and reason. Our fire departments and rescue squads have enough serious needs and do great, but let's give us all a break.

And county commissioners, please begin to look at other expenses. With the economy slowed, you need to reconsider the millions of dollars of new construction and further burdens on the taxpayer.

The BookWorm

by Terri Schlichenmeyer

Ahh, the new year. A time for fresh beginnings and resolutions made with the best intentions (then broken). Out with the old, in with the new. A time to use up that bookstore gift certificate that's burning a hole in your pocket. But what to buy?

Lucky for you, the New Year is also a time for the annual "Best of" list. So without further ado (and because that gift certificate is tingling), here are my best picks for 2009:

Fiction

If you love mysteries with sass and a few cringe-worthy scenes, you'll love the Jacqueline Daniels series, the latest being Cherry Bomb by J.A. Konrath. This book starts out with a boom and ends with a cliff-hanger that leaves fans howling for the next installment. One caveat: You'll get more out of this novel if you read Fuzzy Navel (the book before this one) first.

I was pleasantly surprised by B as in Beauty by Alberto Ferreras. This little novel is about a self-conscious, homely wallflower who gets a series of fairy godmothers, transforming her into someone who blossoms. A Cinderella tale with a few twists, this is one really cute book.

I listened to Eve by Elissa Elliott on CD, and I was glad I did. This lush, beautiful story is about what happened to Adam and Eve after they were thrown out of the Garden of Eden, as told from the viewpoint of Eve and her daughters. Performed by three readers and in several different voices, this is an audiobook not to miss.

Getting older and saying goodbye are two of the themes in Got 'til It's Gone by Larry Duplechan. When Johnnie Ray Rousseau loses his husband to AIDS, he believes he'll never love again, but he does – and just as he enters a new relationship, he faces losing his beloved mother. Be aware that there is one graphic scene in this book, but get it for its casually presented dialogue and the realism within.

This one is probably cheating: Shutter Island by Dennis Lehane. First printed a few years ago and re-released in audio this fall (to coincide with the movie's release), this audiobook is positively stunning because of its narrator, Tom Stechschulte. Yes, the story is good – it's got surprises all over the place – but listening to such a stellar performance makes it an audiobook you'll want to listen to twice.

Non-Fiction

Like a fool, I read The Survivors Club by Ben Sherwood while on an airplane. I read about how passengers have 90 seconds to exit a burning plane and how women over a certain age most certainly die in a plane crash. Gulp. And still, I can't recommend enough this book about fighting, surviving, overcoming adversity, and turning life's rottenest lemons into sweet lemonade.

Particularly in this economy, it seems that speculation on "how the other half lives" is an acceptable pastime. In Rich Like Them by Ryan D'Agostino you'll see that things are only slightly different. Part business, part motivational for wallet and soul, this book is a nice antidote to those irritating spoiled-star headlines.

Reading like a novel in nine parts, Nine Lives: Death and Life in New Orleans by Dan Baum is the 100% true story of nine people a few decades before Hurricane Katrina and the years afterward. I loved this book for the way the tales are told (in short-short chapters of mini-drama) and because Baum has a knack for wrapping you tight in the lives of such divergent people.

If you live in the city and have never so much as touched a live pig, don't discount Coop by Michael Perry. Much more than a farm memoir, this is a love story to a woman, daughters, the land, and yes, to pigs and chickens. Perry is a poet with a wicked sense of the absurd and this book is another can't-miss.

Since we all came into the world in the same basic way, Birth Day by Mark Sloan, M.D., is a particular delight. This is a book about what happens in the hours leading up to and the hours after birth, to both the mother and the baby. Not just for new moms, this book is a science-geek's dream, as well as a gee-whiz read for anybody who is awed at the miracle of birth.

Children's Books

Okay, so let's just say it. When you read a book aloud to your child, having something for you is bonus. So make yourself happy with Let's Do Nothing! by Tony Fucile, a cute story of two bored boys who try the impossible. The good-naturedly silly tale is great for kids ages 4 to 8. The illustrations – very Bugs-Bunny-like – will keep you laughing.

Your middle-school dog lover will adore Flawed Dogs by Berkeley Breathed. This is the story of a fancy show-dog who becomes the victim of jealousy and is separated from his beloved human. Filled with Breathed illustrations and with a tale that brings tears (silly, I know), this is a good book for an adult, too.

I was very impressed by We Are the Ship by Kadir Nelson in audio. Yes, this is a picture book about Negro League baseball and the struggle of the players to gain recognition and to break through racial lines. It's a beautiful book, but you won't miss a thing by getting it in audio; in fact, you'll gain. Not only is it presented with various voices (which enhances the story), but there's a bonus DVD with the book's artwork included.

For upper grade-schoolers who've read the Little House books a couple dozen times, School's Out: Rachel Yoder – Always Trouble Somewhere by Wanda Brunstetter in audio is a nice alternative. This is the story of an Amish girl and her wild summer vacation. Kids will love the authentic Pennsylvania Dutch language in the audiobook, and parents will love that this book is great for all ages.

What kid doesn't like a few shivers? Coraline by Neal Gaiman has them and more. This is the story of little Coraline, who steps into an alternative universe where things are close to life, but not quite. The creature who is her "other mother" wants to keep Coraline forever, but, of course, she must return. I truly enjoyed this darkly told story in audio, but beware that it might really frighten very little children.

And there you are. A gift certificate-friendly "Best of the Year" list you can really use, with some books that your family will enjoy until it's time for the next Best of The Year list. Fortunately, time flies fastest with a book in your lap.

Adorable Adoptables

PLENTY OF CANINES AND FELINES ARE AVAILABLE for adoption at the Garrett County Animal Shelter. They include a female red colored hound that was given up by her owner because she recently had pupples, and a small black female that is somewhat shy, but with some tender loving care will be a good, little pet, according to a Humane Society spokesperson. "For the last two weeks the shelter's dog kennels have been filled to capacity several times; plus, there have been almost no adoptions or reclaims during the holidays," said the spokesperson. "HART was able to save some dogs by taking them out to various rescues this week. There are dozens of cats available for adoption. The Humane Society responded to dozens of calls for animal neglect concerning no or poor shelter in this cold weather." For more information, persons may call the shelter at 301-334-3553. Located along Oakland Sang Run Road, the facility is open Monday through Friday.

Born Jan. 12, 1940, in Wheeling, W.Va., he was the son of the late Carlos Ray and Flossie V. (Reel) Powell.

Mr. Powell was a self-employed truck driver and was a veteran, serving in the United States Navy.

He is survived by his wife, Lenora (McKinney) Powell; one son, Carlos Michael Powell, Dayton, Ohio; one sister, Mary Ovellette, Anderson, S.C.; and one grandchild.

Friends were received at David A. Burdock Funeral Home, Oakland, where a service was conducted on Wednesday, Jan. 6, with the Rev. Steve Sauder officiating.

Interment was held in Gortner Union Cemetery.

Expressions of sympathy may be made in the form of memorial donations to Southern Garrett Rescue Squad, P.O. Box 378, Oakland, MD 21550.

We extend a compassionate helping hand.

Named Resident Of The Month At NMS Healthcare

A Garrett County native has been named Resident of the Month at Neiswanger Management Services (NMS) Healthcare of Hagerstown for January. Norma Roderick Dankulich has been an NMS resident for about a year and a half

"We appreciate her here at NMS for the hard work she has put in sending Christmas cards to all the residents," said a spokesperson.

Dankulich said she feels treated like a queen at the healthcare facility.

She was born in Deer Park to Stanley and Mabel Roderick, who were dairy farmers. Dankulich has one brother, Roger, and was an active member of a local Methodist church.

After graduating from Southern High School in 1956, she went on a vacation to Chicago, Ill., and ended up staying for a couple of years and working for the Benefit Association of Railroad Employees.

Dankulich traveled to Washington, D.C., where she met and later married John Dankulich. They had one son, John Jr.

While living in D.C., Dankulich was able to see President John Kennedy about a week before he was killed. She was also there for his funeral.

She later moved back to her home community and went to school to become a hairdresser. That was her profession for 20 years until she retired.

Before moving to NMS, Dankulich was a very active in her Garrett County community. She was a member of the Mountaintop Christian Assembly of God Church. She was also vice president of a Republican women's club and homemakers club, and was a chairman for the March of Dimes.

She used to enjoy gardening, canning vegetables, and doing laundry. Some of her many current hobbies include painting, drawing, and doing crafts.

Dankulich noted that she has met her goal of losing 100 pounds, and looks forward to attending her grandson's graduation. Another one of her goals is to be able to dance again.

Friendsville Church Slates Soup Dinner

BETTER THAN A THANK-YOU NOTE – Right before the Christmas break, students at Friendsville Elementary School received a special visit as a follow-up to their "caring and giving" troop stocking stuffing activity. Airman 1st Class Steven Taylor of the United States Air Force actually received one of the stockings that the school sent to the troops. He was featured on the morning news and then visited some of the classrooms. Taylor mentioned on the news that he was a former Friendsville Elementary student, and that he wanted to express his thanks on behalf of all the troops who received stockings from the school. He is pictured above with students from Judy Livengood's second grade class and Michele Clevenger's third grade class. Second grade students include Matthew Casteel, Dale Ertwine, Katelynne Field, Cheyane Fike, Christian Fike, Torrance Fike, Trey Frazee, Phillip Frye, Jacob Lowdermilk, Rileigh Lowdermilk, Emily Mayle, Bethany Umbel, Ian White, and Kiana White. The third grade class includes Clay Frazee, Emily Frazee, Ian Friend, Dakota Garlitz, Jakob Giron, Anthony Glotfelty, A.J. Goldberg, Sarah Groves, Emily Guthrie, Ashly Hetz, Kylar Hornby, Abby Kisner, Ally Kisner, Colby Lowdermilk, Tara Savage, and Gavin Yutzy. Livengood is in the back on the left side of Taylor, and Clevenger is on the right. Taylor is pictured below doing push-ups with students. From left are A.J. Goldberg, Anthony Glotfelty, Taylor, and Jacob Lowdermilk.

AAA PRESENTS FITNESS PROGRAM – The Garrett County Area Agency on Aging will offer the EnhanceFitness program to persons age 50 and older beginning Monday, Feb. 1, at Flowery Vale Health and Fitness in Accident and the Friendsville Community Center. Classes will begin on Feb. 2 at the Grantsville Senior Center. The program is a specifically designed and tested exercise program for seniors, developed by the University of Washington and recommended by the Arthritis Foundation. EnhanceFitness classes are currently offered in over 250 sites throughout the United States. The goal of the program is to provide communities with an effective, research-driven physical activity program to improve the health and performance of older adults. Classes are free of charge, but pre-registration is required. Before starting the program, participants will need to submit a signed physician's notification letter, a health history and fitness check, and a participant information form. Fitness checks will be updated every four months to chart individual progress and improvement. The newly trained EnhanceFitness instructors for Garrett County are, pictured from left, Suzanne Carley, senior center operations director; Laurie Frappier, master trainer; Cathy Paine, certified Feldenkrais instructor; and Tiffany Yoder, director of Flowery Vale Fitness Facility. Flowery Vale offers classes Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays. Monday and Wednesday classes are 9 to 10 a.m. and 1 to 2 p.m. Friday class is 1 to 2 p.m. Grantsville Senior Center will hold classes Tuesdays, Wednesdays, and Thursdays from 1 to 1:45 p.m. The Friendsville Center will hold classes Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays from 9:30 to 10:30 a.m. The Mary Browning Senior Center plans to begin classes after the tax season has passed. For best results, the recommended attendance is three times per week. "This project promotes the Garrett County Community Action Committee strategy of creating an environment where vulnerable Garrett County residents have shelter, food, access to healthcare, and support on life skills," noted Carley, "thereby increasing the number of families and individuals who are economically self-sufficient and able to live independently."

Notes From Bittinger

by Joan Glotfelty Sussman

If anyone did not see or has forgotten about how winter was a couple of decades ago, call it a "real winter." The thermometer reaches zero. The wind is blowing pretty briskly, so it feels like about five or 10 degrees below zero.

In the last couple of days, we got maybe five inches of snow. It is blowing around plenty. It is downright raw outside. I think maybe for the first time this winter we have many drifts. My lane is somewhat drifted, but not quite bad enough to present a real problem to vehicles. But I imagine that these small drifts will steadily grow in the next couple of weeks.

Anyway, that's how it worked back when we had "real" winter. Between the house and the barn was a sea of 10-foot-plus drifts. A definite hike, especially if you had many buckets of water to carry. The worst time was once during the 1980s when if you splashed a little on your leg, it did not get wet. The water froze in a second. Thank goodness it is not yet that kind of ultimate Bittinger winter.

During my childhood and during the '80s, ice skating was a popular activity. Cindy, Sally, Carol, and I regularly skated on the Beaehys' pond. Its frozen surface was fairly smooth. But I don't know what the process was to get it frozen enough, and I don't remember how long it took to freeze our ponds. It seems to me that takes several days of sub-zero temperatures.

My family's farm is located on a tableland in a pretty flat area between the two ridges of the Appalachian Mountains. On the south side, it includes "my mountain" – Meadow Mountain – part of the Eastern Continental Divide. I think that is really cool, in more that just one way.

And the tableland has an unusual number of wetlands, ranging from just a wet patch in a field to various kinds of swamps, natural ponds, and many streams.

The peat bog is in a special category: sub-arctic subswamps. They are some of the few bogs below the Canadian border that have among many plant species a handful that only rarely grow below the Arctic region, including one variety of cranberries.

Western Maryland has several sub-arctic swamps. It is not a big wonder today when our weather probably qualifies as arctic.

Besides our peat bog – or according to Kevin Dodge once known as Buckle Bog – Finzel Swamp and Cranesville Swamp are also sub-arctic swamps. But they all have a similar structure – a dense, hard clay level keeping the water from soaking into the ground. That makes a layer of water and dead plants that encourages decomposition. And that leads to a low pH reading (highly acidic).

But besides those big guys, in their area there are scores of just wet spots scattered here and there. And they are still not frozen solid, according to Shane Buckel. So it is not surprising that our ponds are not yet fit for skating.

I can't imagine how the Buckle name got associated with the peat bog, because just about all glades in Bittinger are located on early Glotfelty property. And another of our glades is under the waters of Deep Creek Lake, according to Kevin.

The peat bog and its associated wetland is part of what used to be called the Heirship Lands on the property of my great-grandfather. For some reason, his estate was not settled until the 1970s, when he had so many heirs. I think my share was a few hundred dollars. I wish I knew how many acres were on it. But it stretched from the peat bog into the Teets farm and even the Blocks' property.

The original Glotfelty homestead was at the edge of the big glade at the intersection of Mosser Road and Rock Lodge Road, including the large farm that used to belong to my great uncle, Kermit Glotfelty. And the next-door farm on Rock Lodge Road used to be occupied by Nathan and his sister Lucille Glotfelty. It has the original Glotfelty cemetery, or as its oldest grave stone says, "Glattfelder." That's what my family was called in Switzerland, in a beautiful old town in a flat area between some Alps and the Rhine River

The town is named Glattfelden, which means "great green fields." Naturally, I visited my old world hometown during my 1976 trip to Europe with Steve Schlosnagle. His last name means "castle key," so they don't know their hometown, but most likely it was in the same area of Switzerland that my family came from.

The last living Glattfelders in Glattfelden were an elderly man and his wife, Jacob and Elise. When I saw him, I knew that I surely had come home, because he bore a striking resemblance to my grandfather and his brothers, Elwood and Kermit. My trip came close to 300 years after my forebears set sail for the New World.

They didn't go straight to Garrett County. They first settled around York, Pa., where they became very wealthy. Anyway, one of them paid the highest price per pound for a 4-H baby beef belonging to a neighborhood girl. I wish I could remember the price he paid for it, but it was a huge amount, enough to pay for her college education and more. I heard recently that they were involved in the horse breeding business.

But let's go back to the Old World. It's possible that the castle which was kept by the Schlosnagles might be the same one that another of my ancestors, a Brenneman, was imprisoned in for awhile during the 18th century. My brother Scott visited that castle and saw the name Brenneman scratched into the wall in a cell.

Many of Garrett County's families probably originated in that area, or else from Germany. I guess the group probably includes the Beitzel and Beiler clans, since the spelling of their family names is not an English spelling. ("I before c except after c.")

Probably a large portion of our county's Lutheran, Brethren, Mennonite and Amish originated within a couple-hundred-mile square surrounding Glattfelden.

According to Gary Buckel, the State Highway Department has too many drifts to be able to clear Route 495, or Bittinger Road. No one is going much of anywhere. If Sheila Southerly is right about what terrible winter weather we will have in February, we are in for a long, rough winter and some bad cases of cabin fever.

But some things are better for some local families, mainly Mennonite, who spend a good portion of their winter in Tampa, Fla. One is a Beitzel family who live along Accident-Bittinger Road beside the Glade Church cemetery. They returned last week. But even Florida is not as warm as usual. I heard of one freeze warning.

But Cheryl Bender told me on the phone that the weather around Tampa is around 50 degrees, pleasant to train for a marathon. Cheryl and her friend Sheila Bender Miller will race in the Mickey Mouse Marathon on Jan. 10 in Orlando. Their primary goal is just to finish the race. That is probably wise, since their genetic heritage is not in their favor.

Most really good long-distance runners have some Kenyan blood. So that makes it a challenge for Sarah Palin to run a long race against the president. She would have no chance.

Speaking of Switzerland, a while ago, I saw an enlightening piece on "60 Minutes" about a whistle blower from the big secret banking sector in Geneva, Switzerland. He came to Washington, D.C., to the Justice Department with a list of about 2,000 Americans who deposited 20-plus billion dollars in seeret accounts where they believed they would be out of reach of the IRS. It is hard to tell how mueh they cheated the USA on tax money. Lots. And it explains quite a bit about our deficit.

Of course, some of that money came from criminal activities, getting laundered. So quite a few of the names probably were those of criminals in some way. Those Swiss banks have an army of high-security workers to deliver billions of dollars in cash across the globe without any paper trail, like checks.

With scores of billions of dollars removed from the American economy, no wonder so many businesses failed. But few of those billionaires often buy American. They prefer luxury foreign cars over Cadillacs or Chryslers, and they do not vacation in places like Ocean City or the Outer Banks, N.C. They buy million dollar chateaus in the south of France and go to a resort area like Monte Carlo to gamble in casinos.

And no ski resort in America is good enough for our mega-wealthy. A European resort or the Alps will do for them. And they do not forgo French champagne beeause of its price. Nothing is too expensive for them, except health care for all their fellow Americans.

There are many more secret banks on off-shore islands. Who knows how much more money is stashed in them? They must have gotten some of their fortunes through capital gains and big tax rates for the wealthiest, but they were not left penniless or even close. I imagine that it was bewildering to them to see all the fuss about health insurance. They really do not need it because they have enough money to just pay cash for the best health eare in the world.

GLOTFELTYS RECEIVE AWARD – Robyn Dashnaw of Cooper Tires recently presented Glotfelty Enterprises Inc. with a 30-Year Excellence Award. The company has been in business since 1956 and has tire stores in Oakland, LaVale, and in West Virginia in Bridgeport, Petersburg, Elkins, Parkersburg, and Morgantown. Currently there are 115 employees at the seven stores. Pictured, left to right, with their award are Gene Glotfelty, president, and Larry Glotfelty, vice president.

The birth of two babies were announced this week, one girl and one boy.

A daughter, Kourtni Lynn, was born to Fred and Sharon (Harvey) Snyder, Oakland, on Dec. 30 at Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

A son, Colton Wheeler, was born to Stan and Jennifer Sanders, Parsons, W.Va., on Jan. 5 at Garrett County Memorial Hospital. This baby was the first born in the new year at GCMH. (See front page.)

News from Preston, Tucker, Grant and Mineral Counties.

DONATES LOCKS – Rebecca Foy, 9, Aurora, W.Va., recently donated 14.5 inches of ponytail to Locks of Love. She is the daughter of Andrew and Rina Foy and the granddaughter of John and Geraldine Foy, Aurora. Erin Walker gave her the new look at Hair 'N' Phernalia Too. Locks of Love is a non-profit organization that provides hairpieces to financially disadvantaged children under age 21 suffering from long-term medical hair loss from any diagnosis. The organization meets a unique need for children by using donated hair to create the highest quality hair prosthetics.

SNYDER BIRTH

Fred and Sharon Snyder, Oakland, welcomed their first child, daughter Kourtni Lynn, on Wednesday, Dec. 30, at Garrett County Memorial Hospital. She weighed 7 lbs., 4 oz. and was 19.5 inches long. Scott and Sandi Harvey, Oakland, and Jack and Barbara Snyder, Amboy, are the grandparents of the child. Alma and Jackie Snyder, Aurora, are her great-grandparents. She also has a great-grandmother Harvey in Oakland.

RECYCLING SATURDAY

This Saturday, Jan. 9, is the second Saturday of the month and has been designated Recycling Saturday. Plastics, paper, metal cans, magazines, catalogs, and cardboard will be accepted at the recycling center of Aurora Elementary School between 9 and 11 a.m.

MOVIE NIGHT

Maple Spring Church of the Brethren will host a family movie night this Saturday evening, Jan. 9, at 7 p.m. Seasons of the Heart will be the movie shown, and it is one that is appropriate for all members of the family. The event is open to the public and free of charge. Those who attend are encouraged to bring a snack to share during fellowship, which will follow the movie.

DEATHS

There have been two recent deaths of people familiar to the community.

Richard J. Glass Jr., 88, Morgantown, died on Monday, Dec. 21, 2009. He was well-known throughout the county for his teaching of agriculture, and he brought new ideas to many local farmers. He served in the Navy during WWII.

Carl Sherman Thomas, 88, Charleston, died on Saturday, Dec. 26, 2009. He was also well-known throughout West Virginia for his work in agriculture. He was one who helped develop the Cedar Lakes Conference Center, Ripley, as well as the Arts and Crafts Fair at Cedar Lakes. While teaching at Aurora High School in the early 1940s, he also served as a coach. He served in the Marine Corps during WWII.

PERSONAL

Visiting with Troy and Ruby Judy, Eglon, during the Christmas holiday were their son and family, Barry and Belinda Judy, and Eddy and Alivia. Also taking part in the celebration were his sister, Marilyn Schalker and children Kaitlyn and Jesse. Kaitlyn is a student at Alderson-Broaddus College.

Jessica Shillingburg, daughter of John and Sue Shillingburg, Aurora, underwent gall bladder surgery last week and is recuperating at her home.

Will and Kaylen Albright and their son Richard visited relatives in Preston County for the holidays in Masontown and Aurora, and have returned to their Colorado home. Kaylen is the daughter of Debbie and B.J. Fike, Aurora.

Tim Harsh spent the holidays with his parents, Wade and Mary Harsh, Eglon, and has returned to his home.

Arthur and Janice Forman have returned to their Amboy home after a week's visit in Cheyenne, Wyo., with their daughter and family, Lora and Michael and children Shedd, Alexis, and Alayna.

Dale and Wilda Harsh had several visitors last week: Diane Stevens and daughters, Cuming, Ga., Roy and Mary Harsh, Fairview, Pa., and their son and fiancée, Phoenix, Ariz.

Grace Knotts Winter, Fairmont, was a patient last week at United Hospital Center.

Harley Donham, Grafton, remains a patient at Ruby Memorial Hospital, where he was admitted last week.

Pastor Gary and Bonnie Meeks hosted an open house at the Maple Spring parsonage last Saturday.

Buckwheat Festival Queen To Compete In W.Va. Pageant

Cassie Hershman, the reigning queen for the Preston County Buckwheat Festival, will travel to Charleston to compete in an annual pageant sponsored by the West Virginia Association of Fairs and Festivals. The competition will take place this Friday, Jan. 8, and Saturday, Jan. 9, and will conclude with the crowning of the queen on Saturday.

Hershman will be up against contestants from across the state, consisting of fair and festival queens of association members. Last year there were 85 contestants in the pageant.

The W.Va. Association of Fairs and Festivals annual convention is held each year offering workshops, instruction, and vendor exhibits for its members. Persons desiring more information may visit the web site at www.wvfairsandfestivals.org.

Remember me —

Remember me when flowers bloom
Early in the spring
Remember on sunny days
In the fun that summer brings.

Remember me in the fall
As you walk through leaves of gold
And remember me in the winter time
In the stories that are told.

But most of all remember me
Each day, right from the start
I will be forever near
For I live within your heart.

Wagner Couple To Celebrate 60 Years Of Marriage Jan. 11

Dan and Jean Wagner of McHenry will celebrate their 60th wedding anniversary this Sunday, Jan. 11.

They were married in Cumberland. Witnesses were the bride's mother, Martha Twigg, and George Erikson.

Mr. Wagner is a retired milk truck driver. He did both local and long distance hauling for Wagner Trucking Milk Hauling. He and his two brothers Nile and James (now deceased) owned and operated the business for over 40 years after taking it over from their father, the late Claude Wagner. He has been retired for 22 years.

Mrs. Wagner is a homemaker. She noted that she met her husband upon his return from Honolulu, Hawaii, where he was stationed for four and a half years serving in the Army during WWII.

The couple noted that their advice for a long marriage is to not give up when things get tough, and that quitting is not a choice. They maintain that their marriage has remained steady through "God's guidance and prayer."

The couple's four daughters and their spouses are Linda Leonard and husband John of Warsaw, Ind.; Jeanie Hetrick and husband Bill of McHenry; Patty Brenneman and husband Gene of Accident, and Debbie Brenneman and husband Terry of Accident. They have six grandchildren, Becky Dunnuck, Mike Hetrick, Jeremy and Josh Brenneman, and Danielle and Taryn Brenneman, and one great-granddaughter, Katie Dunnuck.

Miss Green To Wed Mr. Goad

Chad and Pamela Lucas, Kitzmiller, and Richard and Sheri Goad, Woodbridge, Va., announce the engagement of their son, Andrew Richard Goad, to Brooke Renee Green, daughter of Al and Patricia Green, Lexington, S.C.

The prospective groom is the grandson of Jim and Rosalee Evans, Oakland, and Robert and Nora Goad, Woodbridge. He is a 2005 graduate of Southern High School and a 2009 graduate of Virginia Tech. He is currently working as a statistician for the United States Census Bureau.

The bride-to-be is the granddaughter of James Mauney, Belvedere, S.C., and Bernice Maroney, Clearwater, S.C. She is a 2006 graduate of Salem High School, Virginia Beach, Va., and plans to become a chemical engineer upon her 2010 graduation from Virginia Tech.

A July wedding has been planned at a chapel on Virginia Tech's campus in Blacksburg, Va. The couple plans to reside in the Washington, D.C., region.

Prog. Participants To Receive Free Turkey Dinners

Perkins Restaurant and Hugh Umbel Enterprises are brightening up the day for some of Garrett County Community Action's Home Delivered Meals participants, according to a program spokesperson.

"Near the end of December, a special envelope was hand-delivered to 100 home-delivered meal recipients." she explained. "This envelope contained a personal invitation for them to enjoy a free turkey dinner at the Perkins Restaurant in McHenry."

The accompanying letter explained that the non-transferrable certificate could be used any time up to Jan. 31. All they have to do is present their certificate to the waitress when ordering, and show some form of personal identification.

It is hoped that friends and/or family will make arrangements to take them to the restaurant for this special outing, the spokesperson noted.

"Many of our homebound participants travel only for doctors' appointments," she said. "Thanks to the generosity of Hugh Umbel Enterprises and Perkins Restaurant, more than half of them may take advantage of this opportunity to 'get out of the house' for a little while. Taking them to Perkins to enjoy a good meal, good company, and a good time is a great way for friends or family to brighten up the dark days of winter for our participants."

The Home Delivered Meals Program promotes the Garrett County Community Action Committee strategy of creating an environment where vulnerable Garrett County residents have shelter, food, access to health care and support on life skills, thereby increasing the number of families and individuals who are economically self-sufficient and able to live independently.

HOMEBOUND OFFERED AN OUTING – Beverly Carvell, Community Action's nutrition services coordinator, is shown accepting certificates from Sam Housley, Hugh Umbel Enterprises, for use by home-delivered meal participants. The certificates invite the named recipients to enjoy a free turkey dinner at Perkins Restaurant in McHenry. See story for details.

Strange BUT TRUE

By Samantha Weaver

• It was British author Douglas Adams, best known for writing the science-fiction comedy series "The Hitchhiker's Guide to the Galaxy," who made the following sage observation: "Human beings, who are almost unique in having the ability to learn from the experience of others, are also remarkable for their apparent disinclination to do so."

• The original Colonel Sanders earned a grand total of 5 cents for every chicken sold in his early stores.

• The ubiquitous holiday tune "Jingle Bells" was written in 1857 by James L. Pierpont, music director of a Unitarian church. It was written for a Thanksgiving performance, though, not for Christmas. Interestingly, it became the first song broadcast from space on Dec. 16, 1965, when Gemini 6 astronauts Tom Stafford and Wally Schirra used a smuggled harmonica and sleigh bells in a rendition for Mission Control.

• The katydid hears sounds through special holes in its hind legs.

• After many years of success in Hollywood, actor, director and screenwriter David Arquette tried his hand at professional wrestling, becoming World Championship Wrestling's World Heavyweight Champion in 2000.

• It's not widely known that iconic American author Mark Twain was also an actor — albeit briefly. He played himself in the 1907 film "A Curious Dream."

• Benjamin Franklin advocated for the turkey to be our national bird rather than the eagle. He argued that the turkey was a "bird of courage," while the eagle was of "bad moral character" and didn't "get his living honestly."

Moments in time

THE HISTORY CHANNEL

• On Jan. 12, 1888, the so-called Schoolchildren's Blizzard kills 235 people, many of them children on their way home from school, across the Northwest Plains region of the United States. The storm came with no warning, and the temperature fell nearly 100 degrees F. in just 24 hours.

• On Jan. 16, 1919, the 18th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution, prohibiting the "manufacture, sale, or transportation of intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes," is ratified and becomes law. Large-scale distribution of alcoholic beverages and organized crime flourished anyway.

• On Jan. 11, 1949, on Connecticut Avenue in Washington, D.C., the cornerstone is laid at the first mosque of note in the United States. The Islamic Center was complete with a 160-foot minaret from which prayers were to be announced.

• On Jan. 17, 1950, 11 men steal more than $2 million from the Brinks Armored Car depot in Boston. It was almost the perfect crime, as the culprits weren't caught until January 1956, just days before the statute of limitations for the theft expired. Only a small part of the money was ever recovered; the rest is fabled to be hidden in the hills north of Grand Rapids, Minn.

• On Jan. 14, 1969, an explosion aboard the aircraft carrier USS Enterprise, the first-ever nuclear-powered aircraft carrier, kills 27 people in Pearl Harbor, Hawaii. A rocket accidentally detonated, destroying 15 planes and injuring more than 300 people.

• On Jan. 15, 1974, the first episode of "Happy Days" airs, portraying the comic antics of 1950s Milwaukee high-school student Richie Cunningham and his pal Potsie Webber. A minor character, super-cool biker Arthur "the Fonz" Fonzarelli, soon became the show's central character.

• On Jan. 13, 1982, an Air Florida Boeing 727 plunges into the Potomac River in Washington, D.C., killing 78 people. The crash was caused by bad weather and the pilot's failure to ask for de-icing after the plane sat on the runway for 45 minutes. Worse, he failed to turn on the plane's own de-icing system.

The Friendsville branch of the Ruth Enlow Library will host a Children's Bedtime Story Time on Monday, Jan. 18, at 6:30 p.m. The topic will be Arctic animals, and each child will receive a free book.

In the event of inclement weather, persons should call the library at 301-746-5663 one hour before the program to check the schedule. Children may wear their pajamas.

Information about the library's services and programs can be viewed on the web site at www.relib.net.

World Religion Study To Resume At St. Mark's Luth.

The Adult Forum at St. Mark's Lutheran Church in Oakland will resume on Wednesday, Jan. 13, following the usual holiday break, according to Rev. C. Scott Robinson, pastor of the church and leader of the forum.

The current focus of the forum is on Native American spirituality, as part of the ongoing discussion series on world religions. The discussion will next move to Judaism and Christianity, including a close look at what various Christian denominations have in common with each other and how they differ, Robinson said.

"Weekly sessions feature PowerPoint presentations and written handouts of presentation highlights," the pastor said. "The forum is free and open to the community. People from different religions and different Christian denominations have been regular participants and contributors over the years."

The forum meets Wednesdays at 6:15 p.m. in the fellowship hall of St. Mark's, located at the corner of Second and Center streets in Oakland, across from the Ruth Enlow Library. A short service of contemplative evening prayer follows for those who wish to attend.

For more information, persons may call the church office at 301-334-2668.

Have You HEARD?

NO MERE BELLS AND WHISTLES
One of the potential dangers of being hearing impaired is the inability to hear whistles, sirens, and other alarm signals. With this in mind, hearing-impaired individuals may want to outfit their homes and workplaces with "alerting devices," which use very loud noises, flashing lights, or vibrators to alert hearing-impaired persons to specific sounds. Some alerting devices can be wired directly to doorbells or plugged into telephones; more advanced systems use built-in microphones to listen for specific sounds, which then trigger an alert. Such systems can be used in conjunction with smoke detectors. The value of an alerting device lies in its potential to save the life of an individual who would not otherwise hear a warning alarm.
If you have a hearing impairment, you are missing more than just the understanding of words. Hearing informs you of danger, lets you respond to sound, reassures you of changing surroundings, and generally keeps you in touch with the world. At AUDIBEL, we offer comprehensive hearing services by a hearing specialist, including evaluations, custom fittings, a full range of hearing devices and instruments, accessories, follow-up support, and repairs.
P.S. Sonic alerting devices can be used to signal that a baby is crying.

SPORTS

Southern High Sports Schedule Changes Noted

Southern High School athletic director Matt Redinger has announced changes to the sports schedules for wrestling, girls' and boys' basketball, bowling, and indoor track, all of which have been affected by the weather this past week.

The schedule is as follows:

Wrestling

The away match against Hampshire that was postponed on Dec. 23, 2009, will be held on Jan. 12. The home match against Hampshire scheduled for Tuesday, Jan. 5, was postponed. The team is scheduled to host Northern on Wednesday.

Girls' Basketball

The game at Bishop Walsh on Tuesday, Jan. 5, was postponed and is scheduled for Feb. 24. The game at Allegany scheduled for last night was postponed until tonight. The junior varsity game will begin at 5:30 p.m. and the varsity game at 7 p.m. The team will travel to Mtn. Ridge next Wednesday.

Boys' Basketball

The game at Fort Hill on Tuesday, Jan. 5, was postponed and is scheduled for Feb. 8. The team is to travel to Allegany tomorrow, to Petersburg on Saturday, and then to Tucker on Tuesday, weather permitting.

Bowling

The match against Mtn. Ridge on Tuesday, Jan. 5, was canceled. The team competes tonight at home against Hampshire, with game time at 3:30 p.m. at Par-Matt Lanes. The team is then scheduled to host Fort Hill on Wednesday.

Indoor Track

The boys' and girls' teams did not attend the Mtn. Express Invitational Meet, held Jan. 4. Their next meet is the Regional 1A Championships on Jan. 30 at Hagerstown Community College.

TWO HUSKIES CHOSEN FOR ALL-TOURNAMENT TEAM – Cody Humberson and Garrett Rayner, members of the Northern High School varsity boys' basketball team, were recently recognized and selected for the all-tournament team during the Berlin Boosters Holiday Tournament in Berlin, Pa. The Huskies took the first round game against Rockwood, 68-49, but then dropped in the second game to Berlin, 46-36. Humberson, left, and Rayner, second from left, are pictured above with three Berlin players, Scott Gindlesperger, Jacob Welmer, and Alex Will. Not pictured were Josh Oakes from Rockwood and Brad Hengst of Chestnut Ridge.

Annual Snowflake Chase Scheduled For January 16

The annual Snowflake Chase, a five-mile run and two-mile fun run/walk sponsored by the Garrett College men's basketball team, will be held at Deep Creek Lake State Park on Saturday, Jan. 16.

The event is held in memory of former assistant coach David K. Martin, with proceeds this year going to Amelia Wolf and her efforts in making candy to benefit Cindy's Fund.

Final registration will be from 8:30 to 9:30 on race day, and the race will begin at 10 a.m. Cash prizes will be presented to the first- and second-place overall male and female runners in the five-mile event. Other awards will be presented to the first-place male and female master runners, as well as the top three male and female finishers in six age divisions.

Awards will also go to the overall first-place male and female finishers in the two-mile event, as well as the first-place finishers in nine age divisions.

The races will be on an out-and-back course from the park. Post-race activities will include a complimentary lunch of pizza and soft drinks at Uno Restaurant for all participants, courtesy of Uno's. The awards ceremony will also be held there.

The first 200 entrants will receive a free long-sleeved T-shirt. The registration fee is $20 if received by January 9, and $25 after that date. Persons may contact GC head coach Dennis Gibson at 301-387-3051 or dennis.gibson@garrettcollege.edu for registration information.

Casselman Valley Schedules Soccer Registration Days

Casselman Valley AYSO (American Youth Soccer Organization) Region 861 will hold youth soccer registration for the spring season on Friday, Jan. 15, from 6 to 9 p.m. and Saturday, Jan. 16, from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. at Grantsville Elementary School.

Registration is open to all children ages 4 to 19 as of July 31, 2009. For more information, persons may call 301-616-3231.

Garrett County Hazmat Training Program. It consists of on-site training at various fire and rescue squads throughout the county. This training includes data from the LEPC's Commodity Flow studies, hazmat equipment and potential problematic areas within the county, and hazmat awareness/identification topics.

To date, Umbel has conducted seven classes involving more than 100 participants. Training took place at the Oakland, Kitzmiller, Friendsville, and Grantsville volunteer fire departments; Northern and Southern rescue squads; and Garrett College.

The LEPC received more than $11,000 in grants through the Federal Emergency Management Agency to help fund Umbel's training and program.

Frantz's department and the LEPC also assisted the Garrett County Department of Social Services in developing its mass care and sheltering operation plan. A training session and exercise were conducted at Garrett College in November for DSS staff.

The department's assistant director for administration, Alicia Helbig, gave an overview of the exercise for the commissioners.

"When this all started, we didn't know much about mass sheltering," Helbig told them.

She explained that the state recently designated its 25 DSS offices as mass care and sheltering agencies. The departments then had to receive training and incorporate a sheltering component into their emergency operations plans. Helbig noted that a mass sheltering event would be a Hurricane Katrina type of situation.

She indicated that serious an event would probably be rare in Garrett County.

"But I'd rather know how to do it and never need it than need it and not know how," Helbig said about sheltering hundreds of people.

During the Garrett College exercise, the 70 local DSS members learned how to set up and operate a shelter facility. One team played the roles of victims, while another team was shelter operators. The teams later reversed their roles.

Staff members learned such things as how to establish a shelter, set up cots, register victims, distribute shelter materials, and triage those with medical emergencies. They also discovered what their strengths and weaknesses were.

Helbig indicated that though the staff were somewhat intimidated about mass sheltering, they now look forward to receiving more training and conducting more exercises.

The Garrett College exercise further emphasized the need for an emergency operations center (EOC) in the county, Frantz indicated. The director has been looking for possible locations for an EOC for sometime.

He explained to the commissioners that a center does not have to be a building designated just for emergencies. It is basically a big meeting place that has particular amenities where various responders can gather and address a large-scale emergency.

One possible EOC location is the Garrett County Airport, where an under utilized conference room is located. The airport also recently acquired an emergency generator and computer backup system for county data, two items that are needed for an EOC.

"It's not ideal," Frantz said about the airport facility. "There are limitations with that space, but it's certainly better than what we have now."

For the DSS exercise at Garrett College, the EOC was just four chairs set up in a hallway for Frantz and other Public Safety personnel to oversee the operation.

The director said the airport room was not ideal, in that it is small and does not have any fire and EMS communications equipment. He noted, however, that the state's Emergency Numbers System Board has been wanting his department to have a backup 911 center for some time now, in the event the one at the county courthouse becomes inoperable.

A backup center could be established at the airport, and the board would fund the project completely, Frantz noted. With that equipment, communication with fire and EMS units would be possible.

Frantz added that the Maryland Institute for Emergency Medical Services Systems is also willing to install equipment at the airport that would further enhance emergency communications.

Grant funding may also be available to expand the airport conference room. But even if the room is not expanded, the additional equipment and the county's mobile command vehicle would enable Public Safety to operate a backup 911 center at the airport.

The commissioners unanimously supported Frantz's suggestion to seek grant funding for the EOC project.

The commissioners' next public meeting will be held on Tuesday, Jan. 19, beginning at 9 a.m.

Named Volunteer Of The Month By Loar Auxiliary

Juanita Bosley has been named the Loar Auxiliary Volunteer of the Month for January. Bosley began her gift shop career in July 2005. She works a regular shift in the shop on Wednesday afternoons. Bosley can also be found helping at many American Red Cross bloodmobiles held at the hospital.

"We are lucky to have Juanita working with us," said gift shop manager Denise Shay. "She assists one customer at a time in her steady, calm way.

Anyone interested in volunteering for the Loar Auxiliary should contact the hospital's volunteer services department at 301-533-4041.

Garrett College's Madonna Pool: A Well Traveled Jack-Of-All-Trades

by Melissa Parker

From Cuba to Hawaii, and San Francisco to New York City, Madonna Pool has lived in her fair share of places. So what, then, brought her to Garrett County and recently to the staff of Garrett College?

She first visited Garrett County after an invitation from a friend who happened to be a third-generation Garrett Countian. After that first visit, Pool was hooked on the outdoor activities the area has to offer. She was a New York resident at the time, and spent two years traveling back and forth from the Catskills in New York to Garrett County participating in the outdoor adventures of each place. After losing her boss to a heart attack in her upper-level corporate career, she realized that stress is real and can be damaging.

"Life is too short to put your dreams on hold," Pool said. "So, I decided that it was time for a big change. I sold my home in New York and moved to Garrett County."

Pool has explored many career fields during her 22 years in Garrett County. She has served as the president and vice president of Appalachian Beekeepers Association, and still keeps bees today. She has also been the co-owner and operator of Honey Grace Farm. She has even been a sales associate and inventory control manager at Naylor's Hardware Store, a position she said really helped her get to know the residents of Garrett County.

Many of her career fields have had a deep emphasis on counseling. In 1999, Pool completed her master's degree in counseling psychology at Frostburg State University. She has been employed for eight years by the Garrett County Health Department in the Substance Abuse Program, and continues to work there parttime.

She left her full-time position with the Health Department as a clinical supervisor in December 2008 to join the staff of the Alldredge Wilderness program in Davis, W.Va., although the company soon closed its doors as a result of the poor economy.

Pool also has an interest and has worked in equine therapy. She is certified in equine-assisted psychotherapy and equine-assisted learning, and has worked in these areas at Broken Spoke Stables.

One could say it's in her blood. She has a long family history involving horses. Her father and grandfather were cowboys, born and reared on the Waggoner Ranch in Texas. Her mother is a horse whisperer, trainer, and breeder of Appaloosa and Colorado Rangerbred horses.

Pool's interest in counseling and working to help others solve their problems are what brought her to Garrett College, where she is the college's new student counselor, a position she took at the beginning of the fall semester.

Another thing that drew her to the college was its diversity.

"Garrett College is one of the only places in the county that you can meet people from all over the world," said Pool. "I am moved by the experiences of other cultures and traditions."

Although she has been at the college only a short time, Pool said she is proud of those beginning relationships she is making with students. However, to quote the analogy used by Pool, "The Grand Canyon was not built overnight. It took one grain of sand a day for billions of years."

Pool said she has solid relationships with many counselors at the Garrett County Health Department and with the college nurse. These things, she said, will all contribute to having in place services targeting the needs of students.

"The health and wellness of students, faculty, and staff members will have a place to grow and gain support to accommodate change," she said.

Thus far, her experience as the only counselor on campus has been challenging, yet rewarding.

"I feel like I have had a great start, and I am hopeful that many students will come to see that there are solutions to problems," she said.

Pool's counseling credentials include licensing in clinical alcohol and drug counseling, clinical professional counseling, and national certified counseling, as well as certification in equine assisted psychotherapy, equine assisted learning, and hypnotherapy.

Although Pool was born in Cuba, she spent her elementary school years in Texas and her middle school and high school years in Woodstock, N.Y. She attended college in Hawaii for three years, and for one year in Utah. She worked for two years in the northern slums of Philadelphia with Latino families, spent two years in a technical training program in San Francisco, and spent several years working back in New York, but she still considers Garrett County her home.

"My roots are deepest in these very old mountains," she. "The consistent beauty of Garrett County and intelligent people who appreciate it and strive to keep it that way are what set Garrett apart from all the places I've been."

In fact, it is this natural beauty that Pool says she loves most about the county. She also enjoys the water sports offered by the area, plus the fact that a person can bike, hike, ride horses, fish, or just bird watch. She said she likes the fact that the county actually has four seasons, something she says is uncommon in many of the places she's lived. She also enjoys promoting the health and well-being of honeybees in Garrett County, something about which she is very passionate.

It is this extraordinary environment that makes Garrett County among her favorite places, which speaks volumes coming from a woman who has experienced as many diverse places as Madonna Pool.

New Doors Opening For Graduates Of GC Nursing Assistant Program

by Susan Fowler

A pleasant, quiet-natured woman in her mid-30s came into the Continuing Education and Workforce Development office at Garrett College in mid-September "just to pick up some information," she said.

As a program director, I invited her to sit down, and her story quickly unfolded.

She had always been interested in working with the elderly, but before she knew it, she was married, taking care of her home, and busy raising her family. She worked outside the home as well, but "in a job, not a career," she said. Nevertheless, it was a good life.

As the years passed and her children were becoming more independent, her original dreams began to reawaken. She decided that she wanted to work to improve the lives of the elderly by becoming a certified nursing assistant. Her words to me on that September day were, "It's my time now." There was a look of determination in her eyes.

After being out of school for so many years, the road ahead seemed frightening. Would she pass the proficiency test for admission to the program? How would it feel to be in a classroom again? Would her classmates all be younger and smarter? Could she do it?

Yes, she could do it, and yes, she did do it. With hard work, encouragement, and support from her instructor, classmates, and even her own children, Norma Durst not only learned the skills and passed the tests, but also landed a job in a local nursing care facility.

"This has changed my life," said Durst. "It's like I'm a different person. I'm more confident and feel better about myself, and I love the work I'm doing."

In fact, Durst and several of her classmates have now expressed an interest in taking their education one step further to a nursing degree.

On behalf of Garrett College and the department of Continuing Education and Workforce Development, we want to say congratulations to Ms. Durst and to all of the fall 2009 CNA graduates at Garrett College, who are Christina Bauer, Daphne Brendle, Norma Durst, Missy Elliott, Debra Everett, Barbarella Friend, Dawn Giron, Carol James, Ashley Pomerleau, Sherri Reiber, and Russ Subock.

A large part of the students' success can be attributed to the instruction by Lori Davis and Melissa Walch. Their leadership, as well as their partnerships with Garrett County Memorial Hospital and the Goodwill Mennonite Home, gave our students an outstanding experience.

The fall 2009 CNA class was quite diverse. There were a few younger students working toward obtaining their first jobs. Some young mothers were working toward starting a career to help support their families. Some students had been unemployed or under employed. One student even had a long career in another field, but with the downturn in the economy, jobs in that field dried up.

For all the students, healthcare was a good career choice because it seemed like a field that always has openings.

"This CNA class make-up is a great example of the variety of students we serve in Continuing Education and Workforce Development," said Julie Yoder, interim dean of continuing education. "The CNA classes, EMT training, Mounaintop Truck Driving Institute, and the welding courses are all popular programs for individuals looking for career training."

Others who share that feeling that Durst described as "my time now" may be interested in taking some upcoming classes. A CNA day class will start in February and run through the end of April. An evening class will start in early April and end in late June.

"New Year Means New Opportunities For Roth IRA Conversion"

If you already have a Roth IRA, you're aware of its biggest benefit: Your earnings grow tax free, provided you meet certain conditions. If you don't have a Roth IRA, you may want to consider one — and it may be easier for you to do just that in 2010.

Before we get to the reasons why 2010 may be your year to open or convert to a Roth IRA, let's look at some differences between Roth and traditional IRAs. If you own a traditional IRA, your contributions may be tax-deductible, depending on your income level. But whether you can make deductible contributions or not, your earnings grow on a tax-deferred basis, which means your money can grow faster than it would if it were placed in an investment on which you paid taxes every year. On the other hand, Roth IRA contributions are never tax deductible, but your earnings grow tax free, as long as you've held your account at least five years and don't start taking withdraws until you're at least age 59½.

Furthermore, unlike a traditional IRA, a Roth IRA does not require you to start taking distributions when you reach 70½. Consequently, you'll have more flexibility and freedom when it comes to making withdrawals.

If you have a traditional IRA, you might be thinking it's a good idea to convert to a Roth IRA because tax free sounds better than tax deferred — and, all things being equal, tax free would indeed be better. However, it's not quite that simple. If you convert your traditional IRA to a Roth IRA, you'll have to pay taxes on those traditional IRA earnings and contributions that had previously gone untaxed. If you do convert, you'll be better off if you use money held outside your IRA to pay the taxes. If you simply take money from your IRA, you'll obviously lower the value of your IRA — and, if you're under 59½, you may have to pay an additional 10% penalty on the amount you withdraw to pay the taxes.

In the past, many investors have been prohibited from converting their IRAs due to either their tax filing status or their income. Under previous rules, you could convert your traditional IRA to a Roth IRA only if you were married and filed a joint return or were a single filer, and your modified adjusted income (MAGI) was $100,000 or less. But starting in 2010, you can convert funds to a Roth IRA even if your MAGI is over $100,000. You will also be able to convert to a Roth if you are married and file separate tax returns.

And that's not the only piece of good news regarding your conversion ability. As mentioned above, you will have to pay taxes when you convert to a Roth IRA. A conversion is usually reported as income for the tax year the conversion takes place. However in 2010 only, your conversion amount will be split and reported as income for tax years 2011 and 2012 unless you elect to report the entire conversion amount on your 2010 taxes. You may find that spreading the taxes over two years can make the conversion more affordable.

In any case, consult with your tax advisor before converting from a traditional IRA to a Roth. If done correctly, such a conversion can potentionally make a big difference in your ultimate retirement lifestyle.

Another Empty Resolution?
-GET OUT OF DEBT
-LOSE WEIGHT
-GO BACK TO SCHOOL
Every new year most of us make resolutions that we end up forgetting or breaking within a very short time.
Well this year why not try something different? Instead of an empty resolution make some quality decisions for your life.
A quality decision is one you seriously think about, pray about, devise a plan to achieve and then write it down!
Remember you will be no different next New Year's Eve than you are right now unless you make some quality decisions to change.
The most important element of all is to ask God to help you make the changes you need to make. If you don't have a personal relationship with Jesus, start one today! It's the greatest decision you will ever make!

Oakland Teen Attains Eagle Scout Rank

Joshua Bernard, a member of the Oakland Boy Scout Troop #31, has earned the rank of Eagle Scout and was conferred with the rank at an Eagle Scout Court of Honor, held in mid-November at the Oak Dale Church of the Brethren in Scherr, W.Va.

In addition to earning the mandatory 21 merit badges, Bernard was also required to complete a service project. His endeavor was to transform the basement of his church, the Oak Dale Church of the Brethren, into a youth center. The space had been previously used only for storage, and significant work was required for the transformation.

Bernard was responsible for communicating with the church council and outlining his project, and then organizing and completing it. The area was cleaned out, all the walls and floors were painted, and the bathrooms and other areas were brought up to code. Bernard then installed various games, including an air hockey table. Now the youth of the church are utilizing the renovated area.

Joshua is the son of Elaine and Rev. Mike Bernard, who is the pastor of the Oak Dale church. He is in the 10th grade at Southern High School, and was 14 at the time of his Court of Honor. (He has since turned 15.) Special guests at his ceremony included Senator George Edwards, sheriff's deputy Rob Corley, Grant County commissioners James Wilson Jr. and Jim Cole, Scoutmaster Robert Ash, several members of Troop #31, and the honoree's grandparents, siblings, and among many other friends and family members.

In addition to his Scouting activities, Bernard is an active member of his church's youth group and is a member of the percussion line of the Southern Garrett Marching Band. He is employed by Browning's Foodland of Oakland.

ATTAINS EAGLE SCOUT RANK – An Eagle Scout Court of Honor was held in November for Joshua Bernard, son of Rev. Mike and Elaine Bernard, Oakland. Joshua is a member of Oakland Troop #31 and is in the 10th grade at Southern High School. He has been involved in Scouting since the first grade. In addition to earning the required 21 merit badges for the Eagle Scout rank, he planned, organized, and completed a renovation effort at his church in Scherr, W.Va. See story. Shown at the ceremony in the front, left to right, are Keith Cummings (Joshua's grandfather), Elaine Bernard, Eagle Scout Joshua Bernard, Rev. Mike Bernard, Scoutmaster Robert Ash, and BSA district commissioner Elizabeth Goldsborough. In the second row, same order, are Sen. George Edwards, Garrett County sheriff's deputy Rob Corley, Grant County commissioner James W. Wilson Jr., and Grant County commissioner Jim Cole. The ceremony was held at the Oak Dale Church of the Brethren, where the service project was completed, and where the Scout's father is the pastor.

SHS TEAM EARNS 1ST PLACE IN STOCK MARKET GAME – A team of Southern High School students from Lisa Bender's economics class recently earned first place ranking among high schools in the Western region of the Maryland Stock Market Game. Jake Bramande, Kelsey Lear, and Abby Wildesen successfully managed an investment portfolio of stocks for the 10-week academic competition. The SHS team beat out 176 other teams from Frederick, Washington, Allegany, and Garrett counties. Their performance also allowed them to place 12th overall in the state, competing against 1,277 teams. Their final ranking was just $8,000 shy of first place overall. "The Stock Market Game is sponsored by the Maryland Council on Economic Education and is a comprehensive, engaging, real-world program that advances academic achievement by taking students' learning to the next level," said Bender. "With the growing emphasis on financial literacy in today's classrooms, this is an excellent venue for addressing a broad range of lifelong money management lessons." Rob Sharps, senior investment executive with First United Investment Services, has partnered with business teachers at Southern High School since 1995 to bring lessons on finance into the classroom. The local sponsor for students to compete in the game was First United Bank & Trust. All three students are enrolled in advanced placement classes at Southern and are active in soccer, basketball, and track. Bramande is the son of Francis and Lisa Bramande, Oakland, Lear is the daughter of Kurt and Sue Lear, Oakland, and Wildesen is the daughter of Ed and Jane Wildesen, Oakland. From left are Sharps, Wildesen, Bramande, Lear, and Bender.

IRS Kicks Off Filing Season; Notes New Requirements For Preparers

The Internal Revenue Service kicked off the 2010 tax filing season Monday by issuing the results of a landmark six-month study that proposes new registration, testing, and continuing education of tax return preparers.

According to the IRS, with more than 80 percent of American households using a tax preparer or tax software to help them prepare and file their taxes, higher standards for the tax preparer community will significantly enhance protections and service for taxpayers, increase confidence in the tax system, and result in greater compliance with tax laws over the long term.

To bring immediate help to taxpayers this filing season, the IRS also announced a sweeping new effort to reach tax return preparers with enforcement and education. As part of the outreach effort, the IRS is providing tips to taxpayers to ensure they are working with a reputable preparer.

"As tax season begins, most Americans will turn to preparers to help with one of their biggest financial transactions of the year. The decisions announced Monday represent a monumental shift in the way the IRS will oversee tax preparers," said IRS Commissioner Doug Shulman. "Our proposals will help ensure that taxpayers receive competent, ethical service from qualified professionals and strengthen the integrity of the nation's tax system. In addition, we are taking immediate action to step up oversight of tax preparers this filing season."

Based on the results of the Return Preparer Review released this week, the IRS recommends a number of steps that it plans to implement for future filing seasons, including:

•Requiring all paid preparers who must sign a federal tax return to register with the IRS and obtain a preparer tax identification number (PTIN). These preparers will be subject to a limited tax compliance check to ensure they have filed federal personal, employment, and business tax returns and that the tax due on those returns has been paid.

•Requiring competency tests for all paid tax return preparers except attorneys, certified public accountants (CPAs), and enrolled agents who are active and in good standing with their respective licensing agencies.

•Requiring ongoing continuing professional education for all paid preparers except attorneys, CPAs, enrolled agents, and others who are already subject to continuing education requirements.

•Extending the ethical rules found in Treasury Department Circular 230 –which currently apply only to attorneys, CPAs, and enrolled agents who practice before the IRS – to all paid preparers. This expansion would allow the IRS to suspend or otherwise discipline preparers who engage in unethical or disreputable conduct.

Other measures the IRS anticipates taking are highlighted in the 55-page report.

Currently, anyone may prepare a federal tax return for anyone else and charge a fee. While some preparers are currently licensed by their states or are enrolled to practice before the IRS, many do not have to meet any government or professionally mandated competency requirements before preparing a federal tax return for a fee.

First Step: Letters to 10,000 Preparers

These initiatives will take several years to fully implement and will not be in effect for the current 2010 tax season. In the meantime, the IRS is taking immediate action to step up oversight of preparers for the 2010 filing season.

Beginning this week, the IRS is sending letters to approximately 10,000 paid preparers nationwide. These preparers are among those with large volumes of specific tax returns where the IRS typically sees frequent errors. The letters are intended to remind preparers to be vigilant in areas where the errors are frequently found, including Schedule C income and expenses, Schedule A deductions, the Earned Income Tax Credit, and the First Time Homebuyer Credit.

Thousands of the preparers who receive these letters will also be visited by IRS revenue agents in the coming weeks to discuss their obligations and responsibilities to prepare accurate tax returns. This is part of a broader initiative by the IRS to step up its efforts to ensure paid preparers are assisting clients appropriately. Separately, the IRS will be conducting other compliance and education visits with return preparers on a variety of issues.

In addition, the IRS will more widely use investigative tools during this filing season aimed at determining preparer non-compliance. One of those tools will include visits to return preparers by IRS agents posing as a taxpayer.

During this effort, the IRS will continue to work closely with the Department of Justice to pursue civil or criminal action as appropriate.

Steps Taxpayers Can Take Now to Find a Preparer

In addition to the stepped-up oversight of preparers, Shulman also announced a new outreach effort to help make sure taxpayers choose a reputable preparer this filing season. He said that this is particularly important because taxpayers are legally responsible for what is on their tax returns – even if those returns are prepared by someone else.

"Taxpayers should protect themselves from unscrupulous preparers," Shulman said. "There are some simple steps people can take to choose a reputable tax preparer."

Shulman acknowledged that most preparers are professional, honest, and provide competent service to their clients, but offered the following points for taxpayers to keep in mind when selecting a tax return preparer:

•Be wary of preparers who claim they can obtain larger refunds than others.

•Avoid preparers who base their fees on a percentage of the refund.

•Use a reputable tax professional who signs the tax return and provides a copy.

•Consider whether the individual or firm will be around months or years after the return has been filed to answer questions about the preparation of the tax return.

•Check the person's credentials. Only attorneys, CPAs, and enrolled agents can represent taxpayers before the IRS in all matters, including audits, collection, and appeals. Other return preparers may only represent taxpayers for audits of returns they actually prepared.

•Find out if the preparer is affiliated with a professional organization that provides its members with continuing education and other resources and holds them to a code of ethics.

More information about choosing a tax return preparer and avoiding fraud can be found in IRS Fact Sheet 2010-03, "How to Choose a Tax Preparer and Avoid Tax Fraud."

Resources for Taxpayers this Filing Season

This filing season, the IRS has many free resources to help taxpayers prepare and file their returns.

IRS.gov has a variety of features to help taxpayers online. There is a special section to help taxpayers get information on a variety of recovery tax benefits. The web site also has information for people who lost a job or experienced financial problems in 2009. IRS.gov also has information to help people track their refund.

IRS.gov will once again host the IRS Free File program, which allows virtually everyone to file their taxes for free through the web site. Free File and the rest of the IRS e-file program will open later this month.

A variety of other filing season resources are available at IRS.gov.

Young Local Man Requests Clean, Safe Water For His 19th Birthday

Mtn. Lake Park resident Daniel Leatherman wants to celebrate his birthday this year in a unique way, by helping adults and children (like the one pictured above) in a developing country.

"My birthday wish this year is not for more gifts I don't need; it's to give clean and safe drinking water to some of the billion people living without it," Leatherman said. "I want to make my birthday matter this year."

He will turn 19 on Sunday, Jan. 24, and in lieu of a party and gifts, he is asking friends, family, and others to donate at least $19. Leatherman's goal is to raise $5,000, which is enough money to drill a well that will provide water for 250 people for 20 years.

Leatherman said he recently learned from a television program that one in eight people in the world do not have access to clean water and wanted to do something to help change that startling statistic.

"All of my birthdays have always been about stuff," he said. "Stuff I don't want; stuff I definitely don't need. And to be honest, I hardly even remember what I got last year. So this year, I'm giving my birthday up."

Leatherman researched possible non-profit organizations that could help him help others and discovered "charity: water." He chose the organization because all donations do not go to such things as overhead or staff salaries, and donors are informed about the location of the wells.

"Because of charity: water's unique model, 100 percent of all donations go directly to direct water projects costs, and each donation is 'proved' and tracked to the village it helped when projects are complete," Leatherman said.

Charity: water "proves" the projects using photos, video, and GPS coordinates plotted on Google Earth. Additionally, staff visit completed projects on an ongoing basis and bring back proof of the work being done.

Individuals who sponsor $5,000 water projects are recognized by a virtual plaque published on Google Earth so they can see exactly where their money went.

Charity. water has selected 16 countries in which to focus its efforts and impact. These 16 countries have been chosen because they have very limited access to a safe water supply, have high rates of water-related death, and have "exemplary" local partners working to implement sustainable projects that tip the scale.

Charity: water has determined the greatest water needs are in Sub-Saharan Africa and South Asia, so most of its projects are located in those regions.

Since its inception in August 2006, Charity: water has funded more than 1,548 freshwater projects, serving more than 802,400 people.

Leatherman reiterated that a billion people in the world are living without clean water.

"But how much are they really living?" he asked. "Millions contract deadly diseases from contaminated water, and 45,000 people will die this week alone. The lucky ones won't, but still walk hours each day to get dirty water to give to their families."

Leatherman encourages the public to join his birthday celebration by helping provide fresh water for others. Persons wanting to make a donation in his honor may go to http://-mycharitywater.org/-oaklandmd. Leatherman stressed that none of the donations will go to him.

He is the son of Pastor Dennis and Kathy Leatherman of Mtn. Lake Independent Baptist Church.

FITNESS AFTER 50

NOW IS THE TIME, THIS IS THE PLACE
by Peggy Santamaria

The new year is under way. Lots of folks will begin the new decade resolving to "get in better shape." If that's your goal, we have a program just for you at Flowery Vale Health & Fitness Center in Accident.

What better way to get in shape than to start out with an individualized assessment that will analyze current strengths and weaknesses and help you set your personal goals to improve fitness and enhance health?

As medical costs increase, it makes good sense for an individual to take more responsibility for his or her health. Many people over the age of 50 find they have more aches and pains than they did at 40. They may chalk it up to "just getting older." Discomfort, they think, is inevitable. When the discomfort turns to pain and it gets bad enough, then a visit to the doctor's office or emergency room will be in order.

Many of the aches and pains associated with increased age can be reduced through adjustments to posture through appropriate exercises. Many of our daily habits contribute to poor body alignment which, in turn, can lead to joint discomfort or back pain. Muscles can stretch or shorten to accommodate misalignment of the body and eventually lead to other chronic problems.

Following the recommendations of your health care provider, the staff at Flowery Vale Health & Fitness Center will work with you to set up a program of exercise that can help you move through life with greater comfort and increased strength. You will be learning to take more responsibility for your own health.

Once you reach that goal, you may find you are ready to set a slightly more challenging goal for yourself

So if you have already set a goal to have a "Bowflex body" by March, you might want to put that one on hold for now. Instead, stop in and take a look the Flowery Vale center and see what we have to help you improve your health and sense of well-being. Happy New Year!!

Flowery Vale Health & Fitness Center for the Mature Adult is operated by the Garrett County Area Agency on Aging. This project promotes the Garrett County Community Action Committee strategy of creating an environment where vulnerable Garrett County residents have shelter, food, access to health care, and support on life skills, thereby increasing the number of families and individuals who are economically self-sufficient and able to live independently.

For more information, persons are invited to visit Flowery Vale Monday through Thursday, 9 a.m. to 6 p.m., or Friday, 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., or call 301-746-8050.

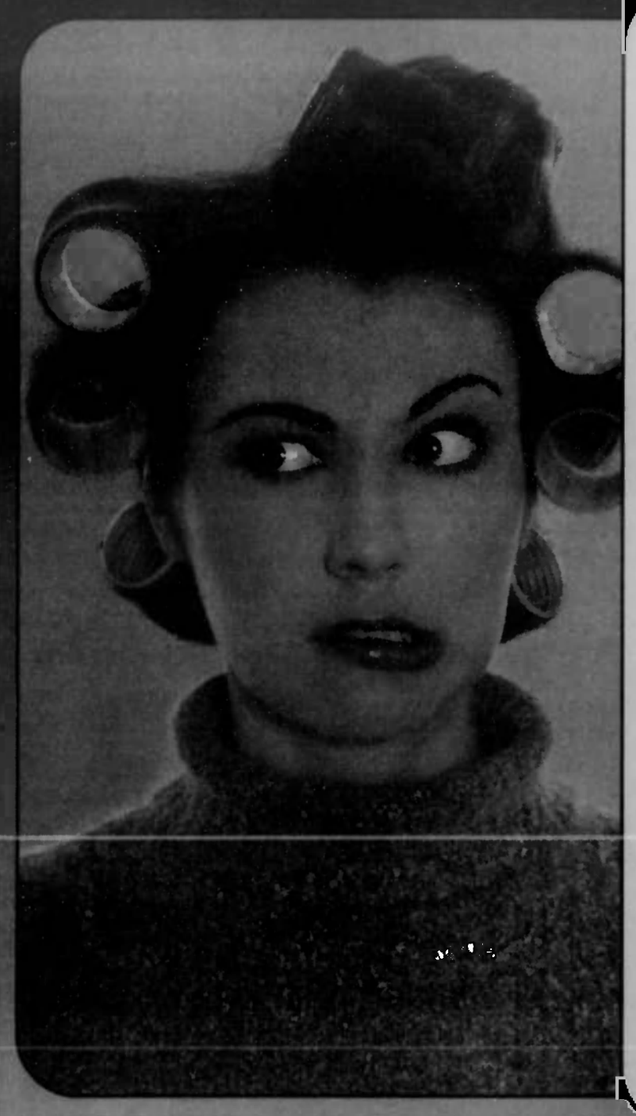
A New You



The motto of our times could be "if you don't like it, change it". We are all about appearances and making ourselves look better. Yet, all the beauty make-overs in the world cannot change one's spirit...at any price.

Transforming one's spirit, interestingly enough, costs nothing at all. If you are sad or confused on the inside, if the sparkle goes out of your eyes, how can you project a positive impression? A peaceful, happy spirit can help.

Are you at peace with yourself? Have you looked within? If the answer is no, give God a chance in your life. Psalm 96:6 directs us... "Strength and beauty are in his sanctuary." Won't you worship this week? Let God create a new you!

Athletes of God

The great choreographer Martha Graham said, "I believe that we learn by practice. Whether it means to learn to dance by practicing dancing or to learn to live by practicing living, the principles are the same. In each, it is the performance of a dedicated precise set of acts, physical or intellectual, from which comes shape of achievement, a sense of one's being, a satisfaction of spirit. One becomes, in some area, an athlete of God." (Martha Graham, This I Believe, National Public Radio) Two things are particularly noteworthy about this statement. One is the dedication and discipline necessary to bring about significant achievement, whether in art, or sport, or life. The second thing worth noting is how this achievement will define one's being and lead to a satisfaction of spirit. There is no denying the incredible satisfaction that comes with achievement, and especially virtuosity. Most of us will never know the satisfaction of being a prima ballerina or a professional athlete, but that doesn't mean we can't reach a level of excellence appropriate to our own capabilities. And it's not just about achieving excellence in some artistic or athletic endeavor. It's about achieving excellence in life, as a good human being. We should ask God each and every day to help us in the practice of life and strive to become an athlete of God.

I have fought the good fight, I have finished the race, I have kept the faith.

Aspirin Taken Immediately for Heart Attack

A heart attack may result when a blood clot blocks blood flow through a coronary (heart) artery. The coronary artery brings blood to the heart. If blood flow to the heart is disrupted due to a blood clot, a portion of the heart itself may become damaged or destroyed. The buildup of cholesterol over time can lead to the formation of plaques in arteries, and the narrowing of arteries, known as atherosclerosis. Signs and symptoms of a heart attack include a sensation of pressure or squeezing pain in the center of the chest lasting longer than a few minutes. Shortness of breath, sweating, and nausea also may be signs of a heart attack. Smoking, older age, diabetes, high blood pressure, and high cholesterol can increase the risk of a heart attack. Obesity and lack of physical activity can also increase heart attack risk.

Persons who believe they are experiencing a heart attack need to seek emergency medical attention immediately Nitroglycerin should be taken as soon as possible, if available, through a prescription. Aspirin is recommended to be taken immediately. The aspirin tablet should be chewed when taken during a heart attack. It decreases the likelihood of the blood clotting. Beta-blocker medications, such as metoprolol relax the heart muscle and help prevent future heart attacks.

Farming On The Mountaintop

Land Preservation Funds Available Through NRCS

Over $3.4 million in conservation funds are available in 2010 to Maryland land preservation organizations and state and local governments under the Farm and Ranchlands Protection Program (FRPP). Organizations will have up to four opportunities to apply for funding through the USDA Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS).

"This program assists organizations to preserve agriculture lands and the agricultural industry," said Mark Rose, Maryland assistant state conservationist for programs for NRCS. "FRPP is an excellent way to keep prime farmland in agriculture within the Chesapeake Bay Watershed and keep farming communities viable by relieving development pressure."

State and local governments and land preservation organizations interested in acquiring agricultural conservation easements on Maryland farms may request an application from the Maryland NRCS state office. Persons may telephone 443-482-2919 or write to the address below. Landowners interested in FRPP must apply through a land preservation organization or state and local agricultural land preservation program.

Completed applications must be received by 4:30 p.m. on the following dates in 2010: February 5, March 5, April 3, and May 1. Applications received by each deadline will be evaluated for funding. Any application not funded will be considered under the next round unless the applicant withdraws the proposal.

Proposals should be sent to NRCS, Attn: Mark Rose, Assistant State Conservationist for Programs, 339 Busch's Frontage Road, Suite 301, Annapolis, MD 21409. NRCS will announce funding of applicants, and as funds are available, within three weeks following the application deadline.

For more information on FRPP and other conservation programs, persons may go online to www.md.nrcs.usda.gov.

PROTECT YOUR HOME AND YOUR WALLET

If you own or plan to purchase a home, then you know that insurance is not just a luxury, it's a requirement. While you should not skimp on certain coverage items, there are some steps you can take to reduce your overall premium.

If you have a security system installed (and operating!), you might lower your premium by 5% or more. You'll just need to provide your insurer with a copy of your contract or latest statement. Also, while newer homes have smoke alarms already installed, hooking them up in an older home might also reduce your premium by as much as 10%.

Just like health or auto insurance, if you increase your deductible on homeowners insurance, you'll reduce your premium. Just be sure you're prepared to pocket smaller repairs like broken windows or damages from leaks.

If your policy is held by a company that also offers auto or health insurance, look into discounts for multiple policies. You could save a percentage on both your homeowners and auto policies, for example.

Another money (and time and stress) saver is to document everything in your home with a photographic inventory. Store photos, cds or videos in a fireproof box or, preferably, a safe deposit box off site. This will reduce the time and effort required to complete a claim, and guarantee an accurate replacement payment. Your REALTOR® can help with photos and other tasks. Call them today.

If you are thinking of buying or selling a home but feel "out of touch" with real estate, give me a call today.

USDA, IRS PARTNER TO REDUCE FRAUD, STREAMLINE PAYMENT LIMITS

U.S. Agriculture Secretary Tom Vilsack has announced that USDA is partnering with the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) to reduce fraud in farm programs and streamlining payment limits for family farmers. The actions are intended to strengthen the integrity and defensibility of USDA farm safety net programs and help the agricultural industry to meet requirements included in the 2008 Farm Bill.

"This announcement will ensure that the producers who depend upon the safety net of USDA programs will have future access to these programs by enhancing the overall integrity of the programs," said Vilsack. "It will also provide more flexibility for family farm operations across the country."

USDA has finalized a memorandum of understanding with the IRS to establish an electronic information exchange process for verifying compliance with the adjusted gross income provisions for programs administered by USDA's Farm Service Aagency (FSA) and Natural Resources Conservation Service. This agreement will ensure that payments are not issued to producers whose adjusted gross income (AGI) exceeds certain limits. The limits set in the 2008 Farm Bill are $500,000 non-farm average AGI for commodity and disaster programs; $750,000 farm average AGI for direct payments; and $1 million non-farm average AGI for conservation programs.

The electronic process that USDA developed with IRS reviews data from tax returns performs a series of calculations, and compares these values to the AGI limitations from the 2008 Farm Bill. FSA and NRCS will receive a record that indicates whether or not the program participant appears to meet the income limits. Written consent will be required from each producer or payment recipient for this process. No actual tax data will be included in the report that IRS sends to USDA. As part of the review and evaluation process, participants whose AGI may exceed the limits will be offered an opportunity to provide third-party verification or other information to validate their income.

Meanwhile, beginning with the 2010 program year, USDA has amended the rules that govern the requirements to be "actively engaged" in farming. These rules apply to eligibility for payments under the Direct and Counter-cyclical Program (DCP) or Average Crop Revenue Election (ACRE) program administered by the USDA FSA.

USDA has implemented the following change to permit certain operations, most often family-run operations, to meet "actively engaged" in farming requirements under less restrictive rules.

Every stockholder or member of a legal entity, such as a corporation, does not have to contribute labor or management if both of the following apply:

- at least half of the interest in the legal entity is held by stockholders or members who are providing active personal labor or active personal management that altogether qualifies as a significant contribution to the farming operation; and
- the total direct payments received, both directly and indirectly, by the legal entity and each of the members does not exceed $40,000.

The balance of the purchase price shall be paid in cash within ten days of final ratification of sale by the Circuit Court for Garrett County. Interest to be paid on the unpaid purchase money at the note rate from the date of sale to the date funds are received in the office of the Trustee. In the event settlement Is delayed for any reason, there shall be no abatement of interest. Real estate taxes shall be adjusted as of the date of sale. All other public charges or assessments, Including water/sewer charges, ground rent, condo/HOA dues, whether incurred prior to or after the sale, and all other costs incident to settlement to be paid by the purchaser. Cost of all documentary stamps, transfer taxes and settlement expenses shall be borne by the purchaser. Purchaser shall be responsible for obtaining physical possession of the property. Purchaser assumes the risk of loss or damage to the property from the date of sale forward. Purchaser agrees to pay the Sellers' attorneys, at settlement, a fee of $225.00 for review of the settlement documents, and an additional fee of $150.00 for review of any motion which may be subsequently filed with the Court to substitute a purchaser herein.

If the purchaser shall fail to comply with the terms of the sale or fails to go to settlement within ten days of ratification of the sale, the Trustee may, in addition to any other available legal remedies, declare the entire deposit forfeited and resell the property at the risk and cost of the defaulting purchaser. In such event, the defaulting purchaser shall be liable for the payment of any deficiency in the purchase price, all costs and expenses of resale, reasonable attorney's fees, and all other charges due and incidental and consequential damages. The purchaser shall not be entitled to any surplus proceeds or profits resulting from any resale of the property. If the Trustee cannot convey Insurable title, the purchaser's sole remedy at law or in equity shall be the return of the deposit without interest.

SUBSTITUTE TRUSTEES' SALE OF IMPROVED REAL PROPERTY

1563 Pleasant Valley Road, Oakland, MD 21550

Under a power of sale contained in a Mortgage from Ray E. Miller and Rachel A. Miller, dated April 26, 2006, and recorded in Liber 1225 Folio 0157 among the Land Records of Garrett County, MD, with an original principal balance of $105,000.00, and an original interest rate of 10.59%, default having occurred under the terms thereof, the Substitute Trustees will sell at public auction at the Circuit Court for Garrett County, at the Rotunda Entrance at the Court House Door, 203 S. 4th Street, Oakland, Maryland, on January 25, 2010, at 12:55 p.m.

All that fee-simple lot of ground, together with the buildings and improvements thereon situated in Garrett County, MD, and more fully described in the aforesaid Deed of Trust. The property, which is improved by a dwelling, will be sold in an "as is" condition and subject to conditions, restrictions, encumbrances, prior deed(s) of trust and/or agreements of record affecting the same, if any, and with no warranty of any kind.

Terms of Sale: A deposit of $13,000.00 in cash, cashier's check or certified check required at time of sale. Balance of the purchase price, together with interest on the unpaid purchase money at the current rate contained in the Deed of Trust Note from the date of sale to the date funds are received by the Trustees, payable in cash within ten days of final ratification of the sale by the Circuit Court. There will be no abatement of interest due from the purchaser in the event additional funds are tendered before settlement or if settlement is delayed for any reason. TIME IS OF THE ESSENCE FOR THE PURCHASER. Adjustment of current year real property taxes will be made as of the date of sale and thereafter assumed by the purchaser. All past due property taxes paid by the purchaser. All other public charges or assessments, including water/sewer charges, ground rent, whether incurred prior to or after the sale, and all other costs incidental to settlement to be paid by the purchaser. All transfer taxes and settlement expenses shall be paid by the Purchaser. Purchaser shall pay all applicable agricultural tax, if any. Purchaser is responsible for obtaining physical possession of the property, and assumes risk of loss or damage to the property from the date of sale. If ratification or settlement is delayed for any reason there shall be no abatement of interest. The sale is subject to post-sale audit of the status of the loan with the loan servicer including, but not limited to, determination of whether the borrower entered into any repayment agreement, reinstated or paid off the loan prior to the sale. In any such event, this sale shall be null and void, and the Purchaser's sole remedy, in law or equity, shall be the return of the deposit without interest. If Purchaser fails to settle within ten days of ratification, he agrees to pay attorneys' fees in the amount of $750.00, plus costs, if the Trustees have moved to resell the property. Purchaser waives personal service of any paper filed in connection with such a motion on himself and/or any principal or corporate designee, and expressly agrees to accept service of any such paper by regular mail directed to the address provided by said bidder at the time of the sale. If Purchaser defaults under these terms, deposit shall be forfeited. The Trustees may then resell the property at the risk and cost of the defaulting purchaser. The defaulted purchaser shall not be entitled to any surplus proceeds resulting from said resale even if such surplus results from improvements to the property by said defaulted purchaser. If Trustees are unable to convey either insurable or marketable title, or if the sale is not ratified by the Circuit Court for any reason, the Purchaser's sole remedy, at law or equity, is the return of the deposit without interest. Purchaser agrees to pay $295.00 at settlement to the Seller's attorney for review of the settlement documents and an additional fee of $295.00 for review of any motion which may be subsequently filed with the Court to substitute a purchaser herein.

'Criminal' co-star Gubler gets a leg up on show

By Jay Bobbin
© Zap2it

Q: My wife and I are fans of "Criminal Minds," and we've noticed Matthew Gray Gubler going around with crutches or a cane. Did he actually hurt his leg in one of the episodes? –Terry Wabnitz, Greeley, Colo.

A: Reportedly, he suffered a knee dislocation while dancing – no, not on his CBS show – and required surgery. To his credit and the producers', since they opted to let him "play injured," Gubler hasn't been absent from any of this season's stories

Q: A Canadian program from the '90s called "Forever Knight" starred Geraint Wyn Davies as a vampire who was a detective. I've searched unsuccessfully for the series on DVD, though a later version – a trilogy with different actors – has been produced. Can you tell me if the original is available? –Philip Krumm, San Antonio

A: The trilogy you're referring to is the version starring Geraint Wyn Davies, which originally aired on CBS in a late-night slot. Each set represents one of the three seasons of the series ... and it can be reasoned that it actually was the later version, since an earlier "Nick Knight" pilot film with Rick Springfield in the title role didn't sell.

Q: In the Gregory Peck version of "Moby Dick," who played Queequeg? I never saw him again, as I recall. –Gail Toerpe, Milwaukee

A: Austrian actor Friedrich von Ledebur played the part for director John Huston in the 1956 film. The actor tried his hand in Hollywood after that, appearing in such series as "Wagon Train," "The Twilight Zone" and "77 Sunset Strip." However, he continued to work principally in Europe until his death in 1986.

The performer's final film was director Federico Fellini's "Ginger & Fred." His other notable credits include Luchino Visconti's "Ludwig" and William Friedkin's "Sorcerer," which was a remake of the classic "The Wages of Fear."

Q: Michael Weatherly of "NCIS" just got married. To whom, and how old is he? –John Slominski, New Holstein, Wis.

A: The 41-year-old actor wed oncologist Bojana Jankovic in September. It's Weatherly's second marriage; his first wife was actress Amelia Heinle, with whom he has a son. He didn't marry his "Dark Angel" co-star Jessica Alba, though they were engaged while making that show.
